WORKHOUSE AND REFORMATORY.

Both the workhouse and reformatory, to be built by the District of Columbia, will be erected in Virginia. This was decided yesterday by the commission appointed by the District commissioners. A site for the workhouse has been found at Occoquan. It has been practically decided to build the reformatory at White House, on the Virginia shore of the Potomac, about ten miles south of Alexandria.

HAVE THEY COME?

"The falling away and the Man of Sin which are said would antedate the Lord's Second Coming." See 2 Thes., II, 1 to 13. The above topic will form the basis of Dr. Blakewell's lecture in the Bradock House mission rooms tomorrow night, commencing at 7:30 o'clock. A number of people, who are interested in the prophetic portion of the Bible, but who have not the book nor the time to study such subjects, are availing themselves of the means afforded by the Bradock House mission of becoming better acquainted with portions of the scriptures but seldom explored in these days. A cordial invitation is extended all.

SPRUNG ALEAK.

The two masted schooner Ella, Capt. Redona, owner and master, which has been lying at the pier of Johnson Brothers, at the foot of 13th street southwest, Washington, for several weeks past, sprung a leak a few days ago and when discovered by the watchman on the pier she had a foot of water on her cabin floor and was almost ready to go to the bottom of the dock. The vessel was speedily pumped out and will be brought to the shipyard at this port and hauled out to locate and stop the leak and for other repairs.

THOUGHT HE WAS ABOUT TO BECOME INSANE.

A man who gave his name as Samuel Gaylord, and his address is 33 north 21st street, Richmond, appeared at the station on Monday night and told the officers he feared he was about to lose his mind. He said he "saw things" which he believed were the precursors of approaching insanity. Lieutenant Smith gave the man a sedative, and this morning he left for his home.

JAPANESE IEA.

The Japanese Tea held on Mondays and Fridays by the Junior Daughters of the U. D. O. at the Confederate Building, and which have been so popularly received, will close with the tea Monday afternoon next from 3 to 5 o'clock.

A PARAGRAPH FROM ALEXANDRIA HISTORY.

Forty-eight years ago a number of prominent citizens of Alexandria were arrested by the Federal military authorities then in charge of the city, and conducted to the Old Capitol prison in Washington where they were confined for some time. No specific charge was urged against them and the victims were never acquainted with the causes which led to their incarceration. The most generally accepted reason was the fact that the good people of Alexandria were at the time of the arrest engaged in the work of providing the necessities of life for the wives and children of Alexandrians who were soldiers in the Confederate army. Most of those who were taken in custody were identified with that work. Other causes for the wholesale arrests have been suggested. What were known as union meetings were held in those days. The assemblage consisted of Federal officers and soldiers and Alexandrians whose sympathies were with the northern invaders. Enough hot air filled the hall at such gatherings to inflate the largest balloon ever constructed. "We will not allow the American eagle to be made into a haak for a secession supper" was among the classical expressions of some of those who were speaking behind the fortification and who managed to keep at a safe distance from the firing line. Occasionally mischief was hatched at their conclaves and the arrest of the Alexandrians is thought by some to have been conceived at one of these gatherings. The following residents, all of whom have since paid the debt of nature, were the victims of the arrest: James A. English, Edgar Snowden, Jr., John A. Field, Wm. B. Price, J. S. Green, Stephen A. Green, Wm. H. McKelbig, John L. Smith, Wm. W. Harper, John B. Daingerfield, W. Arthur Taylor, Wm. Ogden, Henry O. Field Wesley Avery, Wm. N. Brown, H. O. Oslubly, Edward S. Hough, Henry Pacl, Andrew J. Fleming, John W. Burke, Jas. E. McGraw, and Wm. H. Marbury.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

At a meeting called for the purpose last night the Westminster League of the Second Presbyterian Church elected the following officers and committee members to serve for the ensuing year: President, W. H. Melchior; vice president, D. M. Low; secretary, W. A. Moore, jr.; treasurer, Malcolm Brenner. The following chairmen of committees were elected: Pastor's aid committee, Mrs. R. Lee Field; membership committee, Miss Sadio Field; music committee, Mrs. Walter Piser; social committee, Miss Etta Jackson, and religious work committee, F. L. Slaymaker. Plans are being made for a vigorous year of work and pleasure. The regular meetings are held at the church on the second Friday of each month.

AN INTERESTING LECTURE.

The Young People's Building was crowded last night by an intelligent and representative audience which had assembled to study pictures of Yosemite Valley and to listen to the lecture delivered by Rev. O. D. Bulla, pastor of the M. E. Church South. The lecturer has recently visited this interesting section of the country, and his explanation of the pictures and miscellaneous matter concerning the Yosemite Valley were greatly enjoyed.

OPERA HOUSE.

"Buster Brown's Schooldays," as presented last night by the Acme Comedy Company, was without doubt the best and most amusing act as yet offered. The vaudeville specialties were also up to the standard and, taking all together, this quartette of players have won popular favor with local theatre goers as compared to but few. A new and larger company is announced for all of next week, the Acme Company closing tonight.

LIVES OF GREAT MEN OF THE BIBLE.

Tomorrow at the evening service at the Second Presbyterian Church Rev. J. B. Sevier will continue the popular studies in the lives of the great men of the Old Testament. Elshah has succeeded Elijah and great miracles are being wrought by God. There are present day lessons for all in these character studies. A cordial welcome to all.

GULLS.

Hundreds of gulls are flying over the river and at times settling on the surface. They generally appear in large numbers about the time a thaw is setting in when they fast upon anything in the way of animal or vegetable substances found in the water. The slopes which pass into the river from sewers is greedily devoured by these birds. Their appearance in large numbers is believed by watermen to indicate the approach of winds.

FUNERAL.

The funeral of the late Mrs. William E. Kendall took place at noon today from St. Paul's Church and was attended by a large number of friends of the deceased. The services were conducted by Rev. P. P. Phillips, assisted by E. Shaw Harding, of Washington, and Rev. S. A. Walls, of the Episcopal Theological Seminary. The floral tributes were beautiful. The interment was in St. Paul's cemetery and the pallbearers were: Maj. W. A. Oweo, of Washington, and Messrs. Albert Bryan, J. M. Johnson, G. W. Ramsay, Dr. W. M. Smith and Hubert Snowden.

THE LAST OF THE MEN'S MEETINGS.

SENSATIONAL REPORT.

An extremely sensational report has been in circulation in the western section of the city during the past two days. It suggested that efforts are being made to suppress the facts in the case, and, as is usual on such occasions, the report, like a snowball, grows in proportions as it goes the rounds. Those most vitally interested say the report is baseless.

PROPERTY SALE.

Mr. John D. Normyle, real estate agent, has sold for Miss Margaret E. Normyle four building lots at the southwest corner of Ororoco and West streets to Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Kimball, of Los Cascades, Canal Zone, Isthmus of Panama, and a deed for the same was admitted to record in the clerk's office of the Corporation Court this morning.

Robinson, chairman of the finance board of the William McKinley Normal and Industrial School, has called a meeting of the board for next Monday night at which time a successor to the late Robert H. Robinson, deceased, will be elected. When Panhandle Pete entered the kingdom of heaven he seemed greatly impressed and awed at the magnificent grandeur of the celestial scenery. One day while strolling thru a delightful flower bed he came upon Cleopatra, the beautiful queen of ancient Egypt. "Kiss my halo," he remarked. "The tip of the morning to thee 'Pat' wouldst stroll down on Apian way with yours truly?" And Cleo replied: "Nay, nay, Pat. KILLED AT GRADE CROSSING.

Mrs. Martha Flagler, widow of Gen. Benjamin Flagler, was killed and Mrs. Morris Oahn and Mrs. George F. Nye, were probably mortally injured in a collision between Mrs. Flagler's automobile and a New York Central passenger train at a grade crossing between Niagara Falls and Buffalo yesterday afternoon. Miss Oatharine Nye, 15 years old, and the chauffeur, William McPhee, were slightly injured. The automobile was swept along by the train more than 150 feet. Mrs. Oahn, Mrs. Nye, Miss Nye, and Chauncey McPhee were thrown into the snowbanks. Mrs. Flagler being instantly killed. Mrs. Flagler was a wealthy woman, about 75 years old. Mrs. Oahn and Mrs. Nye are the daughters of Col. Charles B. Gaskill. The Flaglers formerly lived in Washington, where Miss Flagler shot and killed a boy for which she was fined $1,000 and sent to jail for an hour.

SAYS HE ROBBED FOR LOVE.

"I hoped to marry my sweet heart some day soon, and if I had been successful in pulling off that jewelry store diamond robbery last night before you fellows got me, the day would not have been very far away. I am sorry for the girl whom I love. I know there is no chance of us ever marrying now." This was the statement made yesterday in Pittsburg by Stephen Austin Gillette, the youthful college student, known to the police as the "drugstore bandit," who held up a number of druggists and compelled them to deliver the contents of their cash register. The police are not inclined to believe that he has been operating as a holdup man for more than a year. "I wish I had not arranged for that jewelry store job, and I would written to my mother for my money," he concluded. "I would have been all right then."

"NEAR INSURGENTS." Representative Claude Kitchin, of North Carolina, occupied the attention of the House for two hours yesterday with a vigorous speech on the tariff and "near-insurgents," which will furnish campaign material for the democratic party in the contest for Congress. At the conclusion of a long discussion of what he termed the "iniquity of the tariff bill" he attacked the "near-insurgent" republicans who are for Speaker Cannon in Washington and against him in the coming campaign. He accused them of political hypocrisy and challenged them to point out wherein they had failed to follow the lead of Mr. Cannon, whose head he was now gently seeking to place under the axe after he had rewarded them with committee chairmanships and lifted some of them out of political obscurity. The speech of Mr. Kitchin was a reply to the tariff "triller" in which Mr. Gardner, of Massachusetts, yesterday indulged during his speech to the House. The spectacle of a minority member defending, excusing, and explaining the acts of the man he called "The Czar" whom he said he had seen again and again exercise great power as the President of the United States, held the House, as well as the galleries, breathless at moments, and he was voluntarily given the time of republicans, and denunciations alike in which to continue his arraignment of the near-insurgents, whom he said the Speaker had lifted out of the ordinary into chairmanships of committees, and who now turn their backs on him in ingratitude. "But," when he assailed "Caesar," Mr. Kitchin said, "promised the Roman people a better man than Caesar. These former leaders of the Speaker, in the assassination of that gentleman, do not make a promise of anything but someone weaker than the intellectual of this body and in the courage of it, and it is this House must have a republican as Speaker, than I, as a member and a democrat, prefer to see Mr. Cannon in the chair. I myself had rather see a goat there than a weasling. I would rather see a lion there than a fox."

A HINT FROM GOMPERS.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, told Attorney General Wickersham yesterday that if the present American workers' movement, which he said is conservative and conservative in character, be cut lawed and quashed out of existence by unfavorable legislation and court decisions, it will be followed by another movement which will scarcely be conservative. Opposition was made by the labor leader to the Moon bill, now before the judiciary committee of the House, on the ground that it is a pro-injunction measure. Mr. Gompers said it did not fulfill the republican platform promise on the injunction question, that the bill "would give statutory authority for the issuance of injunctions," which is the thing the American Federation of Labor has been fighting so vigorously to prevent in the Backs Grove and Range Company, the Danbury hat and similar cases. "At the present time," said Mr. Gompers, "there is simply an assumption of authority by the courts in the injunction cases, but the Moon bill will be passed there will be statutory authority for these unfavorable court decisions. The relations between employer and employee are personal. There cannot be property rights unless the concept is held that there is a valid right by the employer in the labor of workmen."

LEGISLATORS BUSY.

To the Editor of the Alexandria Gazette: Richmond, Va., Feb. 26. The closing days of the present legislative finds not only the lawmakers busy getting through measures that are of abiding interest to them and perhaps means their future advancement or relegation, but those who are interested in killing measures which are diametrically in opposition to the interests they represent. The bills of the state Capitol are thronged heavily with anxious ones who are doing their utmost to advance their particular interests. The hotels are crowded and it is not unusual to catch a glimpse of Alexandrians who have some interests at stake. Messrs. James R. Mansfield, Thomas Chubbuck and others are here in the interest of legislation in favor of the insurance plan of the Junior Order of Americans and have enlisted the sympathy of United States Senator Martin who is also here. There are also two measures of vital interest to the West on Union Telegraph Company which are pending before the legislature and they are so important that representatives of that corporation are here to help defeat them. The measures are the mental argalsh clause of the bill taking the Western Union and the statutory penalty clause. Mr. R. L. Stutz, the Alexandria manager, and Mr. L. J. Maxwell, the district superintendent of the southern district, are here working for the interests of the company. There are other measures which will cause great uneasiness during the coming week. Although state-wide prohibition has received a black eye, there are measures yet to be considered bordering on this question which will seriously hamper the liquor business if enacted into law. The legislature will have to dispose of at least 200 bills in the next two weeks, judging from the number still on the calendar, and this makes it look like a garrison fish.

Train Wrecked.

Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 26.—Pennsylvania limit d train No. 2 on the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne, and Chicago Railway was wrecked at Homewood, near here, early today when its engine sideswiped the engine of an eastward freight. None was seriously injured. The cause of the accident is said to have been the failure of the engineer of the freight to stop his train at the Homewood tower because of the train's momentum. When the train collided both engines seared into the air and fell across the tracks. Passengers in the sleepers were hurled violently about their berths and thrown on the floor. The passengers were later transferred to another train and continued their journey. The limited carried 77 passengers, a majority being women. The second Pullman was hurled against a stone wall which fell over a 12 foot embankment almost precipitating it to the river. Passengers declare the passenger train was running fifty miles an hour.

Cross-Questioned by Minister.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Feb. 26.—Judge Lynch, withdrawing the objections in License Court yesterday of the attorney, permitted a minister to act as attorney in cross-examining applicants for liquor licenses. The questioner was Rev. E. E. Williams, a Baptist minister from Parsons, who for some years has vigorously fought the extension of the saloon business and two years ago was defeated as a local option candidate for the legislature in his district.
