School Entertainment.

The school entertainment given at Masonic Hall last Friday evening was a great success and a credit to all the scholars who participated. We have not space enough to go into all the details and give each one who took part special mention as we should like to do, but by the loud applause which was given by the audience at the close of each part of the program proved conclusively how much the efforts of the children were appreciated and enjoyed by all. Due credit should be given all the teachers who took time and patience to rehearse and teach them in their different parts so well.

They had a crowded house and netted the neat sum of $45.00 which will enable them to purchase the necessary additions to the School Library for which benefit the affair was given.

One Good Point in its Favor.

One great point in favor of newspaper advertising is that the papers are carried home and preserved for some time, going into the homes of the readers and being looked over by all members of the family; they are exchanged with neighbors and make the rounds of the whole community. The advertisements in a good paper work, not for a passing moment, but for days and weeks and months, and they reach the most intelligent class in every community. Nothing can take the place of newspaper advertising. —Northfield Independent.

TWO LIVES SAVED

Mrs. Phoebe Thomas, of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her and she says it saved her life. Mr. Thos. Eggers, 139, Florida St., San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching consumption, tried everything else then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results, of which these samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in coughs and colds. Free trial bottles at Ray Humiston's drug store. Regular size 50 cents and $1.00.

A Farm Paper.

A Representative Farm Paper.—The "Northwestern Farmer" of St. Paul is a 20 page semi-monthly journal now in its 14th year; published continuously by the present management since 1882. The April 1st number contains many valuable contributions, among which we name—"Native Plums," "Three Garden Crops in one Season," Horses, Cattle, Sheep and Swine Notes, "A Treatise on Fowls," "Cheese Making," The Dairy, Live Stock, Questions and Answers, Veterinary Department, Horticultural Department, Etc. The "Northwestern Farmer" is a thoroughly representative farm journal, published at St. Paul, Minn. Subscription price 50 cents a year. Sample copy free.

The city of Pipestone is going to try to handle the tramp question by making them earn what they get. The council has ordered a suitable place selected for a stone-pile and as soon as the location is supplied with material every house will be furnished with a supply of tickets which will be an order for one meal, which will be presented to the city marshal, who will set the tramp at work breaking stones for two hours after which he will be furnished a meal. This idea may be successful but it is doubtful as there are so many sympathetic people, and professional tramps prefer to take their chances in securing food in preference to work.

A Point of Law.

Attorney Wilson is engaged in preparing an appeal to the Supreme court, from the decision of Judge Brown, in the case of Wilson vs Wilson.

It appears, that in this case among several points, that Mr. Wilson thinks was decided in error that the court granted judgment for a continuing alimony to the amount of $360.00 per year without limiting it to any certain length of time or providing that it should cease upon the subsequent marriage of Mrs. Wilson. Mr. Wilson also takes exceptions to the finding of the court relative to property owned by him and again as to that part of the decree relating to the amount of property or money to be restored to Mrs. Wilson, which a great many years ago she had placed in his custody for keeping. It appeared from the undisputed evidence in the case that she placed a certain amount of money in his hands to be kept by him for her. The verdict of the jury in this particular matter and the fact was undisputed on trial, that Mr. Wilson had restored to Mrs. Wilson, several years ago prior to commencement of the suit, all the money and in fact a great deal more than Mrs. Wilson had placed in his care. This item run over twenty years and the court in making a decision relative to it, computed interest all this time upon the sum of money and considered the payment made from time to time as partial payment, made the same as if made upon a note. Mr. Wilson contends, that our statute relative to the restoration of property to the wife in case of divorce, does not contemplate the computing of interest upon money that the wife places in the care of her husband, to be kept by him for her subject to her demand to withdraw at any time, no more than in case of any other property, could the wife exact pay for the rental and usage of it when it was simply placed in the hands of the husband subject to the order and control of the wife and used for the mutual benefit of both.

The points of appeal in this case have never been decided in the state and the construction that the Supreme court will place upon the statute, relative to those matters, will be looked for with a great deal of interest, considering the fact that the result, if against the contention of Mr. Wilson, will virtually be an enlargement or an amendment to the statute of this state relative to the matter.

The Price of Beauty.

Nobody would willingly and purposely do anything to destroy their beauty. Nobody ever lived that preferred decayed teeth and toothache rather than sound, healthy, beautiful teeth. Yet there are hundreds of people who are allowing their beauty to slip away by neglecting their teeth.

Minnehaha Tooth Paste

Costs 50 cents for a 2 ounce box. That is a pretty cheap price to pay for beauty, isn't it? There are cheaper preparations to be bought for the teeth, but most people don't care to put cheap things into their mouths.

Minnehaha Tooth Paste is the best that money will buy.

Ray Humiston.

Here is some good advice for people who believe in practicing purchasing articles from traveling vendors, or who send away for goods that can be procured at home: "If a traveling peddler comes along and tries to sell goods, before purchasing, ask him if he will take your butter, eggs, hides and other produce. Ask him if, when your neighbor gets ready to build a road or bridge across the creek or slough, if he is willing to donate a few dollars to help it along. Tell him there is a poor widow down the road who would be very thankful if he would donate a few provisions. Finally, say to him that money will be scarce next season and would he mind trusting you for a few dollars' worth of goods. If he agrees to all this, then patronize him.

The past storms have been very beneficial to the whole country; two to six inches of snow and rain fell over the entire northwest, moistening the soil and putting it in excellent condition for all kinds of small grain. Farmers have been delayed, yet the results will be greater in the end, as the grain will sprout rapidly during the present warm weather and the moisture cause it to stool out and grow thrifty and give it a big yield should there be no set-back from any other injurious causes. When the grain has a good start it will be in condition to suffer less from the extremes that hinder its growth.

A Paying Investment.

Values of the Properties Enhanced by Village Improvement.

"The property owners of a village cannot make a better paying investment than in the maintenance of a well-organized improvement society," writes John Gilmer Speed in April Ladies' Home Journal. "Through such a society the value of every piece of property in a village, and the neighborhood thereof, may be enhanced in value; village life may be made to take on new interests and new dignities; stagnation may be kindled into an exhilarating activity. Let the people become interested in a Village Improvement Society and they will soon begin to discuss plans and policies with a gratifying alertness. They will discuss how best to secure a public library; they will talk over the ways and means of getting running water into the town; they will argue over the best way of establishing a fire department; they will study drainage and sanitation; they will recognize the value of street lights when the moon is shining on another part of the world; and when they vote on these questions they will vote with entire intelligence, and they will go away from the meetings refreshed by what they have heard, and what they have done."

ANOKA 'WINS.

Judges Brill, Otis and Kelly of the Ramsey county court dissolve the temporary injunction granted Hastings, in location of fourth insane hospital site. This is a point gained by Anoka, but they should not be paid for their site until the matter has been carried to and passed on by the higher courts. It is not only the opinion of these learned judges that there was a breach of good faith in relocating of this hospital, but of every person of ordinary intelligence that is "not partial." A commission composed of men that reconsider a question on the pretext that this commission did, should not be allowed to hold an office in any organized body, and the state treasurer is certainly justified in withholding payment of a warrant for the purchase price until the courts have fully passed upon the case.

Shakespearean Reading.

Mr. J. J. Frainey in a Shakespearean recital next week, Friday, for the benefit of the school piano fund.

John J. Frainey gave a Shakespearean recital at the Stone Chapel last evening. Mr. Frainey calls his recitals "An Evening with Shakespeare," and it would probably be more appropriate to call it this than a display of his elocutionary abilities.

He has a happy faculty of explaining the history and character and giving an explicit conception of what the character is—a necessary requisite to many and an enjoyable one to all. He caters to the instructive rather than to the eloquent, and in this he is successful. He selected for the evening's program scenes from "The Merchant of Venice," "Richard II," "Richard III," "Hamlet," "Macbeth" and "Othello," forming a wonderfully interesting program. All in all, Mr. Frainey is one of the most delightful entertainers that ever visited Oskaloosa.—Oskaloosa (Ia.) News, Jan. 11, 1896.

Farewell Sermon.

At the Presbyterian church last Sunday the Rev. Wilson Aull preached his two farewell sermons to large congregations, who one and all listened to his last words spoken from the pulpit with pleasure and sorrow mingled—with sorrow to realize it was the last time, as never was a pastor more beloved by his flock than he, and not only by the members of his denomination, but by ALL is he loved, personally as well as a minister of God's church. He has worked hard and faithfully in the interest of the church and the good of the people. Through his influence the church has gained many new members during the past year and we sincerely hope his place will not long be vacant, but feel assured that the place he fills in the hearts of his people here cannot easily be filled. It will be a long time before his congregation will be able to recollect themselves to their loss. The ADVANCE joins with the people in wishing him success in his new field of labor. His family left Monday for Duluth, Minn., where they are to be joined by Mr. Aull later to make that their future home.
