THE PRESIDENT ASSAILED.

Col. George W. Cook, representative in Congress from Colorado, delivered a vitriolic attack upon President Roosevelt yesterday during the five-minute discussion on the secret service clause of the sundry civil appropriation bill, and was preparing to follow up his charges with further criticisms and ridicule, but Chairman Tawney, who was in charge of the bill, declined to extend his time. Col. Cook was even denied the privilege of extending his remarks in the record. However, he continued talking after Mr. Tawney had declined to yield further time to him, and another member was making a speech while the attack of the Colorado representative was still in progress. He was finally stopped when he had half finished his remarks. Col. Cook's assault on the chief executive was directed against him in reply to the president's criticisms of the decisions of Judge Lewis, of the District Court of Colorado, relative to the work of the secret service men in that state, and also the president's statement that one of Chief Wilkie's men, Walker, had been assassinated while paroling his dates in Colorado.

He said the decision of the Colorado court had been upheld by the majority of the citizens of that state, and declared that he claimed the right to defend its citizens and himself from "the encroachments and abuse of the executive power of the present national administration." He contended the president should not have referred to this affair in his message to Congress, January 4, dealing with secret service. He then said that one of the three men accompanying Walker, when he was killed, was a "notorious horse thief," and had been employed by the government to assist in detecting crime in Colorado. He also asserted that the president had recently vetoed the bill fixing the boundary line between Colorado and New Mexico, and that the influence against this act was a corporation in Colorado anxious to avoid the payment of taxes on thousands of acres of coal land.

Col. Cook further said: "This unprecedented and dictatorial encroachment of the executive against the legislative and judicial department of the government is almost a daily threat to the peace and prosperity of the republic. It is unfortunate, not only for the president, but for the citizens of the republic, that he has not a legal mind and no equanimity of executive reason. In all of this fuss and feathers of the whole administration, he and his pliant attorney general have not sent a single placard to the pliant secretary." "Such a keen political speculator and financial strenuousness has never been seen before in this country, and let us fervently hope that his like shall never be seen again. The liberty of the people is gradually and secretly stolen by sneaking executive encroachments, and even judicial decisions where the freedom of speech and of the press are denied. It is an outrageous injustice to the toiling multitude. "President Roosevelt seems to think that he alone is the government, and that his lips must rule everybody, including the poor and friendless black soldiers of Brownsville, who were insulted, dismissed, and degraded without proof or trial by executive order and without any warrant of reason or law. "President Roosevelt runs the government on the same principle as the beef trust runs its sausage mill—from a personal standpoint, using a legislative and judicial pork as the crude material of his fastidious administration."

The most violent blows intended for president were contained in that part of Col. Cook's remarks which he was not allowed to finish or to have put in the record. Part of his manuscript from which he was reading was as follows: "No citizen of the United States ever heard a president brag about wielding a 'big stick' over Congress and the courts until the present cackled egotist came into power by the bullet of an assassin. The impudent presumption and tyrant boast of whirling a 'big stick' over the legislative department of this great republic is the most outrageous insult that has ever been given to Congress. And we sit here peering vacantly like a lot of Rocky mountains sheep and allow this lawless Douglas Dalgaty to call us spilloons without a murmur. There can be no nation without a state, and there is no state without the individual unit of citizenship. The army and navy come from the plain people, and we are the supreme masters of the republic now and in the future. But a few days more and Roosevelt's glittering sands of official life will have passed forever through the hour glass of time, and then we will have in the White House a fine scholar, a great lawyer, and an honorable judge."

Reason Enthroned.
Because meats are so tasty they are consumed in great excess. This leads to stomach troubles, biliousness and constipation. Revise your diet, let reason and not a pampered appetite control, then take a few doses of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and you will soon be well again. Try it. For sale by W. F. Orlington and Richard Gibson drug stores. Samples free.

WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY.

A dispatch from Syracuse, N. Y., says for the first time in the history of American railroading, wireless telegraphy is to be used for the transmission and receipt of messages from a moving passenger train. The experiment will be made on Sunday from a special train. A complete wireless apparatus will be installed on the train, and four stations are now being prepared to send and receive messages from the special. They will be at Cleveland, Toledo, Elkhart, Ind., and on the roof of the L. S. Hie street depot, Chicago.

POSSUM IN DEMAND.

So great is the demand for possum in the north and south since the Taft banquet in London that the marshall is bringing $10 each, irrespective of what they weigh or how they are. Though possums command a good price, the dealers are unable to cur half enough to supply the increasing demand that is being made for them by the eastern cities. Prior to the visit of President-elect Taft possums could be secured for 50 cents, and were retailed for $1. One order was received in Atlanta yesterday morning for 250 possums at $10 each, and yesterday afternoon an order came for Hartford, Conn., for 140 possums.
