THE receipts of the Exposition of 1876 were over $30,000 less than that of 1875, but the expenses were nearly $50,000 less. Hence the thushness.

DANIEL KINNEY and Cornelius O'Connor, arrested for cruelty to animal (driving a horse with galled shoulders), were fined $5 and costs, by Judge Lindeman.

ARRANGEMENTS are making to transfer the Atlantic & Great Western Railroad cars to the Dayton Short-line instead of to the C., H. & D. Road. The cars will be lifted off the trucks of the broad-gauge road and those of the other.

THE proposed Hard-money Convention will probably not be held until after the report of the Secretary of the Treasury is made to Congress. The Board of Trade of this city has requested the New York delegation to fix the day of meeting.

THE second lecture of Dr. McCosh on "Powers of the Human Mind" was well attended last evening. The lecture was one of great interest, and evinced a thorough study of the subject, and a depth of thought seldom noted in public addresses.

THE Society of Natural History has elected the following members: Robert Bartholow, M. D.; W. W. Seely, M. D.; J. T. Whitaker, M. D.; Landon R. Longworth, M. D.; J. A. Bassford; John R. Hunter, and James Short, sr., of Paris, Kentucky.

THE poor old mother of Geo. Sauer, a harness maker on the Hamilton pike, 8th ward, arrested last night for a brutal assault, while drunk, upon his wife and mother, came into Court this morning and begged the Judge to let him off. He was put under bonds to keep the peace for a year.

JOHN MCCRACKEN, arrested last night charged with stealing a bolt of silk, 46 yards, valued at $108, from Mrs. Haggerty, on John street, between Third and Fourth, had a hearing in the Police Court this morning, and was bound over in the sum of $100. Mr. Haggerty recovered the silk from the thief before he was arrested.

Mrs. JULIANA FRINTZ, for nearly a half a century a resident of Cincinnati, the wife of one of the most prominent builders of thirty years ago, and the mother of the well-known citizen Capt. Lew Fritz, died at her home, on Buckeye street, yesterday, aged sixty-five. She was well known and beloved by all, and especially so among the poor, who constantly profited by her unostentatious charity.

Alarm from Box 64.

The alarm of fire from box 64 about half-past eight o'clock this morning was occasioned by a slight blaze in the chimney of a house, No. 94 Gest street, below Freeman, owned by Mr. McCune. The fire was extinguished before the engines arrived.

Mac, may the bright young flower you have taken from the parent stem, be worn proudly in your bosom, to all you come with the sweet fragrance of content.

The Gazette and its List of Thieves.

Hon. Richard Smith was on the stand in the Police Court this morning as a witness in the cases of the men charged with being known thieves, and which were published in his paper recently.

Mr. Smith handed the Judge a list of names who can be subpoenaed to testify as to the character of these men. Their names are Jas. L. Ruffin, Frank Mitchell, Larry Hazen, Fred Amphauer and Geo. Wood, formerly Superintendent of the Work-house.

One of the above—Amphauer—was on the stand this morning, but he didn't pan out anything. The names of the men published as thieves are Thos. Bottomy, William Dayton, George Westman and William Mills, all of whom were arraigned in Court this morning, and no evidence being offered sustaining the charges, were dismissed. It is rumored that another man, who has been branded in public print as a common thief, John Hill, by name, living in the West End, and who will be arrested, the same as the four above mentioned, intends to bring suit against the Gazette for defamation of character. Their counsel, T. C. Campbell, Esq., offered to allow the cases to be continued, and asserted that the men, whose names were handed up by Mr. Smith, could not produce one iota of testimony against their clients. One of them is a carriage blacksmith working at his trade in the city, and had never been arrested.

An immense ledge of isinglass (mica) has been found in the mountains in Snake river, Idaho. It is said to be one of the most valuable discoveries of the kind ever made.

What next? A sole-leather quarry, we presume.

HEMP AND WHISKY.

A Ninety-Thousand Dollar Fire this Morning.

A Book-keeper Narrowly Escapes with His Life.

The alarm of fire from box 13, at 9:20 this morning called the engines to a fire in the hemp and whisky establishment of Duckworth, Spence & Co., No. 45 West Second street. By the time the engines had arrived the flames, which originated in the cellar, had reached nearly to the fifth story of the building, and the whole establishment was enveloped in flames. The engines were at once put in position and the fight began. Another alarm was soon turned in, and more engines responded, and in a few moments half a dozen streams were playing on the fire from the front, and as much water was being poured in on the rear.

The firemen worked bravely. Chief McGree and his Assistants were on the ground at the earliest moment and directing the attack from every possible quarter. A large detachment of police were present to keep order, and succeeded in forcing the immense crowd back, keeping them away from the burning building.

The fire when first discovered was in the basement and first floor at the rear, and it is thought originated in some hemp which was piled there. Before an alarm could be turned in the blaze, fed by the whisky and hemp with which the building was stored, was mounting from one floor to another and enveloping everything in flames.

One of the proprietors and the book-keeper were in the office at the time. The book-keeper, Mr. H. P. Kennedy, immediately set about saving the books and closing the safe, but so rapidly did the flames spread that he was considerably scorched and his hair and whiskers burned before he had completed his task and managed to escape.

The flames soon spread to every part of the building, and in spite of every exertion of the firemen, completely gutted the entire establishment. Every floor was filled completely with whisky, distillery apparatus and hemp, and the flames licked up fiercely everything they reached. Nothing in the building escaped, and the loss will be almost total.

The first floor, where the fire originated, was filled in front with whisky barrels, and in the rear was piled with hemp from the floor to the ceiling. There were some seventy barrels of whisky on this floor, and the hemp in the rear occupied more than half the floor, and was closely packed. On the second floor was whisky in barrels, the whole floor being occupied, with not an inch of space to spare.

The 3d floor was used as the rectifying department, and on it was some valuable machinery and a large amount of whisky in tubs, with also some chemicals and other valuables.

The fourth floor was occupied by rectifying tubs filled with whisky, as was also the fifth. The whole of the stock of whisky was owned by the firm, Duckworth, Spence & Co., and nearly all the hemp also.

Some of the hemp had, however, just been received on commission.

The loss to the firm will be very heavy. They estimate it, near as it is possible to judge, at from $65,000 to $70,000.

The insurance is very light, and could not be definitely ascertained. Much of the stock had been very recently received, and was uninsured.

On a considerable part of the remainder the insurance had recently run out and had not been renewed. The opinion of those interested was that the insurance would not reach over $15,000, and the only risk definitely known of at present, is one of $2,500 in the Miami Valley.

The whole of the contents of the building, the safe and its contents excepted, are undoubtedly a loss.

In the adjoining building on the east, No. 43, is the Meader Furniture Company. This building is packed with fine furniture, and the loss will probably reach $10,000 to them, mostly from water.

The roof of the building was considerably burned, and the upper floors were necessarily flooded in checking the fire in the part occupied by Duckworth, Spence & Co.

The insurance of the Meader Company was altogether on their factory, and their loss here will be the full extent of the damage.

The next east, No. 41, is the firm of Putnam, Hooker & Co., dealers in twine and bagging. They are damaged about $1,000; fully insured.

On the west the firm of Pomeroy, Peck over & Co., in No. 47, lost about $3,000 by damage to their stove patterns. They are fully insured.

The building is owned by Mr. D. H. Taylor, or the "Taylor estate," and extends from the alley, No. 41, to the street beyond. The loss will probably reach $5,000 on the building.

The one store occupied by Duckworth, Spence & Co. was insured in the London Mercantile for $2,000, and the Grant for $2,000, and the Delaware $2,000.

An Earthquake.

Miggs insisted upon trying if one of the blocks in the Kimball House pavement was as long as himself, but Jones, who was trying to get him home, remonstrated:

"Oh, come along, old boy; what's the matter with you, anyhow?"

"Did you read your papers 'is mornin'?"

"Yes, I did," replied Jones.

"Read all 'bout zat (hic) earthquake at Memphis, eh?"

"Yes, but it wasn't much."

"Wuzn't, eh? (hic) 'member zat zykions 'at came 'long 'er las' spring?"

"Yes, I remember it."

"Well, zat zykions come by Memphis (hic) an' zat earthquake be 'ere, too, 'ors' yer (hic) know it—'er zat? An' I'm goin' lay down 'fore it comes, 'cause (hic) yer don't ketch 'is oblie bukian' 'gint no earthquake—(hic) 'er zat?"

Just then Miggs' foot struck the corner of a step and he rolled down a cellar stairs.

"Are you hurt?" called Jones.

"Re yer hurt yourself—(hic)—ye darned fool? Didn't I tell yer zat earthquake wuz a comin', eh? 'I hadn't got down 'ere 's quick 'I'd bin shock' (hic) alter pieces, see?"

And then he laid down and went to sleep.

The Paris correspondent of the London Daily Telegraph writes to that journal: "There is rejoicing in the Police over the capture of a droll scoundrel who has long given them work to do. This fellow hung around the Lyons railway station about evening time. On catching sight of a traveler who looked simple, he made acquaintance in a lony spot, and mysteriously offered to sell patent watch-gains or amazing beauty and incredible strength. 'Try it,' said he; 'you're a fine man, but even you can't break my chain.' So the chain was twisted round the fine man's wrists, and snapped to. While he struggled with it the vendor would calmly lay him flat, take all valuables, and make off. For years this ruffian has been playing his ingenious game, going sometimes into the country. One night lately, at the Lyons Railway, he found a victim, chained him up, plundered him, and ran away. But the countryman chanced to be particularly strong and swift. He broke the handcuffs, and he caught the thief."

Don't forget to say "good morning." Say it to your wife, children, friends and fellows, employers and employes—and say it cheerfully and with a smile. It will do them good, and do them good all day. There is a kind of inspiration in every "good morning," heartily and smilingly spoken, that helps to make hope fresher and work lighter.

A writer in the London Times is apprehensive that American manufacturers of steel goods will crowd out English manufacturers in their own market. Several United States firms are establishing branch factories in England, and the fear is growing that this practice will increase to a very damaging extent.

How strangely it sounds, to be told, that only fifty-three years ago, a first-class engineer had to persuade the directors of a railway company to use steam on their road, instead of horses! And that, too, not in the heart of savage Africa, or of half-civilized Asia, but in England.

The Buffalo Express says: "If all the gold in the world were welded into one solid cube, one side of the cube would measure only twenty-three feet. It isn't much of a lump, to be sure, but we should like to play with it a day or two."

Young women are advised to set good examples, because young men are always following them.

NOT SURPRISED. When we consider the little attention which is paid to the laws of health, by the citizens of our country, we can not be surprised at the indifference manifested by them to the purity of the articles that are used in their daily food. If all articles put upon the market were like Dr. Price's Flavouring Extract and Cream Baking Powder this indifference might answer, their perfect wholesomeness would insure us against all evil consequences. When you want a flavoring extract or a baking powder, ask for Dr. Price's, you will soon be convinced that for strength and excellence they have no equal.

FASHION NOTES.—Fur collars are little worn by ladies this season, and this will give rise to many severe coughs and colds. Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is a certain and safe cure in every case. Price, 25 cents.
