RICHMOND THEATRE As photography it is the best, the most beautiful that moving pictures have ever shown—this picture, "The Last of the Mohicans." Maurice Tourneur never made such scenes before, and probably never will again. How he can ever beat them is something to guess about these long winter evenings. The compositions he makes of Indians, clouds, mountains, trees, gun barrels, waterfalls, are masterpieces, and if this is not great art, then Rembrandt was a blacksmith. Tourneur can do things with sunlight that you cannot dream, and if he could paint emotion with the Hugo touch of Griffith he would be the greatest man in pictures. As it is, he is one of the mighty, and "The Last of the Mohicans" is his best. See it at the Richmond Monday and Tuesday. Before you know it your soul will leave your broken-backed old carcass slumped in the seat and, climbing up onto the silver sheet, will go off back into the old young days of your youth hand in hand with Uncas and Hawkeye and the snaky Magua, who would never, never bite the dust until Cooper had von up against the hind cover of the book. Not by new stunts of storytelling does Tourneur work wonders with your soul, for the story is the plain tale of the Leather Stocking classic; not by marvelous subtleties, for they are short and merely fitting, but by this thing he has mastered, photoplay. Against the dream cliffs and falling wreaths of water in Yellowstone, and again before painted curtains as in "Treasure Island," he puts his nude and gleaming savages through their paces, circling, swirling about the lovely Cora Munro, her fair hair sister, her hero Uncas, her canny crack shot Hawkeye, and her foul pursuer Magua.

IDLE HOUR THEATER Georges Carpentier, who will be seen at the Idle Hour Theater Monday and Tuesday as the gentlemanly hero of "The Wonder Man," a Robertson-Cole production, making his first appearance as a moving picture actor in America, is an all-around athlete as well as heavyweight boxing champion of Europe. Georges is so shy of interviewers that the information could never be extracted from him but his manager, Francois Descamps, is not averse to such facts finding their way into newspaper offices. Nay, the volatile little manager, goes further than that he boasts of the athletic prowess of his prodigy, produces French sporting records showing that Carpentier as a sprinter is only one quarter behind the world's record for the one hundred yard dash, and as a pole-vaulter he is only one-quarter of an inch under the best French figures. But Georges does not stop there. He can do ten miles cross-country in record time, he shoots well, he rides better, he is an expert at tennis and plays the net game to train while training. He is an expert at billiards, swims, handles the oars like a professional and can manage a gasoline engine whether it be in a motor boat, automobile or airplane. "Funny, isn't it," Descamps said as a peroration, "that Georges' favorite indoor-sport, as you Americans say, is singing—oui! and operatic stuff at that!"

MAN'S BULK PREVENTS BATHTUB TRAGEDY Lansdale, Pa., Dec. 3.—Found unconscious in a bath tub at the Lansdale Hotel and all but his face submerged in water, Charles Giavonnis, of Lansdale, lay at the point of death all last night and did not regain consciousness until 7 o'clock this morning. He is still in a critical condition. When groans were heard in the hotel bath room, James Schaffer, clerk, climbed through a transom; Giavonnis was lying in the bath tub unconscious. Only his giant stature prevented him from slipping beneath the water. His feet were against one end of the tub and this kept his head on the incline at the other end. He had been overcome by fumes from a gas heater.

60,000 Bottles of Champagne On Way To United States

Paris, Dec. 4.—It is reliably reported that 5,000 cases of champagne are being sent to America on board the French liner Lorraine, which is four days out of Havre. The American Government is reported to have authorized this shipment of wine for medicinal purposes. These 60,000 bottles form the first part of a shipment of 1,000,000 bottles which will be sent during the next few months.

JAIL "PRODIGY AT FIGURES"

Boy 16, Accused of Juggling Books and Embezzling $2,500 Philadelphia, Dec. 4.—A 16 year old lad, described as a "prodigy at figures," was arrested here yesterday charged with embezzling $2,500 by juggling the books of a jewelry firm by which he had been employed less than a month, Detectives who made the arrest said the youth confessed he had taken the money and admitted that he was preparing himself for a career as a scientific criminal. When taken into custody he was lying in bed with a revolver under his pillow, according to the police. The prisoner, who gave his name as Wallace Hawkins, said he had a widowed mother, but refused to tell the police where she lived.

Forgot to Mail Letter, But Glad He Did it Now

Newark, N. J., Dec. 4.—Mrs. Samuel Taylor gave her husband a letter to mail. He thrust it into an overcoat pocket and F. T. M. I., of course. The detectives in a pawn shop examined an overcoat brought in by a negro the next day. The letter revealed the ownership of the coat and $200 worth of other clothing. Taylor got them back. "Just like a man," was Mrs. Taylor's only comment.

Auction Sale Public sale of Holsteins at Rockbridge Dairy Farm Wednesday, December 15 (rain or shine), on the farm of David N. Rust, Jr., located three miles east of Leesburg, Loudoun county, on the Washington Leesburg Pike and being on Goose Creek, ten minutes walk from Compher Station on the Washington and Old Dominion Railway. Car leaves Alexandria at 7:10 a. m., arriving at 9:30 o'clock. Will be met. Having decided to discontinue dairying I will offer at public auction on above date and place without reservation my entire herd of milking Holsteins, 80 head, 16 head registered animals, 64 head high grade cows. The majority of these animals have been bred and developed right on the farm and were sired by such noted bulls as King of Butter Boy, King's Son and Soldiers' Home Woodcrest Tehee. These cows are all young straight and sound and have never been forced in dairy, but simply run on blue grass pasture in summer and consumed the roughage on the farm in winter with little grain fed. Consequently they will respond immediately to heavy feeding. Some are fresh now milking well and quite a number due within thirty to sixty days. All bred to fine registered bull. The grades are well marked and will make a valuable addition to any herd. The pure breeds carry some of the best blood of the breed. The cows have just passed the annual Federal test and health certificates can be issued for shipment to any state in the union. This herd is considered to be one of the best in Northern Virginia. Terms of sale. Three per cent off for cash or a nine months' note with satisfactory indorsement. Lunch served on grounds. David N. Rust, Jr., owner. 1400 H Street, Northwest, Washington, D. C. C. T. Rice, sales manager. A. B. Bullock, herdsman. R. D. Woolf, auctioneer.

Wake Up Alexandria.

Men may come and men may go—but it doesn't pay a City to have them go.

The American Hydro Motors Co.

of Delaware is now perfecting its organization—and desires to locate in Alexandria, Va., if all other things are equal.

We will in time build an automobile to sell for about six hundred dollars but the first effort will be to manufacture and sell a motor that we believe will run 80 or more miles to each gallon of gasoline and has the following other advantages:

1. Simple construction.
2. Fewer working parts.
3. Greater gasoline mileage (70 miles and upward)
4. Greater cylinder oil mileage.
5. Less weight per horse power.
6. Simple operation.
7. No gears to shift in ordinary circumstances.
8. No self starter.
9. No valves to grind.
10. No carbon to scrape.
11. No bearings to burn out.
12. Two bearings in entire motor.
13. No vibration regardless of speed.
14. No noise.
15. Gasoline motor that performs same as steam engine.
16. No crank shaft.
17. No cam shaft.
18. No timing gears.
19. No connecting rods.
20. Motor can run indefinitely wide open without injury.
21. Can be installed in any make pleasure car or truck.
22. Full power of explosion.
23. No waste of energy.
24. No clutch to operate.
25. Superior performance.
