PATTI is very fond of parrots, and when she sees one that strikes her fancy she does not hesitate to pay the price asked for it, however exorbitant it may be. Some years ago she actually paid five thousand dollars for a parrot, and this loquacious bird is still to be seen and heard in her winter garden at Craig-Nook. One of the daily parrots speaks Welsh, another French and others English.

The doctors are discussing the question whether the epidemic la grippe will return this winter. The weight of testimony is that it is not likely to be so severe. "The microbes of la grippe live and thrive in the daily daily life, and the long hot summer has been the best possible agent to destroy the germs." Such diseases, however, have to wear out gradually. La grippe will likely be a fixture among diseases for years to come.

An important deposit of that rare metal known as vanadium has been found in the province of Mendoza, Argentine Republic. This metal is one of the rarest and most valuable known, and is used for setting dies in silks, rubbers, tooling and other fine goods. The principal source of supply is in the Ura mountains, and it has been held as high as $1,500 per ounce. This newly discovered deposit in Mendoza will therefore be recognized as of great importance.

LAST TIMES ran back a long way on the peninsula of Delaware, and in Maryland. One Aldrich, a farmer in Delaware, sold a farm, and the title deeds that he passed were dated well back into the seventeenth century, and they bore the signature of the Indian chief from whom the land was originally bought. The property up to the recent sale had descended in the family by inheritance. When the United States government went to erect a fort on the structure on Wallop's island, one of the deeds came along with a seventeenth century title, and gave no end of trouble before his claims were satisfied.
