

THURSDAY EVENING, JAN. 14, 1909.

It is reported that during the past year twenty million dollars was spent under the direction of the president in every species of detective work. If the truth be anything approaching this a congressional investigation of the matter is imperative, and the resolution offered in the House yesterday by Mr. Clark calling on the attorney general to report to the House the number of special agents employed by the Department of Justice, their duties, salaries and by authority of what law they were appointed, should at once be adopted. The employment of detectives is excessive, but much of the employment of detectives is evidently improper. For example, in the president's secret service message he said: "In Nebraska it was necessary to remove a United States attorney and a United States marshal before satisfactory progress could be made" in the punishment of men guilty of public land frauds. Now if Mr. Roosevelt was so eager to punish those who were stealing public lands in the west, why did he recall Col. Mosby whom he sent there for the very purpose of preventing such robbery? The answer is that Senator Deitrich (who was subsequently turned out of the Senate) and others interested in this land grabbing threatened Mr. Roosevelt that if he did not recall Mosby the northwest would vote the democratic ticket at the next election. It is questioned let the investigators put Col. Mosby on the stand. Mr. Roosevelt is the king four flusher of his time and every word that has been said of him this week by Senators Tillman and Foraker is absolutely true.

That the cost of the Panama canal may reach $500,000,000 is indicated by the bill introduced by Senator Hopkins on Tuesday, as stated in the Gazette of that day, to authorize the issue of Panama bonds to that amount. Mr. Hopkins now says that future generations should help pay for this canal, thus tacitly admitting that the present will be unable to do so. For some time everyone has known that the canal is a much greater undertaking than was stated when construction was begun. The original authorization was for only $135,000,000, and some engineers expressed the opinion that a lock canal could be constructed for that amount. But more than $135,000,000 has been spent already, and the canal is not one-third done.

REPRESENTATIVE TAWNEY calls attention to the reported growth of the system of secret service espionage in the United States in the past ten years. In 1896 there were 166 authorized sleuths on the government payroll, at a yearly cost of $1,300,000. In 1907 the army of spies had grown to 8,000, and the expense to the government footed up $9,000,000. In this great still hunt for malefactors how much have the people profited? The malefactors have been extremely successful in their efforts to keep out of jail, and the worst of them seem very contented.

"DISCOURSES and lectures for every Sunday and the principal festivals of the year," by James Cardinal Gibbons, is the title of an attractive volume published by the John Murphy Company, of Baltimore. The volume is dedicated to the professors of St. Mary's Seminary, Baltimore. The discourses, like all others delivered by Cardinal Gibbons, are interesting, instructive and edifying.

CARRIE NATION was arrested yesterday for smashing a saloon at Newcastle-on-Tyne, England. It is hoped she will be detained in England till she comes in possession of her proper senses.

A movement has been started to attack the president for tearing down the old Pennsylvania station without notifying Congress. This was one of the most highbanded of Mr. Roosevelt's acts.

From Washington. [Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.] Washington, Jan. 14. Sarronded by a delegation of ten of his fellow officers, of the American Federation of Labor, Samuel Gompers, president of that organization, was received in the Cabinet room of the executive offices today by President Roosevelt in order that the labor officials might appeal to him for means of protection to political refugees from other countries. Although the meeting was private it can be stated that the president informally expressed regret at the severity of the sentence in the contempt against Gompers Mitchell and Morrison, and joked with Gompers and Mitchell over "the stiff jolt" which he had given Gompers during the campaign. The delegation called in conformity with instructions from recent Denver convention to petition the government to provide an asylum for the protection of political refugees from other countries. President Gompers announced upon leaving the White House that the president had expressed himself in entire sympathy with the principles presented, but that he disented from the criticism of President Dix and the Mexican government, and said that he would have a thorough investigation made.

The delegation was with the president over an hour and as they were leaving the president shook each by the hand warmly and told them to call again. Apparently suffering no ill effects from his ninety mile horseback ride of yesterday, President Roosevelt was at his office early today. To one of his callers he remarked that he could easily do it all over again today, if necessary. Surgeon General of the Navy Rixey, who was one of the president's companions in the ride, appeared at his office at his usual hour, first dropping in at the White House to look the President over. He reported that the executive was in prime condition. Dr. Rixey himself showed no signs of fatigue or soreness. It was noted, however, that Dr. Grayson, another of the president's fellow equestrians, seated himself very carefully in the heavily upholstered chair at his desk in the Navy Department. Capt. Archibald Butt, the president's aide, complained of a little stiffness in the calf of his leg but otherwise felt O. K. Although it was to be expected that the president, who rides every day and is therefore in first class condition for such a performance, would suffer no ill result, it was pointed out today that neither Butt nor Grayson were in training. They ride very little, and both of them argue that if outried men could accomplish the 96 miles under such adverse conditions, in 17 hours, an army or navy officer ought to be able without difficulty to cover 90 miles in 21 hours' riding spread over three days.

A queen without a kingdom, seeking recompense for the loss of the regal splendor of past days, appeared before the claims committee of the House today. For years Queen Lilikoukalanani, late ruler of the kingdom of Hawaii, has knocked at the doors of Congress seeking $250,000 from the United States—the usurpers of her crown land and estates and successor to the regal line of which she is the last. Hereafter the aged queen has only been represented before Congress through an attorney. Today was the first time she has personally appeared before the claims committee. She did not, however, state her case. Instead, her cousin, Prince Jonah Kihio Kalaniano'ole, now the congressional delegate from Hawaii, made a strong plea. He detailed the history of the ex-queen's reign, the circumstances attending the American occupation on March 17, 1893, and the use from that time of her crown lands and personal estates valued, at present, it is estimated, at $10,000,000. It is in recompense for this seizure and occupancy of some of these lands she holds by personal right, that she desires $250,000 from the government. George F. M. Hays, formerly of the Supreme Court of Hawaii, also urged the claim. The queen herself was accompanied by Mrs. Kalaniano'ole, wife of the delegate to Congress, and herself of a regal line.

Tomorrow will be navy day at the White House. Questions pertaining to the re-organization of the navy will be brought before Secretary Newberry and the cabinet, and it is expected that the special commission, which the president has selected to thresh out the matter, will be present. It is expected that at the afternoon meeting some definite decision will be reached as to what sort of a reorganization plan should be adopted. The Navy Department has acceded to the request of the Turkish government that ten officers of the Turkish navy, including the son of the sultan be permitted to come to the United States with the battleship fleet for the purpose of studying American naval affairs.

At today's session of the American Forestry Association meeting Governor Guild of Massachusetts was elected president for the ensuing year and Andrew Carnegie was chosen as one of the vice presidents. The Senate today adopted a concurrent resolution by providing that both branches of Congress shall assemble in the hall of the House at 1 o'clock in the afternoon on Wednesday, February 10, and count the electoral vote for president and vice president.

It is now regarded as certain that bills admitting Arizona and New Mexico to statehood will be passed by the House without delay. A "trial" in brains, one of the incorporators of which President Roosevelt, is contemplated in two bills which have just been introduced by Senator Lodge, who is himself named as another of the incorporators. The bills are respectively entitled "a bill incorporating the national academy of arts and letters" and "a bill incorporating the national institute of arts and letters."

President Roosevelt was warmly congratulated today on his long horseback ride of yesterday by Battling Nelson the lightweight champion, who stopped off here to get a portrait of the president. He not only received it, but had inscribed on it a settlement which he said he was mighty proud of, but which he explained he did not care to make public. Resolutions providing for preliminary surveys in harbor work were today approved by the Senate's committee on commerce in the case of Olincoctague Bay, Virginia.

Favorable report was today ordered by the Senate committee on commerce on a bill requiring all motor boats to carry at least one life preserver for every passenger. This applies to private boats used for pleasure.

New York, Jan. 14.—After the first 15 minutes a heavy tone developed in the market and being during the balance of the hour, prices generally tended downward declines sustained in everything from fractions to over 2 points in the more active issues.

News of the Day.

Cuba's own rule begins again with the meeting of the Congress. James J. Jeffries is going to attempt to get in fighting trim once more in the opinion of some of his closest friends in Los Angeles. Commercial relations between France and Venezuela were ordered renewed as a result of the negotiations of Jose de Jesus Paul, the Venezuelan representative to Paris.

To mate the rate of postage on third and fourth-class matter on rural free delivery routes equal to two cents a pound is the object of a bill introduced by Representative Fowler, of Vermont. The bill to prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquor in Tennessee passed the lower House of the generally assembly yesterday evening at 6:15 o'clock. The measure passed in the one favorably acted upon Tuesday by the Senate, and now goes to Governor Patterson.

Binding, gagging and assaulting Solomon Loughner, 80 years of age, and his two sisters, both of whom are in their 70 and 80 years old, six masked robbers Tuesday night ransacked the house, secured about $1,600 in cash, their supper and then disappeared. The Loughners live on an isolated farm midway between Jeannette and Harrison City, Pa.

Jewels worth a king's ransom are included in the presents of Miss Beatrice Mills, daughter of D. O. Mills, who this afternoon became the bride of the Earl of Graciar. Including the town house in London, worth $100,000, the gift of her father, the presents are valued at more than half a million dollars. The ceremony was performed by Bishop Ouseback in the Louis XV. ballroom of the Mills residence, No. 2 east Fifty-ninth street, New York, at 8 o'clock in the afternoon.

Virginia News.

The Crescent exelior plant in Fredericksburg was sold at public auction yesterday under a trusteeship and was purchased by the Conway-Gordon & Garrott National Bank for the sum of $5,500. The twin iron furnaces of the Virginia Iron and Coke Company of Richmond went out of blast yesterday and shut down for an indefinite period. The suspension is the result of business depression and light demand for pig iron. About 200 men are thrown out of employment.

Messrs. Davis & Davis, Washington patent attorneys, report the grant, this week, to citizens of this state, of the following patents: C. J. App, of Lynchburg, quadruplex telephone system; E. H. Hubbard and W. G. Adams, of Roanoke, mica car-dumping apparatus; C. W. Montgomery, of Richmond, cutter-guiding temple; J. H. Thackston, of Bethlehem Church, tobacco, stick holder.

MARYE FOR LIFE.

Colonel Morton Marye, auditor of public accounts of the state of Virginia, has served in that office continuously and most acceptably for a quarter of a century. He was first elected in 1884 during the administration of Governor Cameron and has occupied the same relation to the government during the successive terms of six executives—Fitzhugh Lee, McKimney, O'Ferrall, Tyler, Montague and Sweeney. Three of these governors have passed away during this period, but the sturdy old veteran who stands sentinel over the collection and disbursement of the revenues of the commonwealth seems to gain new strength and energy from the passing years. Colonel Marye has been a faithful and capable servant of the people, and his long retention in the place he so admirably fills is generally alike to himself and the general assemblies which have retained him in it. The Virginia-Pilot gives greeting to the veteran official and hopes he may live to round out a full half century as an exemplar of Virginia's appreciation of a loyal son.—[Norfolk Virginia-Pilot.

THE PRESIDENT VISITS WARRENTON.

As stated in the Gazette of yesterday, President Roosevelt rode ninety miles on horseback to Warrenton and return, and when he dismounted last night at the White House more than seventeen hours after having departed therefrom, he did not show any marked signs of weariness. The object of his long day in the saddle, he explained after his return, was to "prove to the critics who have found fault with the recent order requiring all army and navy officers to take a physical test, that if a president, who is not in training, can ride ninety miles plus in one day without being laid up in bed thereby, it would not be too much to ask the men who are supposed to be in the best of physical training all the time to ride ninety miles in three days."

The greetings that Warrenton gave the president showed that the honor of his visit was appreciated, as he is the first president to visit Warrenton since the days of Franklin Pierce.

BAKERY REPORT SECRET.

William C. Saunders, Dairy and Food Commissioner in the Department of Agriculture, on Tuesday sent to Governor Swanson certain letters dealing with the conditions of bakeries in the state. Efforts to learn from either the governor or the commissioner the names of these bakeries were not successful. The governor feels that those which are scheduled as in bad or indifferent condition should not be made known until after the 30 days allowed them by law in which to correct the evil conditions complained of.

SOFTNESS OF SEALSKIN

Is Rivalled by a Human Hair Where Dandruff is Eradicated. Sealskin is admired the world over for its softness and glossiness; and yet the human hair is equally as soft and glossy when healthy and the radical cause of all hair trouble is dandruff, which is caused by a pestiferous parasite that eats the vitality of the hair at its root. Newbro's Herpicide is the only preparation that is fatal to the dandruff germ. Without dandruff there is no falling hair, but a luxuriant growth of glossy, soft hair is certain. Scouring the scalp won't cure dandruff. Kill the cause of dandruff. Thousands of women owe their beautiful curls of hair to Newbro's Herpicide. Sold by Ernest L. Allen & Co., agents Two sizes $5. and $10. Send 10c in stamps or sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. The Market. Georgetown D. C., Jan 13.—Wheat 97-106

Today's Telegraphic News

Tillman and Bonaparte. Washington, D. C., Jan. 14.—Senator Tillman announced before the session of the Senate opened today that he was going to put two members of the president's Cabinet in the Ananias Club. The two are Postmaster General Meyer and Attorney General Bonaparte. With regard to the first he said he would produce the "lie direct." Tillman says he will prove by the report of the postoffice inspector that the photographic copies of his letters and franked envelopes were made last July, whereas Postmaster General Meyer, in a statement issued day before yesterday, declared that they were not made until December. That is what Tillman calls the "lie direct." As for the attorney general he quoted Touchstone's different diversities or degrees of a lie, from Shakespeare's "As You Like It," and said that he was uncertain which character of a "liar" he would prove him to be. The quotation from Touchstone in answer to the question of Jacques: "Can you nominate in order now the degrees of the lie?" is as follows: "O sir, we quarrel in print, by the book; you have books for good manners; I will name you the degrees. The first, the Retort Courteous; the second, the Quip Modest; the third, the Reply Churlish; the fourth, the Reproof Valiant; the fifth, the Countercheck Quarrelsome; the sixth, the Lie With Circumstance; the seventh, the Lie Direct. All these, on may avoid but the lie direct, and you may avoid that too, with an if. I knew when seven justices could not take up a quarrel; but when the parties were met themselves one of them thought but of an if, as if you said so, then I said so; and they shook hands, and swore brothers. Your if is the only peace-maker, but much virtue in an if."

The answer of Attorney General Bonaparte to Senator Tillman's inquiry as to whether he had brought suit against the Oregon Southern Company is as follows: "Referring to our telephone conversation this morning, I beg to say that I find on examination of the files of the department, that the suit in connection with the Coos Bay wagon road grants was one of those which, as I told you, had been the subject of a difference of opinion between the special counsel engaged in these cases. A private suit has already been brought in connection with this matter, and the question arose whether the government should intervene in this suit, or should bring an independent suit. After careful consideration and a rather voluminous correspondence with the two special counsel, I decided that it would be better for the government to bring an independent action without reference to the private suit already instituted. I therefore wrote some time since to Mr. E. D. Townsend and subsequently telegraphed him, directing that such suits should be brought as soon as practicable. The questions involved in the suit connected with the Coos Bay grant and several other contemplated suits of minor moment will be substantially determined by a decision in the case already instituted against the Harriman railroads which hold the Oregon and California land grant titles; and it is deemed advisable by Mr. Townsend to bring to trial, if possible, the main suit, namely, that against the Harriman interests and involving the Oregon and California railroad grants, before these other less important suits are tried. I agree with you with him to this extent, although as above stated, I have ordered all the suits to be brought as soon as possible. I think no injury to the government interests has been caused by the delay in instituting proceedings in regard to the Coos Bay grants and a number of other matters. I enclose you, herewith, copied documents of the department, a statement of the present situation of the main suit against the Harriman interests, the bill of complaint in which, as you will see, was filed September 4, 1908, as set forth in my statement of yesterday."

The wedding took place in the Louis XIV. ballroom in the Mills mansion, the ceremony being performed by Mgr. Lavelle, of St. Patrick's Cathedral, the groom being a Catholic. Sixtieth Congress.

Washington, Jan. 14. SENATE. Mrs. Russell Sage and her sister, Miss Annie Bartlett Warner, will not receive the thanks of Congress for the gift to the United States of Constitution Island in the Hudson river opposite West Point, thereby giving them the privilege of going upon the floors of the Senate and House for life. The Senate today adopted a joint resolution accepting the gift to be used in connection with the West Point Military Academy but omitting the customary tender of thanks. Senator Tillman handed membership cards in the Ananias Club to Attorney General Bonaparte and Postmaster General Meyer for their statements in connection with his alleged attempt to purchase timber lands in Oregon. Mr. Tillman began by calling attention to Attorney General Bonaparte's statement in which he took issue with Mr. Tillman's speech of defense on two points. He had then read in full from the secretary's desk.

Mr. Tillman said he never thought of buying any lands granted to the railroads. What he had in view were lands belonging to the Southern Oregon Company and granted by the State of Oregon. Mr. Tillman said it was a question of memory and not veracity between himself and the attorney general. "I will put my word against that of Bonaparte," he said in a courtly but firm and not apprehensive of the result. I talked to him about lands belonging to the military wagon road and not those conveyed by grants to railroads. Mr. Tillman declared that papers and documents had been stolen from his desk and his mail is now being held up at the postoffice. He said his affairs had been discussed at a Cabinet meeting and the president and his underlings would stop at nothing to ruin him. The telephone conversation between Tillman and Bonaparte, in which he sought to ascertain just exactly what suits had been filed, was recited and Mr. Bonaparte's letter read: "Later he read an interview with Postmaster Meyer and said his statements were rather falsehood than error when he said Mr. Tillman called attention to Bryan E. Dorr's violation of the Postal laws. He read from the postoffice inspectors report showing that his letter to Reeder and Watkins had been in the hands of the Postoffice Department since last August. Two Cabinet officers are trying to make the people believe Roosevelt the most honest, upright, faithful and conscientious prosecutor of the great malefactors," said Mr. Tillman. He believed Dorr had seen the president and knew of the president's intention to send his alleged expose to the Senate. In his circular he said that revenge would soon be his and the explosion would be heard around the world.

MURDER SUSPECTED.

Sensational developments are looked for in connection with the strange death of William A. Andrews, the young bridegroom, whose dead body was found swinging from a tree near Roanoke last Sunday, after he had been missing a week. It is said indications point to the conclusion that he was dead before he was hanged. The puncture of a hat pin or some such instrument is thought to have produced death. Just before the burial, an uncle of Andrews, L. C. Roberts, appeared at the grave and insisted that interment should not proceed. In response to his demand, an examination of the body was made by a physician, who found several holes in the young man's breast. These holes were such as would be made with a hat pin or some article of a similar shape. One of the punctures, it is said, was just over the heart, and the examining physician expressed the opinion that this wound caused Andrews' death, and that he was then hanged to the tree. The matter is to be thoroughly sifted.
