MEDICINAL

ACCIDENTAL?

The jury returned a verdict of accidental death on the man who fell from the window ledge on which he had fallen asleep. But the death was really due to carelessness which made the accident possible.

There are a great many lives suddenly terminated as a result of carelessness, although the medical certificate may read "heart failure." When a man takes chances with his stomach and neglects the warning symptoms of disease, he is carelessly inviting calamity.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enables the perfect digestion and assimilation of food, which makes strength. It stimulates the liver, cures biliousness, and removes bilious impurities from the blood.

"I had been troubled with a pain in lower part of my stomach for three years, so severe I thought it would kill me in time," writes Mr. Aaron Van Dam, of Kensington 259 10th St., Chicago, Ill. "I could hardly work; it felt like a big weight hanging on me and got so bad that I had to take medicine. I used stomach bitters for a time, but it did no good so I wrote to Dr. Z. V. Pierce for advice, which he gave me immediately. I followed his directions, used two bottles of his medicine and was cured. I had a torpid liver which was troubling me instead of cramps (as I thought), so Dr. Pierce told me. I have pleasure in living now; have gained in weight 15 pounds since then."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. They do not bog the pill habit.

CATARRH Nasal Catarrh

In all its stages there should be cleanliness. Ely's Cream Balm cleanses, soothes and heals the diseased membrane. It cures catarrh and drives away a cold in the head quickly.

Ely's Cream Balm is placed into the nostrils, spreads over the membrane and is absorbed. Relief is immediate and a cure follows. It is not drying—does not produce sneezing. Large size, 50 cents; by mail, 60 cents. ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren Street, New York.

Can you eat? Others can. Latest improvements in Teeth. Our patent suction Never falls down.

Call and have a set with the above improvements. Old loose and ill-fitting plates corrected in fit, durability and comfort perfectly true to nature.

Dr. W. F. HUTCHINSON, Dentist. Corner Prince and Washington Streets. Office Formerly Occupied by Dr. Fawcett.

FOR OVER SIXTY YEARS

AN OLD AND WELL-TRIED REMEDY.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for over sixty years by millions of mothers for their children while teething, with perfect success. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic and is the best remedy for Diarrhoea. Is pleasant to the taste. Sold by druggists in every part of the world. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Its value is incalculable. Be sure and ask for Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup and take no other kind.

CASE OF REV. G. F. WILLIAMS.

The Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia resumed its sessions for the winter yesterday, handing down several decisions, the most important of which was a reversal of the decision of the late Judge Andrew Bradley, of the Supreme Court of the District, in the case of Rev. Gilbert F. Williams, a former Episcopal clergyman, against Rev. Dr. Henry Yates Satterlee, bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Washington.

Mr. Williams, who was connected with one of the prominent families of Maryland, was tried in 1897 before an ecclesiastical court on a charge of violating his ordination vows. He was adjudged guilty of the charge and was expelled from the church by the Bishop, who acted upon the findings of the court.

During last summer Mr. Williams, after taking counsel with several able attorneys, petitioned the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia for a writ of certiorari to compel Bishop Satterlee to certify the records and finding of the ecclesiastical court to the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, which was to pass upon the validity of the church tribunal, its organization and action and the justice of its decision in respect to Mr. Williams.

Mr. Williams, through his attorneys, argued that he had not been given a fair trial, claiming that the ecclesiastical court was not properly constituted according to the church canons. He alleged that the court contained less than the seven members which he said should constitute such a court. He also averred that he had been tried and adjudged guilty without the opportunity of testifying in his own behalf or of having an attorney present. Justice Bradley granted his application for the writ of certiorari and an appeal was immediately granted to Bishop Satterlee to take the matter before the appellate court. Justice Bradley allowed the case to advance to the higher court on a special appeal because, he said, he desired that full justice be shown to the interested parties.

The great point involved and which has been engrossing the attention of churchmen and lawyers was whether a civil court had the right to review the proceedings of an ecclesiastical tribunal. The opinion handed down today in the writing of Chief Justice Alvey, of the Court of Appeals says:

"This question is of more than ordinary importance, and in regard to which there has been some division of opinion, though the great preponderance of authority is against the power and jurisdiction of civil courts to entertain an application such as the present."

Justice Alvey recited that England, where the temporal and ecclesiastical powers are more closely allied, the civil courts could interfere only where the ecclesiastical courts assumed power not belonging to them. In this country, he declared, where state and church were apart, it was a question of great doubt as to the jurisdiction of civil courts to review ecclesiastical findings. The Courts of Appeals ordered the case remanded to the lower court, which is to dismiss Mr. Williams' petition for the writ of certiorari.

ACTRESS ATTACKS "MASHER."

Miss Grace Hobart Hanson, the southerner with "The Tyranny of Tears" company, now filling an engagement at Charlotte, N. C., won the plaudits of half a hundred guests of the Central Hotel yesterday afternoon by her speedy and forcible demolition of a married "masher." The victim of Miss Hanson's indignation was Col. R. O. Colt, of New Haven, Ct., son of the inventor of the machine gun that bears his name. Miss Hanson was returning to her hotel from a rehearsal, when Colt, a total stranger, joined her and persisted in walking beside her along a public thoroughfare. Miss Hanson treated the man with silent disdain, but, though all the while seeking anxiously for an opportunity to escape his attentions, none presented itself until the main entrance of the hotel was reached. There Miss Hanson wheeled quickly, and, with dainty, bejeweled hand, struck Colt a blow full in the face that sent him reeling from her; then bursting into tears, she darted quickly into the hotel, while a crowd of traveling men and other guests gave vent to their admiration of her pluck by gallantly applauding. Colt retired hastily. He has made his home in Charlotte for some years, and his family is among the most prominent there socially. Miss Hanson declined to talk of the affair.

A dispatch from Charlotte today casts some doubt upon the above story.

BEGINNING FOR COAL

The 32 coal depots opened by order of the coal operators for the purpose of selling coal to the poor at 15 cents a pail were busy again in New York yesterday, and the supply gave out at an early hour. Many pathetic sights were witnessed on the East Side. When school was over thousands of children trooped to the coal depots to get coal. The children carried pails, cans and baskets. Each of the coalyards had received about 60 tons in the morning, but when the children came in the afternoon all the coal had been sold. Many women and children wept in front of the coal yard in Delancy street when they found that there was no coal for them. "Mamma's sick," said one little girl, "and the doctor says she needs a fire. Oh, won't you please let me have some coal?" The policeman who stood in front of the place succeeded in getting a pail of coal for the child. It was estimated that the 32 coal yards supplied about 50,000 people with coal yesterday. The East Side realized for the first time yesterday that cold weather was at hand. This fact caused thousands of working men and women on their way home last night to stop at the coal yards to take coal home with them in bags, but they were disappointed. The coal dealers will complain to the operators that 60 tons a day is not sufficient to supply the demands in the great tenement sections of the city.

TO PAY WIFE $100 A MONTH.

Justice Hagner yesterday passed an order requiring George C. Henning, president of the Traders National Bank, of Washington, to pay his wife $100 a month for her support. The matter came up for consideration on the answer of Mr. Henning to the petition filed by his wife some weeks ago in the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, asking that an order be passed compelling her husband to support her. The arguments of counsel occupied the court the greater part of its two sessions. In her petition Mrs. Henning asked the court to enjoin Mr. Henning and Miss Alice B. Henning, his daughter by a former marriage, who is also named as a defendant, from interfering with her in her occupancy of the premises, 1728 Twentieth street northwest, Washington. Justice Hagner granted the injunction asked and yesterday continued it until the last day of this month. Mrs. Henning stated that her husband was worth about $50,000. This he denied. He said his personal property is worth about $17,000 and his real estate in Virginia about $7,500. Mrs. Henning said that recently her husband ceased to contribute to her support and also stopped trades people from furnishing her with articles she desired. This, too, Mr. Henning denied and says that he not only paid her grocery bills but also her servants' hire and physician's fees.

Old People Have Their Troubles.

Mr. Francis Little of Benton Harbor, Mich., is over eighty years of age. Since 1865 he has been troubled more or less with indigestion and constipation and has tried almost everything in use for those ailments. Last August he began using Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and was soon feeling much better. In a recent letter he says: "I have used three boxes of the Tablets and now think I am well." These Tablets improve the appetite and invigorate the stomach, liver and bowels. For sale by Richard Gibson, druggist.

Natural Anxiety.

Mothers regard approaching winter with uneasiness, children take cold so easily. No disease costs more little lives than croup. It's attack is so sudden that the sufferer is often beyond human aid before the doctor arrives. Such cases yield readily to One Minute Cough Cure. Liquifies the mucus, allays inflammation, removes danger. Absolutely safe. Acts immediately. Cures coughs, colds, grip, bronchitis, all throat and lung trouble. E. S. McMahon, Hampton, Ga.: "A bad cold rendered me voiceless just before an oratorical contest. I intended to withdraw but took One Minute Cough Cure. It restored my voice in time to win the medal." For sale by E. S. Leadbeater & Sons.
