Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription,

Is not a secret or patent medicine, against which the most intelligent people are quite naturally averse because of the uncertainty as to their harmless character, but is a medicine of known composition, a full list of all its ingredients being printed in plain English, on every bottle wrapper. An examination of this list of ingredients will disclose the fact that it is non-alcoholic in its composition, chemically pure glycerine taking the place of the commonly used alcohol, in its make-up. The "Favorite Prescription" of Dr. Pierce is in fact the only medicine which is really pure glycerine, and under no circumstances will it be allowed to advertise other than their legitimate business in the space contracted for.

Alexandria Gazette.

Saleswomen's Peril

GRAVE DISEASES, DUE TO STANDING

Have you ever thought why so many women or girls rather walk an hour than stand still for ten minutes?

It is because most women suffer from some derangement of their delicate organism, the discomfort of which is less trying when they are in motion than when standing.

In some states laws compel employers to provide resting places for their female employees.

But no amount of law can regulate the hard tasks of these women. They must get the strength which this world demands or run the risk of serious disease and the surgeon's knife.

Read the experience of Miss Margret Merkle, 275 3d Street, Milwaukee, Wis.:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham—

Gradual loss of strength, nervousness, bearing-down pains and extreme irritation compelled me to seek medical advice. The doctor said I had diseased organs and ulceration, and advised an operation if I wanted to get well. I objected to this and decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. I soon found that all the good things said about this great medicine were true. The ulceration soon healed, backache, headache and nervousness disappeared, and in a short time I was strong, vigorous and perfectly well. I wish every working girl who suffers would try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a vegetable tonic which invigorates and strengthens the entire female organism, and will produce the same beneficial results in the cases of other sick women as with Miss Merkle.

THE NORTH AND THE SOUTH.

The following was taken from the Bellman, for September, a magazine published at Minneapolis, Minn., and shows that some northern people, at least, are awakening to the condition of affairs now existing in the South:

The fearful occurrences in Atlanta, Georgia, which have horrified readers of the daily press may well give us of the North a shock. We deserve it and we need it to awaken us to a realization of our responsibilities to our brethren of the South. A race war, undertaken on the part of the whites in sacred defense of their homes, or an unlawful outbreak in which the innocent and guilty of one race were alike sacrificed to the maddening vengeance of another; consider it either way, as you will; denounce it or excuse it; find palliation in the greatest of provocations humanity can know or condemn the perpetrators as outrageous law breakers, you cannot avoid the awful fact that the condition which is responsible for it exists and must be reckoned with.

The North is even more responsible for this overshadowing horror than the South. Let it face the facts as they are and cease this sloppy, sentimental talk about the elevation of the negro race and the need of self control on the part of the southern Caucasian. Ethical considerations, fine spun theories, philanthropic devices for a gradual elevation of the negro are not entitled to a moment's consideration when it is true that no white woman living in the South is safe for a moment unless guarded by the gun.

The North freed these negroes. It elevated them to citizenship and proclaimed them the possessors of equal rights with the whites. They washed their hands of responsibility; they left to the impoverished, defeated, disheartened South the task of making the newly freed worthy of citizenship.

Since then, the North has contributed largely of money to educate the negro. It has sympathized with and supported every scheme devised to benefit the negro and has lauded to the highest skies every effort to create in him social, political and financial aspirations. To the protests of the white men of the South who knew the negro and had to live with him, that the methods chosen were wrong and mischievous would surely result in disaster, the people of the North turned a deaf ear.

The southern white man's exact knowledge of conditions was discredited, his advice scorned, his warnings unheeded.

He was told to contain himself, to be patient and await the results of long-distance northern theorizing.

Now it has at length come to pass that the deluge has broken and this problem, long in the brewing of its malign factors, must be effectually settled not alone by the South but the North as well. We have had enough of theorizing, tempering, philosophizing, it is time to act.

White women and children are not safe, they cannot walk unguarded in the streets of the cities even in the day time. At night, doors must be locked and windows barred, the revolver must be ready at hand, if the black assailant is to be kept out.

Northern people do not know the truth and their journals are not enlightening them. The South, for very shame, is loath to let the facts be known, but a residence of even a few weeks in any portion of the country where the ignorant negro population is congested will convince the most skeptical that this hideous danger is always imminent and very real.

The fear of immediate and dreadful death is powerless to control the brutal, degenerated negro when his passions are aroused. His mind is too feeble and shallow to consider the consequences of his crime and the brute in him, once awakened, reckons nothing whatever of future punishment.

This national cancer is a revolting, hideous subject. The South understands it and the better classes of whites, to whom our sympathy and aid should be extended in the fullest measure, know further that, besides the vicious negro, they have with them a large element of ignorant, violent, intemperate white people for whose crude and revolting execution of lynch law they are held responsible by the world.

It is time for the North to bear a hand in the solution of the problem it has liberally shared in creating. It can do so by ceasing to exploit the negro as the white man's equal. It can do so by considering the mass of negroes in the South as they are, not as sentimentalists represent them to be. It can do so by discontinuing its senseless, fruitless attempt at higher cultivation of the negro. As long as the vast majority of the race in the South remains as it is, the strong arm of white control must be strengthened and encouraged to exert itself.

The negro must be taught the rudimentary virtues he has forgotten before he can aspire to a higher education.

The North can do its duty by first understanding the condition as it is and then uniting with the Caucasian of the South, in knowledge of and sympathy with his situation, to devise proper, adequate and permanent relief.

What is now needed is less sentiment and more common sense on the part of the North. All the money it has to devote to humanitarian purposes and all the sympathy and support it can summon should, in this grave emergency which threatens North and South alike, be placed, unreservedly and in the fullest confidence, back of the better class of white people in the South who alone are possessed of a full comprehension of the true situation and who alone are competent to deal with it adequately and justly.

Port McHenry to be Abandoned.

The official order directing the abandonment of Fort McHenry, Md., and Fort Fremont, S. C., as stations for troops of the United States army has been issued. It is directed that on March 31, 1907, when the troops are relieved from those posts, they be turned over to the Engineer Department of the army and all movable public property at them disposed of in accordance with instructions to be issued by the War Department. It was stated officially today at the War Department that the military reservations at these two posts are to be retained by the department and that civilian caretakers will be kept there.

Devil's Island Torture.

is no worse than the terrible case of Piles that afflicted me 10 years. Then I was advised to apply Bucklen's Arnica salve, and less than a box permanently cured me, writes L. S. Napier, of Rugles, Ky. Heals all wounds, Burns and Sores like magic. 25c at E. S. Leadbeater & Sons, Drugists.

Shake off the grip of your old enemy, Nasal Catarrh, by using Ely's Cream Balm. Then will all the swelling and soreness be driven out of the tender, inflamed membrane. The fit of sneezing will cease and the discharge, as offensive to others as to yourself, will be cured when the causes that produce it are removed. Cleanliness, comfort and health renewed by the use of Cream Balm. Sold by all druggists for 50 cents, or mailed by Ely Bros., 56 Warren street, New York.
