SATURDAY EVENING, FEB. 14, 1903.

Useful in the Business.

The reasons which lead men to choose a certain trade or profession are often perhaps no more sensible than the reason the boy in the following story...

"I don't think I ever told you of our red-headed office boy, Brickbat," remarked the bank president after the rest had each told a story.

"Never did," was the answer. "Well," continued the speaker, "he came to me with recommendations from Mr. A. Stenhouse, who was a schoolmate of mine in Athens, Georgia. After I read a note from the father I told in a chair and told me why he wanted to be a banker. His answer was: 'Well, I'm good at multiplying.'"

"'Oh, yes,' he said, 'but because a banker wants to make all he can I thought you wanted a boy who could multiply.' 'I hired him on the strength of that.'"

Old Time "Stimples."

In the family Bible of a Roxborough man there are a number of medical rules, written over seventy years ago by the great-grandmother of the Bible's present owner. Among the rules are the following:

"A stick of brimstone worn in the pocket is good for them as has cramps." "A leadstone put in the place where the pain is is beautiful for the Rheumatism."

"A basin of water gruel, with half a quart of old rum in it, with lots of brown sugar, is good for cold in head."

"If you have hiccup, pinch one of your wrists while you count sixty, or get somebody to skare you and make you jump."

"The earache—Put onion in ear after it is well roasted."

"The consumption—Eat as many peanuts as possible before going to bed."

The Real People of "Adam Bede."

"On my mother's and grandmother's side I am a direct descendant of George and Mary Evans, and it is among the Evans' household we must look for several of the characters mentioned in George Eliot's story of 'Adam Bede.'"

Thus George and Mary Evans may be taken as typical of Thimas and Lisbeth Bede. Robert Evans is undoubtedly the original who suggested Adam Bede. Samuel Evans, the youngest son, was certainly the prototype of Seth Bede. George Eliot (Mary Ann Evans) was the daughter of Adam Bede and the granddaughter of Thimas and Lisbeth. It will thus occur to the reader that in portraying Adam Bede our author was thinking of her own father and had the very best reasons for the statement concerning her hero that he had a dash of Celtic blood in his veins.—W. Mottram in Leisure Hour.

Jackstones.

Most girls and some boys have played in their time the game of dills or knockbones or jackstones, but few of them know that the game has existed since the third century B. C. and is probably still older. How it was played in ancient days no one can tell, but the ankle joint bones of the sheep, ox, deer and pig were used, and the game was called "astragal," from the Latin word for the ankle joint. In Scotland pebbles are often employed, whence the name "chuckles." Even precious stones and gold and bronze "stones" have been used, and in some countries the bones were marked with numbers and colored to represent kings, queens, knaves and pawns.

To Pop Corn.

Here is the proper way to pop corn: Put the regular quantity—that is, a very small quantity—into the popper and hold it under the cold water faucet long enough to thoroughly saturate the kernels. Shake the popper and place it on the back of the range to allow the corn to dry. Then pop. The kernels will be very large, and they will be no hard center. The red popcorn is thought to be the best.

The Evil Eye.

One of the remarkable things about the superstition of the "evil eye" is that it is often attributed to whole people by others who dislike or hate them. In ancient times the Thebans, the Egyptians and the Thracian women were so regarded. In these latter days the Christians of Asia Minor have the same feeling about the Turks and the Turks about the Christians.

Really a Professor.

"I beg your pardon, doctor," said the toastmaster after the dinner was over, "for introducing you inadvertently as 'professor.'"

"That's all right," replied the principal speaker of the occasion.

"The title fits me better than 'doctor' does. I profess to be a doctor, but I get mighty little practice."—Chicago Tribune.

Positively Brutal.

"Let me see," mused the young wife as she picked up the cookbook. "I have mixed the batter for the angel cake. Now what do I do next?"

"Telephone for the doctor," answered the heartless husband, who happened along in time to overhear her musings.

As She Remembered Him.

Mr. Skimmerhorn (as the participants in the debate became personal)—I was a thundering fool when I asked you to marry me!

Mrs. Skimmerhorn—Well, you looked it, dear.—Exchange.

Impossible.

Caller—What will you do, doctor, when all your patients get well?

MRS. IDA McDONALD, Supreme Deputy of the Maccabees of the World.

Mrs. Ida McDonald.

MRS. McDONALD, No. 477 Beaubien Street, Detroit, Mich., is a prominent woman who was greatly benefited by the great woman's medicine, Wine of Cardui. Mrs. McDonald is the supreme deputy of the Maccabees of the World, and one of the most widely known women in the United States. Thousands of women gather to hear her lecture everywhere she goes.

The great work she has done for the Maccabees is appreciated by every member of the order. She was so absorbed in her work that she neglected to give her health proper care—failed to take warning that the symptoms of approaching kidney trouble gave her, the sallow complexion and torpid liver. But Wine of Cardui cured her the same as it has cured thousands of others and Mrs. McDonald has written this letter in order that other suffering women may secure from Wine of Cardui the same relief she got from it.

"For four years I suffered with torpid liver until my skin looked yellow and dull. I then found my kidneys were affected and I had severe pains across my back, and I felt that I must do something to regain my health. A friend advocated my Wine of Cardui treatment so strongly that I decided to try it, although I had little faith in patent medicines. I did so, for within ten days I was now very thankful that I had secured relief came to me, and in less than three months I was cured, and have enjoyed fine health ever since. I know there is nothing better for a sick woman who wishes to enjoy perfect health and am very pleased to give my hearty endorsement."

No suffering woman can afford to ignore such a letter as Mrs. McDonald writes. Her plans and advice have proved valuable in building up one of the greatest women's organizations in the United States and she takes time to give advice which she knows will help you.

Do not delay in securing this medicine. There is nothing to gain and everything to lose by delay. The choice is before you. Will or will you not secure relief now by taking Wine of Cardui? All druggists sell $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui as well as 25c packages of Theoford's Black-Draught.

WINE OF CARDUI

A million suffering women have found relief in Wine of Cardui.

Sweating Process!

which was used in olden days to cure a cough or cold, is the most dangerous kind of treatment. It opens the pores and very often the patient when exposed after the sweating contracts pneumonia and consumption.

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup

will cure the cough and cold and heal the throat and lungs without leaving any bad after-effects or danger of contracting pneumonia or consumption. Be sure you get DR. BULL'S, with the "Bull's Head" on the package.

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES

offered by unreliable dealers. They contain dangerous drugs and are injurious to the system. No substitute is "just as good" as Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. At all druggists, a large bottle for 25 cents.

SMALL DOSE. PLEASANT TO TAKE.

The Easy Pill.

DeWitt's Little Early Risers do not gripe nor weaken the system. They cure biliousness, jaundice, constipation and inactive livers, by arousing the secretions, moving the bowels gently, yet effectually, and giving such tone and strength to the muscles of the stomach, liver and bowels that the cause of the trouble is removed entirely. These famous little pills exert a decided tonic effect upon the organ involved, and if used as a cholagogue for a few days, will result in no return of the trouble. E. S. Leadbeater & Son.
