FINANCES AND FAILURES. NEW YORK, August 11.--A special from London says rumors of financial depression are disturbing the financial market.

A number of tablets, written upon and carefully arranged in an ivory box, have been discovered in the ruins of Pompeii. They contain receipts for payments of money, and bear the consular date, with the name of the day and the month, and the amount paid. The tablets are evidently accounts, and from the way in which they are kept there can be doubt that the spot where they were found was the site of a Roman banker's house.

ANOTHER PAMPHLET FROM THE EX-EMPEROR. LONDON, August 11.--Mr. Gladstone has published another pamphlet, in which he discusses a different question relative to the Papacy, from that which formed the subject of his former pamphlet on Vaticanism. The present publication takes some strong grounds against the Papacy, and proclaims its incompatibility with the principles of the British and the Continent from that source. The pamphlet declares that the Papacy will seize the first opportunity, through bloodshed, to maintain its rule, and will, if necessary, even plunge the world into war. The new document of the Ex-Emperor is much discussed, and is calculated to revive religious conflicts raised by his first effort on this subject.

SPANISH ITEMS. MADRID, August 11.--A decree will soon be published in the Official Gazette, ordering a levy of 10,000 additional men for the purpose of speedily ending the war.

Announcements. The Grand Opera-house was again crowded to overflowing last evening by the elite, the Emerson's being still triumphant, as they deserve to be. No other troupe that has ever visited our city has done more than this to elevate the tone of minstrelsy, lifting it above the level of common variety shows. Upon every night of their performance the most refined and intelligent audiences that have ever graced the Grand Opera with their presence have crowded its seats and aisles, many being content even to obtain standing room.

The performing of the house and programme, though not essential to the success of a troupe like this, is quite a pleasing feature of the entertainment, being a step in the right direction, for which the people of Cincinnati should thank manager Mack. The performance needs no comment. To say that Billy Emerson's song and dance was without fault would be superfluous; or, to say that Arlington's stumpy speech was original and witty to the extreme, would be equally so. We can only say that Russell, Rice, Kumble, and, in fact, each and every one acquitted himself as only artists of world-wide reputation could do. Those who admire minstrelsy in its most amusing and refined character, should visit the Grand this week.

BASE-BALL. The Games Yesterday--The Games To-day--And Other Items of Interest.

The base-ball world that stood expectant yesterday over two coming games between the White Stockings and the Stars on the one hand, and the Milford and Red Stockings on the other, were doomed to disappointment. Both were failures in point of interest or brilliant play.

The game between the Stars and Chicago was especially devoid of interest, it being apparent from the start that the Stars had met a club that was their superior at every point. Blong's pitching was ineffectual against the batting of the Whites, who, in the second inning, scored eight runs; even Prather was not up to his usual standard of excellence, and Buchanan on third, though he played well, could not hold that point after Shoup's inimitable style. The following is the score by innings:

Innings..... 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9
Stars..... 0 0 1 0 0 2 3 0 0

The game between the Red Stockings and the Milfords was some little better than the above, but still the Reds felt sure of their victory and played in a careless and loose way that at one point gave the Reds a lead of three runs. The Milfords are not to be sneezed at, and some of our pampered professionals will have their nose, be it "Red" or "White," peeled completely off their feet by this same club one of these fine days. The score was as follows:

Innings..... 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9
Milfords..... 3 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 7

The Chicago's will play the Ludwigs this afternoon upon the grounds of the latter club.

The Cincinnati Amateurs and Cumminsville Blue Stockings will play to-day at the Blue Stockings' grounds.

The champion Boston play the Stars, in Covington, on Saturday next.

The Pioneer Base-ball Club has organized with the following members: Frank Camp, p.; Reuben Cronin, c.; Pat. Haley, s.; Jno. Stiles, 1st b.; Chas. Weldmore, 2d b.; Jakey Stiles, 3d b.; Geo. Stump, r. f.; Jakey Huicke, c. f.; George Leppert, l. f. President, Philip H. Taylor; Vice President, Daniel Sullivan; Water Carrier, Chas. Shroy.

Route 10 Completed. Route No. 10 to-day travels the entire length of its circuit from Fourth and Walnut to the East End of Chapel street, Walnut Hills, a distance of not less than three and a half miles.

This is a long needed improvement for the citizens of Walnut Hills have been fighting for more than a year, but the one great stumbling to Route 10, and to which, perhaps, the citizens are indebted for its speedy completion, was Route 13, which contemplates a circuit from the insolent plane, on Mt. Adams, across Walnut Hills to A. Vandale and return. The friends of this route have offered every opposition in the way of injunctions and injunctions to route No. 10, which only had the opposite effect of hastening its completion. The road is now completed and the citizens of Walnut Hills rejoice, though not, however, without some little self-reproach for having so long submitted to that time-honored and antiquated nuisance, the "bus."

Cincinnati, Lebanon and Xenia Railroad. The Directors of the Miami Valley Narrow-gauge Railroad Company held a meeting at the Burnet House yesterday afternoon, the committee appointed by the citizens of Norwood being present to confer with them as to making certain changes in the southern terminus of the proposed road.

A proposition was made to change the terminus from Bond Hill to Walnut Hills, so as to connect with Route No. 10 of the street railroad.

This road, when completed, will connect Xenia with the Dayton and Southeastern road, affording a great supply of the best coal from the coal fields of Southeastern Ohio, and opening one of the finest districts of the State for country homes.

This road will run from Xenia, Greene county, west and south through that county by Belbrook; thence due south to Waynesville, Warren county; thence southwest to Lebanon; thence southwest to Deerfield; thence southwest through the extreme southeast corner of Butler county, into Sycamore township, this county; thence due south by Sharon and Montgomery, into Columbia township; thence, perhaps, by Norwood into the city of Cincinnati, so as to connect with Street Railroad No. 10 on Chapel street.

Mr. Corbett, the defendant, was next sworn. Stated he was not acquainted with the plaintiff; never saw him, to his knowledge, until he was threatened with a suit by this man, at which time he employed this man, and he believed he had drawn some five weeks' pay from Mr. Corbett himself, as Mr. Corbett made out the way rolls himself, as Mr. Corbett made out the way rolls himself, and are then subjected to the Board of Improvements for their approval, and the money is paid by the City Treasurer or his assistant, the Assistant Commissioner under Mr. Corbett.

Mr. Bernard was called to the stand and stated that he was clerk of the Board of Improvements. Witness stated that when the question of employing or discharging the men then worked on the streets came up, that Mr. Corbett moved to discharge all men then employed upon the streets but was overruled. The order was instructed by a vote of the Board to go on with the work. A reference was made to the minutes of the Board which corroborated the statement of the Assistant Commissioner under Mr. Corbett.
