SOUTHERN RAILROAD ITEMS.—The first turn-table placed in position on the road was duly inaugurated yesterday morning about 10 o'clock by Roadmaster Carroll, in the presence of Superintendent Webster and many other officers of the road. The table made its first practical revolution bearing the handsome weight of engine No. 1, and turned with ease by a few men. The work showed itself to be a fine piece of engineering and mechanical skill. Shortly after the table test the full board of Southern Railroad Trustees, headed by the patriarchal and venerable R. M. Bishop, closely followed by A. E. Ferguson, Esq., Mr. Greenwood, the President of the Board, and the two new members, who, after taking a good look at the yard, its improvements, buildings, &c., had a low split-bottom chair placed in a car and hitched on to a dirt train, and thus those five gentlemen and their ubane Superintendent made a tour of observation to see for themselves. The road has proved itself to be proof against winter dampness, as much as our first-class old roads in the country. The Trustees returned here in the evening quite elated at their success and the few remarks they made on the road and its fine improvements, which have been very good on adding files; however, it is most certain the road is in No. 1 condition.

LOVELAND.

A temperance revival has begun here. The pastor of the M. E. Church preached a stirring temperance sermon Sunday evening, and last evening Dr. Dalton, of Cincinnati, held a large audience in full sympathy with his subject.

The Doctor does not travel in the beaten path of temperance lectures generally, but deals vigorously with fundamental principles in a most convincing and attractive manner. It is to be hoped the movement thus begun will sweep from our corporation the entire liquor traffic and save the unfortunate drinkers.

The Berger Family and Sol. Smith Russell are nightly drawing very fine houses, but no better than they deserve. The entertainment is without doubt one of the most elegant and pleasing ever offered to the public.

"Maritana" Last Night.

The second of the operas promised by Professor Jannotta was rendered last night. "Maritana" was the opera, with the following cast: "Maritana," Miss Lulu Stevens; "Lazarillo," Miss Valentin De Polgro; "Don Cesar," Mr. J. C. McClanchin; "D. Jose," Mr. Chas. J. Coleman; "King," Mr. Herman Merrill; "Captain," Mr. Chapman Johnson; "Marquis," Mr. Geo. A. Fites; "Marchioness," Miss Lizzie Newton; "Alcald," Mr. Ben. F. Hall.

There were some detentions, but the audience, a very large one, was good humored and enjoyed everything, even the wailing. Miss Lulu Stevens was suffering from a severe cold, but she sang the gems of the opera with great sweetness, and acted the part of "Maritana" especially in the first two acts, admirably in spite of several embarrassing circumstances. Miss De Polgro was heartily welcomed by her host of admirers. Her full, sweet rich voice rung out with its wondrous clearness, and the enthusiastic applause and beautiful floral tributes which she received were all honestly earned. She will up in her part. This unfortunately can not be said of all the cast.

Mr. McLaughlin sung and acted the very difficult part of "Don Cesar" in a highly creditable manner. He showed himself able to fully master the character, and with a little more time spent in the role, he would have been a perfect success. The audience was not only large but was one of the most brilliant ever seen in this city. The public appreciate fully these entertainments and understand all the difficulties that surround them. That the two given by Prof. Jannotta have been so well received should encourage other efforts in the same direction. Prof. Jannotta, Mr. W. F. Helmick, and others who interested themselves to bring about these successes, deserve, as they receive, the hearty thanks of all lovers of music.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 8.—The Sultan has been petitioned to give Midhat Pasha a constitutional trial.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—The Queen's speech in the opening of Parliament to-morrow, praises the Marquis of Salisbury's conduct both at the conference and at Constantinople. It expresses regret that the Porte declined the proposals of the Powers, because they were not inconsistent with the honor, or prejudicial to the interests of Turkey, and because they would have restored peace to Europe.

The Queen says the object of England throughout the Turkish negotiations has been to maintain the peace of Europe without infringing upon the integrity or independence of Turkey. She expresses the hope that an honorable peace will be concluded between Turkey and its principalities before the expiration of the armistice. England has acted in a cordial co-operation with her allies.

Scarlet Fever.—Railroad Sale.

National Associated Press to the Star.

CHICAGO, Feb. 8.—Twenty-five cases of scarlet fever were reported yesterday and five deaths. It seems to be abating in those sections where at first it was most prevalent.

Its complete eradication is but a question of time and care, but the Commissioners say if the schools are to be used as a means of conveying diseases from one child to another there is no telling when it may advance nor when be stamped out.

The best-tempered man in the world will become a little excited when his wife drops the roast beef in his lap; and so no matter how religiously inclined he may be, he doesn't generally burst into a hymn of thanksgiving.

Two sable philanderers took shelter under the same tree during a heavy shower. After some time, one of them complained that he felt the rain. "Nebber mind," replied the other, "dere's plenty of trees. When dis un is wet through we'll go to de oger."

A cheerful temperament is a good thing, but in the grassy district. A man writes to the "Sibley (N.Y.) Gazette": "As we sit by our bright bay fire and think of men back in the timbered country who are obliged to haul wood in the cold weather we're glad we escaped such a dog's life."

"Is my breakfast ready?" said an impatient young man who was trying to get his morning meal at a beer saloon. "Don't know, but the waiter says: 'Will you wait up and see?'" "Heaven's no!" don't do that. I ordered sausage, and if you whistle you'll have the whole pack down."

Man is generally pleased with any little attention that any of his kind can or may offer him. He likes his wife to find his hat and bring it to him, he is pleased when his sister fastens on his collar, and charmed when his daughter helps him on with his overcoat, but it does make him powerful mad to have a boy come coasting along behind him and take off his overshoes with a hand-sled.

Norwich Bulletin: A correspondent asks why we do not publish more original poetry. One reason is, that writers are too apt to confine themselves to thirty or forty verses, and give the sentiment no opportunity to expand. What outpour demands are expansion and large hand-writing while kindling-wood is so high.
