Nothing Doing

The carpenter who would try to saw wood with a hammer would be about as foolish as the fellow who winked at his girl in the dark. Neither would accomplish anything.

It's the same way with a bank account. It has to be handled right. Your balance will never grow if you check your money out as fast as you deposit it, and occasionally overdraw. Let it grow until the fund has amounted to enough to make an investment, is the right way. We will guard your funds carefully and give you advice about sound investments if you desire it.
