

FARM CHANGES.

The movements of good farmers from the state of Illinois to Minnesota, and contiguous western states, is not caused by disappointment in regard to crops, or dissatisfaction with the results of their labor, but is a result of the use of agricultural machinery which makes it possible for one family to cultivate hundreds of acres with success. Many capitalists are now buying up large farms and renting them to the men who raise the crops. The original owners are selling out and getting at the west five acres of land, equally as good as that they leave, for the price of one acre. The Illinois farmer finds at the west congenial society, churches, schools, railway facilities, and more acres upon which to spend their money and strength. Minnesota will be wise to let this changing element know the superior inducements this state has to offer them. All things considered Southwestern Minnesota has more to offer to the immigrant than any western state.

The New Albany EXPRESS revives an important celebration which took place 63 years ago in the city of New York over the inauguration of one of the great wealth creating events of this century, which in its time, was quite as important as the more showy events of this time, are in their day. The Empress, referring to the great naval review, says: "Magnificent as was the naval review, it had no more significance, nor possibly was it more interesting to the spectator of today, than the celebration which took place there in November, 1825, was to the people at that time. It was then that the first canal boat from the Erie canal reached New York. It had as passengers Governor DeWitt Clinton and other state officials, and its most precious merchandise was two casks of water from Lake Erie. The boat left Buffalo October 8, and though there were no railroads, telegraphs or telephones then, the fact of its departure was made known in the city one hour and a half later. This was done by means of cannons placed at regular intervals along the entire route of the canal and the Hudson River. The firing of cannon in Buffalo announced the starting of the boat, and one cannon after another repeated the salute, until the last one was heard in New York 90 minutes after the first one was fired in Buffalo. There was great rejoicing. The boat was towed out to Sandy Hook, and the water from Lake Erie was solemnly poured into the Atlantic Ocean, together with water from the Thames, the Indus, the Nile, the Seine, the Rhine, the Danube, the Orinoco, the La Plata and other great waterways. Naval vessels of the United States and England took part in the demonstration. The Salamagundi Club was now arranging to take relics of that particular canal boat to the Chicago Fair, and proposes that water from the Atlantic be, in like fashion, poured into Lake Michigan."

THE LUVENE TOURNAMENT.
The sub-committee in charge of the various details of the tournament program have about completed their work and the program committee has partially arranged them in order. On Monday, July 3, the sport will begin in the afternoon. The Worthington Brass Band of 15 pieces will arrive at noon, and will be present during the two days. In the afternoon will occur the horse race for a purse of $75; $100 to the winner, $50 to the second and $25 to the third. Then will come the hook and ladder race for the association championship banner, and a horse coupling and ladder climbing contest, for $25 and $15 purses, each divided into two money. On the fourth in the early forenoon will occur the parade of the department and a prize of $50 will be given to the best appearing company. By lot the order of the departments in the parade will be Rock Rapids, Luverne, Pipestone, Worthington and Ellsworth. Proceeding to the park the address will be delivered by L. S. Nelson, Esq., and appropriate music will be rendered. At noon the callithumpians will be turned loose. Immediately after dinner the afternoon sports will begin. There will be the hook and ladder free to all; $75 to the first, $50 to the second, $25 to the third. Then will come the cart race for the association championship and the new $250 cart. Between the heats will be sandwiched in a 100 yard foot race for $15 in two prizes; a two mile race, a five mile race, a race for boys under 12; high jump; broad jump and a bicycle race.

STATE LIBRARY, ST. PAUL, MINN.,

March 20, 1893.

To the Minneapolis Tribune:
At your request I have compared your edition of the Encyclopedia Britannica, with the "original" imported ninth edition of the same, now in the State Library, (the publishers price of which is $300.00) and find them to be identical in the same, article with article, page with page, line with line, the only exception being that certain American articles have been revised and incorporated with the original material, these and the "revisions" in the back of each book make the Tribune edition much more complete, and include a greater range of subjects than the "original" Edinburgh Edition.

This edition I find printed in a clear, bold, distinct type, is firmly and substantially bound, and the volumes are more easily handled than the "Original A. & C. Black Edition."

The great wonder in my mind is, how a work that has been sold so cheaply at $5 to $10 per volume, can be sold for $1.98 per volume, and your terms are absolutely phenomenal.

Very respectfully,
W. H. H. TAYLOR, State Librarian.

After examination, I fully concur in the above opinion.

FARMERS, YOUR ATTENTION FOR A MOMENT!

Farmers of this and adjoining counties, in answer to an advertisement in the Advance of June 1st, starting out in the following words: "We understand that some of the agents of the Montevideo Fire Insurance Co., are already getting in their work in this country by making their customers misrepresentations, etc., to the farmers." I make the following appeal for the protection of your interests and to cast a light on this subject: From the report of the statements made by the fellow who sells himself as a self-evident fact that this said agent is none other than the agent of the Alliance and Cyclone Insurance Co. of Austin, Minn., and that he is working all for Mr. W. and not for the farmers.

Good farmers, if that man who calls himself W. should call on you, present letters of recommendation for the Alliance company and letters that must have been written to arouse your suspicions against all other companies. Do not let him lead you into a trap. He is a man of no honor, and he is working all for Mr. W. and not for the farmers.

When he tells you that the Austin company that charges a premium of only 25 cents per acre can pay you and afford you a better protection than the Montevideo company that charges 35 cents per acre if necessary to pay losses of a disastrous season, like good sensible people do not let him lead you into a trap. No, he is a man of no honor, and he is working all for Mr. W. and not for the farmers.

Again Mr. W. in his statement of June 1st as referred to in beginning of this article tells you farmers that what you have done in the past you did in vain. Ignorance. But what a complete change of heart! He now tells you that he has been in the business of insurance for 25 years, and that he has not been taken in by any man. No, he is a man of no honor, and he is working all for Mr. W. and not for the farmers.

At a word of advice and explanation take heed to what I have said farmers, it may be of some benefit to you. Do not let him lead you into a trap. He is a man of no honor, and he is working all for Mr. W. and not for the farmers.

WE SUIT EVERYBODY

every time. Our suits are suits as are anits, suits that fit to a T, look as pleasing as a smile, wear without becoming seedy, and are cheaper than a good article is anywhere else. Who wouldn't be suited with such a combination of suitable qualities? That's our business, suiting the public, and we keep it up all the year round. We like it, and don't propose to change our business. The public of Worthington like it, too, and the procession of buyers is parading to our store for their Summer suits.

PROBATE NOTICE.

STATE OF MINNESOTA. In Probate Court, Special Term, June 19, 1893. In the matter of the estate of Christopher G. Gill, deceased.

Letters of administration on the estate of said deceased being this day granted unto Catherine G. Gill, of said County.

It is ordered that all claims and demands of all persons against said estate be presented to the court, for examination and allowance, at the Probate office in Worthington, on the following dates: On the 25th day of July, 1893, at one o'clock p. m.

In further order, that six months from the date hereof be allowed creditors to present their claims against said estate, at the expiration of which time all claims not presented to said court, or not proven to the satisfaction of the court, shall be forever barred, unless for cause shown, further time be allowed.

Ordered further, that notices of the time and place of the hearing and examination of said claims and demands shall be given by publishing this order once in each week, for three successive weeks prior to the day appointed for such examination, in the Worthington Advance, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Worthington, in said County.

Dated at Worthington, the 19th day of June A. D. 1893.

By the Court, M. C. COY, Judge of Probate.
