WEATHER PROBABILITIES.—For this section snow or rain late tonight and on Saturday; light, variable winds.

Victim of Fatal Accident.

As was stated in the Gazette, Charles A. Ward, an apprentice in the Southern Railway shops in this city, was crushed to death while at work upon a locomotive in the railway roundhouse about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The facts in connection with the distressing accident are as follows: The engine was in the roundhouse at the time and was known as "dead," or without steam. A number of men had been moving the engine by means of pinch-bars. The front rod of the right-hand side of the engine had been detached from the crank-pin and was kept in a horizontal position by a piece of board placed on the slide running from the cylinder. While young Mr. Ward was standing with his back to the driving wheel, which was being slowly moved, the crank bore down on the detached rod. He was caught by the side, but in endeavoring to extricate himself he evidently turned and was borne down between the pin and the rod and slowly mashed. His fellow-workmen hastened to his assistance, the rod was lifted from his body and he was carried, still breathing, though unconscious, into one of the offices adjacent to the shops, and Dr. M. W. O'Brien was summoned. Surgical skill, however, was powerless and the young man died about half an hour after the accident happened.

Another Fire.

Another fire—the third which has occurred in the radius of two squares during the past ten days—broke out about one o'clock this morning in a two-story frame house on the south side of Gibson street, near Royal. The house was occupied by a colored woman named Dinah Harris, who has several children. The fire, from some unknown cause, started in the back part of the house. Fortunately the inmates were awakened and escaped injury. In less time than it takes to tell it the greatest excitement prevailed in the neighborhood. All the houses on the square are of wood, most of which are occupied by colored people, and the consternation among them was great. Children were awakened, some of whom screamed, and the discharge of firearms and blowing of police whistles awakened people in every direction. The fire in the meantime burned fiercely. The inmates of the house, who seemed to be on the first floor, tumbled out of the windows and willing hands removed most of the furniture. The fire department went to work as soon as possible and in a few minutes subdued the flames confining the fire to the building in which it originated. The house belonged to Mrs. Ellen Nugent.

The Portner Brewery.

Mr. L. M. Davis, head carpenter at the Portner Brewery, is engaged in the preliminaries of converting the old cotton factory plant into a bottling establishment. It is expected that this work will be finished in time to transfer the present bottling adjacent to meet the spring trade. It is understood that the demand for the product of the Portner plant exceeds the output, and bottled goods in the near future will be the leading feature of the Alexandria brewery. The car shop which not only facilitates repairs with greater dispatch than having work done elsewhere is at present overhauling the refrigerator cars for spring trade. The Portner Company now has upwards of thirty branch depots extending as far south as Augusta, Ga. Their twenty-five cars supply these, yet, of course, in a number of other places such as Norfolk, Newport News, Hampton and Elizabeth City, N. C., shipment is largely by boat, and a good deal of trade is supplied through regular railroad facilities, not special.

New Presbyterian Church.

As has been stated, definite steps were taken yesterday by the Presbytery of the Chesapeake, at a meeting held in the Second Presbyterian Church in this city, for the establishment of another Southern Presbyterian Church in Washington. A petition containing forty-three names, asking for the organization of the church was submitted to the presbytery, whereupon a commission to effect a permanent organization was named. The commission met and organized, and then adjourned till Sunday, January 25, when it will meet at 2:45 P. street Washington where the prospective congregation has been worshipping for the past two months.

Police Court Notes.

The following cases were disposed of in the Police Court this morning: Bud and Fannie Washington, both colored, arrested by Officer Griffin for disorderly conduct and fighting, were fined $5 each. Jos. Seth, colored, arrested by Officer Mayhew for assaulting and beating Jos. Thomas, also colored, was fined $2.50. There was but one lodger at the station house last night.

George Washington Band.

On Monday last the George Washington Brass Band held their weekly meeting at which they elected new officers. Among the new officers were: Frederick L. Pitt, Business Manager; Wm. H. Walker, President; Herman F. Chichester, Secretary; Fred L. Pitt, Treasurer.

Slight Trouble with Gas.

Consumers during the early part of last night experienced more trouble with gas and in many instances it failed to impart light enough to enable people to read. The inconvenience, however, was of short duration and jets were soon burning again in all their brilliancy.

The water in the closet of the Corporation Court room flooded that part of the building last night and forced its way through the ceiling to the market house below.

Personal.

Mr. Benjamin Baggett was taken ill at his home, near Spring Park, early last night. Mr. J. H. Trimyer has returned from Richmond, where he went to appear before a legislative committee on behalf of the firemen's relief bill. Dr. Julian T. Miller, recently appointed a surgeon in the U. S. navy, will leave here on Monday for Paducah, Ky., where he has been assigned for the present. The doctor's many friends in this city, while regretting that he will leave Alexandria, hope for him uninterrupted success in his new field. Miss Minnie Zimmerman entertained a number of her friends last night at a delightful birthday party. Refreshments were served during the evening and an enjoyable time was spent by all present.

Corporation Court.

[Judge L. C. Barley, presiding.] Com. vs. George W. Dix; motion to quash indictment overruled and case continued for defendant until the April term. Mr. Dix renewed his bond for his appearance at the April term. Henry Washington, colored, vs. the Southern Railway Co.; suit for $10,000 damages for loss of a leg; demurrer to indictment; demurrer sustained and case continued till April term.

Funeral.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Bridget Kelly took place this morning from St. Mary's Church, and was attended by a number of her former friends and acquaintances. The services were conducted by Rev. Father Cutler. The pallbearers were Messrs. T. McGowan, P. F. Gorman, Edward Hughes, M. Igoe, R. M. Latham and John McKenna.

Columbia Fire Company.

A called meeting of the Columbia Fire Company was held last night for the purpose of considering the advisability of having a parade in this city on the 22nd of February. A committee was appointed to confer with those of other organizations in connection with the matter.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The weather has been fair and mild today. There was a heavy frost last night.

Preparations for renewing the work of repairing King street were being made today.

W. H. Demaine has sold to C. L. Pickin a house and lot on the west side of Alfred street, between King and Prince.

The steamer Dennis Simmons, from Williamsport, N. C., with lumber for Smoot & Co. and J. L. Field & Co., has arrived.

There is still considerable floating ice in the river. It is breaking up in the upper portions of the river and is being brought down by the tide.

Samuel Corson, who was taken in charge Wednesday on suspicion of larceny, was examined yesterday by a commission, consisting of Drs. Kilpstein and Gorman and Justice Pelton. It was decided to make application for his admission to an asylum.

The steamer from Norfolk which arrived up this morning saw nothing of the British barkentine Albatross, from Bahia Blanca for this port, reported as having passed in the Chesapeake Tuesday.

The Albatross is consigned to the Bryant Fertilizer Company.

Surveyors in the employ of the Washington Southern Railway Company were engaged on Fayette street this morning. Their presence gave rise to a report that the company was making preliminary surveys previous to petitioning Council to allow the construction of a double-track on the street.

Ross, sheephead, roundhead, yellow perch and snappers will be at Mr. Robert Travers's stall in market tomorrow.

G. E. Price and Co. will have a fine and fresh assortment of fish in market tomorrow.

RESIDENCE DESTROYED BY FIRE.

The residence on the farm of Capt. Dan M. Lee, in Stafford County, near Wide-water, has been destroyed by fire together with the kitchen and other out-buildings. The house was occupied by a tenant who lost most of his furniture. The loss is covered by insurance. Capt. Lee is a brother of Gen. Fitz Lee and this property is located near the old home of the general.

Look Here For It

It is What the Reader Has Long Sought.

People will read advertisements about cures made by medicine. As they read they wonder if the statements are true. If true, was the relief temporary or permanent? Read this case about Don's Kidney Pills: W. H. Clark, of Bennett street, accountant at the Bloch Bros. Tobacco Works, Wheeling, W. Va., says: "If my back aches I know what will cure it; Don's Kidney Pills. They are the best remedy I ever came across. For months I was plagued with backache, no sharp pains, but a dull aching all the time, that made me feel miserable. I got medicine on different occasions from doctors, and it seemed to relieve me for the time, but it was soon as bad as ever. Hearing of Don's Kidney Pills, I took a course of the treatment. They cured me, and that cure has been lasting. I will corroborate this in a personal interview or in reply to any communication mailed to me."

For sale by all dealers. Price, 50 cts. Foster-Millburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

LEE STATUE AND THE LAW.

The proposition on the part of the Virginia legislature to present a statue of Robert E. Lee to the United States, to be placed in Statuary Hall of the Capitol in Washington, continues to be a subject of wide discussion in Washington. Conflicting opinions have been expressed as to who has the power of choice in the matter, but the law is clear in that particular. As has heretofore been stated in the Gazette, under an act of Congress approved July 2, 1864, the power of choice in the selection of the personages who shall be represented by these statues is left entirely with the different States. The law of that date is as follows: "The President is hereby authorized to invite each and all the States to provide and furnish statues in bronze or marble, not exceeding two in number of each State, of deceased persons who have been citizens thereof and illustrious for their historic renown, or from distinguished civic or military service, such as each State shall determine to be worthy of their national commemoration; and when so furnished, the same shall be placed in the old hall of the House of Representatives in the Capitol of the United States, which is hereby set apart, or so much thereof as may be necessary, as a national statuary hall for the purpose herein indicated."

This law cannot be repealed except by concurrent action of the two branches of Congress.

It is the usual custom when a statue is presented by a State to have some ceremony in the matter. The acceptance of the statue of Gen. Grant is recalled in that connection. There were speeches in both the House and the Senate upon the occasion. In every case the Congress has taken cognizance of the gift except in the case of Marquette, that of a statue of Marquette by the State of Wisconsin. There were strong objections entered to its acceptance by the American Protestant Association, which, however, were unavailing, for the statue now stands in the hall, though it is said that Congress has never taken cognizance of that fact. There have been other times when objections were made to the acceptance of statues. A notable case was that of the Lincoln statue, which Charles Sumner opposed. Another interesting fact in this connection is that Georgia, it is said, proposes to present a statue of Alexander Stephens to the government for a position in the hall.

THE CAMPBELL CASE.—In Richmond yesterday during the Campbell investigation John T. Bowen, a farmer of Amherst county, stated that he was standing outside of a window of the courthouse the last night of the Campbell trial and overheard an altercation between members of the jury. One of them wanted to bring in a verdict for common assault. The other members, according to his statement, declared that they had already promised Judge Campbell an acquittal, and that he expected it. As a further argument they declared that they brought in any other verdict than not guilty the friends of Judge Campbell in the courtroom would lynch them. Marcellus Rose, colored, stated that Judge Campbell sent him twice on Sunday to Day's drug store for whiskey. The drinking of whiskey in Judge Campbell's office from his prescription bottle," told by Mr. Sandige last week, was confirmed by other witnesses. Rev. Arthur P. Gray, of Amherst, gave an outline of moral conditions there. A number of other witnesses were examined, and Mr. Strode secured permission to summon two others.

Cinderella and Her Slipper.

Yes, I know you are saying to yourself, "That headline would have looked and sounded better had it been Cinderella and the Glass Slipper." says a critic, but the writer who has been making a close study of this most interesting and famous story and finds that the famous "glass slipper" properly has no place in it. The "glass" slipper is really the "fur" or "cloth" or "felt" slipper, the word "glass" having been substituted through a strange mistranslation of the story. In the original it was written pantoufle en vair, which, being translated, would be "the fur slipper." The translator, however, wrote it as if it had been pantoufle en verre, making the "little cinder girl's" fur foot covering one of glass, which, it must be admitted, would be one quite appropriate to a fairy.
