Grain of all kinds is growing rapidly.
The young people met at Mr. Hendy's last Friday to celebrate the birthday of their daughter Jennie. They had a pleasant time. Swinging and playing games was the order of the day, and all returned home satisfied with their day's pleasure.

Albert Wild is contemplating building a new house.

The lightning rod peddler has been through this town seeking whom he might devour. We understand he found several victims.
John Anderson was married last Saturday to Miss Swanson.

Miss Richie Maxwell returned home last week from near Mankato where she had been teaching school.
Miss Dean gave a very interesting address in the Boddy school house last Sunday on mission work in Africa.

Our school commenced again this week. Miss Ostrander is the new teacher to take up the work that Miss Ramage laid down with her life.
N. A. Call was in this vicinity buying stock this week.

The picnic at Mr. Bissett's the 4th was a big affair. There were about 150 teams there and 600 people, perhaps more. The game of base ball was well played, the Olney nine beating the Dewald's by a score of 22 to 16.

One young man from Adrian had loaded up with too much bad whisky, and as he came under the flag that hung over the driveway to the yard he seized it and tore it in two; it was a valuable flag belonging to the Post at Worthington. The festive youth was promptly arrested by John Mitchell and others, and for a time it looked as if he would be lynched, but better counsels prevailed and he was sent to Worthington to be locked up. The grounds and the arrangements for the picnic were very fine, and a good dancing floor. Dancing commenced about 4 p. m. In the ball game the Dewald boys claim that the Olney boys had a picked nine, part from Adrian and one from Rushmore.

WORTHINGTON TWP.
The Fourth dawned bright and beautiful. Our people spent the day in different places, all having had a good time.
All who attended the S. S. convention in Ransom say it was an occasion long to be remembered. It was good.

Grain is growing very fast; barley in some places is headed out and rye looks fine.
Road work should now be in order. The Laverne road has had some good work done in the bad places.
Mr. O. R. Penny is on a visit to Nebraska.
Mr. C. B. Moore has been heard from. He arrived at Oklahoma safely.

Mr. John R. Newton came down from Minneapolis to spend the Fourth with his parents.
Miss Jennie Ostrander closed her term of school in district 48, June 28, it being a term worthy the name of school. The closing exercises consisted of a very enjoyable picnic held at the home of Wm. McKillop. About 11:30 a. m., neighbors began to gather, bringing their baskets of delicious refreshments. A large crowd was present; among them were Miss Fish and Mrs. Griffin, of Worthington. The dinner being over the children enjoyed the swings, etc., while the older people had a social visit. About 3 p. m. the exercises commenced, singing "Lightly Row," Recitation, "Welcome," by Miss Mary Terry. Then followed dialogues, declamations, and singing filled the hour, all being well done. A speech from Mr. J. C. Clark was enjoyed by all; also remarks by others. The number of pupils enrolled were 12. Average attendance, 9.

this their present home. This community send their congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Sudder and wish them much happiness and prosperity.
Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Stearns were made the happy parents of a little daughter.
The Seward Sunday School held a glorious Fourth of July picnic in Mr. Booth's grove. All had a very nice time, and the day was very pleasant and suitable.

Mrs. Oswald went to Illinois to visit relatives.
Chas. E. Benefield went to Seymour, Ia. last week to spend the Fourth with his many friends.
Mr. Grieser is the owner of a very fine team and a two-seated buggy.

Mr. Louis and Thomas Coppersmith went to Ashton, to spend the Fourth with their sister at that place.
Mr. Hordeup is erecting a fine mansion at present.
Mr. F. T. Worby has just finished plastering his house.

A charming episode came off at the close of the school in district 48 on the afternoon of Tuesday the 28th. Miss Ostrander had prepared her pupils in a neat little program for the closing exercises, and the mothers of the scholars with a few of the other neighbors planned a picnic, and Mrs. McKillop kindly invited them to have it in the shade of the trees near her house, and as Mrs. McK. never does a nice thing by halves she had swings and hammocks up, her organ out for use, and tables arranged under the trees, which tables were soon loaded with all the luxurious eatables and drinkables, gill-edged coffee, and excellent lemonade. Seats were arranged at the tables for all the guests, giving opportunity for agreeable sociability, and one thing which I think is rather unusual at a picnic. A gentleman present was requested to ask a blessing. After the feast, which was evidently enjoyed by every one, the pupils were gathered and seated, and Miss Ostrander asked Mrs. Newton to preside at the organ, and the exercises were opened by all the pupils singing very sweetly, "Lightly Row." Then followed recitations given perfectly—that is without mistakes or perceptible embarrassment. All did well. Miss Mary Terry delighted us with "The Flower Girl,"—in her simple white dress and pink ribbons, with a basket of flowers on her arm and a bouquet in each hand, which she managed gracefully. Little Miss Thompson recited very nicely. "The close of the term." Master Jamie McKillop followed with "Vacation has come"—very good. Willie Hart recited "Bay Billy," a fine poem of war time.

Little Master Raymond Barnard distinguished himself on "Little Sunbeams," and Edna Terry gave "Two Little Girls" very nicely. The three little daughters of Mr. Barnum each had pretty pieces and acquitted themselves well and did credit to their teacher. Appropriate pieces of music were interspersed, and the voices of the children—sweetest music in the world—harmonized so well that their songs were very good indeed. Everything passed off well. Pleasant remarks were made by Mr. Clark, Lambert, and Mrs. McKillop, and everybody appreciated the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. McK. and Master William in attention to each and all. One lady present was asked to say a few words. She only suggested that another term of school be at once entered on so that we could have another gathering of the neighbors at a picnic at its close. In the country, these little occasions that draw people together informally have a tendency to promote sociability, good feeling and sympathy.

STATEMENT AND APPEAL.
EDITOR OF ADVANCE:
The "Gospel of Good Roads" seems to be appreciated, but good roads would be infinitely more. In the early spring, you published a communication from the writer, setting forth the then status of county road, No. 11, leading from Worthington to the village of Bigelow, laid in an early day, running along the southern side of, and parallel to the Sioux City railroad, passing through the farm of Rev. J. W. Lewis, the railroad at that time dividing the farm. Mr. Lewis wishing to utilize water on the southeast side of the railroad for stock, declined granting the right of way, but proposed to give the right of way across the west line of his farm, northward, about three-fourths of a mile, to the section road running east and west, passing his residence, being no nearer Worthington after reaching the section road than at the point of turning north and crossing the railroad. The week named commissioners, afraid of a contest, and possibly a little excited, accepted the proposition, vacated the original survey for three-fourths of a mile and established the county road as stated, increasing the distance to Worthington nearly three-fourths of a mile. The change was not acceptable to the traveling public. They had no fancy to turn from a direct line three-fourths of a mile out of the way and have ever since traveled along the railroad. Mr. N. A. Call, residing at the summit, a good common-sense man, stated to the writer that he was not going to travel 3/4 of a mile out of his way to get to Worthington; he was going straight through. This opinion expressed the opinion of the public. This could be done very comfortably in dry weather like the past year, but at times like the present, the trail is impassable, and has been so mainly since April. The communication alluded to above elicited correspondence, and the flow of waters has seemed to wash all this way. Yes, and the trail itself. The writer and others whose direct route to Worthington is along the railroad, 1 and 3/4 miles, has not been able to travel for two months, but to reach Worthington, must travel north two miles and around the north shore of West Okabea lake, nearly seven miles, and one-half mile further than by the direct line, and all residents must take the same route, a few not aware of the horrid condition of the direct road, made the venture to their sorrow. The condition of the short space of road has prevented the regular church goes from reaching church. The result of this want of a road is to divert road from Worthington to Bigelow, Rushmore and Adrian, and dealers at these points are shrewd enough to avail themselves of the business thus diverted, by low prices. This ought not to be. Worthington should and may be the center of trade for the whole county. It is no pleasure to the writer thus to advertise the western energetic business men—severe diseases require severe remedies.
