Hackett's Funeral.

National Associated Press to the Star.

MONTREAL, July 16.—This morning the St. George's Society decided to walk in the Hackett funeral procession. Resolutions were passed condemning the Mayor for criminal negligence. The Orangemen from the city in large numbers came to the funeral. The whole military force has been ordered out.

That Spanish Outrage.

National Associated Press to the Star.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—A communication relative to the outrage on the schooner Rising Sun has just been received here from the Deputy Collector's office at the port of Provincetown. The story is about the same as already published.

The letter describes the firing at the Rising Sun, the arrest of Capt. Taylor, and the detention of the cutter for five days, until the arrival of a Spanish war steamer, whose commander ordered his release.

The particulars of the arrest and confinement of Capt. Durham of the schooner Ellen Despatch, are also given. The Secretary of State has received a copy of the letter.

WASHINGTON.

That Mining Region Excursion.

National Associated Press to the Star.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—The visit of Secretary Everts and Attorney General Devens, in company with Mr. Keim, to the agricultural and mining regions of East Pennsylvania, promises to be an interesting affair, as it is intended to be of entirely a social character. The private car of Col. Thomas Scott, which has been placed at the disposal of the party, will be attached to the 9:27 Limited EX-press this morning as far as Baltimore.

At this point it will be detached and a special engine will convey the car to Philadelphia via York, Columbia and Lancaster. This will enable the party to view the agricultural district of the valley of the Susquehanna. At Philadelphia the guests will be entertained at the Centennial Hotel for the night, and will dine privately with Col. Forney and his family.

At 9:30 Tuesday morning the party, with the addition of Forney and Mr. Lorenz, representing the Reading and Road Company, will leave Philadelphia in the steam coach Alce, which has been placed at the disposal of Mr. Keim, and will proceed up the beautiful Schuylkill Valley to Reading, where they will lunch, and thence will visit

Allentown, Bethlehem, the Valley of Lehigh, Mauch Chunk, and the anthracite basins of the Lehigh and Schuylkill regions. That night they will stop at Mt. Carbon, in the heart of the coal regions. They will be received by prominent citizens at the Miners' Journal office at Pottsville. On Wednesday the party will visit one of the principal coal mines, and at 3:30 P. M. they will reach Reading, where the party will take car-rings to Edgemont, where they will be the guests of Mr. Keim. In the evening there will be a reception by the citizens at Reading, and a receptional entertainment by the Edgemont Band on the grounds at Edgemont.

Thursday morning the party will take a drive to the interesting localities in the vicinity and afterwards take a special car through the Lebanon Valley, to the Cornwall mines, near Lebanon, and thence to Harrisburg, where they will be entertained at lunch by Senator J. D. Cameron. They will leave by Col. Scott's car for Washington, arriving at 9 P. M. on Thursday.

Why Mr. Bigelow is Recalled.

It is the purpose of the Secretary of the Treasury to materially reduce the expenses of the United States Financial Agency at London. With this view, as already stated in these dispatches, Mr. Bigelow has been recalled. No successor to Mr. Bigelow will be appointed. Mr. Conant will remain in London in charge of the Agency.

More Mexican Wavering.

Official advices from General Ord state that General Trevino, by direction of the Government, has withdrawn from the agreement entered into between them in regard to the co-operative movements against Mexican cattle raiders. The effect of this withdrawal will be to give force to the previous instructions to Trevino, to resist any attempt on the part of the American commander to pursue raiders across the border by armed force. The papers have been referred to the Secretary of State, and the subject will be a matter of immediate consideration. There will be no change in the policy of the Government in regard to the manhandling band. The Mexicans will either have to see that their raiders are prevented from crossing the border, or take the responsibility of any attempt to oppose the United States forces in carrying out instructions given General Ord.

WASHINGTON, July 14, 1877.

We have all sorts of picnics, excursions and gatherings these days, and now last of all come

THE STATE GOVERNORS,

who are to have a "big talk" at the "City of Brotherly Love" on the 25th of next month. They propose to assemble, all the Governors of the States and Territories of the Union to exchange views in relation to the financial, commercial and industrial interests and prospects of their respective commonwealths. There will also be present a number of the Cabinet, and possibly the President will run up and take a peep at the gubernatorial show before it adjourns. They will visit the Centennial Grounds, all points of interest in the city, will have a public reception at Independence Hall. On Saturday they will go to Cape May, take a sniff of fresh air, and on Sunday, and take a drive to the city and broiled lobsters. They will

New York will furnish them with mince-pies and cocktails, and if they can stand anything after this, Boston will set up for them in her most approved style. Of course they will come to

Washington before they disband, and the exciting talking what will be done here with the festive throng. They will not show in my more dignified or boned-looking men than Ohio's Governor, the pride of Cincinnati, Governor Tom Young.

OFF FOR THE MINES

Secretary Everts, the Attorney General and some newspaper men are going next week to take a run through the coal regions of Eastern Pennsylvania, to see the condition of affairs there. We hope they will keep away from the "Mills of the Lord" region, or we may have two vacancies in the Cabinet.

TWO OF A THOUSAND.

A sad case occurred yesterday at the Government printing-office. A lady made application for employment. She had been dismissed in disgrace, was an accomplished musician, and spoke English, French and German with fluency. The superintendent, greatly embarrassed by the application, told her he had to work in his office, but she would be glad to work in his office, and she would be glad to work in his office, and she would be glad to work in his office.

At the conclusion of the banquet a grand ball was given, at which the elite of the city were present. Jesse Grant opened the dance with an American lady.

UNHEALTHY ATMOSPHERE.

Perkassoff has telegraphed the Government that the Russian troops are unable to stay in B. Yazid, as the atmosphere is so infected by the dead warren are lying exposed in large numbers.

THE Cossack ADVANCE.

LONDON, July 16.—A dispatch from Bucarest says that the Cossack advance has crossed the Balkans, and now occupy the valley of Sandja. They have penetrated the country as far as Jen Sadergh, a railway station halfway between Fendobly and Adrianople.

REVOLTING ENMASSÉ.

Dispatches from this city say that the Caucasian tribes are revolting en masse, and are massacring the Russians. Only one road is now open to this.

A telegram from Ekzerum says that Ismael Pasha has invaded Georgia near Ervan.

RUSSIAN DEFEAT.

A dispatch from Pera states that the fighting at Pleurova resulted in the retreat of the Russians, Osman Pasha occupying the positions.

THE TURKS OVERMAN.

LONDON, July 16.—A dispatch from Bucarest says that ten thousand Russians are reported as having attacked Jeni Sadergh, which was defended by two battalions of Turks. The battle lasted all day Sunday. Turkish reinforcements are on their way to that place. The Russians have no field guns. The Turkish communications are insecure. The Turks were taken completely by surprise, and great consternation ensued. They supposed that the Balkans had been crossed via K. zin.

South America.

PANAMA, July 4.

Colombia—Our war is over. The guerrilla parties have all, one after another, submitted to the pro-ponderating power of the General Government. The fear of a discord in regard to our late elections have not thus far been realized. The elections are to take place this month, but as the candidates are Chamber street, between Daniel Murphy and Mike Cahill, Murphy struck Cahill on the head with a brick, crushing in his skull, inflicting injuries from which he died soon after. Murphy was arrested.

Silk Smuggler Escapes.

James Walker, storekeeper of the steamer Canada, of the National Line, who was arrested two weeks ago to complicity in the silk smuggling frauds, has escaped. He confessed to smuggling about one hundred barrels of silk and fifteen barrels of lace. He had been confined in Ludlow-street Jail in default of $10,000 bail. Assistant District Attorney Foster afterwards consented to his release on $1,000 bail. The day after his release he sent word to his bondsmen that he was going to leave the country, and yesterday it was learned that he had escaped to Liverpool a week ago.

Courtesy Recovering.

Courtesy is slowly recovering from the effects of a drug administered in his case Saturday. His physician yesterday gave him an antidote for arsenic and he then began to improve, but can not eat. He says he will run Riley at any time but only for money. He says he will never run on Greenwood Lake.

American Rifleman.

To-morrow the first of the four competitors for places in the team to represent America in the international long-range match for the Centennial trophy will take place at Creedmoor. The match will practically be a contest for the championship between Great Britain and this country, as the mother country has accepted the challenge of the National Association this year. It is probable that the personnel of the American team will differ somewhat from that which contested for the prize last year. The old rifleman who have hitherto denied all long-range shooting have been distanced at nearly every match this season, and some of them will no doubt be left out of the team this year.

PARA, July 16.—Lieutenant General Mehemud Ali, with his army, has left the eastern frontier of Montenegro, and is marching toward Grevica. The Prince of Montenegro has ordered several battalions to concentrate near Nicosia to besiege it.

FRANKFORT ON-MAIN, July 16.

The dinner given in honor of General Grant, on Friday evening, at the Palm Garden, was a splendid affair. The Burgomaster presided, and the banquet was beautifully illuminated and decorated. One hundred and twenty guests, including all the prominent officials of the town, the officers of the garrison and leading citizens, were present.

After the toasts of the Emperor and President Hayes had been proposed and duly drunk and responded to, Henry Seligman, the bank's representative, proposed to the guests to give a magnificent ovation to the general who had so bravely defended the city of Frankfurt for the confidence it placed in the Union during the late civil war. He concluded by drinking to the welfare and prosperity of the city. At the conclusion of his short speech the general was given a magnificent ovation. The guests rose to their feet and cheered lustily, and the crowd outside, numbering six thousand people, caught up the cheers, and were enthusiastic in their demonstrations of welcome.

At the conclusion of the banquet a grand ball was given, at which the elite of the city were present. Jesse Grant opened the dance with an American lady.

PHILADELPHIA, July 16.—The jewelry store of M. E. Dickson, N. 37 South

Eighteenth street, was discovered by thieves and robbed of diamonds and jewelry to the value of from $15,000 to $20,000. Upon examination by the police it seems that the burglars made an entrance by forcing a padlock on the cellar-door of No. 37 South Eighth street.

They then broke through the partition and cellar walls into the jewelry store, where it was found the front of a safe, a sheet-iron one, had been torn off, and all the diamonds, watches, etc., contained in it, carried away.

Stabbed by a Cincinnati Printer.

National Associated Press to the Star.

EVANSVILLE, July 16.—Mrs. Hobbs, wife of James Hobbs, was stabbed and instantly killed last night. A fight occurred in a house of ill fame next door. Mrs. Hobbs ran to see what was the matter, when a man rushed out and stabbed her. Hobbs' husband, saw the deed, but he is so prostrated as to be unable to tell about it. It is supposed she was mistaken for one of the girls. Frank Marsh, cook of the steamer Ideolite, is under arrest, and Woods is believed to be the person who did the cutting.

SANITARY INFLUENCE OF TREES.

The value of trees, in a sanitary point of view, in large and overcrowded cities, can scarcely be over-estimated. Apart from the sense of relief and coolness which they impart, their influence is purifying. It has been calculated that a good-sized elm, plane or linden tree will produce seven hundred thousand cubic feet of oxygen in a year. The competent authority above quoted proceeds to show that not only do the leaves absorb deleterious gases, but they exhale oxygen. They act, therefore, by the benefit of an over-crowded and unhealthy district. When to this it is added that trees modify temperature, promoting coolness in summer and warmth in winter, also that they purify the soil below as well as the atmosphere above, we have a very powerful sanitary argument for tree planting.—(London Paper.)

A Chicago man's young wife entertained him with selections from Wagner, after which he expressed himself resigned to go to bed, where he slept very soundly. Toward midnight he awoke in the back yard and yowled indignantly. The sleeper did not get up and throw boots at him, but turned on one elbow and whispered in his dreams: "Sing it once more, Evira, sing it once more." She sings it no more, neither anything else, but thinks of beating her piano into a lullaby and turning her music book into curl papers.

A physician was seen yesterday ordering a new $250 buggy. "Why, doctor?" exclaimed an acquaintance, "isn't that an extravagant purchase for these dull times?" "Possibly," replied the doctor, "but you, you know, the green apple and watermelon season is about beginning."—(N. Y. Com. Adv.)

It is not expected there will be any trouble. The canal scheme has been stirred up again. Mr. W. S. the chief of the late expedition, is expected back shortly. The canal will be built if the Colombian Government and people make concessions. The Colombian will be displeased if Consul Long and Captain Crocker, the Vice Consul, are removed. We have never had better men than these two fine American representatives.

Peru—The excitement in Peru growing out of the Suab-Huascar combat has subsided.

The Peruvian Government proposed to demand satisfaction from the English. A member of the Chilean Congress has interrogated his Government, asking why the Chilean squadron was not directed to seize the Huascar when in Chilean waters.

Ecuador—Hopes are still entertained of an overthrow of President Vientenilla's Government; but the President is firm, and his enemies are not strong enough to depose him yet.

Irish News.

[From Late Dublin and Cork papers.]

The Irish Privy Council—a meeting of the Privy Council was held on Monday in the Council Chamber, Dublin Castle. There were present the Lord Chancellor, the Vice-Chancellor, Judge O'Muir and Judge Fitzgibbon. The Solicitor-General was in attendance.

Disentailing—Vice-Chancellor Chatterton on Monday pronounced judgment in the Montgomery suit, which has been several days before the Court at Dublin.

The question was whether Mr. Montgomery, an old gentleman, had mental capacity to execute a disentailing deed by which a large property in Antrim was transferred to another branch of his family. The Vice-Chancellor pronounced the deed invalid. Notice of appeal is given.

Mr. Biggar, M. P., and His Constituents—The Cavan County Farmers' Club, the body which was principally instrumental in returning Mr. J. G. Biggar to Parliament, have called a county meeting, to be held on the 31st of July, to express their opinion upon the "obstructive" policy of the honorable member in the House of Commons, which, it is stated, is opposed to the opinion of the majority of his constituents.

The trial of the criminal information against Mr. John Sarsfield Casey, at the suit of Mr. Patton's Bridge, was opened on Saturday, before the Lord Chief Justice of the Queen's Bench, but was stopped in limine, and can not be proceeded with until November. Mr. O'Brien, for the defendant, raised the objection that the proceedings by which the case had been sent for trial before a special jury were contrary to law, inasmuch as the jury in a criminal case should be struck under the old system.

The Lord Chief Justice left the bench at that point, and some of his learned colleagues. On returning he announced that he felt obliged to yield to the objection.

The Dunbar election has resulted in the return of Mr. O'Donnell by a majority of eighteen over Matthews, the numbers being one hundred and thirty-two and one hundred and nineteen.

There was great excitement throughout the polling, and the result was received with much enthusiasm, but there was no disturbance of peace.

THE CITY'S GUESTS

Arrival of the Southern Excursionists.

The Reception On 'Change To-day.

The Charleston, S. C. South Carolina, excursionists who came here as the guests of the "Paris of America" (that name as applied to this city will stick) arrived on the steamer General Lytle, between 6 and 7 o'clock this morning, and took up quarters at the Grand Hotel, being escorted there by the Chamber of Commerce Committee, who accompanied the party from Louisville, where they went to meet them, arriving Sunday morning.

The names of the party as registered at the Grand are as follows:

S. Y. Tupper, President Chamber of Commerce, insurance; B. G. Pinekey, cotton merchant; W. L. Trenholm; F. McInerney, editor Zeitung; Jacob Small, President German Bank; A. Rose, planter; H. T. Williams, cotton merchant; T. P. Lowndes, insurance; P. Macqueen, wholesale grocer; B. F. Moore, wholesale druggist; J. N. Kobson, wholesale grocer; S. S. O'Brien, wholesale grocer; R. M. Marsball, exchange broker; Lee Howard, cotton merchant; Samuel Wragg, insurance; G. Von Koenig, wholesale grocer; G. S. Schurmer, rice merchant; W. S. Hastie, Jr., broker and insurance agent; B. F. Huger, snuffing merchant; J. C. H. Chauven, flour merchant; W. B. Burden, cashier Bank of Charleston; R. S. Calcutt, merchant; C. McKinley, city editor News and Courier.

The distinguished party were welcomed on behalf of the city by Capt. C. M. Holloway, who in a delicious and cordial little speech threw open the gates of the city, as it were.

At a quarter past 11 o'clock this morning the guests were waited upon at the Grand by the Reception Committee, and taken in carriages to the Chamber of Commerce. The room had been gayly decorated with the National bunting, and presented a fine appearance. At the entrance to the Chamber, shields bearing the State mottoes of Ohio and South Carolina, one on either side, were displayed. A large number of merchants were present to add to the interest of the occasion, and the visitors were warmly welcomed by them.

When the gong had sounded calling the attention of the vast throng, Hon. Benj. Eggleston, President of the Chamber of Commerce, mounted the platform, which by the way was profusely decorated with the national emblem, and welcomed the guests in a neat speech as follows:

"GENTLEMEN—We have with us, today, a delegation of distinguished gentlemen from Charleston, S. C., representing the Chamber of Commerce of that city. I bespeak for them your courtesy and kind attention while they remain with us.

"Mr. President of the Charleston Chamber of Commerce, I am pleased to meet you and your associates, and, as the representative of the Cincinnati Mercantile Exchange, to bid you welcome, and to assure you that all we can do to make your visit pleasant and agreeable will be cheerfully done.

"You come comparatively strangers to many of us; before you leave us we propose to become intimately acquainted with you.

"We welcome you as the representatives of the mercantile banking and manufacturing interest of Charleston. We welcome you as citizens of South Carolina, yet, more, we welcome you as citizens of the United States of America, the greatest country on the globe; washed on the east and west by the two great oceans, and on the south by the Gulf of Mexico; extending to the ocean of the great lakes, and on the north, with its large navigable rivers running in all the States; checkerboard with broken lines of railroads from center to circumference; with a soil that produces everything that the appetite desires, with a climate unsurpassed, with a country, an asylum for the oppressed of all nations, it is indeed

"The land of the free and the home of the brave."

"As citizens of the Palmetto State we welcome you to the borders of the Buckeye State. As residents of an ancient and renowned city, we welcome you to the growing and blooming City of Cincinnati. We welcome you as citizens of the West; and our wishes are, that when you and your associates return to the land of cotton and flowers, that you may say of Cincinnati as the Queen of the South, 'Behold, the soil was not told me!'"

At the conclusion of Mr. Eggleston's remarks that gentleman introduced Mr. S. Y. Tupper, President of the Charleston Chamber of Commerce.
