To Remove Ink-Stains from Wood. There are two good methods of removing ink-stains from wood. (1) Mix nine ounces of concentrated sulphuric acid with one and three-quarter pints of water. Scour the stain thoroughly with water and sand, then pour some of the mixture upon it and rub until the stain has disappeared. (2) Apply strong muriatic acid (spirits of salts) with a piece of cloth. Afterward wash well.

The Senatorship.

The primary election is only two months off, and during the interim the voters of this legislative district will be called upon to make their choice for members of the house and senate. Last week Mr. S. B. Bedford, cashier of the Rushmore State Bank announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for state senator, after receiving assurance of support that justify expectations of success. Mr. Bedford is one of the substantial and best known business men of Nobles county. His reputation as a careful, conscientious and honorable man is of the very highest, and his personal character is most exemplary. He has always taken a lively interest in public affairs, but has never before been a candidate for office. He stands squarely on the Republican state platform, and is in hearty sympathy with the efforts of President Roosevelt to curb the illegal and oppressive operations of trust. Mr. Bedford believes in a square deal for all, and in the enactment and enforcement of equitable laws that will secure this. He believes in the abolition of all franchises and passes, and in a reduction of freight and passenger rates, to a more equitable basis, and that all public service corporations as well as all other property should bear their full share of the burdens of government.

Mr. Bedford has pledged himself, if nominated and elected, to represent his district to the best of his ability, and that he will faithfully discharge the pledge every one that knows him will vouch for, his word as good as a gold bond. As a banker in a small town his interests are those of his constituents. The prosperity of the farmers and merchants means his prosperity. His pledge is therefore fortified by self-interest, if that were needed.

Mr. Bedford is not a politician, and has no affiliation with the rings, cliques and interests that long have dominated the state to the oppression of the common people. He is of the people and will stand for the people, first last and all his time. His nomination and election would mark the beginning of a movement in his district for that kind of better government which President Roosevelt is working so strenuously for. He stands with Roosevelt for clean government and honorable citizenship.

If by giving a pass to one man the railroad can impose an additional tax of $10 per capita on 15,000 people is it not a good investment? The token of the pass is friendship for donors.

The coming session of the legislature promises to be very important in many respects, and the people should exercise the greatest care in selecting men to represent them. Vote for no one who is known to have entangling alliances with public service corporations.

The governor and others who have investigated the subject asserted freight rates are 50 per cent higher in Minnesota than they are in Iowa. This means that Nobles county farmers are taxed 50 per cent more to get their crop to market than their neighbors across the Iowa line. This condition will continue as long as the farmers continue to elect the friends of railroads to the legislature, and they have no one to blame but themselves.

Issue is Not Dead.

The state senate killed the anti-pass bill yesterday by a vote of 34 to 26. In so doing, the senators may have labored under the delusion that they were disposing of the pass issue. The fact is that the anti-pass campaign has just begun. It will not end until passes have been abolished, at least for public officials. The sentiment of the people at large favors the abolition of the pass evil, and it will make itself felt at the next primary election, when the voters come to nominate a new state senate.

The thirty-four senators who voted to kill the bill unshriven will find their vote rise up next year like Banquo's ghost, to confront them as they go before the voters for re-election. Their constituents are very likely to judge their entire records by their votes on this bill. In a sense this is unfortunate, because a handful of senators who are generally independent and fair in their action are recorded against the bill, while a few broke away from the famous "combination" and are recorded with the minority. However, the vote in the main is a good index of the general attitude of the senators. We reproduce it for reference purposes.

These senators voted to kill the measure:
Buck, Calhoun, Campbell, Collier, Collester, Comstock, Cowan, Dart, Dunn, Du Toit, Durant, Everett, Frater, Gjertsen, Hardy, Harrington, Hawkins, Horton, Laugen, Laybourn, Mausten, McNamee, Morgan, Peachey, Pugh, Rieke, Shain, Schutz, Shell, E. E. Smith, W. A. Smith, Stephens, Stone, Torson—34.

These voted to overturn the railroad committee and place the bill on general orders for discussion and amendment.
Alley, Barker, Batz, Benson, Brower, Cole, Dale, Eberhart, Fritpatrick, Jepsen, Johnson, Lord, McGill, McGuwan, Naeseth, Nichols, Peterson, Putnam, Schaller, Somerville, Sundberg, Thompson, Thorpe, Ward, Wilson, Withers—26.

Senators Cook, Swedback and Wood were not present.

The anti-pass question will come before a new state senate two years from now. The NEWER the better.

The Czar of Russia dissolved the duma and the country is under martial law. Great disturbances are imminent; in short the country is on the verge of a great civil war.

Russell Sage, the money king of Wall street, is dead. Sage's sole claim to fame is that he was the stingiest multimillionaire in America. He never failed to take all the law allowed him or to make his debtors pay to the last red cent. But there are no pockets in a shroud and Uncle Russell has left all of his $100,000,000 behind him.

The McCleary organs are tearfully imploring the people not to support Gutterson because his platform has democratic symptoms. A careful examination of the platform adopted by the republican state convention shows that it too has the same democratic symptoms that pervades Mr. Gutterson's platform. Really it is too bad that the whole party in the state has gone democratic, leaving Congressman McCleary as the one lone true standard of true Republicanism. Mr. Voter, doesn't it strike you that "your congressman" occupies a ridiculous position "out side the breastworks"?

From the Jackson county papers we learn that Editor "Jack" Woolstencroft, of the Heron Lake Times, is a candidate for the office of Judge of Probate in that county. Mr. Woolstencroft is not only a vigorous and aggressive editorial writer, who speaks his mind upon the issues before the people without fear or favor, but is a whole souled gentleman who would divide his last crust of bread with a suffering fellow being and as a consequence has a large number of warm personal friends who will use their best endeavors to place him in the position he seeks. As a long time resident of the county and a veteran of the civil war he has strong claims upon the people which should land the coveted office for him. We wish him success in his campaign.

A McCleary Bluff.

Congressman McCleary is busy spreading the report that if he fails of the nomination the Democrats will elect the congressman from this district. The situation is exactly the reverse of this. If McCleary is nominated by the Republicans W. S. Hammond of St. James, a prominent lawyer and independent Democratic politician will be the next congressman.

The Democrats are grooming W. S. Hammond, of St. James, to run for congress in case McCleary is nominated. But slippery James won't be nominated so the Dems. may as well save their powder. The Republicans have in Gutterson an able and conscientious man who will represent his district, and they will nominate and elect him.

Some weeks ago we asked Bro. Eastwood of the Heron Lake News to get down to facts in the congressional campaign and give us the record as to what Congressman McCleary has actually done in the way of the passage of measures in the interests of the people of the second Minnesota district, and his votes upon all questions that might affect them, directly or indirectly. Up to date we have not been supplied with the record, but presume Bro. Eastwood is busy preparing it. For fear he will overlook one important item we wish to refresh his memory as regards the infamous "mileage steal" measure which passed the house with the aid of Congressman McCleary's vote, but which was too plain a raid upon the treasury for the toughened consciences of the corporation senate and was killed by that body. For the benefit of those whose memory is short we recall the incident as related by the Chicago Record Herald:

"In the fall of 1903 congress was called in session a month earlier than usual, and only the time necessary for a gavel to rise and fall passed between the special and regular sessions.

"The next month an attempt was made to raid the national treasury by an appropriation for extra mileage for the regular session but not a single representative had the nerve to vote for it.

"Fifteen months later—after the congressional election and in the final days of that congress—a bill was passed appropriating $190,000 to be divided among the members of congress in proportion to the distance they reside from Washington.

"Out of 278 members ninety voted for the measure, eighty voted against it, and the rest shirked or were absent.

"It was as bald an attempt to loot the treasury as can well be imagined."

Had the bill succeeded in the senate. Congressman McCleary's share of the "steal" would have approximated $400 for the expense of a trip that he did not make and by no possibility could have made.

Here is a modern example of selling his birthright of honor for a mess of pottage which should not be overlooked in making up the record of "your congressman", Mr. Eastwood.

The Magnolia Advance has the following to say of the speech made by Mr. Gilbert Gutterson at the farmers' picnic held there last week: "Hon. Gilbert Gutterson made a clear practical talk to the people on the duties and privileges of the American Citizen, and the reasons why they should prize the gift of citizenship, given them by this government. His address was listened to with interest, and was replete with facts for the backbone of our nation, the farmer. Mr. Gutterson was the recipient of many congratulations by those present for his address."

Brewster Tribune: We take pleasure this week in publishing the announcement of S. B. Bedford, of Rushmore, as candidate for the Republican nomination for state senator from the Nobles-Murray district. Mr. Bedford is a man whom the district should delight to honor. We will more thoroughly introduce him to the people of this locality in some later issue, as lack of time and space prevent our doing so at this time.

how to tell a good investment; how to choose between real estate and stocks; how to choose your partners; how to protect yourself in case you should not care to hold an investment indefinitely; how to invest small sums and a hundred and one other things, which no person—man or woman—who is now investing small amounts or who can invest, should miss reading.

It is well printed in colors on good paper, artistically bound in a flexible cover. The illustrations were made by a well-known artist.

MY BOOK IS FREE!

The author of this book has been perfectly frank. He gives information of great value to bank depositors, stockholders in different enterprises, or to those who contemplate making an investment. It shows up "fakes" and "fakers," stock schemes are exposed. After reading it you will know how banks make "big money." Valuable advice is given on all kinds of securities. Inside information regarding some remarkable "rises" in stocks.

In short, it is a frank talk on Money Making. Words are not "minced." The cold, bare truth stands out in every line. I am going to give this book absolutely free. Just fill out the blank below and send it to me at once. Better do it now—this minute.
