Base Ball Team. Of all the ball teams that have existed during the past years, the coming summer bids fair to find one in Worthington that will eclipse anything of its kind Agent A. W. Little of the Burlington is now agitating the question, and is receiving considerable encouragement, and if all things go well will have a team in the field early and prepared to meet any of their class. A name has not been selected but it might properly be called the 'Fat Men's Club.' The following names have been listed to select from, but it has been suggested that they all be taken in and if any player should need a "sub" during a game there will be sufficient timber present to take his place.

Willie Loveless, youngest son of W. W. Loveless, while skating Tuesday on the new ice that formed where the thick ice had been removed from the lake, he broke through going into the water nearly up to his neck and was prevented from going farther by his feet touching the bottom.
