St. Peter State Hospital, ST. PETER, MINN.

Training School for Nurses.

There is in this hospital a training school for nurses, the object of which is to fit young men and women for the profession of nursing. They not only become familiar with the care of the insane, but are trained in general nursing as well, so that after taking a two years' course and graduating, they will be competent to do any kind of nursing and will be much better trained than the graduate of a general hospital, because the training in the care of the insane teaches them to think and act for the patient as well as to wait upon him.

The course of study is graded and extends over two years, consisting of lectures and practical instruction in all the details of the care of the sick and insane. Young men and women taking this two years' course of training receive an amount of culture, independent of their training as nurses, which will fit them for any occupation they may choose to take up after graduation, and it has the great advantage of teaching them to be orderly, methodical and accurate, besides developing in them the power of self-control.

During their undergraduate term of service, men are paid $18.00 during the first month and this amount is gradually increased according to merit until after six months they are paid $25.00. Graduates may for good and extended service be paid $35.00 per month. Women are paid $12.00 the first month to be gradually increased to $18.00 after six months. Graduates may be paid $28.00. Board, lodging and washing without expense to nurses.

All applicants should be between 18 to 20 years of age, free from disease or deformity, and they are expected to enter for the full course of instruction. Applicants on being accepted will be expected to serve two months on probation, after which, if their service has been satisfactory, they will on agreeing to remain for the full course of instruction be accepted as pupil nurses. Pupils may enter the school at any time.

Address, Dr. H. A. TOMLINSON, Superintendent.

ADVANTAGES OF LIBERIA.

Prof. O. F. Cook Speaks of the African Republic.

Prof. O. F. Cook, of Huntington, L. I., who has spent the winter in Liberia, Africa, studying the plant and animal life of that region, has returned to his home. He says, according to the Republic, that the advantages of Africa as a place of residence, even for the white race, are but imperfectly understood. Liberia is naturally no more unhealthy than other tropical countries, in which civilization has taken root, such as India and South America, and, as in these cases, the healthfulness increases as the forests are cleared away and better conditions of life rendered possible through improvements in transportation. Mr. Cook has spent several seasons in Africa in pursuing his investigation in the interest of the American and the New York State Colonization societies, with a view to ascertaining the possibility of resuming, under new plans, the colonization of Liberia with negroes from the United States. He says former movements in that direction have failed through want of proper management rather than on account of any insurmountable difficulties inherent in the idea of colonization or in the nature of the country where settlements of American negroes were attempted. That something is possible, he says, is demonstrated by the fact that many colonists who left America 15 or 20 years ago with nothing have now coffee farms, yielding incomes greater than their owners can spend, while others have achieved independence in much less time.

MADE THE ANNOUNCEMENT.

President McCosh's Novel Method of Complying with a Request.

President McCosh, of Princeton, is the subject of this story, says the New York Call, which is vouched for by old Princeton men: "The venerable doctor was accustomed to lead the morning exercises in the chapel every day, and during the exercises in the chapel gave out the notices to the students. The closing exercise was a fervent prayer by the doctor. One morning, after he had read the notices as usual, a student came up with another notice that Prof. Kerge's French class would be at nine o'clock that day, instead of 9:30, as usual. Dr. McCosh said it was too late, but the student insisted that Prof. Kerge would be much disappointed if the notice was not read. The exercises went on, and the doctor forgot all about the notice. He started to make the final prayer. He prayed for the president of the United States, the members of the cabinet, the senators and representatives, the governor of New Jersey, the mayor and other officials of Princeton, and then came to the professors and instructors in the college. In the meantime Prof. Kerge's notice came into his hand and the assembled students were astonished to hear the venerable president say: 'And, O Lord, bless Prof. Kerge, whose French class will be held this morning at nine o'clock, instead of at 9:30, as usual.'"

CHEERFUL PROSPECT.

What a Young Minister Had to Imagine Pleasant Thoughts.

A nervous young minister, in visiting a neighboring village, had an unpleasant experience. The old lady at whose house he stayed, in showing him to his room, said:

"It ain't anybody I'd put in this room. This here room is full of scared associations to me," she went on. "My first husband died in that bed with his head on these pillows, and poor Mr. Jenkins died sitting in that corner. Sometimes when I come into the room in the dark I think I see him sitting there still. My own father died layin' right on that lounge right under the window there. Poor pa, he was a spiritualist, and he allus said he'd appear in this room after he died, and sometimes I am foolish enough to look for him. If you should see anything of him to-night you'd better not tell me. It'd be a sign to me that there was something in spiritualism, and I'd hate to think that. My son by my first man fell dead of heart disease right where you stand. He was a doctor, and there's two whole skeletons in that closet there belonged to him, and half a dozen skulls in that lower drawer. If you are up early and want something to amuse yourself with before breakfast just open that cupboard there and you will find a box of dead men's bones. My poor boy thought a lot of them. Well, good night, and pleasant dreams."

EXERCISE A NECESSITY.

Early Decline of Physical Powers Due to Neglect of Athletics.

Beyond the age of 40—at a period when so many are physically lazy—the superior value of exercise is apparent, but ordinarily this is just the time when the hygienic of athletics is neglected, aptly observes Rev. F. S. Root. There is no reason why a punching bag, rowing machine, pulley weights and other apparatus should be relegated to college boys and clerks. But, having done a good deal of work in his time, it is almost impossible to persuade a business or professional man turning 40 to give any sort of attention to physical culture if such training has been previously neglected. It is an inexorable physiological law that we can only retain our bodily or mental powers by properly using them. Exercise is not a matter of choice, but of necessity.

Drinking by Instinct.

Some discussion has lately occurred, in scientific journals on the question whether newly-hatched chickens will drink water if the mother hen does not set them the example. Mr. H. W. Elliott, in a letter to Science, answers positively that chickens will drink of their own accord. He has frequently placed a dish of water before a brood hatched the day before, and observed the chickens, without any maternal teaching or assistance, putting their bills into the water and lifting up their heads to swallow it, in the manner of full-grown fowls.
