THE BOY WITH COWLICKS.
Why the Barber Does Not Like to Cut His Hair.
When a boy with cowllicks comes into a barber shop, says a local artist in hair, "there is a quiet competition at once among the barbers to see who shall get through last with the customer in hand, for every barber is perfectly willing that somebody else shall pocket the boy's quarter. It is almost impossible to cut the hair of a boy with cowllicks so that it shall look decent. If you get it right in one place it is too short in another, and if you trim it down in the first place, to make it look like the second, in two or three weeks the hair will grow so unevenly that the boy looks like a scarecrow.
"Whatever people call a cowllick is only a set of the hair roots in a particular direction, by which the hairs are made to turn at a sharp angle to the growth on the rest of the scalp. Babies are often born with cowllicks that showed just as distinctly with the little hair they have, as though their heads were fully covered. But boys generally get them by the way they have of wearing their hats or caps. A boy always slings his cap on the back of his head, then gives it a pull down over his forehead. This draws the hair on the back straight upward and very often makes a cowllick. I remember one boy who had a semi-circular cowllick from one ear clear around to the other and another on the top of his head, where the cap touched his crown, and when that boy's hair was cut he looked as though he had a white stripe around his head at the place where the hair stood up straight and the scalp showed through.
"Cowllicks are sometimes remedied by frequently brushing the hair in the proper direction, so as to turn the roots at the right angle. Men who shave themselves very often have cowllicks in their beard by shaving up one side and down the other. So long as the face is clean shaven these are never noticed, but when such men start to grow a beard they find the hair sticking out in all directions, and for the first few weeks their faces are a show, but combing and brushing soon turn the roots in the right direction and the cowllick passes away. It is true that there are some natural cowllicks that cannot be eradicated. There is a lady in the city that has two cowllicks just over her forehead that have worried her more than all her sins. She has brushed them, straightened the hair with pomatum, fastened it back with hairpins, has done everything that anybody told her and a good many she thought of herself in order to get rid of them. But they are there still, and her sole consolation is the fact that a fortune teller once told her that some day they would bring her good luck. — St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Something Definite.
Angelina Spring, in spite of the beautiful sound of her name, had a bad temper. One day she insisted on crying and protested when the question was put often enough to elicit an answer that she had a "pain." Exactly where she would not or could not describe. Her persistent fretting finally won for her a vigorous spanking.
After the punishment there was quiet. A caller came and heard the tale.
"You see," said Mrs. Spring, "she kept saying that 'it hurt her,' but she wouldn't say where. So there seemed no other way to stop her bawling than to spank her."
"Kind of localizing the pain?" suggested the visitor.
"Yes," agreed Mrs. Spring heartily. "That is it precisely." — Youth's Companion.

The Heavier Load.
Here is an example that will puzzle the smartest: James is wheeling a barrel of flour, while Charles is wheeling four barrels. Which has the heavier load?
This is no problem at all, you say. Of course Charles has the heavier load. But, no, you are wrong. The explanation is that Charles' barrels are empty. The example said that James was wheeling a barrel of flour and Charles four barrels. But Charles' barrels were not barrels of flour, only four barrels. Things are not always what they seem, especially in twentieth century arithmetic. — Pathfinder.

Not Open to Everybody.
"A most peculiar effect was produced by an announcement in the advertisements of a county fair to be held in my state," said a southern congressman. "Among other things, the announcement said that 'attractive features of this great fair will be highly amusing donkey races and pig races.' Then, to the amazement of the judicious, this note was added: 'Competition in these two contests will be open to citizens of the county only!'"

Reason Enthroned.
Because meals are so tasty they are consumed in great excess. This leads to stomach troubles, biliousness and constipation. Revise your diet, let reason and not a pampered appetite control, then take a few doses of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and you will soon be well again. Try it. For sale by W. F. Creighton and Richard Gibson drug stores. Samples free.

CERTIFICATE TO AMEND THE CHARTER OF THE CONSOLIDATED QUARRY COMPANY.
This is to certify that the CONSOLIDATED QUARRY COMPANY desires to so amend its charter of incorporation, granted to it by the Corporation Court of the City of Alexandria, Virginia, on the 31st day of December, 1901, and lodged in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth of Virginia, on the 22nd day of December, 1901, to decrease its authorized capital stock from one hundred and twenty thousand dollars ($120,000) divided into twelve hundred (1200) shares of the par value of one hundred dollars ($100) each, to twelve thousand dollars ($12,000) divided into twelve hundred (1200) shares of the par value of ten dollars ($10) each, and that the said decrease in its capital stock is made pursuant to resolution of the board of directors, adopted at a meeting of the board held on the 3rd day of October, 1907, and under a resolution of the stockholders adopted by a vote of two-thirds in interest of each class of stockholders having voting power, at a special meeting of the stockholders held at its principal office in the City of Alexandria, Virginia, on the 26th day of October, 1907, called for that purpose, after two weeks notice, required by law, published in the Alexandria Gazette had been given of the said meeting. Certified copies of the resolution of the board of directors and stockholders' meeting are hereto annexed and made a part of this certificate.
Given under our hands and the seal of the said company this 12th day of December, 1908.
HENRY P. GILBERT, President.
Attested: J. C. PRATT, Secretary.

District of Columbia to wit: I, George J. Johnson, a Notary Public in and for the said district, do hereby certify that Henry P. Gilbert, the president, and James F. Gilber, the secretary of the CONSOLIDATED QUARRY COMPANY, whose names are signed to the annexed writing dated on the 12th day of December, 1908, personally appeared before me in my district aforesaid, and acknowledged that they had read, signed, and sealed the foregoing certificate for the purposes therein set forth, by authority of the stockholders meeting of the said company.
