E. W. Buntzler, a few evenings since went to the residence of prominent city official and secured the writs out of the inmates by telling them a ghost story. Pomfrey is either crazy or has some bad intent in acting this way. The best thing to do with Pomfrey is to cage him.

City Council should adopt some regularity about the Jail Physician. Wittenbrink is influenced by some alleged Democrats, who compel him to send for Dr. Lewis, when Dr. J. J. Temple, who is the regular Jail Physician, is seldom called. Dr. Lewis was stowed away in a cell this morning when Dr. Temple was called to visit the Jail.

Patrick Toohy was arrested last night, after a desperate struggle, by Officers Geo. Barton and Niel Furber on the charge of abusing his family. It required several days of steady work to get Toohy out of Barton's arms before he would submit to be jailed. He was arraigned before the Police Court this morning, and fined $25. Niel Furber went out a nace on him.

His large number of friends will regret to hear of the death of Mr. Frank Helman, which occurred at 297 West Third street, on the eighth street, yesterday evening. Mr. Helman was compelled only a few weeks ago to relinquish business on account of falling health. He was an enterprising and capable young man, a devoted Catholic, and a member of the St. George's Benevolent Society and the Arbeiter Verein. The former body has already taken action upon his death.

Henry Linerman, our efficient and popular Deputy Marshal, has been practicing the art of floral culture all winter. The two handsome bouquets presented to him by his girl are completely ruined, and the flowers that were to bloom this summer to reward him of his fair daimel as he sits in the Marshal's office piping off letters and notices in his twenty-third year. Henry will not be called the flower of the police force in the future, but will cultivate a crop of mushrooms this summer.

Theodore Brunner was fined $5 and costs this morning for abusing his wife.

The alarm from Box 15, about half past 12 o'clock yesterday, was caused by the blowing out of a chimney in Beck's Hotel, on Monmouth street.

The Sisters of Charity from the Nazareth Academy, near Louisville, will take charge of the Parochial School attached to the Church of the Immaculate Conception, on Monmouth street.

Henry Strohm, who was arrested on a charge of robbing the till of Myers grocery corner of Madison and Brighton streets, of $10, was dismissed this morning, the evidence not being sufficient to hold him.

John Loecher, collector of dog taxes, was arrested this morning on a warrant sworn by John Loecher, who charges him with killing his (Loecher's) dog. Loecher denies the charge, but says Loecher refused to take out a license. The case will be tried to-morrow.

Jeff Coyne and James Smith, two lads of tender ages, were taken in last night against with a pair of boots from Mr. Allen's residence, on Jefferson street. Their cases were continued in the Mayor's Court until to-morrow. Smith is also under bonds on a charge of picking a lady's pocket.

Thieves effected an entrance to the residence of Captain J. Taylor, Taylor street, at an early hour this morning. They stole skeleton keys. Mrs. McIntyre and another lady, the only occupants of the house, ran the rascals from the front room at the point of a revolver. Every door in the house was found to be closed with skeleton keys.

The Christian Church fair and concert opened last evening with a flourish. The hall is handsomely decorated, and the many beautiful donations are tastefully displayed. The piano solo, from Schubert, by Mr. Joseph Boyd, was finely rendered, and drew forth loud applause. Miss Nannie Louise Bond sang a recitative and aria from "Il Trovatore" with fine effect. The young lady is duly appreciated by her friends. "The Three Fishers," by Miss Mary Howe, was also worthy of the singer.

MAJOR MAKEPE'S CO.—Charles and Ward Packard, Everett Niles, James Willes, Paul Shifford, William Anderson, William Yagle, Robert Thomas, James Peters, Jr., and George Charles were arrested by Marshal Stamer, of Dayton, night before last for loitering around the dummy stands and insulting ladies who were obliged to pass that way. They were fined $5 and costs each by Mayor Macey yesterday. In default of which they were sent to jail. They made such a howling noise last night that the Marshal furnished each a striped suit this morning, and put them to work cleaning the streets.

The Special Committee appointed by the City Council some two weeks ago, to investigate all City Councilmen who had violated the city charter by accepting contracts with city, was this evening by Attorney Root, who was present, submitted his opinion on the question referred to him. He decided that it was in the form of a contract with the city for any member of the Board to accept a contract with the city and therefore illegal. That the charter forbids any firm of which a member of the Council is partner to accept or hold a contract; that it is illegal for the son of any member of the Board to enter into a contract and execute the work by the help or implements of the father. That it is not forbidden by the Charter for a member of this Council to accept a contract with the Board of Water-works. A motion was made to amend the charter by striking the above, and report it to the Council for rigid enforcement. It was further decided that all the city officers should be governed by this same rule.

The tragedy at Richmond, Va., that lately grew out of a young salesman in a shoe store offering to button a lady customer's gaiters, is among the possibilities of finding its counterpart in this city. A susceptible young Hamilton attorney being smitten with a lady residing here, recently displayed so impertinent a curiosity as to size of her shoes at a store on High street, where she had just completed some purchases, to set the lady's friends on the watch for the blood. No gore has, however, been spilled up to this date.

HOBE CITY AND DELHI.

To the Editor of the Star:—

Your columns contain the notices of two separate corporations proposed to be established in this neighborhood, and your large circulation therein indicates it as the proper medium in which to consider the advantages and disadvantages of the proposed merging of a purely rural into a more urban and municipal organization. Indeed, if you are not the official paper of the embryo village or hamlet, or both, as the case may be, when the city is first-class, with a Southern Railroad, is viewed from the environs of the Suspension Bridge, you may find Delhi or Home City a good place to receive the emigrant Swag.

One of the notices is for a Village Corporation, and the other for a City. The latter is one-third of the territory embraced within the limits of the other, which has the less ambitious object of becoming a "hamlet" only. The territory of the proposed village is included in that of the proposed hamlet. If these notices are now rival parties, as the proposed action is looking to the two municipal corporations in the same vicinity, then there are abundant reasons to stop and consider the future effect and cost of such a union.

The municipal organization has not heretofore been organized in a surprise to strangers who have noticed that Delhi State contributes to the I. C. & L. Railroad the fourth in number of the passengers traveling on that road, and that, in coming to the city, they enter by passing through Fernbach (so tastefully and expensively improved by the brothers Shor, and which is generally admitted to be the center of some future municipal organization of its own) there is a succession of dwellings and improvements extending two miles in length along the Ohio River. This territory embraces the town plats of Ardenn, Home City, the Delhi Building Co., Delhi and Industry subdivisions, and with "erritory adjacent thereto not laid out into 'Chicago lots,' contains a population fully sufficient for a village or hamlet incorporation. There is within this neighborhood (Catholic, Lutheran, Methodist, and Presbyterian Churches and organizations and two public schools, the extension and location of which has long been the subject of much praise, and the slow growth in improvement and want of enterprise in this "sleepy hollow" (as it is by the nature of its "wild fowl" only), has equally been the subject of derision.

It is possible, then, to unite this neighborhood into some municipal organization, by which these elements may be united to promote the unity and prosperity of the whole, for the benefit of the whole, as is—initiated by church and school organizations, by locality, roads and interests. While Industry and Home City derive names to their locations from their town-plats, the latter are not recognized by deed and recognizes the name of Delhi. Two separate incorporations would sever this unity, cause local jealousies, and an air-line would divide neighbors and friends. The Special School District of Delhi would, in time, be also divided, and other local divisions would follow with their attendant evils. Then the expense would be a subject of grave consideration, because there would be two sets of officers necessary to be kept up, instead of one, and in this matter alone is one sufficient for a separate article, by your permission, I will renew the subject before the final hearing before the County Commissioners takes place.
