Few Good Dinner Waiters. A New York fashionable restaurant man who was asked why he specified a good "dinner" waiter in his advertisement said: "Because all good waiters are not necessarily good dinner waiters; quite the contrary. The tendency with most waiters, unless they know their customer, is to hurry a meal along. They want to make room at the tables for newcomers. Most men who take all their meals at restaurants will not object to this at breakfast; in fact, it is rather gratifying than otherwise to find a waiter willing to hurry. The same thing is true, more or less, with luncheon where the restaurant is exclusively for gentlemen. But very few men like to be hurried over their dinner. Any waiter who knows his business will coax his customers gently over their meal, course by course, always ready, but never under when he is not wanted. Such a man will get a liberal tip and send customers away with the opinion that he works in the best restaurant in town. But such waiters are few and far between.—New York Times.

Strength of Animal Sent. The bird dog man is likely to think his favorite has a better nose than any animal on earth. He can tell you any amount of stories about birds being scented at very long distances. Now it is a covey of chickens wined at 300 yards, or, again, a bevy of quail drawn straight to at seventy-five. There are other animals, however, which have wonderfully keen noses. For instance, the sea otter hunters do not dare build a fire for days at a time on the little islands of the Pacific ocean frequented by those animals because the otter can smell the fumes from the smallest blaze a distance of five miles out at sea. It is said of this animal that he can find a fish under the sea. Moose have been known to wind a man at two miles and make up their minds so positively about him as to never quit running under twenty-five.

A White Ant Diet. A book on the Kongzo Free State gives this picture of the fondness of the natives for white ants: "In the white ant month the natives have a very busy time. The river is deserted, and men and women, boys and girls, go out to gather the white ant for food. I cannot say I admire their taste, but the white ant is not bad as food, merely very rich. In this month he is about an inch long. The natives gather him in hundreds, pull off the wings and roast him. The native boys have a shorter way with him. Sometimes at sunset white ants flopped on to the table, attracted by the light. The boys who were waiting pounced on them and without further ceremony popped them into their mouths."

Strength of Eggshells. Most people are aware of the power of eggshells to resist external pressure on the ends, but not many would credit the results of tests recently made, which appear to be genuine. Eight ordinary hen's eggs that were submitted to pressure varied between 400 pounds and 675 pounds per square inch. With the stresses applied internally to twelve eggs these gave way at pressures varying between thirty-two pounds and sixty-five pounds per square inch. The pressure required to crush the eggs varied between forty pounds and seventy-five pounds. The average thickness of the shells was thirteen one-thousandths inch.

The Public School. The public school is generally underestimated and is frequently looked upon with indifference. Its influence cannot be expressed in a few words, but its influence is the lifeblood of the home, the community and the nation. Any ordinary imagination can conjure up a state of affairs that would soon come to pass if the schoolhouse were closed. It is the great sieve into which all the nations of the world are thrown to be shaken down to the common level of obedience and patriotism.—School master.

History Repeating. Mr. Blinks—I don't like the looks of that young man who calls to see Clara. Mrs. Blinks—He looks exactly as you did when your first came to see me. "Was I any such fool as that?" "Yes, you were, and yet I married you in spite of all my parents could say, and I am afraid that in spite of all we can say our Clara will now be just as big a fool as I was."

An Odd Inscription. At Wymondham, Norfolk, England is this inscription at an old country house engraved on an oak board and all in one line: "Nee nish gis servus nec hospes hirudo." Translated from the Latin, in which it appears in an antique Roman capital letters, it may be rendered, "No dourouse as a servant for me, neither a horse leech for a guest."

Not a Case of Superstition. Mrs. B.—Oh, Charles, we can never sit down with thirteen at table. Mr. B.—Pshaw! I hope you're not so superstitious as that. Mrs. B.—No, of course not, but we may only twelve dinner plates.

Wide-spread Interest. "Do you think that people appreciate art in this country?" "Certainly," answered Mrs. Cumcox. "Everybody gets interested as soon as you tell 'em how much a masterpiece cost."—Washington Star.

Kodol Gives Strength. "I have been troubled for some time with indigestion and sour stomach," says Mrs. Sarah W. Curtis, of Lee, Miss., "and have been taking Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets which have helped me very much so that now I can eat many things that before I could not." If you have any trouble with your stomach why not take these Tablets and get well? For sale by Richardson Gibson.

MISS MONIE BOWEY, DETROIT, MICHIGAN.

A couple of winters ago I slipped on a frozen sidewalk and fell flat on my back. On being examined I found that I had sustained internal injuries which laid me up for more than two months. After that I noticed that I had pains in the back and groin which I never had before. I doctored and doctored for several months but at the pains increased instead of growing better I decided that I was not having the right treatment. Reading in the papers of the wonderful cures performed by Wine of Cardui I wrote to one of the parties and received a very satisfactory reply and I immediately sent for some. In a very short time I felt generally better and after several weeks I felt as well as I ever more well and strong. I have never had a sick hour since and I daily bless your splendid medicine.

WINE OF CARDUI

A million suffering women have found relief in Wine of Cardui. Wine of Cardui makes women more womanly by curing their weakness and making them stronger. Wine of Cardui cured Miss Boweiy. If your sick and in need of relief, your duty is equally great to them. Many women, now well, owe their lives to friends who brought them Wine of Cardui. Wine of Cardui is adapted to women at any age in any walk of life. For the working woman it gives her strength for her tasks and better treatment than a doctor for very small cost.
