An elegant chair was given as a token of friendship and regard.

We have in new Dress Goods, Suitings, Laces, Embroideries, Trimmings, Silks, fine Wash Goods and Linens. We invite the ladies to come in and inspect them. We do not do business very much on WIND but try to have our goods and prices as near right as possible, with our thirty years' experience in the Dry Goods business. CHAS. L. WEST.

Died.

KOPLIN.

At his home in the third ward, Sunday afternoon, Feb. 17, 1901, of a gripple, after a brief illness, Otto Koplin, aged 38 years. He was a stone mason by trade and was a faithful and industrious workman as the writer knows personally. He has lived in Austin for the past twenty years. In March, 1889, he was married to Miss Rika King of Albert Lea. He was a member of Von Dusko Camp, M. W. A. He leaves a wife and three children. Funeral services at the residence at one o'clock this afternoon. Interment at Oakwood. The Woodmen act as escort.

PINKAVA.

At his residence in Red Rock, Thursday evening, Feb. 14, 1901, of heart trouble, Joseph Pinkava, aged nearly 67 years. He was born in Bezdekov, Bohemia, March 6, 1834. He came with his family to this country about twenty years ago, settling in this vicinity and for the greater part of the time living in Red Rock. He leaves a widow and four children: Joseph and James Pinkava, Mrs. Mary Schroeder and Miss Anna Pinkava. Funeral services, conducted by Rev. C. D. Belden, were held at the residence Sunday forenoon, a large concourse of friends assembling to pay their last tribute of regard. Two Bohemian hymns were sung by singers from Austin. Interment in Oakwood. We extend our sympathy.

NEUMANN.

At the home of her sister, Mrs. C. I. Johnson in this city, early Sunday morning, Feb. 17, 1901, of Bright's disease, Mrs. Mary, beloved wife of Otto C. Neumann of Wheaton, Minn., aged 34 years. She was the daughter of Lewis Thompson and was born in Lansing township April 3, 1867. She was married at her father's home to Mr. Neumann in September, 1892, and they have since resided at Wheaton, where Mr. Neumann is in the real estate business. Deceased had been ill for a long time. She came with her husband and child just before Christmas to visit relatives here and was taken so ill that she could not return. She had many warm friends in this city where she was well known. The husband and one daughter, three years old, survive. Brief funeral services, conducted by Rev. Jensen Roseland, will be held at the residence of C. I. Johnson on south St. Paul street at 10 o'clock this Wednesday morning. Services will be held at 1:30 this afternoon at the Red Oak Grove Lutheran church, Lansing township, and the interment will be there. Rev. Osmund Johnson will officiate.

CARTER.

Mr. George A. Carter, whose death we chronicled last week, was born in Milton, Canada, Oct. 20, 1839, and died Feb. 7, 1901, aged 61 years, four months and seventeen days. He was the eldest son of John A. and Charlotte Carter, who settled in Austin in the fall of 1859, and whose family is well and favorably known by the old settlers of Mower county. His first marriage was to Elvina Smith of Austin in the fall of 1866. This union was blessed with three sons and a daughter, all of whom were born in Austin. During Mr. Carter's early married life he was converted and united with the Baptist church of this city. Mrs. Carter died in 1882. In 1890 Mr. Carter moved to Sioux City, Iowa, and was there married to Mrs. H. Velle, mother of two daughters. He bought a small farm two miles from the city limits which has since been his home. He was going to town with a load of corn when the front end-gate came out and threw Mr. Carter under the wheels, causing his death. He was an old soldier, having enlisted in November, 1863, in Co. B second Minnesota cavalry and serving until the close of the war. His four children who survive are: Jay and Ernest, dentists at Ashland; Walter, attending the Iowa agricultural college at Ames; and Miss Ida Carter of Minneapolis. The widow also survives. Mr. Carter was a kind, loving father and husband, as they who are left behind can testify. He was a faithful, devoted Christian, and served God with a pure heart, dying in the triumph of faith. His remains were laid to rest in the Floyd Cemetery, Sioux City, to await the resurrection of the just. "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord."

ADAMS.

At his home in this city, early Sunday morning, Feb. 17, 1901, after prolonged illness resulting from liver and kidney trouble, Deacon Gordon Cook Adams, aged 79 years. He has been in failing health for a long time and since last August was confined to the bed most of the time. The end was very peaceful.

Gordon C. Adams was born in Benson, Vermont, January 12, 1822, and was the last survivor of ten children, eight brothers and two sisters. He left home at nineteen years of age to teach school and work his way up without further assistance from parents. He taught three years in Missouri and while still a young man sought employment in Brooklyn. He was given a position by the South

Brooklyn N. Y. Lumber Co., manufacturers of ship timber, by whom his growing ability was recognized until he became treasurer and general manager with a salary of $4,000 per year. Mr. Adams remained with this firm for thirty years until his craving for western life caused him to resign. While in Brooklyn he was an honored member of the 12th St. Reformed Church during the pastorate of the Rev. N. D. Gulick. For nearly twelve years Mr. Adams was superintendent of the large Sunday school of 1,400 members, and for twenty-one years served as church treasurer. In addition to these duties he took charge of the choir of the church. On the wall of his home hangs a beautifully engrossed memorial, signed by the officers of this leading church, expressing affectionate gratitude to Mr. Adams for his long service.

In March, 1844, Mr. Adams was happily married to Harriet N. Watson, who died childless. In 1873, he married Ella M. Squier, who became the mother of Alfred, who died in infancy, and of Hattie M., who survives her father in the present home circle. Feb. 12, 1883, he was married at Whitehall, Ill., to his present widow, Mattie Allen, daughter of Jesse and Mary B. Allen, and the warm friend of his former wife. Mrs. Allen has made her home with Mr. and Mrs. Adams during their residence in Austin and has been able to help much in the care of Deacon Adams. Coming to Austin in 1883, Mr. Adams purchased a farm south of the city, which he sold in 1886 in order to move into town, where soon after engaged in the fuel business and built the pleasant home in which he has since resided. Failing health compelled him to relinquish active business in February, 1898, and he has been an invalid most of the time since then. Soon after coming to Austin Mr. Adams and family united with the Congregational church and was elected deacon, and helped in the public ministrations as long as he could possibly walk alone. Not until the fall of 1900 did he feel compelled to yield to the entreaties of his friends not to venture away from home. Coupled with his conspicuous loyalty in his church relations his interest in all good public enterprises was keen. The kindest care attended his last days and for his part he bore the inevitable weariness without a murmur with increasing expressions of gratitude to God until the power of speech failed him. He will be greatly missed in the home and church circle.

Funeral services conducted by Rev. E. F. Wheeler were held at the house yesterday afternoon at 3 p. m. and his remains were taken last evening for interment to Whitehall, Ill., where two brothers and other relatives are buried.

Weddings.

SCHOU-PFEMMER.

At the residence of Coleman E. Dickens in this city, Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 13, 1901, Jacob L. Schou of Brownsdale and Mrs. A. Pfemmer, of Quincy, Ill., Rev. C. D. Belden officiating. They were unattended during the ceremony. They will go to housekeeping at once on the Baxter farm just north of Brownsdale. We have known the groom for these ten years and we congratulate him on winning a good housekeeper and a worth helpmeet. He lived until recently in Dexter township. May joy and prosperity abundant be their portion.

EAGEN-RECTOR.

At St. Augustine's church, Monday morning, Feb. 18, 1901, William J. Eagen of Red Rock and Miss Maud May, daughter of Mr. A. E. Rector of Windom township. Rev. E. H. Devlin officiated. Howard Eagen was groomsmen and Miss Maggie Lawrence of Brownsdale bridesmaid. Following the ceremony a reception was given at the home of the bride's parents at Columbia which was attended by many guests and was a very pleasant social event. Many beautiful gifts were received. Both bride and groom are well known and popular in this vicinity and they are receiving showers of congratulation. They will reside in this city.

Unsolicited.

It is not an uncommon occurrence for persons to allow for a consideration their name to be used in connection with a patent medicine and at the solicitation of an agent, but the following exception was volunteered entirely unsolicited with a request that it be made public.

For 30 years I have been troubled with a distressing bronchial cough which kept me awake nights and was a great annoyance to those around me as well as myself. I had tried a great many patent medicines and doctors prescriptions without obtaining relief.

I was recently advised to try a bottle of Gebo's Cough Remedy prepared by Malloy Bros. and though I had not much hope of relief I am pleased to state that my cough has entirely ceased and I earnestly recommend it to those similarly afflicted.

MRS. MARGARET ENRIGHT.

Elks Dedicate.

The formal dedication of the new Elks hall took place last Friday evening. There were a number of visitors from St. Paul, Minneapolis and other points. The exercises were under the direction of G. E. Ruler Weed Munro of Minneapolis assisted by other members of the grand lodge and deputies. The following officiated:

Weed Munro, Minneapolis Lodge, No. 44, D. D., Grand Exalted Ruler. J. J. Furlong, Austin Lodge, No. 414, G. E. Leading Knight. Seymour W. Brown, Winona Lodge No. 327, G. E. Loyal Knight. S. R. Snow, Mankato Lodge, No. 225, G. E. Lecturing Knight. L. D. Baird, Austin Lodge, No. 414, Grand Secretary. P. Hendrickson, St. Paul Lodge, No. 59, Grand Treasurer. O. J. Simmons, Austin Lodge, No. 414, Grand Esquire. Dr. W. L. Hollister, Austin Lodge, No. 414, Grand Chaplain. Chas. P. Preston, Minneapolis Lodge, No. 44, Grand Inner Guard. W. D. Rosbach, Austin Lodge, No. 414, Grand Tiler.

A social session followed, at which the principal addresses were made by Dar Reese of St. Paul and Weed Munro of Minneapolis. Refreshments were served and the fun continued until towards morning. The decoration of the hall were unique and very tasty.

—FOR SALE—Eighty acres and 120 in Mower Co., at a bargain. Easy terms. F. L. WARE, 155 LaSalle St., Chicago, Ill. 2t

THE END IS NEAR.

Better bargains than ever but sizes more broken, but they all must go regardless of cost. You are invited to price them even if not in need of shoes. Our motto is to open each season with fresh goods only. To make the last week in February the most interesting of all, we have added all our boys youths and the ladies and misses' shoes left over from last fall stock. They are all good wearing and good styles, but broken sizes, however. We can fit most all feet out of some line.

Do not delay but lay in your spring supply at once for shoes will not be sold so cheap again for some time to come.

No trouble to show goods. Money refunded if goods not satisfactory.
