A short time ago she went out on a laying expedition making a record of three eggs in 24 hours. Thursday she accomplished the feat of laying two eggs and is apparently in a healthy condition. There can be no mistake as the hen is with a flock of Leghorns that lays a long white egg, the eggs of the Lanshan hen being short and brown.
The alarm of fire was sounded Wednesday evening about six o'clock from the Western house. Fire was discovered in room No. 16, occupied by two ladies from Minneapolis. One of the ladies had hung a dress across the foot of the bed which caught fire while the occupants of the room were at supper. The mattress, bedding, carpet and wall had caught fire before discovered by the day clerk who happened to pass through the hall just in time to give the alarm. The fire department responded promptly, but the flames were extinguished before a stream was turned on. The loss was small.

Thursday morning the announcement of the death of Mrs. L. J. Fihn, wife of Rev. Mr. Fihn, pastor of the East Svedahl church, caused consternation in the hearts of all who were honored by her friendship. Deceased had suffered for the last ten days with a severe attack of pneumonia, and death came to claim its own, taking a life full of usefulness and beauty in His kingdom. Mrs. Fihn was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Fihn, of Albert City, Iowa, where she married Rev. Mr. Fihn in 1897. A woman of charming disposition and Christian virtues, she has made hosts of warm friends who will sincerely deplore her loss to all worldly. Husband and child have the heartfelt sympathy of everyone in their bereavement. Funeral services were held at the East Svedahl church Sunday forenoon by Rev. J. E. Hlandorf, of Concord, Neb. The remains were then brought to St. James and in the afternoon services were held at the Swedish church of this place with Dr. Watson, of St. Peter, officiating. The remains were then taken to Albert City, Iowa, for interment.—St. James Plaindealer.
Rev. Fihn, husband of the deceased, was well known here, having been here several times in reference to religious work.

$350,000
For Dayton Block, Minneapolis. Jno. S. Pillsbury the Purchaser.
A deal was closed Thursday, Geo. D. Dayton disposing of the Dayton block, Minneapolis, the land alone bringing $3,000 per front foot. The Minneapolis Journal says:
George D. Dayton, of Worthington, owner of the Dayton block, at Nicollet and Sixth street, and much other valuable property in Minneapolis, has come out with a new and stronger testimonial than ever of his faith in the future of Minneapolis and the value of Minneapolis property as an investment.
Through Walter L. Badger, who acts as broker for parties, he has just sold the Dayton block to former Governor John S. Pillsbury for an even $350,000, and in part payment takes $80 unimproved lots in John T. Blaisdell's revised addition, which he will shortly place on the market. Mr. Pillsbury pays $200,000 in cash and the remainder is represented by the Blaisdell property which is turned in at the rate of about $2000 per lot.

A New Charter.
Much has been said in our village about having new ordinances that could be supported by the law and the present village council soon after entering upon their duties took up the question, but nothing has been done. Every council has been confronted with an opinion that the present ordinances were defective and they were compelled to handle all questions affecting village affairs very judiciously and in fear. The same obstacle has been met in court when prosecuting offenders. How long is this to continue and will the situation grow better by deferring action? It will not, but the village officials will be cornered some day for want of authority to sustain them. It has been proposed that the form of city government be adopted, if this is done every law applicable in the state can be used in any case necessary to sustain village interests to the best advantage in accomplishing the end sought. To do this would require a petition signed by two-thirds of the voters. Marshall is adopting this plan as will be seen by the following from the News-Messenger.
Upon another page will be found the order of the Judge of Probate making a city of Marshall, and calling for the first election of officers on Tuesday, April 2nd. This order is issued upon the call of two-thirds of the voters of the village in petition for city government.
There are many advantages to be derived from a city form of government. There will be a new charter and new ordinances. There will always be two members of the old council upon the new council. The city will be divided into two wards, north and south of Main St., and each ward will have two aldermen. The council will have more sway than heretofore; and greater opportunity to work for the material benefit and improvement of the city.
We understand this plan does away with voting upon the license question, that question being settled by the alderman, the advocates of either cause endeavoring to elect men that will carry out the will of their constituents.

Too Many Applications from Large Towns.
Since Mr. Carnegie commenced making gifts to cities for public libraries. Many small towns have been in hopes they would be remembered by the millionaire. The ambitious town of Pipestone desiring to erect a library sought the assistance of Mr. Carnegie and wrote Congressman McCleary to intercede for them. Below is the answer to Mr. McCleary's letter:
NEW YORK Feb. 21, 1901.
HON. J. T. MCCLEARY,
Washington, D. C.
Dear Sir:—In reply to your letter Mr. Carnegie says that he has many applications to consider from large towns where a library is of so much more far reaching benefit, that he is unable to take up the case of smaller places, which require just as much and often more, time and attention.
Respectfully yours,
JAS. BERTRAM,
P. Secretary.

A. Rust, G. T. Bulick, W. M. Cline, and R. J. Jones returned from Marshall county last Saturday. While there they each invested in half a section of prairie land. They report the country rapidly filling up and the prospect is that wild land will advance at least $2 per acre March 1st.
The Anthracite comedy company has been filling a week's engagement at the hall. The troop is made up of four persons who all are artists in their respective lines. They also have a number of well trained dogs which they show at intervals. The quality of the entertainments is equal to many fifty cent shows and the boys should be accorded good houses.
There was a party here last week from near Cedar Rapids, looking up a location. He seemed well pleased with the outlook at this point and will probably return at an early date with a stock of furniture and farm machinery. We would welcome such an enterprise to our midst and anyone opening such a business will, no doubt, receive the undivided support of our citizens.
