AND BROWNSDALE LEAFLET

Entered as second-class mail matter at the postoffice, Austin, Minn.

This has been a great season for raising umbrellas.

A number of canvassers are invading this locality at the present time and our people cannot be too careful with whom they deal when they are strangers.

THE theory of the attraction of opposites is illustrated by the marriage at Albany, N. Y., of the 600-pound fat woman in a sideshow to the 90-pound dwarf.

HAMMOND is probably nominated as democratic candidate for governor over Dan Lawler, and Lawler's friends are sorely disappointed. Will they get over their grouch before November election?

At the recent fire-prevention convention in Philadelphia it was stated that property interests in this country lose through fires $500,000,000 annually, half of which might be prevented with proper precaution. Why not save this needless loss?

"THE marriage ceremony has outlived its usefulness and should be relegated to oblivion." This, in a nutshell, is the view of Dr. Anna Shaw, president of the National Woman Suffrage association. This shows how big a chump she is in some matters.

IT is most wonderful how some minds will hold out under continual drafts. An exchange says a female friend of its acquaintance has been giving a piece of her mind to almost everybody for forty years, and yet the original plant remains.

A forty years' quarrel over timber land came to a climax Sunday near North Reading, Mass., when Charles Samuel Harris, a farmer, was shot to death by his brother James. The fuss was over the cutting of a few small trees. Pretty expensive timber.

IN the resignation of Henry Wolfer, warden of our state prison, Minnesota will lose one of its best officials. Progressive in his ideas and with a spirit of kindness toward the prisoners, he has won their confidence and loyalty and leaves conditions in a model way.

THE Owatonna council decides street parkways, paving and such improvements "in accordance with the wishes of the property owners as expressed." The Austin council does just the opposite. The remonstrance in the South Kenwood avenue paving was ten to one against but it is voted just the same.

LABORATORIES will be established in Chicago and San Francisco for analyzing drinking water served by railroads. Surgeon General Blue of the public health service will equip them immediately for examination in an effort to prevent the spread of disease in interstate traffic by the use of contaminated water. Good idea.

APPLICATION was made Friday for a parole for James C. O'Conner, former Joliet, Ill., banker and broker, who was sent to prison last November for forgeries totaling $500,000. Scores of his victims will resist the application. If it had been some poor needy man sent up for a small amount no one would ever think of working for his pardon. So goes the world.

PRESIDENT WILSON attributes the cause of business sluggishness and depression "psychological" unrest—that it is due mostly to the apprehensive state of mind of manufacturers, merchants, bankers, etc. Nonsense. One chief reason is the decrease of more than thirty seven million in exports and an increase of twenty seven million in imports. And this is only for one month. The same ratio would practically turn our business over to foreigners—at least to the wage scale of foreign countries.

OTHER EDITORS OPINIONS.

Winona Independent: When the back yard kid players put a ball through the kitchen window, they are allowed a home run as a reward.

Detroit Free Press: "Is your car a self-starter?"
"Yes."

"Then come over and crank mine, will you? You're fresh and strong, and I'm played out trying to make it go."

Winnebago City Enterprise: Chicago commission merchants are accused by the government of attempting a corner on cantaloupes. We are glad that Uncle Sam is putting a stop to this outrage. Cantaloupes are too good to be kept hedged up in a corner.

Waterville Advance: Ernest Menton of Kansas has filed a suit against his wife's parents for allowing their children to have a "girl" who is a "girl" can be identified by her color and her mother hasn't affection enough to mention."

Blue Earth Post: For immediate sale—Several columns of out of State candidates, and a lot of boiler plate matter urging the dear people to vote for Mr. So and So, because of his past record in the interest of the dear people. Material has never been used. Just as good as new. Great opportunity for junk dealer.

St. Cloud Times: A crazy Moline lover, who was rejected by the object of his affections secured a photograph of the girl, nailed it on a tree and proceeded to shoot it full of holes. He then turned the weapon on himself and shot himself out. Here is an example for all crazy swains. The girls will furnish the photos.

Montevideo Leader: Monuments are seldom raised for men who did nothing in life except to make money, and if any such are erected it is done by taking money from their estates. There's a lesson to be learned. There's a lesson to be learned that will make the world want to build a monument for you, not to hold you down but to hold up to the world your noble record.

Albert Lea Tribune: The crop of alfalfa raised this year in Freeborn county is of excellent quality and proves beyond a doubt that Southern Minnesota can grow this kind of hay with entire success. It is a great crop and will add tremendously to the agricultural wealth of the state.

Mason City Globe-Gazette: What is so rare as snow in June? Saturday morning about 10:00 o'clock those who happened to look out doors, saw large flakes of snow in the air. They pinched themselves, looked again, and sure enough, it was the real thing. The sudden change in the weather brought back a memory of last winter's chilly days, and the snow flakes made it quite real.

Waseca Journal-Radical: Monday morning at the Catholic church in Plymouth Rock, Ia., occurred the marriage of Attorney John J. Spillane of New Richland to Miss Anna Stacia Gosman of Plymouth Rock. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Leo Gosman of New Richland, an uncle of the bride. Music for the occasion was furnished by Mrs. P. D. Beaulieu of Austin.

Chaaska Herald: Some fellows, who are about as dead as the proverbial canned oyster, always persist in "butting in" about election time and through the old "ring" style politics try and convince themselves that they are somebody. Times have changed, and that style of politician might as well get off the earth. He's about as popular as a flea infested pup in hot weather.

St. Paul Progress: A very exciting and interesting episode took place last week, when one of the Rice street urchins called the attention of the driver of the Dispatch delivery truck that the wheels of his truck were "going around." This irritated the driver who pursued the youngsters for several blocks. The latter escaped while the driver burned up an extra measure of gas on George Thompson.

Mad Wing Eagle: If there is one amendment more important than the other ten to be voted on this fall it is the one which provides that no county in the state may send more than seven senators to the legislature—the "seven-senator" law, so called. All voters should favor it, but the county districts in particular should work unceasingly for it in order to prevent the Tri-Cities—Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth—from controlling the whole legislative works.

Owatonna Journal-Chronicle: We believe, on the face of the situation, that we were justified in questioning the Council's apparent haste to decide the south Cedar street parkway matter without giving the property-owners a chance to consider it and to be heard; but we now just as promptly give the Council full credit for holding the matter open, giving the property-owners a full and fair hearing and for deciding the matter in accordance with the wishes of the property-owners as expressed.

Chicago Interocean: With the visible slackening of the wheels of industry, with the increasing problem of unemployment, with the railroads laying off thousands of men because they cannot find the money with which to pay them wages; with the industrial readjustments compelled by the Woodrow Wilson tariff not yet worked out, with a new currency and credit system to organize and get going, we surely have enough to do for a year or so without further governmental interference with our efforts to make a living.

Ellendale Eagle: N. C. Nelson and son, Claude, motored here from Austin Tuesday and spent an hour or two greeting old friends. Mr. Nelson informed us that his family are all well and happy. His daughter, Florence, graduated this spring from the Austin High school and is thinking of taking up the study of Art in Minneapolis next winter. Claude is at present working in a clothing store in Austin and likes the work first rate. He has grown about three inches taller and several degrees slimmer since leaving Ellendale.

Fargo Courier News: The financial condition in Minnesota with the following editorial reference: Minnesota has sixty governments. Every time for forty years a band of patriots has wanted some addition to the machinery of state they have gone to the legislature and secured the legislation of a board of some kind; then the governor appointed them and bade them goodby until the legislature met again. The board set up its little government and went along with it. Taxes mounted up from eight to twelve millions in a few years and there was so much confusion that it was difficult to tell whether millions of dollars was income or outgo.

Knikerbocker Press: The discovery is said to have been made that milk kept in red bottles will remain sweet and pure longer than when kept in plain glass or other colored bottles. Experiments have been made with the spectrum to determine which of the rays of light most injures milk. It was found that the red rays of the spectrum endow the milk with a bactericidal effect. The rays of violet and more penetrating and

ACT QUICKLY

Delay Has Been Dangerous in Austin.

Do the right thing at the right time. Act quickly in time of danger. In time of kidney danger Doan's Kidney Pills are most effective. Plenty of evidence of their worth.

A. M. Lee, 507 N. First street, Austin, Minn., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are a first-class kidney and backache remedy. Twenty-five years my back was so lame and painful that I couldn't stoop over to pick up anything. I had a constant, dull misery in my joints and hips. My kidneys didn't act right and showed weakness. I don't know for certain what brought on the trouble, but I think it was heavy lifting. I doctored but everything I tried failed to help me. I used five boxes and from that day to this I have never had an ache or pain. My back and kidneys have been in good shape, too. A few years ago I gave a public statement telling what Doan's Kidney Pills had done for me and now I am just as strong in my praise of them as ever. I always recommend Doan's Kidney Pills when I have a good opportunity."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Definition of an Epigram.

Fannie Heaslip Lea, writing a story in Woman's Home Companion, makes one of her characters define an epigram as follows: "An epigram is saying something you don't mean, just to be smart."

SUMMER SCHOOL AT UNIVERSITY FARM

Regular Annual Session Will Begin in June.

NUMEROUS COURSES OFFERED

By A. V. STORM, University Farm, St. Paul.

The regular annual summer session of the College of Agriculture will occur at University Farm June 15 to July 24, 1914.

Opportunity will be given at this time for regular college work in agriculture and home economics. Seventeen different courses in agriculture and ten in home economics will be offered at that time for college credit.

The college class work will start promptly on June 15, registration being completed on Friday and Saturday, June 12 and 13.

Up to the limit of the accommodations, board and room can be had at the College of Agriculture by writing in advance to J. M. Drew, Registrar.

In addition to the regular college work there will be special lectures by Dr. Eugene Davenport, dean of the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois; during the week beginning June 29; a similar course by Dr. P. P. Claxton, commissioner of education of the United States, during the week beginning July 13, and an additional course by different men of national reputation who will be present at the National Educational association during the week beginning July 6.

The high school agricultural instructors of Minnesota will also have a special convention during the week beginning July 20. During this time they will discuss their work and take some additional class-room work in subjects peculiar to Minnesota conditions. These classes will be taught by the members of the college faculty.

During the same week, from July 20 to 25, the home economics teachers of the high schools of the state will also have a convention, the plan of which will be about the same, that is, part of each day will be devoted to special class-room work taught by the home economics teachers of the college and a part devoted to conferences upon the work as they find it in the high schools.

It is expected that many graduates of arts colleges and normal schools, also many teachers of secondary schools, principals of schools, as well as regular college students, will take advantage of this opportunity as they have done during former summers. Those who are interested should write to Professor A. V. Storm, Director of the Summer Session University Farm, St. Paul, for further information.

It is a well known fact that potatoes frequently respond with increased yields when fertilized with phosphates. Usually acid phosphate fertilizers are recommended for use on potatoes, in order to get the phosphoric acid in immediately available form.

FERTILIZER FOR POTATOES

Bone Meal Gives Excellent Results in Certain Localities.

On acid soils, or "sour land," such as is commonly found in poorly drained localities, or with peat or muck soils, bone meal will generally give excellent results, at considerably less expense than is involved by the use of acid phosphates. The potato growers of Western Washington, from which state the writer has recently come, use bone meal very extensively, and with excellent results on all "sour" soils. Bone meal should be applied as early in the season as possible, in order to give it a chance to decay in the soil. There is no danger of using an overdose, and 500 to 800 pounds per acre is commonly used. The fertilizer may be applied by scattering it in the furrow where the seed is to be planted, or by using a fertilizer attachment on the planter, or even by scattering it broadcast on the land and harrowing it in thoroughly.—R. W. Thatcher, Agricultural Chemist, University Farm, St. Paul.

Compliment to Nature.
"Oh, do look at that dear little lamb!" said Frances, on seeing a young lamb for the first time in her life. "Isn't it pretty?" asked mamma. "Yes; and it is so natural, too. It squeaks just like a toy lamb, and has the same sort of wool on its back!"
All in the Spelling.
"What do I look like, George?" asked the young wife, after she had arrayed herself in her latest ball gown for her hubby's inspection. "A little bare, my dear," replied the truthful George.
