A California Palace.

Ralph Brisbane Nonesuch, who is reported to have made a fortune of $25,000,000 in South African diamond mines, has purchased a 500-acre tract in the Temescal district, near San Francisco, where he will erect a novel residence, a place, in fact, upon which $1,500,000 will be expended aside from the finishing. This is to be a structure built almost entirely of steel and glass.

The building, according to the American Contractor, is to be about 230 feet long by about 100 feet wide. At one end it will be surmounted by a tower 115 feet high; at the other end by a similar tower, but of less size and height. A striking feature will be the sides below the cornice, which slope to the ground with a curve at an angle of about 45°. In the sloping sides are set huge oval windows twelve feet long and made to conform to the slope of the wall. The roof will be a huge gable extending the entire length of the building and terminating in another gable at right angles in which are placed immense stained glass windows, one of which will be fifty feet long and thirty feet wide.

Not a foot of lumber or wood in any shape is to be used in the building. The material will be iron, steel, aluminum, brass, bronze, platinum, silver, concrete, cement and stone. And the only stone used will be sculptured marble in the stairways and the main frieze, and onyx and decorative marbles in the bathrooms, the stairs and a few other places. Even the foundations will be of steel and concrete. The floors will be of concrete, brass, and aluminum, the walls of steel, and the roof of steel, brass, and copper. The inside walls will be some of oxidized sheet iron, some brass covered with a preparation that protects the burnish of the metal, some copper, some nickel and so on to correspond with the decorations of the room. The ceilings will be arched and relieved here and there with great brass medallions.

The partition walls will be composed of metal grilles extending from floor to ceiling, arranged in various designs, forming a vast net-work through which the light can see from the grand stairway at one end to the great ball room at the opposite end. Rich tapestries will ordinarily cover the metal grilles and divide the interior thus into fourteen apartments, eight of which will be chambers and consist each of a suite of four rooms, a sleeping-room, dressing-room, bath-room and study. All the heating, lighting, ventilation, and cooking will be done by electricity. The servants' quarters, the kitchen, the machinery and the laundry will be in the basement. The water wheel and dynamo will be located at the foot of the hill, a considerable distance from the building. The sole entrance to the basement from without will be at the foot of the hill, through a tunnel, so that no one from within or about the house will see the approach or entrance of servant, grocer, butcher, or delivery wagon of any kind.

The structure itself will be surrounded by a broad walk, and outside of the walk will be an artificial lake surrounding the building and forming a moat to be crossed over a movable drawbridge, thus placing the lake well fed by water from artesian wells already in operation, and pumped up by powerful pumps. The water of the lake will also serve to run the dynamo that furnish light, heat and power for use in the building. The floors of the building will be of brass and aluminum grille work of ornamental design, the interstices filled with a new Hungarian cement which is said to be harder than granite when set, and to admit of a high and durable polish.

The cement will be of various colors, and so laid with the metal grille as to surpass in effect any mosaic flooring in existence. The winter palace at St. Petersburg is now having a flooring laid of this material and on similar lines. Everything about the building is to be fireproof except perhaps a part of the furniture. Even the draperies and tapestries will be dipped in a solution of glycerine and ammonium borate, which renders them permanently unflammable.

DENTISTRY.

Why should Dentistry cost as much as formerly? Clothing, shoes, flour, sugar, watches, pianos and a hundred other articles are cheaper, science and improved machinery having reduced the cost.
Science and improved machinery produce the BEST TEETH for $8.00.
Grandfather's dentist charged four times as much for vastly inferior work, and there are dentists to-day who still cling to the traditions of grandfather's time. Compare our work and pieces with one of these, and realize the progress of the age.

BANNER WEEK AT THE FORCED SALE!

What did we tell you last week? We told you the sale of the century was upon you. But, gracious goodness, how much greater and grander than we had any idea of! Why should Whashington overwhelm our grand city? We are determined in our efforts to maintain home patronage. We, the originators and leaders of low prices, have shown to the people that the mercantile pursuits of Alexandria are not so slow as they are made out to be. We are doing an immense business; not making any money; but causing a steady boom in trade. Next week we promise a GRAND CARNIVAL OF PRICES. Throughout our entire stock every piece of merchandise will be rehandled and the lowest cut price put on it. Activity and bustle in trade is what we must maintain. This Monday, the beginning of the third week of the Grand Forced Sale, promises to be banner week. Additional seasonable merchandise has been added to the list and at prices that will astonish you.

Sale opens Monday, at 8 a. m., and we respectfully ask our patrons to shop early in the morning, as the large crowds which gather in our store later does not afford us time to give you the proper attention we desire you to have. Store closes at 6:30 o'clock Saturdays excepted. Terms of Sale—Strictly Cash. Out of town orders promptly attended to.

PECULIARLY MADE.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are made of refined and concentrated botanical extracts. They're different from the large old-fashioned pills for these Pellets are as tiny as mustard seeds, and are sugar-coated. They're made in an improved chemical laboratory under the direct supervision of scientific men. Everything else being equal, the smaller the size of a liver pill, the more comfort. They do not shock the system, but regulate, and tone up, the liver, stomach, and bowels, in nature's own way. They're put up in sealed glass vials, easily carried in the vest-pocket.
