In McClure's Magazine for September will be reproduced a superb life-cast of the face of Henry Clay, made by John H. I. Browner in 1825, when Clay was 48 years old. It is probably the most real and vivid likeness of Clay in existence, and it has never been published. In the same number of McClure's will be reproduced the only portrait ever painted of Mrs. Henry Clay. It also has never been published. Notes by Mr. Charles Henry Hart will relate the history of the portraits and the circumstances under which they were produced.

Tuesday forenoon Mrs. H. J. Ludlow left her horse standing unhitched in the street near her place in the village, and while she was in the house the animal started and ran away, running up 11th St. and 3d Ave. In front of the post office it ran under an electric light pole and the sidewalk and into a horse hitched there owned by Julius Will. This horse broke loose and ran down 10th street and was caught at J. D. Humiston's corner. Mrs. Ludlow's horse was caught near the Lake View hotel. Her buggy was considerably broken up, which was about the only damage done.

During the night street pageants and carnival to be pretented in Minneapolis during the week beginning Sept. 6, a grand, weird and mystic sight will be exhibited, illustrating many different types of the human race from many widely separated portions of the globe. The pageants will be a dazzling evidence of what the energy and progressiveness of the citizens of Minneapolis can accomplish when this energy and resistless ambition is brought into requisition. These prominent features have always characterized the doings of that community. Everything in the nature of street pageants will be absolutely free to the thousands of visitors expected there at that time.

Chose Remarks

And those expressive gestures of approval which we notice at our soda fountain convince us that our . . .

Soda • Water • is • just • right.

It can hardly be otherwise when our efforts to dispense the finest beverages in town are considered. It's a simple matter, too—just a matter of ice for coolness and the finest fruit juices for taste.
