The Weather and Crops.

The weather the past week has been very pleasant, cool and with little rain. Grain cutting is all finished except some flax. Threshers are now all busy. The yield of grain will differ in the different localities more than it has in previous years. On an average, wheat will go about ten and one-half, oats forty-five, barley twenty-five. There being but very little threshing done as yet, it is difficult to give a very definite figure on the average yield. Corn will be light and potatoes small with light crop.

When the Cosmopolitan, in its April number, published an essay, at once clever and philosophic, on "The Ideal Wife," a demand was created for a paper on "The Ideal Husband" by the same author—Lavinia Hart. The August Cosmopolitan contains an essay on this subject—on which few people agree—which is certain not only to prove widely interesting, but to cause lively discussion. In the same number Mrs. Van Rensselaer Cruger (Julien Goron) tells the life of the French wife with all its tragic commonplace narrowness. "The woman of small capacity puts up with, and, perhaps, does much toward maintaining present conditions," says the author, "but there are women of brains who die at an early age of no disease known to doctors, but simply from utter weariness."

If the action of your bowels is not easy and regular serious complication must be the final result. DeWitt's Little Early Risers will remove this danger. Safe, pleasant and effective. F. A. Groezinger.

President Northrop of our State University used the following words in an address delivered in Boston last June at the Jubilee convention of Young Men's Christian associations.

"With us in the University of Minnesota where not many of the students are wealthy and many are dependent on their own efforts for support in a greater or less degree, the Christian Association welcomes the new student when he comes a stranger to the University; it helps him to find a home suited to his means and proper for him to live in; it surrounds him at once with pleasant friends who help him to shake off the on-creeping homesickness of the first days; it relieves his pressing needs by temporary loans that shall be speedily repaid; it finds employment for those who must do something for their own support. It furnishes free classes in which students deficient in preparation may be trained without expense; it cultivates a spirit of benevolence among its members, doubly necessary where education is free and students are not rich where there is danger of forming the habit of getting everything free—salvation and everything else. It gathers the new students into the Bible classes, the prayer meetings, the social meetings. It calls to its aid the best talent it can get in the University or the Twin Cities to make addresses. It gives delightful receptions, to which the whole body of students are invited. It keeps open house with books and papers where all may rest or work as they choose; and it seeks in every way in its power to make its members more manly, more loving, more earnest, more Christ-like, and in all this work it meets with a good degree of success." A work of similar character is done by the Young Women's Christian Association.

Correspondence is solicited with prospective students; a hand-book of general information will be sent to those who apply to the General Secretary of Y. M. C. A. or of the Y. W. C. A., care of the University, Minneapolis.

Device to Assist Engineers in Carrying out Train Orders.

It is a wonderful device that the Milwaukee road is experimenting with for the purpose of assisting the engineer in carrying out train orders. It is suspended in the cab of the locomotive and makes it impossible for him to forget his orders; in fact it carries them out for him. If, for instance, he should receive orders to stop at a station to meet a train or for any other purpose, say thirty two miles down the line, he would set the device at thirty-one miles, and when that point is reached the automatic machine blows the whistle and when at thirty-two miles it stops the engine without the aid of the engineer. Besides this the little machine works a cyclometer, telling an engineer just how far he has run, and no matter how dark or foggy the night he can fix at a glance the exact location of his train.—Fairmount Sentinel.

ROBBED OF $220.

Woman Loses Money Tied in a Handkerchief.

Wednesday morning, I. H. Thomas was arrested charged with the theft of $220 from Mary Norman. He was working with the Lundgren boys threshing crew southeast of town when taken into custody, brought before Squire Stevens and a recess taken until 1:30.

Mr. Thomas tells the following story regarding the affair. He has been a resident of this town about fifteen months, moving here from Floyd county, Ia., and now resides with his wife in the first house south of T. H. Creaver's, a short time ago he had some conversation with J. D. Pratt relative to renting his house near G. W. Patterson's. Tuesday afternoon he was not working, so the key was procured and himself and wife started to examine the house. On reaching the place he inserted the key in the door and found it was not locked, the door was pushed open whereupon a lady appeared, and from her appearance, judged she had been lying down. Mr. Thomas and wife made known their business and apologized for disturbing the woman as they did not know the house was occupied. In response to enquiry the woman said she had not rented the place. Thomas and his wife passed through the house, examined it and left the premises, returning the key to the owner. During the afternoon the woman called at Mr. Thomas' residence and obtained a drink of water and came on to town. This, Mr. Thomas says, is all he knows of the woman.

At the afternoon examination Mary Norman testified that she had worked for Sam Anderson, who lives in Elk township, a number of years and left his service last Saturday night, coming into town. She had the money in a handkerchief lying on a trunk in one of the rooms when Mr. Thomas and wife called and she was washing. Mr. Thomas testified in his own behalf as above. His wife was called and corroborated his testimony. Defendant was discharged for want of sufficient evidence to hold him.

In New Quarters.

The St. Croix Lumber Company and E. C. Pannell now occupy their new offices.

The building in which these offices are located is a mammoth lumber storage house on the corner of 10th street and length-wise on second avenue. It is sufficiently large to furnish room for the lumber company's entire stock. The building is of the latest improved style, with ventilation arrangement, and other conveniences, and contains a driveway the entire length.

The offices are both sides of driveway opening onto 10th street, the lumber company occupying the corner one. This office contains a roomy closet and a private office. Mr. Pannell's is one room, both offices being roomy and well lighted. The cost of the building will exceed $2000 and is a great improvement to that portion of the town.

The Designer for September abounds in attractive advance styles for autumn apparel and millinery both of which are lucidly described and artistically displayed. Of special interest to mothers should be the articles "Aprons for Our School Girls," and "Preparing a Child for Boarding School," the former prettily illustrated. The Kentucky love story "Faint Heart and Fair Lady," by Henry Cleveland Wood, is continued in this issue, and two short stories "Her Grandmother's Clock" and "A Bit of Finery," the latter a tale for girls, are also given. Amateur camera snappers should gladly avail themselves of the suggestions given in "Caricature Photography," for thereby they may employ their spare time pleasantly and with possible profit in a monetary sense. "A Colonial Minute Drill" gives instruction for a particularly dainty little entertainment, suitable for raising money for church or society, and "Off for a Tramp," by H. L. Holcomb, will be welcomed by feminine lovers of fresh air and sunshine. Numerous designs for fancy work are supplied in this issue, and the latest in literature is discussed in "Notes of New Books." Under "Health and Beauty" are furnished reliable recipes for beautifying the hands and arms, while "The Ideal Bathroom" shows how many comforts in the watery line are possible for those who can afford them. "The Cultivation of the Voice" especially considers the elocutionist this month, and "Points on Dressmaking" treats of the finishing of the fashionable skirt. Selections for parlor or school-room recitation, Etiquette Hints, Nursery Lore, Household Advice, recipes for Pickling, Canning and Preserving, and "Among Ourselves," the latter a resume of current topics interesting to women, are also presented in this very entertaining number, the price of which is 10 cents.

Tramps Capture a Train.

But They Decamp Before Reaching Mankato.

Sixteen tramps captured freight train No. 20, northbound, on the Omaha road at Madelia last night, and they held down the box car until Lake Crystal was reached. There they decamped. It is reported that Conductor W. Decker had a revolver pushed into his face with the statement that the gang was going to ride and he had better not molest them.

Between 12 and 1 o'clock this morning Chief of Police Bowen received word that the train was coming and he should have his officers at the depot ready to meet an armed mob. When the train pulled into the station, however, there was not a hobo in sight.

Chief Bowen and Officer Kinghorn went through the railroad yard and rounded up two tourists who were peacefully sleeping in a freight car. They were taken to the police station. One of the couple put up the claim that he is a printer.

Conductor Decker, when first encountered by the hoboes, refused to start his train, and commanded the tourists to "hike." One burly tramp pointed a revolver at Decker, and ordered him "sell his papers and start the train." As it was late at night and help was out of the question the conductor concluded that discretion was the better part of valor. The train moved on toward the north.

It is said that everyone of the tramps was provided with a revolver, and had the trainmen made any show of resistance there would have been serious trouble.—Mankato Review.
