WEATHER PROBABILITIES.—For this section fair; cooler tonight; Wednesday fair with rising temperature; fresh northwest to north winds.

IMPRESSIVE SERVICES.—As had been anticipated, the Memorial Day services under the auspices of E. E. Lee Camp of Confederate Veterans, were interesting and impressive from start to finish, and were listened to with close attention by the large concourse of people who gathered around the monument at the intersection of Prince and Washington streets. The programme as published in the Gazette was fully carried out. The members of the camp, headed by Commander E. C. Graham, with Messrs. George H. Robinson and Julian Y. Williams as aides, mounted on horseback, gathered at the hall, corner of Prince and Fairfax streets, shortly before 5 o'clock, and with the Alexandria Light Infantry, headed by a drum corps, paraded the streets of the city, according to the published line of march. The streets were thronged with people as the parade moved through the principal thoroughfares. After about half an hour's march the veterans reached the monument, where the main exercises were held. The monument had been prettily decorated with flowers for the occasion. The assemblage, which was very dense, was called to order by Commander Graham, who delivered a few appropriate remarks. Rev. Frank J. Brock, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church and chaplain of the camp, subsequently offered up a suitable prayer. The order for the occasion was to have been Representative Rice A. Pierce, of Tennessee, but, owing to circumstances over which he had no control he was unable to be present and Representative S. W. T. Lanham, of Texas, at the request of Hon. J. E. Rixey, came in his stead. Among the officers who occupied seats on the grand stand were Representatives John F. Rixey and Miss Mary Cate Lee, daughter of Gen. Robert E. Lee. After the prayer the choir sang "Our Southland." Representative Lanham was then introduced by Commander Graham. He delivered an able, eloquent and impressive address, in which he paid a glowing tribute to the Confederate soldier. At frequent intervals he was interrupted by applause. His speech lasted over an hour, but during its delivery the flights of oratory and pathetic passages kept his audience spell-bound.

Among other things he said he was an unbidden guest, taking the place made ready for another, but he was glad of the opportunity to address his old comrades of the Army of Northern Virginia. Never having had the opportunity of a collegiate education which he sincerely regretted, yet he would not exchange those four years which tried men's souls for a course in any university of the country. He was proud to have given his youth to a cause he held sacred, which he believed was right, and which was right. (Loud applause greeted the speaker at this point.) Continuing to speak of the bravery and devotion of the privates throughout the war, and only by whom were made possible the brilliant victories of Southern arms. The war was largely the result of the slavery question; other differences could have been settled, and he wished to mention a powerful factor in the struggle, which had received but scant credit—the non-slave holding white man. Many of them depended on their own labors for their livelihood, and the employment of slaves was harmful to them. The mountaineers had no use for slaves, and yet at the call of the state, with a patriotism never equalled, these men left their all and formed an army the like of which has never been seen. Turning to Miss Lee, who occupied a seat on the stand, Mr. Lanham paid a glowing tribute to her father, whose name and lineage were dear to him. He regretted that time prevented the reading of Gen. Lee's farewell address, but urged his audience to read it carefully when they returned to their homes. The Confederate soldiers, he said, were being rapidly gathered to rest, but their influence was not dead, for it was extending to all parts of the country. The South trusted to the sons of the men who wore the gray for her future welfare, and she would not trust in vain, for they were the ones best fitted to guide her progress. The speaker made touching allusions to the battle-scarred flag of the Confederacy, whose fortunes he had followed for four weary years, and which was still dear to his heart. When death should finally summon him to the bosom of the grave he hoped that some old comrade would be near to follow him to his remains to the grave, and that his funeral be a great event, attended by thousands, or a humble procession of a few mourners, he hoped that an old Confederate flag might be obtainable, and that it might be wrapped around his body, and he could rest like a warrior taking his last sleep.

The veterans and the many spectators subsequently marched up to Christ Church Cemetery, where a hymn was rendered by the choir at the mound where are buried a number of Confederate soldiers. Music was then rendered by the drum corps, after which the children of the Confederacy and the veterans strewed their flowers. The exercises were concluded with the firing of a volley by the Light Infantry.

The choir, which was under the leadership of Mr. J. F. Rodgers was composed of members of different church choirs of the city and rendered the selections most admirably.

THE HAND OF DEATH.—Three deaths have occurred in the first week during the past twelve hours and within a radius of three squares. The first was that of Mr. J. W. Fones, followed within a few hours by that of Mr. John H. Allen and about three hours later Mr. Samuel A. Mankin breathed his last. Each was a well known and esteemed citizen, whose decease will be regretted by many outside his immediate family circle. The arrows of death are always in the air, and there is escape on some door in our city nearly every day in the year. These sad visitations are calculated to cast us all into serious reveries when we attempt to realize what it is to feel another's woe or weep with those who weep.

In the Corporation Court today administration of the estate of the late R. F. Fleming was granted to A. Walter Fleming and Leigh Robinson.

FAVOR A NEW AQUEDUCT BRIDGE.—The Senate district committee yesterday made a favorable report on the bill providing for the building of a new Aqueduct Bridge across the Potomac. The committee says in part: "The present bridge is both unsafe and inadequate. The bridge is the means of communication between Washington and Arlington and Fort Myer. It is used constantly by cavalry and artillery as well as by thousands of visitors to Arlington and by residents of Virginia who bring supplies to Washington. The present bridge does not accommodate street cars, and persons using electric lines reaching to the bridge on either side of the Potomac must walk across the long space of the bridge in both hot and cold weather. During the past ten years the bridge has been patched up from time to time, but all repairs do no more than to prolong the life of a totally inadequate structure. The sum appropriated will build a bridge with a forty-four-foot roadway and sidewalks ten feet wide, a space sufficient for a double-track railway." Reports of the Secretary of War and the Engineer Department in favor of the bill are also submitted. The bill appropriates $100,000 and provides that the total cost of the structure must not be greater than $940,000.

POLICE COURT NOTES.—There but two cases for trial in the Police Court this morning, two old offenders, arrested on the chronic charge of being drunk in the streets. They were fined $5 each. While waiting for the arrival of the Mayor a group of officers and others was gathered in front of the station house. The central figure was Rev. John Cunningham who was reproving in season, out of season, as well as recalling anecdotes, personal experience, etc. He was specially interested in the experience of the excommunicated who he narrated Sunday of Sabbath-breaking and who broke in the terrific storm which broke later. Among other things, in order to show the obduracy of many of the human race, he said he visited a gambling den on Sunday and remonstrated with the players, but made no impression. While they played cards he offered prayer. The Mayor, who had arrived, asked him where all this occurred, but he refused to enlighten him. His honor called his attention to the fact that as a good citizen he should aid the authorities in breaking up such proceedings, especially on Sundays. The preacher, however, refused to locate the place.

DECORATION DAY SERVICES.—Captain J. V. Davis, superintendent of the National Cemetery at this place, has perfected all arrangements for Decoration Day services which will take place at four p. m. on Friday next, the 30th instant. The captain, upon whom this duty has for a long time solely devolved, has exercised the same good taste and judgment in preparing the programme and adding additional attractions to the grounds. The iron tablets have been beautifully painted, the shields and knobs gilded as well as the vases, while the oratorium has been metamorphosed. The cemetery, always in lovely bloom, is literally blossoming with roses. The following will be the exercises: Assembly, music, America, choir; Invocation, Rev. J. A. Jeffers; Freedom's Banner, choir; Reading of the Declaration of Independence, W. J. Carter; Love of My Soul, choir; Oration, Hon. Alvin Evans, of Pennsylvania; Song, Sacred Part of Noble Dead, choir; Benediction, Rev. Dr. George L. Hunt; Tap, bugle.

PERSONAL.—Mrs. John Ridout, of Petersburg, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. W. T. Brooke in this city. General Fitzhugh Lee and Major Minch Jenkins called on the President at the White House yesterday. Colonel L. Q. Washington, well known in this city, and a frequent contributor to the columns of the Gazette, is seriously ill at his home in Washington.

Mr. J. M. White and family have gone to their country home, Edgewood, on Seminary Hill to spend the summer. Lieut. Charles L. Fisher, who has been in this city for a few days, has returned to his post at Port Royal, S. C. Mrs. John Ryan is seriously ill at her home in this city.

COMPLAINT FROM HUCKSTERS.—Complaint has been made by persons who have taken out license to peddle vegetables, etc., in the city that several individuals living in Fairfax county come here and engage in the same business without paying the city for the privilege. It is alleged that they purchase vegetables, eggs and poultry in the rural districts and pretending that they raise them bring the articles here and enter into competition with those who pay license. Mayor Simpson will give the matter his attention.

MORE RAIN.—There were several refreshing showers last night and early this morning, and the weather is cooler. Vegetation in this section had been suffering from lack of rain for some time and the parched earth drank in the showers with avidity. Everything is growing rank and a strong wind and the gardens are clothed in beautiful green.

COUNTY COURT.—The County Court was in session today. In the Circuit Court, the case of Phillips vs. Henchman, commenced yesterday, will be continued at Manssard on Saturday, when arguments will be heard. Several decrees were entered in old cases today. The case of Bruce vs. the Commonwealth, a habeas corpus proceeding was before the court this evening. Bruce had been convicted of a crime and sentenced to jail and took an appeal.

DEATH.—Mr. Samuel A. Mankin died at his home, southeast corner of Wolfe and Lee streets, shortly after 12 o'clock today after a short illness. The deceased, who was a member of R. E. Lee Camp, Confederate Veterans, was yesterday evening in his place in the ranks as he ever been his custom when the camp turned out in a parade, and remained with them until their return to their hall. He subsequently went home and while in the yard was stricken with what seemed to be paralysis. He was conscious and called to his wife, who hastened to him, when, to her great alarm, she found he was helpless and blind. Aid was summoned and he was taken into the house and Dr. McGuire was called in. His condition gradually grew more serious, his mental powers giving away, and throughout the night he was oblivious to his surroundings. He continued in an unconscious condition until a few minutes past 12 o'clock today when his death followed. Mr. Mankin was about 60 years of age. He leaves a widow and one son, Mr. Sidney Mankin. Mr. Mankin was a well known and useful citizen. He was a son of the late Mark Mankin, and for a number of years had conducted a grocery in the building in which he died. He was a member of the School Board from the First ward, was for a long time judge of election in the same ward, and was a prominent member of Potomac Lodge of Odd Fellows and of Marley Encampment. During the war he was a member of company E, Seventeenth Virginia Infantry.

Mr. John H. Allen, an old and well-known resident of the First ward, died at his home, on south Fairfax street, about eight o'clock this morning. He was 64 years old, and leaves six children—four daughters and two sons. The deceased had been in feeble health for several years, and recently his condition had been critical. Mr. Allen was a carpenter by occupation, having learned his trade with the late Wm. R. Howard half a century ago. For many years he was employed by the Washington Steamboat Company. While at work at the shipyard a long time ago he was sunstruck, the effects of which followed him through the remainder of his life. He was an industrious and good citizen, and faithfully performed his part in life. Mr. Allen was a member of Occochee tribe of Red Men.

Mr. William Fones, who had been in ill-health for some time, died at his home on south Lee street at an early hour this morning. The deceased leaves a widow and one child. Mr. Fones was sunstruck about two years ago, but from the effects of which he never fully recovered. He had for some time been an employe at one of the planing mills in this city. Tyler Boyd, son of Robert M. and Roberta C. Dawson, died in Washington yesterday. The deceased was 24 years of age.

CHARGED WITH ROBBERY THE MAILED. Wade H. Berry, of Harrisonburg, mail agent between Charlottesville and Alexandria, was before Commissioner Fowler today charged with embezzling registered letters from the mail pouches. He was arrested by Special Agent Little and others, who stated that nine mail pouches had been cut and ninety-six letters abstracted therefrom; that the robbery had been going on for some time and that others were implicated. Berry was represented by Mr. S. G. Brent and was released in the sum of $1,000 for his appearance before the U. S. Court in July. His father furnished the bail.

IN VOLUNTARY BANKRUPTCY.—Julian Ross, a contractor for the work being done by the Southern Railway Company at D. Dohley, west of this city, was on Saturday placed in involuntary bankruptcy by creditors in this city. It is said the creditors learned he was about to raise money on horses, mules, etc., and at their instance Deputy Marshal Glover seized Ross's property in order to frustrate the plan and placed the property in charge of the railway officials. Today Ross, who had been at his home in South Carolina, came to this city and made arrangements to settle all indebtedness. The matter was before U. S. Commissioner Fowler.

PROPERTY LEASED.—The property at the southeast corner of Washington and Duke streets recently bought by Mr. J. Clinton Smoot, has been thoroughly overhauled and modernized; an attractive iron fence erected by Messrs. Curtin & Butts, has replaced the old structure, disclosing at once a beautiful yard, and the newly painted dwelling (the work done by Mr. I. W. Rudd) to great advantage. It is quite an improvement to that desirable neighborhood. Mr. N. P. T. Darke has leased the property from June 1. The work has been done under the supervision of Mr. Geo. R. Hill.

THE CITY INSPECTORS made their quarterly inspection of that institution today.
