The Graphic's Washington special says it is reported in diplomatic circles that Minister Cushing has been ordered to notify the authorities at Madrid that the United States can no longer delay the recognition of belligerent rights to Cuba after the meeting of Congress early in December. Another report says Cushing has already given this notification, and that the energetic measures of Valmaseda and the arrival of reinforcements on the island are all parts of the Spanish scheme to reviviate the danger of American interference.

The weekly financial review of the events of the week in financial circles were unimportant, and indicated that the Stock Exchange, after a stubborn and prolonged resistance to the general improvement in the outside situation, had finally yielded to a more cheerful view of the future. It is undoubted that business affairs are steadily mending, and indications are that our more season is likely to bring about a restoration of general prosperity.

The present crop will realize: Cotton, $250,000,000; wheat, $280,000,000, and corn, $650,000,000. Gold and the silver products will realize $100,000,000 per annum. In addition to these we have the smaller grain crops of the West; the sugar of Louisiana; the rice of the Carolinas; the tobacco of the Middle, Eastern and Western States, besides an immense amount represented by hog and beef products. The money market was somewhat firmer last week, and the total loss in the Stock Exchange, with few exceptions, at four per cent. Exchanges were weak for the time, but towards the close were firmer.

A fire at ten o'clock last night in the printing office of Blakely & Brown, Fifth avenue, destroyed much material and printed matter, and damaged the machinery to a considerable extent. The edition of the latter, ready for issue, was burned, and a large number of electrotype plates and type destroyed. The Chicago Legal News, published on the first floor, suffered slight damage. The total loss is variously estimated at from fifteen to twenty-five thousand dollars, nearly all of which is covered by insurance.

The fire was occasioned by careless and drunken printers who were working at night.

The Western Union Telegraph Company, having exhausted every other means to prevent the wire of the Atlantic and Pacific Company from reaching St. Louis, have conspired with the St. Louis Bridge Company to keep the A. & P. from stringing its wires across the bridge under guise of law. Death from a Temperance Drink. ST. LOUIS, Oct. 25.--The instant death of Dr. B. F. Sherman and Samuel Parker, at Beaver, Missouri, Friday, was one of the most mysterious and horrible affairs ever known in this country. The two men left their homes at Macon, Missouri, in the morning and drove in a buggy to the neighboring town of Beaver. After ordering dinner they proposed to get a drink, but there being no saloons in Beaver they went to the drug store of Mr. Shanks, and asked Mr. Shanks, the only one present, for a drink. He replied that he had a private temperance drink that he drank himself. All three went into the next room, when Shanks produced a black bottle, from which he drank, and then handed it to the others. While the others were drinking, Mr. Shanks left them to attend upon a customer. Before he was through, Dr. Sherman and Mr. Parker passed out, and had not gone ten rods before both fell down, and in a few minutes expired. The bottle was found to contain hydrocyanic acid and whisky. No arrests.

One Frenchman gives to another the following French bit of advice: "Jacques, if you keep on quarreling with everybody who loves your wife, you will soon have no friends."

The Revivalists.

MESSRS. MOODY AND SANKEY COMMENCED THEIR WORK IN BROOKLYN.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 25.--The great revival was commenced by Moody and Sankey, the celebrated evangelists, yesterday, at the Brooklyn Rink. The hour for morning service was 8:30, but long before that hour every avenue of approach to the rink was lined with people in haste to secure admittance. Cars running on avenues in the vicinity were crowded with people, coming from all directions, and when services opened the rink was packed in every part.

Every one of the 5,000 chairs were occupied, and every bench and aisle in the gallery filled. Many were unable to get inside of the building and were turned away disappointed. The doors of the adjacent churches were thrown open and were soon filled. When the revival meetings were commenced at 8:30 A. M. Rev. Dr. Bunting appeared with Messrs. Moody and Sankey, and services were opened by singing from the book of Gospel hymns and sacred songs.

The singing was led by Mr. Sankey, who was seated at his cabinet organ at the left of a chorus of 250 vocalists. The vast congregation joined in the singing, and the building rang with the sound of music. Rev. Dr. Bunting offered a fervent prayer for the grand work. Mr. Moody then read a portion of the 13th chapter of Numbers.

At Mr. Moody's request Mr. Sankey sang Mr. Moody then took for a text the 30th verse of the 13th chapter of Numbers, and preached a short, earnest sermon, likening the majority of the people of the present day to the ten lepers of the tribes of Israel, who went up to the Land of Canaan, and who brought back word there were grubs there, and they could not take it, while the other two, Caleb and Joshua, said they could take it with the Lord's help. Their reports were like what are called, now-a-days, majority and minority reports. We should all believe we can take that beautiful place, and set ourselves fairly to work.

A large number of clergymen occupied the stage.

Brigham and Ann Eliza. SALT LAKE, Oct. 25.--In accordance with an order issued by Judge Bowman, of the Third District Court, Brigham Young appeared in Court, Saturday, by his attorneys, to show cause why he should not be punished for contempt in not paying the $95,000 ordered by Judge McKean, as alimony, pending litigation, to Ann Eliza Young, the plaintiff in this case. The Court adjourned till next Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, at which time Brigham Young is ordered to appear.

The Penbrooke Murder. SUN COOK, N. H., Oct. 25.--Considerable excitement prevailed here last night on account of the reports that the missing parts of the body of Miss Langmaid had been found in a closet on Le Page's premises. The detectives, however, deny the rumor. Many indications appear to point to the guilt of Le Page.

Of Course Not. The following, received by Mayor Johnston this afternoon, speaks for itself: "BOSTON, Oct. 25, 1875.--The Mayor or Treasurer of Cincinnati: Do you believe your city legally obligated for the payment of your city and Chattanooga road bonds? Do you believe that the interest or principal will ever be collected?" "MOSES WILLIAMS."

Another Land Mark Gone. One of our reporters, hastening down Main street this morning, was stopped by an old citizen and his attention called to some workmen who were removing the debris from a house that is being torn down to make way for a more modern structure.

"There's a house that for years was one of the most ornamental in Cincinnati," said the old citizen, "and for a long time occupied by Platt Evans."

The house in question is situated on the west side of Main street, between Third and Fourth streets, about midway the square, and almost opposite the Commercial Bank. It is a narrow, quaint two and one-half story building, with a front porch which always commands attention. Upon projecting pedestals flanking the two windows in the second story there were two figures.

The windows were of plate-glass, and said the old citizen, "they were, with one exception, the first plate-glass windows ever seen in Cincinnati. Platt Evans was the fashionable tailor of Cincinnati and occupied that building, and showed his goods and clothing through these windows for more than half a century."

He was the first man, too, to use the large stones for pavement now so generally in use.

This building, half a century ago, was the finest in the city, and which, for years back, has stood as might be termed a "land mark" in Cincinnati, is now being torn down.
