

NEWS OF THE DAY

Mrs. Thomas R. Marshall, wife of the Vice President, was so ill in Elk-hart, Ind., that a physician was called to attend her. The symptoms were said to be those of ptomaine poisoning.

James Allen, aged 64, of Ashtabula, Ohio, last night confessed that he killed his bride of three days. Allen married Mrs. Anna H. St. John, of Mayfield, N. Y., on September 19, three weeks after he saw her advertisement in a matrimonial paper. She was found dead September 22. She was 55 years old. In his confession, Allen declared that his wife tried to rob and kill him and pleaded self-defense. He said she tried to steal his money the day after the wedding.

Dickson, alleged kidnapper of 12-year-old Catherine Lethig, was shot dead by a posse. The widely exploited sympathetic "walkout" of trades unionists in greater New York in aid of the striking carmen, which was supposed to have started Wednesday, had not materialized last night. The police declared they were unable to find any evidence of general strike.

In a fit of jealous rage over his failure to win the young wife of his lifelong friend and benefactor, Angelo Leonotti, 24 years old, shot and almost instantly killed the woman, Mrs. Rosine Sanangela, aged 22 years, yesterday, in the kitchen of her home, in Philadelphia, and later committed suicide by blowing out his own brains. The double tragedy occurred after the woman had spurred Leonotti's attentions and threatened to inform her husband, who had brought the man from Italy and befriended him.

Dr. W. P. Knight was shot and killed by Byron Hill, of Rutledge Ala., yesterday morning on one of the principal streets of Luverne Knight, it is claimed by Hill, insulted his wife.

VIRGINIA NEWS

Paragraphs Picked Up Here and There Throughout the State.

Percy Evans of Warrenton, who was seriously injured last Saturday when his horse fell with him in a steplechase at Belmont Park Terminal, New York was reported last night at St. Mary's Hospital, Jamaica L. I., where he was taken following the accident, as resting very easily. It was feared at first that there had been serious fractures, but it was said yesterday that this was not the case and that a partial paralysis of the legs was the worst injury. While Mr. Evans will not be able to leave the hospital for some time, his eventual recovery is beyond doubt, according to the authorities at St. Mary's. Miss Helen Morton Bayly, daughter of Mark Morton, yesterday in Chicago, won her suit for divorce from Roger Bayly, the well-known Virginia horseman, to whom she was married in June 1914. The charge she made was that of desertion, but it is said that the decree was granted virtually by mutual consent. Mr. Bayly did not contest. The marriage of Helen Morton was the culmination of a series of adventures in which she engaged after she had run away from her father's home.

H. C. Edge, alias Lieut. Don R. West, U. S. A., who was indicted by the grand jury for the circuit court of Prince William county, was tried Tuesday and sentenced by Judge J. B. T. Thornton to one year in the penitentiary. Edge was charged with forging and uttering forged instruments. He pleaded guilty and the attorney for the commonwealth recommended a sentence of one year. Edge had no attorney.

The number of scarlet fever cases in Loudoun county is increasing. The disease has appeared in Purcellville. The school is closed and all children under 16 years old are quarantined. This is the third town in the county in which the epidemic has appeared.

Field Marshal Teranchi has been appointed by the Emperor to succeed Count Okuma as premier of Japan. Perauch, as governor-general of Korea. He is known to have a great influence with the Japanese militarist party and is said to favor a more aggressive policy by Japan both on the Chinese question and the California immigration law problem.

Sarah Connolly, a negress, was lynched by a mob which took her from the jail at Leary, Ga., yesterday. The woman and her son, Sam Connolly, were charged with having murdered E. M. McElvin a planter last Monday. The son was taken away for safe-keeping. The mob organized quietly, quickly broke into the flimsy jail, carried the woman outside and riddled her body with bullets.

A squad of police, after strenuous efforts yesterday saved the body of Roy Dickson, from cremation at the hands of forty infuriated women of Lexington, Ky. Dickson was killed Tuesday by a sheriff's posse he had kidnapped 12 year old Catherine Lethig, in Shelby county. The women, carrying cans of kerosene, fought with the officers in an effort to get the body. Cattle, hogs and sheep are now being grown in the South to such an extent that the Southern Railway has found it necessary to establish a daily fast live stock service from points in Western North Carolina, East Tennessee, and Southwest Virginia to eastern and southern markets and to Virginia feeding grounds; and from Alabama points to the St. Louis, Louisville and Cincinnati markets. This is in addition to the daily fast service from St. Louis to Atlanta to handle the inbound movement of horses and mules for the Southeastern and Carolina territory. By an overwhelming majority, it is learned, the clergy of Richmond is opposed to the abbreviated form of the Ten Commandments which will be considered by the general convention of the Episcopal church, to be held this year in St. Louis, from October 11 to November 1. Of the seventeen rectors of Episcopal churches in Richmond ten are outspoken against the proposed change. Five are non-committal. The other two could not be seen as they were out of the city. Wiley H. Webb, an engineer on the Norfolk and Western Railway, was shot and instantly killed yesterday morning near Elliston, Montgomery county, when a shotgun in the hands of S. McNew, a fireman, of the same road, was discharged accidentally. The men had camped in a patch of woods near Elliston for a squirrel hunt. They were leaving camp, when McNew picked up his gun, which exploded, the charge entering Webb's face and causing instant death.

But to come back to the Psychology of Joy. I waded through page after page that made my forehead look like a section of a washboard. I found bunches of words that I didn't know Nat Webster had ever invented. (Did you know it was Nat? There are heaps of intelligent people who think that Daniel wrote the dictionary. Now that he's dead they blame him for lots of things.) Well, what was the result? In several hundred pages the learned professor who wrote the book told me what our simple and rugged forefathers put into one line. And that was: "Keep your stomach in good condition and fear the Lord."

That's all! If you think it over you'll find it a very good recipe for right and happy living.

I came across a fellow reading a magazine last night. Like myself he doesn't look as if he had a great deal of anything to spare, whether intelligence or worldly wealth. There's an old axiom that runs: "Never judge a book by its cover." It holds good nowadays just as much as it did when it was coined several hundreds of years ago. God, you know, is the great publisher, and it is He who puts the human books in the covers He has designed for them. If you laugh at the chap that has some malformation you are really laughing at the work of the Deity. Or, since I don't want to mix up in any high brow discussion as to heredity and original sin or that sort of thing, let us say that no human being could be put into any sort of a cover without His permission. And so you'd be laughing at what he had permitted, for some profound purpose.

THE RAMBLER.

I'm always hunting for things that seem to have anything of joy about them. Perhaps I'm what's called a 'Bug' on the subject. Knowing this a friend of mine, the other day, sent me a book called "The Psychology of Joy." I'm not very strong on psychology. I think its one of those words that people who are half-learned use to cover up with. I know a fellow that's been studying the psychology of psychology for several years. He expects to write a thesis about it some day. If he ever asks me to read it I'll do something awful to him.

the clubs and organizations that there are now so many of. But today, even if a fellow isn't interested in these things, he is in reading. He's been educated up to it. Instead of going to some place just to waste his time, he reads. I think the magazines have done more for temperance and to keep young people out of mischief than anything else. "He paused for a moment and then went on: "And another thing: Men are coming to see that the fellow who drinks is a fool, that's all. It don't get him anywhere—its bad business."

When I came to think it over I wasn't surprised after all. There's a whole lot wisdom in almost every body. They haven't been trained in the art of expression, that's all. Its a pity that they haven't, I think. Often, at night, you lay and dream great dreams, don't you? I think, in that period of half lethargy of sleep, when you're just about to merge into unconsciousness you're like almost everybody else. You have imaginings of greatness. In the dark your spirit boldly adventures forth and does deeds of 'derring do' that you would quail at thought of in the day-time.

Its a pity that the sunlight kills so much of these imaginings. And even the commonest man and woman must have had in the quiet night, gems of thoughts which they have cherished for a little space and then permitted to float away, unrecorded, into the limbo of lost things.

HELPLESS AS BABY

Down in Mind Unable to Work, and What Helped Her.

Summit Point, W. Va.—Mrs. Anna Belle Emery, of this place, says: "I suffered for 15 years with an awful pain in my right side, caused from womanly trouble, and doctored lots for it, but without success. I suffered so very much, that I became down in mind, and as helpless as a baby. I was in the worst kind of shape. Was unable to do any work. I began taking Cardui, the woman's tonic, and got relief from the very first dose. By the time I had taken 12 bottles, my health was completely restored. I am now 48 years years old, but feel as good as I did when only 16. Cardui certainly saved me from losing my mind, and I feel it my duty to speak in its favor. I wish I had some power over poor, suffering women, and could make them know the good it would do them. If you suffer from any of the ailments peculiar to women, it will certainly be worth your while to give Cardui a trial. It has been helping weak women for more than 50 years, and will help you, too. Try Cardui. Your druggist sells it. Write to: Chattanooga Medicine Co., Ladies' Advisory Dept., Chattanooga, Tenn., for literature on your case and 64-page book, 'Home Treatment for Women,' in plain wrapper. H.C. 121"

In the Clerk's Office of the Circuit Court, in Vacation of said Court. Harry E. Hurst, Complainant, vs. Pearl F. Hurst, Defendant. In Chancery. Upon the written application of the complainant, stating specifically the last known place of abode and address of the defendant, that the defendant is a non-resident of the State of Virginia and has not been found within the jurisdiction of the said state, and the general object of this suit, the clerk doth grant the following order of publication at the Clerk's Office of the said court in Alexandria, Virginia, in vacation of said court, this 26th day of September, 1916. The object of this suit is to obtain for the complainant from the defendant a divorce a vinculo matrimonii, on the grounds of wilful abandonment and desertion on the part of the said defendant for a period of more than three years next preceding the filing of this suit, without just cause or excuse; to obtain for the complainant the legal custody of Howard Hurst, the infant son of the complainant and defendant and for general relief. And an affidavit having been made and filed that the defendant, Pearl F. Hurst, is a non-resident of the State of Virginia and has not been found within the jurisdiction of the said state, it is ordered that she do appear in the clerk's office of our said Court within fifteen days after the due publication of this order of publication and do what is necessary to protect her interests in this suit. It is further ordered that a copy of this order of publication be published once a week for four successive weeks in the Alexandria Gazette a newspaper published in the said City of Alexandria, Virginia; that a copy of this order be posted at the front door of the Court House of this city on or before the next succeeding rule day of this court after this order is entered, and that a copy of this order of publication shall be sent by mail by the clerk of this court to the defendant, addressed to her last known place of abode, to-wit: Downs, Kansas. Entered by Nevell S. Greenaway, Clerk of the said court in the Clerk's Office of the said court in Alexandria, Virginia, this 26th day of September, 1916. A Copy Teste: NEVELL S. GREENAWAY, Clerk. David Wolfe and Frank L. Ball, P. Q.

Advertisement for THE LEVINSON CLOTHING CO. featuring 'GRAND OPENING' on Saturday, October 7, 6:00 P. M. at 426 King Street. The ad includes the company name in large letters and the address.

426 KING STREET ON SATURDAY, OCT. 7, 6.00 P. M. with a full and up-to-date line of men's, boy's and children's clothing, shoes and furnishings. Some people say in their advertising, "The Largest Store in Town," some even get down on their knees covering every speck of ground with a yard stick to let people know how many square inches they cover. But it is all nonsense. It doesn't matter whether we are the largest or the smallest store, as long as we give the best values for the money. Trade will come our way, and that is what we are going to do. We are not in the habit of advertising just to get the people to our store to give them something else; or use the term "We Are Out." What we advertise we have; and the price will be your witness. Come! Investigate and thereby substantiate our statement.

I have not a $35 suit for $10, neither has any one else, unless they stole it. One dollar invested in the bank makes you only 4c in twelve months. One dollar invested in your fall or winter supply at this opening saves you 30c. In order to get the public to inspect our very complete and stylish line of fall and winter clothing, shoes and furnishings we are going to offer you a few inducements that will make even the strongest sceptic sit up and take notice.

Read the following carefully and at the same time ponder. If you do this we have not only gained a customer but a friend as well.

Warning section with three columns of text. Each column starts with 'WARNING!' and discusses the quality and value of the clothing. The text concludes with 'Thanking you in advance for al patronage and trusting our goods will merit a continuance of your trade and that our efforts will please you. Yours truly THE LEVINSON CLOTHING CO.'
