

SATURDAY EVENING, APRIL 20, 1907.

MAIDENS withering on the stalk in Danville, Ill., are urging the City Council of that place to enact an ordinance for the taxation of single men.

Only the exercise of the executive clemency of President Diaz can now save them from their fate.

The engagement of Mrs. Annie D. Parker, of Warrenton, to Thomas B. Croton, of Essex county, has been announced.

Preparing to Contest Will. London, April 19.—The greatest interest is manifested here in the report from New York, that relatives of the late James Henry Smith, the millionaire, who died in Japan, are preparing to fight for a part of his estate.

Fire in Chicago. Chicago, April 20.—Panic among 200 employees of Libby, McNeill and Libby's warehouse, in the stock yards, followed a fire that destroyed the big building, causing a loss of $50,000 and threatening the destruction of adjoining structures.

DRY GOODS. Lansburgh & Bro. 420 to 426 Seventh Street, 417 to 425 Eighth Street, WASHINGTON, D. C. NEW WAISTS. $2 Marie Antoinette Waists.

By THE sudden death of ex-Mayor George L. Simpson the lifeless body of another prominent, popular and representative citizen of Alexandria, (the second this week) lies at his late home surrounded by relatives and friends who are mingling their tears with the members of a household who left the breakfast table this morning, bright and pleasant as was the meteorological conditions, without the slightest premonition that when they again gathered around the family board there would be a vacant chair at the head of the table.

BETTER COLORING, branded "hamlets," has caused the death of two children at Lake View, Iowa. The two-year-old baby of Kent Sterling, of that place, expired after frightful agony of ten hours, having taken a little of the coloring from a bottle near where the mother was churning.

In reports to the War Department Col. Geo. W. Goethals, the U. S. army engineer who is now in charge of the Panama canal, it is said, makes serious reflections upon the work of the canal zone named the late Chief Engineer, John F. Stevens. He charges that the reports of his large excavations made by Mr. Stevens during the last three months are not in accordance with the facts and that much of the dirt that was excavated was dumped in places from which it will have to be removed later.

The engagement is announced of Miss Sylvia Sharpe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Burwell, of Clarke county, to Mr. Edward R. Jacobs. The wedding will take place June 19 at Christ Church, Millwood, Clarke county.

The arrival of an apothymous heir, or heiress, of Smith, may thwart the attempt of his mother, sisters and brothers to dispute with his widow the disposition of the $50,000,000 or $75,000,000 which he left. It is asserted by persons in New York who are in Mrs. Smith's confidence that such a complication is to be expected.

Sunday School Convention. Boston, April 20.—Sunday school workers from every section of North America began to arrive in Boston today. Some of them will attend the annual meeting of the International Sunday School Convention, which opens tomorrow, and the others will be the delegates to the World's Fifth Sunday School Convention in Rome. They sail from Boston April 25 on the steamer Romanic. April 25 the delegates will be entertained ending with a monster reception.

It is unofficially announced that hereafter all federal appointees in New York will be Governor Hughes men. This, it is believed marks the beginning of the end of the presidential boom started by Mr. Roosevelt for Secretary Taft.

While there is much conjecture in official circles and among foreign diplomats, particularly the naval attaches, who would like to make authentic reports to their home governments, as to the details of the plans and specifications of the two new sea monsters, the 20,000-ton battleships authorized by the last session of Congress and just approved by Secretary Taft, it is learned on authority that the plans for the two ships that are estimated to be even more formidable than the British Dreadnought, and which are to be sisters, differ but slightly from the plans for the first ship which were submitted to Congress last fall.

The following is the result of the election: President general—Mrs. Donald McLean, re-elected, 511; Mrs. Eleanor Washington Howard, 152; blank votes, 11. Total vote cast, 674. Vice president in charge of organization of chapters—Mrs. Charlotte Emerson Main, re-elected, 568; Mrs. J. K. Eppley, 163.

Daughters of the American Revolution. Mrs. Donald McLean and the entire administration ticket was overwhelmingly elected by the sixteenth congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution now in session in Washington.

Whipped by Women. London, Ohio, April 20.—Sixteen irate women of Rossa, Madison county, beat George H. Ward, a prosperous farmer, until, battered and bruised, he was removed to his home in a serious condition. For a long time Ward made himself obnoxious to the community through credulities charged by his wife. The authorities finally interfered and removed her to the home of a neighbor, W. S. Yerrian, where she died of consumption Tuesday. Ward, according to stories from neighbors, refused to allow religious services to be held over the body. He followed her to the grave in a solitary rig. The women of the community armed themselves with whips, awaited Ward's return, dragged him from the buggy, and beat him until the whips were splintered. In a petition for divorce, filed some weeks before her death, Mrs. Ward charged that her husband, while she was suffering from consumption, drove her from her bed to feed the stock.

Probable Work of the Black Hand. Shamokin, Pa., April 20.—Black Hand agents are held responsible for the probably fatal assault today on George Morasha, a constable, at Marion Heights. Morasha has been trying to capture an Italian suspect of having committed murder. It is believed he was attacked with a view of killing him and thus ending pursuit.

Cruelty to Animals. Among the various benevolent organizations found in our chief cities those for the prevention of cruelty to animals find sympathy with most people of kind hearts. The animals in whose interests they exist are of the brute creation, but I never travel by the electric trains on the Washington, Alexandria and Mt. Vernon Railway, especially in rush hours, without wishing we had one here for the protection of the nerve of those of our own species. No sooner does the train leave either terminus than the clatter of the ticket register over the front door begins its inhuman racket, which for the first five or ten minutes makes the life of any traveler who has nerves a burden. Speaking for that class and as the mouthpiece of many, I protest against such treatment. The use of this instrument of torture is understood to be in aid of the faithful collection of fares and, for aught I know, may be efficient to this end, but I insist that the company has no right in the conduct of their business to sacrifice the comfort of the public. Some other method surely of attaining the same end may be used, or at least a noise less excruciating may be employed in its behalf. Your correspondent travels often by the electric trains and has for years endured the chastisement in question and delayed to enter this protest, but he thinks now that forbearance has ceased to be a virtue and is moved to speak out. April 20, 1907. L. M. B.

From Washington. (Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.) Washington, April 20. Secretary Loeb, acting upon instructions from the President, has requested the newspaper correspondents of the capital to abstain from chronicling the private affairs of the Roosevelt family, and in pursuance of this wish the secretary has asked the newspaper men to cease their visits to the "Big House" at night. When the office building was constructed in the western end of the White House lot about three years ago, all the business of the executive was moved out of the White House building proper. The state parlors and dining-room were the only apartments of a semi-public character to be left in the historic mansion, and these were used and are still used by the public at certain times. The President, his secretary, the executive clerks, telegraphers and all the other attaches of the establishment except the doorkeepers, ushers and house servants, were removed to the new offices and the White House was practically turned over to the President's family. Even this arrangement did not give President and Mrs. Roosevelt the privacy they believed they should have been allowed to enjoy. Their little social gatherings, their incomings and outgoing, the diversions of the children, even the antics of the cats and dogs about the house were seized upon by certain newspapers and exploited as though they were subjects of international importance. Mrs. Roosevelt especially resented those intrusions, and finally when last week the papers printed with great detail the facts about a purely social family party, she requested that some action be taken to limit the publicity to which her family was subjected. In making the request of the newspapers to let the "Big House" alone, Secretary Loeb explained that when visitors of importance called at the White House to see the President after office hours he, the secretary, would give them full details. He added that there would be no limitation placed upon the representatives of the press at the office building and every facility would be given the newspaper men in the future, as has been given in the past, to shed the full light of publicity upon the President's official work.

At today's session of the American Society of Internal Law John W. Foster, Secretary of State under Harrison and now legal representative of China in the United States, said he thought it was entirely feasible for the forthcoming peace congress at the Hague to agree upon a treaty applicable to all nations for compulsory arbitration in certain classes of cases. He felt that the provision as to mediation might be amended so as to make it the duty of friendly neutral nations to intervene without request when war was threatened and that the disputing powers might be required before proceeding to hostilities to submit the questions at issue to a commission on inquiry. He also advocated the creating of a commission to codify the accepted principle of international law. Today's subject was the "Second Peace Conference at the Hague." Judge U. M. Rose, of Arkansas, president of the American Bar Association, and delegate to the conference, Representative Barthold of Missouri, president of the American group of the Interparliamentary Union, and John Bassett Moore, former Assistant Secretary of State and now professor of international law at the Columbia University, discussed the subject in a letter read before the society.

The administration ticket of the Mutual Life Insurance Company has been officially declared elected. Snow fell in New York city and other parts of the State, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Tennessee, Colorado and elsewhere yesterday. Mrs. Amanda Glover, the divorced wife of George Glover, a sheepman, who formerly lived in the Newfork region in Wyoming, was yesterday married to Henry J. Waters, a Montana railroad man, for the third time.

After spending Thursday in jail, in Washington, Edward Leon Thompson, better known as "Dr. Leon," was released on $2,000 bond pending action on his motion for a new trial. He was convicted of performing an illegal operation upon a young woman. The Presbytery of New Castle in session in Pocomoke City, Md., yesterday refused to enforce upon the members of the churches within its control a mandate which would demand of them unqualified support of the prohibition party on all questions relating to local option.

Jersey City, N. J., April 20.—Fire destroyed almost an entire city block on Warren street, between Railroad Avenue and Steuben streets, Jersey City, this forenoon. The blaze totally destroyed the plant of the Day Manufacturing Company and gutted three tenement houses adjoining. Four other tenements were partly destroyed. William Van Horn, driver of Assistant Chief Engineer Correll's wagon, while helping to carry a line of hose up to the roof of one of the burning houses, fell two stories and sustained a fractured skull. He was also internally injured. The total damage is estimated at $30,000.

Paris, April 20.—Major Taylor, champion American bicycle rider, was today forced to leave a hotel where he had registered, to attend the races at Buffalo Park, owing to the drawing of the color line. American tourists who were stopping at the same hotel with Taylor, were responsible for his being ordered out.

At the close of the republican banquet at Kansas City, Mo., Thursday night, Rev. James C. Schindler, pastor of the First Lutheran Church, included in the benediction these words: "May God, in his providence, will that the banner to be lifted aloft in the next republican national convention be borne to triumph and victory shall bear the motto of the square deal and William H. Taft for the presidency." The words were cheered by the banqueters.

The victim of hysteria, said to have been induced by religion, Miss Mary E. Tomlinson, sister of Irving C. Tomlinson, first reader of the Christian Science Church, Concord, N. H., and close confidant of Mrs. Eddy, threw herself from the window of her apartments on the fourth floor of the Parker House in Boston yesterday and died two hours later. Since the suit was brought by Mrs. Eddy's relatives against the head of the Christian Science Church and her trustees, of whom Tomlinson is one, Miss Tomlinson had acted strangely. She had been subject to hallucinations on the subject of religion for some time previous, but the suit seemed to intensify them.

At night the ladies attended the patriotic exercises of the Sons of the American Revolution at the First Congregational Church. Today the congress ends its session, when the final reports of officers and the closing up of routine business will be the programme. Many of the Daughters will remain in Washington until the latter part of next week, when they will leave in time to attend the opening exercises of the Jamestown Exposition.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We therefore use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, which is a most effective remedy for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. F. J. HENNEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.
