

TUESDAY EVENING, JULY 21, 1896.

A DISPATCH from Richmond to a New York newspaper says the bolters of the former city are men of influence and have a formidable following...

THE bolters pretend to believe that the Chicago platform strikes a blow at the U. S. Supreme Court by declaring against the life tenure of office...

THE Northern democratic bolters are infinitely more sectional and malignant than the republicans are. They now appeal to the pensioners to vote against the Chicago ticket...

REV. DR. CULYER of New York calls the democrats "rag-a-muffins," and says the danger to the country from the resumption of silver coinage is greater than when South Carolina fired upon "the flag" at Sumter...

THE NATIONAL democratic platform, on which Mr. Cleveland was last elected, and which he pledged himself to support, is a distinctly and conspicuously bimetallic platform...

NOT ONLY are the leaders of the anarchists, communists and socialists of this country, such as Most, Debs and Coxy, opposed to the Chicago ticket, but the whole socialist party in California, in convention assembled, have declared against that ticket...

A RICHMOND newspaper says "Governor O'Ferrall had a force of convicts out at his suburban home, 'Dundee,' yesterday, fixing and beautifying the walks." This is a "progressive" age...

SENATOR DONALD Cameron, son of his father Simon, but by no means his equal in any respect, says: "I am for free silver, but I am not a fool!"

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Ex-President Harrison said yesterday that he will speak on the currency in September.

Major and Mrs. McKinley arrived in Cleveland yesterday to attend the centennial celebration.

Tammany leaders conferred last night and decided to endorse the Chicago ticket and platform.

At Pittsburg yesterday the Window Glass Workers' Association settled the fight regarding allegiance to the Knights of Labor by withdrawing from the order.

Senator Edward Murphy, in his cottage at Normandie by the Sea, yesterday formally launched the boom of Senator David B. Hill for Governor of New York.

The store and dwelling property of Joseph Coking, at Hill Top, Charles county, Md., were sold at auction yesterday. Coking was lynched recently for the murder of his wife.

Gen. James G. Field, who is a delegate to the St. Louis populist convention, and was vice-presidential candidate on the populist ticket in 1892, favors endorsing Bryan and Sewall.

The Bryan delegates to the populist convention at St. Louis yesterday refused to compromise on a ticket with Bryan for president and a populist in the place of Sewall for vice president.

Right Rev. Arthur Cleveland Coxe, bishop of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Western New York, died suddenly at Clifton Springs, N. Y., yesterday. He was born at Mendham, N. J., May 10, 1818.

The Venezuelan boundary commission is hard at work. Professor Burr and Dr. de Haan are examining the archives at The Hague. James J. Storvick, of Boston, counsel for the Venezuelan government, has submitted a brief attacking the British claims.

The gold reserve went below the ninety million mark yesterday owing to withdrawals, but no alarm is felt by treasury officials, who regard the drain as entirely abnormal, besides, New York banks have agreed to furnish the government with all the gold necessary.

The Grand Lodge I. O. Mechanics of Virginia was organized in Norfolk today.

Hon. Geo. D. Wise has determined not to become a candidate for Congress from the Third district this fall.

Edward Parsons, of Richmond, a painter, committed suicide last night in that city by drinking one or more ounces of laudanum.

TO-DAY'S TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

ST. LOUIS, July 21.—There is little change in the situation as far as the straightout or middle of the road populists are concerned. The utmost concession the extremists suggest is the nomination or endorsement of Bryan on a distinct populist platform...
