INCLUDING AUSTIN JOURNAL.
AND BROWNSDALE LEAFLET
Entered as second-class mail matter at the postoffice, Austin, Minn.

JOHN LIND left Mexico just in time. He evidently knew what was coming.

EVIDENTLY some of the diplomatic are giving Huerta pointers. That is evidenced in the way he is maneuvering to get the United States to recognize him.

A young lady, describing the delights of Venice, wrote, "Last night I lay in a gondola on the Grand canal drinking it all in, and life never seemed so full before." How lovely and to think that she could drink it all in.

NORWAY has 11 tree planting societies. The first was founded in 1860, and since then 25 million trees have been planted, more than two million having been set out last year. That is the correct way of conserving our forests.

The new South Dakota state election laws provide that qualified electors who may be absent from their home on election day may vote by mail at municipal and general elections, as well as at the primaries. That certainly is a radical innovation.

THE Fairmount Sentinel, Frank A. Day's paper, says that in Congressman Hammond's nomination for governor the democracy of Minnesota sacrificed its only democratic congressman on the altar of hatred and ambition. Frank must feel sore over something.

SAUK CENTRE has a merchant who advertises that he will fill any order in his line at catalogue prices, and pay half the freight himself. If all the other merchants would follow his plan the big catalogue houses would be put out of business in short order.

A request made by Representative Steenerson that the Postoffice department modify parcel post regulations to permit doctors and druggists to ship parcels by post has been refused. We shall be compelled to ask permission of the government to breathe after a while.

UNDER our present game laws, pickerel, carp, red horse, bullheads and suckers may be caught any month in the year. Closed season on pike, muskallonge, crappies, perch, sunfish, catfish and sturgeon is during March and April only. All the rest of the year open season for those.

HARDLY a week passes but that somebody is maimed or slaughtered in San Francisco by the careless operation of automobiles," said Judge O'wler of the San Francisco superior court in sentencing Louis Kantor, a chauffeur convicted of manslaughter, to two years in the penitentiary. No one can dispute it.

"Who is the first man to be laid off and the last man to be taken on? The man who drinks." Those two sentences compose a poster extensively circulated during the recent fight against the sale of alcohol in Massachusetts and it has set many people to thinking and to thinking hard. Read it again and realize how true it is.

THE loss of Civil War veterans by death last year was 57,350, which means that veterans are now dying at the rate of more than 1,100 a week, or nearly 160 a day. The net loss in the number of pensioners in 1913 was 40,094. The Grand Army of the Republic will soon be all gone. There never will be a braver, more patriotic body of men.

We are satisfied that the majority of the people throughout the state are tired of the present state machine dominated with its mismanagement, extravagance and heavy taxes, and they recognize in W. E. Lee a leader who can lead them to victory and who if elected will restore order out of chaos, and who will give the people a business instead of a political administration.

THE U. S. Supreme Court upholds the right of the State of Montana to impose a tax of 1 cent a pound upon oleomargarine sold within its limits. The Hammond Packing company, selling Illinois oleomargarine in Silver Bow county, attacked the law as arbitrary and unconstitutional. The law is certainly not arbitrary and we are glad to learn that it is not unconstitutional.

We are sorry that we have come to war with Mexico but now that it is on, we should wage it swiftly and effectively. It is no time for weak measures. When the arrogant and despotic ruling class is overthrown the masses will quickly see that the change is for the better for them. It is a case where nothing succeeds like success. The quicker our success the better for Mexico and ourselves.

We learn that Ralph J. Parker of Spring Valley has filed as a candidate against that persistent office seeker Sam A. Langum for Representative at Large from Fillmore county. Mr. Parker is well known as one of the ablest lawyers in this section of the state. He is strongly in favor of County Option and will do more than sit down and see the wheels go round. We hope to see him nominated and elected.

Four Minnesota newspaper men have died during the past few weeks and they will be greatly missed. These are Geo. W. Neff of the Lake Crystal Union; S. A. Clewell of the Stillwater Messenger; J. J. Green of the New Ulm News, and H. G. Day of the Albert Lea Standard.

THE best newspaper item we have seen the past week is the report that the United States has consented to mediate its difference with Mexico as a result of an offer by Brazil, Chile and Argentina to use their good offices to bring about mediation. Now we shall see what the murderer Huerta will do about it.

OTHER EDITORS OPINIONS

International Falls Press: It is said on good authority that the fortune of Frederick Weverhaeuser amounts to over $300,000,000 but he did not take one solitary cent with him, nothing but the record as to how he had made his money and spent his time.

Park Rapids Enterprise: It is not the temperance cranks that are putting the brewery and saloons out of business in Minnesota. It is the business men and common sense voters, who will not see the politics of this state dominated by that destructive influence.

Caledonia Journal: The crocodile tears shed by Governor Eberhart over his fear that if William E. Lee is nominated and elected governor the primary law will be repealed ought to startle all the political agents of the brewers, distillers and public service corporations sobbing with no unmitigated sounds.

Chicago InterOcean: But it is not denied that Mr. Bryan's treaty proposes to give Columbia $25,000,000 for which Columbia gives us nothing in return. And what is that but an apology—a public confession that we willfully wronged Columbia so grievously that we pay this huge sum as compensation for the injury?

St. Paul Progress: Another sample of justice in Minneapolis courts: A young girl was arrested for forgery in the Mill City, and told the court that she was practically forced into this nefarious work by a prominent Minneapolis business man. The girl's name is given wide publicity, while the man's name was not even hinted at. Is it right?

Albert Lea Tribune: We notice that Congressman Anderson from the First district, voted against the resolution giving the president authority to act against Huerta. It would have looked much better had the congressman stepped with the president in this matter and we believe that such action would have been more heartily endorsed by his constituents.

St. Cloud Journal-Press: The man who is kicking hardest against better schools for this city on account of the increased expense, has paid less than 50 cents in taxes during the past eight years, and for that sum he has had police and fire protection, well lighted streets and his children have been educated in the public schools. Can't see much high cost of living in his case.

Northfield News: The promoters of the Minnesota Valley post road are certainly meeting with numerous reverses in their struggle for government aid. The governor made a mistake in the first place in taking the federal appropriation from the Capital-National highway, the only road seeking the aid, which fulfilled all the conditions required by the post office department.

LeSueur News: Right now the twin cities, Duluth and interests of the state want a Minnesota exhibit at the San Francisco exposition next year and next winter those same people will swoop down on the legislature for an appropriation to have the money returned to the donors from the state treasury. The exhibit is nothing more or less than a farce and of no benefit to Minnesota.

St. Cloud Journal-Press: President Wilson wants to repeal the free tolls clause of the Panama canal. P. V. Collins of the N. W. Agriculturist says it "is the most outrageous betrayal," and calls for the impeachment of Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States. To put Bro. Collins in good humor, will President Wilson please retire? Mr. Huerta of Mexico will second the Collins motion.

Morris Sun: Eberhart feels that he has a "holier" coming. He says the recent convention which eliminated most of his opponents was unfair and in violation of the spirit of the primary law, and he refers to the convention as "machine politics." The convention may have been machine politics, but it at least gave the public a chance to get into the game, which is something that cannot be said of the brand of machine politics employed by the Governor.

Minneapolis Journal: The Republican contest for governor overshadows all the others in importance and interest. It will determine for the coming two years where the Republican party stands in Minnesota. It will decide whether Republicans of Minnesota want their destinies controlled by a brewery machine, dictating policies to the Governor and to the Legislature, or whether they want a new deal and a Governor untrammelled by obligations to any special interest.

Fairmont Independent: The equilibrium has got to come. If the farmers' produce is going to sell for less, he should be able to buy such articles as he needs at a less price. If the laboring men are having the cost of living reduced, they also should expect to receive less wages. The tariff is all right in that it will prevent combination, as it will be impossible for the trusts in this country to form a combination against the articles manufactured throughout the wide world. With a proper equilibrium the farmer can afford to sell his product for less than he received, but he must also buy what he needs in proportion.

Lyle Tribune: A large and appreciative audience gathered at the Lutheran church Friday evening to hear the musical concert given by Miss Helga Olsen of Minneapolis and Mrs. J. A. E. Naess of Austin. The program was varied enough to suit the different tastes and although there was no applause it did not signify that there was no appreciation. Miss Olsen has spent years in the study of music and is certainly a master of her art. Mrs. Naess pleased the audience with her vocal selections, which were well rendered.

Mankato Free Press: To draw up a new ordinance, fixing the maximum price of gas, prescribing the quality that shall be furnished and otherwise regulating the sale of that commodity is the task of a special committee, appointed at Monday's meeting of the city council. It is not at all improbable that the proposed ordinance will provide for dollar gas, thus making a great slash in the rates that are now charged. It is likely that the committee will present a report of the question of awarding a contract for the street lighting.

Northfield News: Viewing with alarm the splendid progress which the Lee candidacy is making from day to day the administration "kitchen cabinet" in its desperation is grasping at every possible straw that may aid in saving its candidate from the fate which awaits him at the primaries on June 16. Neither a hog cholera proclamation or an efficiency board's report will avail however at the eleventh hour. Minnesota is ripe for a change and this is the year and this the campaign in which conditions all point to the accomplishment of that change.

Ackley, Iowa, World: Gundy Nicklas has sold forty-three acres of land and the old homestead now occupied by R. D. Grant to Walter Austin of Austinville; the deal had been in prospect several days and was promoted by that bustling dealer in real estate, F. A. Snyder. This little farm has been rented for $300 a year, and the price at which it sold was considerably higher than anything in the way of acre property yet sold in the Ackley neighborhood. It is but one of a number of sales that Mr. Snyder has made during the very recent past. Mr. Snyder is credited with having sold more real estate during the past six months than any other dealer in the four counties.

RESULTS TELL

There Can Be No Doubt About the Results in Austin.

Results tell the tale. All doubt is removed. The testimony of an Austin citizen. Can be easily investigated. What better proof can be had?

C. J. Myhre, shoemaker, 611 West Lyndale avenue, Austin, Minn., says: "For six months I was so bad with kidney trouble I could hardly help myself up. It was all I could do to get up from the bench on account of my back. Sharp pains came on and it was hard for me to keep at my work. Besides this dull misery in my back, there was such lameness and soreness over my kidneys. It hurt me to even press my hands across my kidneys. I have been working at my trade for forty years and the constant sitting no doubt, weakened my kidneys and caused suffering. I didn't have the least energy and I felt all run down, as one will when their kidneys aren't working right. I had to get up a couple of times to pass the kidney secretions. I had taken several remedies with no relief, when a friend told me to use Doan's Kidney Pills. After I had taken three boxes, I was in fine shape. I have never had an attack of kidney trouble or backache since. When I feel the least symptom of kidney disorder, I get Doan's Kidney Pills and they put an end to the ailments."

Pricked the Governor's Bubble.

The assertion of Governor Eberhart that the legislature is to blame for the extravagance existing in the state, and likewise for the high taxes, was most completely punctured by Samuel Iverson in his recent address. And there is no man in Minnesota better informed upon this subject than is Mr. Iverson. He pointed out in his remarks that the governor of the state jointly with the legislature makes the laws, and both are equally responsible for them.

Mr. Iverson pointed out that the governor had the right to veto any law the legislature might pass, and no bill can become a law without the signature of the governor, unless passed over his veto. It may be added that there is not on record a single veto of any bill appropriating state money, by the governor, consequently the legislature never assumed sole responsibility for the extravagance the governor has charged to it. In every case he is as guilty as he has charged the legislature with being.

He has had the opportunity of vetoing any of the great appropriation bills, but has never even considered it. True, he would have been obliged to call the legislature in extra session, had he done so, but if the bills were filled with extravagant items, as he has at various times charged, the people would have upheld him in it, and the lesson would have been a most wholesome one. The truth is, the machine wanted the extravagance, and the governor has been careful all the time not to cooperate with legislative committees in the work of economy, as Mr. Iverson pointed out he could have done and had the right to do. In fact it is a part of his business to do so.—Albert Lea Tribune.

HOG CHOLERA VIRUS.

Production of Serum Should Be Kept Under State Control.

Virus, as usually understood in vaccination work, is the watery portion of the blood of a cholera-sick hog and contains the specific virus which will produce true hog cholera when introduced without serum into the blood of a susceptible hog.

Obviously it would be a foolish and dangerous public policy to authorize the use of virus everywhere and by everybody. It is very plain that hog cholera virus means hog cholera and that virus is dangerous material to handle so far as hogs are concerned, because it is capable of causing and spreading the disease. For this reason serum-virus treatment should not be used indiscriminately. Just where the line should be drawn seems to be an extremely difficult question to solve.

At present only veterinarians in state employ may legally administer the serum-virus treatment except upon written permission from the state live stock sanitary board. It is probable that in order to take care of the serious situation created by widespread cholera last year more extensive plans will be adopted for providing serum-virus treatment for such cholera-swept districts.

At two recent conferences, including state live stock sanitary board representatives, college and experiment station men, farmers, stockmen and others, it was decided after long discussion that serum-virus treatment should be limited to veterinarians who have had training in bacteriology and who receive a permit from the state live stock sanitary board.—M. H. Reynolds, Veterinarian, University Farm, St. Paul.
