ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

Loss of Money Causes a Woman to Attempt to Take Her Own Life.

Large Butcher Knife Used as Weapon Unsuccessfully.

Mrs. Mary Norman, aged about fifty-three years, attempted suicide Friday morning with a butcher knife. Since Mrs. Mary Norman had her money, two hundred and twenty dollars, stolen Monday, she has been very much discouraged and downhearted. Tuesday she moved her personal effects from the Pratt house to John Carlson's and Wednesday moved them to Mrs. Anna Anderson's who resides in the Paulson house located south of J. E. Darling's store. Thursday she went to work at the Worthington Hotel. Friday morning she arose about five-twenty and informed Chas. Doolittle she was not feeling well and announced her intention of quitting work at the hotel, so he paid her fifty cents, her wages. From there she must have went to R. C. Dana's where she talked some time, arranging with him to take her to Sam Anderson's where she formerly worked. She reached Mrs. Anderson's about six-thirty. Mrs. Wass saw her standing at the kitchen door of Mrs. Anderson's place and spoke to her but received no reply. Mrs. Anderson saw her standing at the door. She entered the house and said she was sick. Mrs. Anderson then asked her to have a cup of coffee and began to get ready for making it; while she was doing this it seems Mrs. Norman picked up a butcher knife, about sixteen inches long and an inch and a half wide, entered the stairs leading up stairs, sat down on the steps near the bottom and used the knife on her throat. Mrs. Anderson heard a noise in the stairway and not seeing Mrs. Norman around opened the door and saw her drawing the knife across her throat; she was frightened and ran out doors where she fainted and fell. Miss Ellen Anderson, her daughter, who slept up stairs, started down the stairway about this time and saw Mrs. Norman standing there leaning forward and the blood running and saw her throw the knife down. She returned to her room frightened. About this time Will Lundgren and Swan Nelson came along, they entered the house and opened the stairway door finding the woman setting down and the blood running. They took her out and laid her on the kitchen floor. Physicians were sent for, Drs. Curran and Manson reaching the scene about 7:30, put the woman under the influence of opiates. They found a gash about three inches long, one inch deep, the wind pipe scratched but no large veins or arteries cut. They took eight stitches and left the woman in a fair way to recover. Quite a pool of blood was made on three steps of the stairway and the walls and doors spattered. The knife is also covered with blood. The knife was not very sharp. Mrs. Norman has been a widow for ten or eleven years, has a son about twenty five or six years of age, has worked for Sam Anderson five or six years. Her son visited her Thursday and told her not to worry over the loss of her money as she could come out and live with him and he would take care of her, so there is no doubt but what the loss affected her mind.

ELEVATOR BURNED.

Fire Discovered About an Hour After Heavy Flash of Lightning.

Fire Department Do Good Work

Skewis, Moen, Co., of Minneapolis elevator, formerly H. N. Douglass, and later St. John Bros., burned Friday morning and is a total loss, of at least $2,000, probably covered by blanket insurance, as this company owns elevators elsewhere. Fire supposed to have been caused by lightning. About ten-thirty Thursday evening there was a blinding flash of lightning and a heavy crash of thunder such as would lead a person to think something had been struck near by. Officer McCartney states he saw a ball of fire descend at this time in the vicinity of the elevator, and hunted up Will Boddy, who formerly had charge of it, and told him he had better keep watch of it, but was informed that he was not in charge and gave names of those who were. Mr. McCartney attempted to find the m, but without success. About 12 o'clock he saw a light flash from the cupola of the elevator, and at once gave the alarm, the whistle of locomotives in the yard commenced blowing about the same time, and in a short time the fire bell and the mocking bird whistle gave the alarm. The firemen were soon at the hose houses, but a heavy rain having fell for about two hours, and still raining, the streets were very muddy, however, in about ten minutes they had a stream on the building, but at this hour of night only a light pressure and not a very heavy head of steam is maintained at the power house, so the stream was not effective. Hoo-company, No. 2, were on hand as soon as possible, and four lines of hose were run. By this time a better pressure was given.

When the department arrived the cupola, the extreme top of the building was all ablaze in the inside and one side well burned through besides the fire had a good start towards the bottom of the building, so that the water made very little effect. As the fire burned down the outside of the main part and was past control on that building, the Swedish Mercantile elevator, about thirty feet distance, and in the path of the light wind that prevailed, began to smoke. The attention of the department was turned to this and here good work done. Two lines of hose was run around to the windward side, the boys getting so close that it was necessary for them to change often, in handling the nozzle, on account of the heat. Dave Anderson, Maurice Maxwell and a stranger, were between the buildings and where the heat from the fire blew directly on them, did praiseworthy work. How they stood it, many wondered. Finally the building fell in and time of danger to the other elevator passed. Every witness expressed many words commendation for the successful work done, also Mr. Grundsten, who was present. He removed all movable effects from the elevator.

After the danger to the Swedish Mercantile Elevator was past the firemen turned the water on the fire and quickly put it out. Nothing but the timbers remaining. The water was turned off about 1:45 a. m. An electric light pole burned so that the wire fell to the ground. Chief Mackay and a few others came in contact with it, and soon realized that it was a live wire.

The power house was a busy place during the fire. Supt. Garretson and electrician Myron Allen got up from their bed and assisted Mr. Helms and Graves who were on duty at the time. Both pumps were put into service at a fair speed but not the maximum. The well afforded plenty of water, which was turned on from 12:20 to 1:45. The water in the well was lowered to about fifteen feet at which point it remained the entire time. The two pumps using so much steam and the lights being turned on all over the town, it was found necessary to shut off the street light service.

Large burning cinders blew over Tuthill and the St. Croix Lumber companies yards and part of town but the rain that has fell, soaking everything and rain still falling no serious fires were started but those living in the path of the cinders were on alert. P. G. Johnson discovered a cinder about a foot long on the sheds of the Tuthill Lumber company, got after it and knocked it to the ground, or a blaze would have been started. A little blaze started on the roof of E. L. Schwartz house but went out.

Chief Mackay says they have none to much hose if anything more is needed. Had fire started anywhere else every piece would have been used and might not have had enough. The coal shed of Tuthills caught but was quickly put out.

If the power house finds that they are short of steam during a fire it would be better to turn off all light service than to fall short in pressure.

Chief Mackay says there was not an intoxicated person seen around, something unusual at a fire of this size. He had difficulty in getting the livery men to hitch up and take the apparatus back to the houses which seems rather strange as they would be paid for the work the same as if done for someone else.

There was about one hundred bushels of new flax in the elevator. The Worthington Mill Co., had three streams of water from their hose turned on the mill which got very hot.

Everyone says they heard the first toot of the whistle or sound of the bell.

E. W. Wakefield and Ben Frankhouser were in charge of the elevator. The former thinks the company will rebuild.
