NEW HAMPSHIRE.

Speculations and Notes About To-day's Election.

CONCORD, N. H., March 14.—There is great excitement in this city over the State election. Last night it had reached a high pitch. The hotels are crowded with prominent politicians from this city and other States discussing the probable result of the election, and bets are running high on the chances of electing this or that candidate. Ballies were held last evening, and the Republicans were addressed by Hon. H. O. Fratt, of Iowa, and Wm. V. Frye, of Maine, and the Democrats by John H. George, of this city.

The present campaign has differed from that of last year, being more secret on both sides. As usual, large amounts of money have been expended by both parties, and voters are obtained at high prices. The Republicans, according to prospects at this hour, will elect their candidate for Governor, Hon. P. C. Cheney, of Manchester, by a fair majority. But while the Democrats concede the election of Governor to the Republican party they have high hopes of obtaining a majority in the Legislature.

The town of Harts, which held its election yesterday, elected a Republican Representative for the first time in the history of the town, and Republicans feel much encouraged by this.

MANCHESTER, N. H., March 14.—This city is alive with political excitement, and voting commenced very lively. The Republicans hope to carry the city by a considerable majority, notwithstanding the alleged frauds by Democrats in the Fifth Ward. It is reported that a large number of repeaters arrived on the trains last night; also several detectives, from Boston, Lowell and Lawrence.

By American Press Association to the STAR.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Mr. Geo. H. Pendleton was prepared to appear and testify before the Committee on Expenditures of the War Department yesterday, but his examination was postponed until to-day, at which time it is expected Gen. Boynton will have returned.

The committee want to ascertain from him who his authority was for the statement that a large sum of money, as alleged, was paid to the Bowers estate.

Mr. Hallett Kilbourne persists in the refusal to produce his books and papers before the Committee on District Real Estate Pool, and he will therefore probably be taken to the Bar of the House to answer for contempt.

The Secretary of the Treasury sent to the House a communication inclosing a letter from Collector Comly and the Appraiser of Merchandise at Philadelphia, asking an increase of force at the Custom-house, in order to protect the revenue in consequence of the large number of packages now arriving for the Centennial.

The present force is now so small that there is great danger of fraud. Unless the present force is increased the Collector fears that much of the goods arriving will have to be deposited in bonded warehouses. The Secretary recommends an appropriation for additional force, as he has no fund out of which to pay them.

Mr. Baker, of Indiana, caused a good deal of excitement on the Democratic side of the House by offering a resolution, declaring in substance that the United States constitutes one nation, and not a confederation; that no State had the right to judge of the constitutionality of laws passed by Congress, or to nullify the same, and that the late war of the Rebellion was causeless and indefensible.

No discussion was permitted for Mr. Baker to suspend the rules, and the Democrats were not well pleased to be upon record in that way. A resolution was received on the majority vote, but it was defeated, as two-thirds were required. The following Democrats voted with the Republicans in favor of the resolution, viz: Messrs. Ainsworth, of Iowa; Chittenden, of New York; Durand, of Michigan; Goodin, of Kansas; Hamilton, of Indiana; Hardenburgh, of New Jersey; Raymond, of Indiana; Jenks, of Pennsylvania; Kehr, of Missouri; New, of Indiana; Phelps, of Connecticut; Potter, of Michigan; Powell, of Pennsylvania; Vasa, B. Kelly, Pennsylvania; Teese, of New Jersey; Vance, of Ohio, and A. S. Williams, of Michigan.

Nearly all those classed as independents also voted aye. The vote was comparatively light, not because there was a vast deal of squaring and dodging most of the Northern Democrats being apparently afraid to face the issue.

There is a good deal of humbug about this effort every Monday to place men on the record on all manner of resolutions. Nevertheless use is made of
