Pickings by Star Reporters in Neighboring Cities and Towns.

LEXINGTON, KY.

Colonel A. M. Swope has returned from a trip to Louisville.

Cheek's pool-room will close for the season Friday night.

Miss Virginia Biggs of Nashville, Tenn., is the guest of Miss Fannie Lisle.

Dr. Hopson and wife left yesterday for Canton, Mo., to be absent several weeks.

Professor Mueller left yesterday for Louisville, which place he will make his future home.

Mr. Bonnyman, of Broadway, lost a bright little girl yesterday morning from scarlet fever.

Wood ashes sown after wheat are said to be a preventive of the fly. About ten bushels should be spread to the acre.

Judge Royalty says that the most substantial sign of returning prosperity is the unusual activity in the matrimonial market for several days past.

In the Recorder's Court yesterday a man named Napoleon Monks was held to bail in the sum of $150 for cutting John Travis in the neck with a knife the night before.

George Smedley was arrested day before yesterday, charged with stealing a horse and buggy in Owen County. The property was found at a livery stable in this city, where he had put them up.

CENTHIANI, KY.

L. Grinnan has resumed work on his art gallery, and it will soon be ready for the brick.

The meeting still continues at the Baptist Church, Rev. W. H. Felix, of Covington, preaching. Both churches are well attended.

The protracted meeting is still in progress at the Methodist Church, under the auspices of Revs. Walker and Sedgwick. One addition to date.

The bricklayers are at work on the new Post-office, and it will be completed in a few weeks. Mr. J. J. Parish has undertaken the brickwork.

This is the condition of two families in this county, omitting names: A married B's daughter, B married A's sister. How can the degree of consanguinity between their children be expressed?

The dry weather of late has materially injured the newly sown wheat. It has been too dry for wheat to grow, and that which is up is terribly ragged by the fly. Some of the farmers are plowing it up and sowing again.

J. F. Keller has sold out the "Office," corner Pike and Walnut, to Mr. Williams, and has rented Adam Reneker's building, on Pike, and will soon open another saloon. That will make thirteen saloons in the maiden city.

Died in this city, Monday morning, Prof. A. F. Tyler. Professor Tyler has been for many years one of the most active, energetic and successful teachers of the county. He was for a number of years a member of the Methodist Church, and was zealous in Christian work. He was Superintendent of the Sunday-school up to within a short time before his death. His remains were deposited in the Cemetery at Mt. Zion, four miles from town, yesterday, with Masonic honors. He had a policy in the Mutual Insurance Company, but unfortunately for his family, he suffered it to lapse but a short time before his death.

RELEVUE, KY.

M. S. prayer meeting to-morrow night at Mr. Hukill's on Center street.

Do not fail to attend the M. E. social on Friday night at the residence of Mr. Williams. Admission 25 cents.

Mr. Young, of Fairfield avenue, has a pear tree in his yard which contains about thirty pears of the second growth. If you doubt this statement call and see for yourself.

Clinton Wasson, of Newport, attended the temperance meeting last Sunday night in a hot-temperous condition, intending to eclipse the other speakers by giving a speech. Mr. Williams, president of the meeting, could not see it in that light. Mr. Wasson then left, if not a wiser, a madder man.

The Lodge of Knights of Honor will be instituted to-night at the residence of Mr. Staizenburg. The officers hope that all our citizens of good moral character and in good health will join this lodge. This order in case of sickness pays $3 a week to the person sick, in case of death $2,000 is paid his wife or nearest relatives. In these times when no man knoweth his sudden demise he should have his family provided for. A number of our best citizens are now in this lodge and will see that others follow.

AVONDALE.

Mayor Dickson fined James Riley yesterday $3 and costs for drunkenness.

A street railroad meeting will be held in the village this week. The place and time will be designated to-morrow.

A carpet valued at $30 was stolen from the lecture-room of the Presbyterian Church yesterday. No clue to the thief.

HAMILTON.

No arrests yesterday. Tally one more.

We should have said Mr. William Muncie instead of Nancy.

The well known J. W. Dicke, of Mid-dietown, peeped in upon us yesterday.

Mr. John Baker, formerly clerk at C. H. Zwick's, is now with W. C. Frechtling.

Miss Emma Bartlett, of Cincinnati, is visiting among her numerous friends in this city.

The fall term of the Common Pleas Court opened yesterday with a long list of civil and criminal cases to dispose of.

Mr. George Dill, proprietor of the Gray Eagle Livery Stable, had his wagon band severely decorated with flags and calico at the jolification.

John Greaser, the clothier, is about to move into Weidenborner's store, next to Finer & Bets, and Shepherd & Curtis will occupy his old stand. The change is soon to take place.

The reunion at Connersville proved to be an enjoyable affair, participated in by hundreds of soldiers, and numerous other gladly-welcomed visitors. Mr. Wilson Johnson and several others from Hamilton took it in.

The funeral of Clara Fallert took place at 3 o'clock yesterday from the St. Joseph's church, Father Baine officiating. It will be remembered that Clara was seriously burned last Wednesday while playing around a fire in the street, from the effects of which she died Sunday evening. Clara was a cousin to Miss Louisa Seifert, deceased. Numerous friends and relatives are left to mourn the loss of the promising child.

The jolification meeting was a thoroughly successful affair, augmented by the boom of cannon, bonfires, good speaking and fine music. One noticeable feature was the immense crowd that thronged

High street from Third to Water, making the sidewalks impassable. The Fine-tooth Comb Band dispensed some heartrending airs from first to last. After the procession had done marching they all adjourned to the Court-house to listen to the speaking, which was good. Everything passed off lovely, and but three arrests were made.

DAYTON, N.Y.

Mrs. Joseph Johnson is quite ill.

Henry Darnell is sojourning in Mayeville.

Young people's meeting at the M. E. Church to-night.

The salubrious scent of decaying cabbages once more makes the air sweet along the vacant fields.

Miss Arabella B. Walters, of this place, and Mr. C. F. West, of Clinton County, O., were married this morning at 11 o'clock, the Rev. Bartholomew, of the Fifth-street Church, officiating.

The Rev. D. D. Aken preached a very able discourse on Sunday evening last on the subject of Godliness, taking his text from the 4th chapter of Paul's Epistle to Timothy and 8th verse.

There will be no services in the Presbyterian Church next Sabbath, the pastor, Rev. M. D. A. Steen being absent at Mayville, Ky., in attendance at the meeting of the Synod of Kentucky.

Of Victor Emanuel this story is told in a very biography of that King. He went one day to hear service in the Cathedral of Pisa with all his court and a following of citizens which numbered some thousands; he found the great entrance closed against him. Some one proposed forcing the door, and there were angry murmurings among the Liberals about him. But the King seeing a side door open, said smilingly: "Let us pass in here, my friends; it is a narrow way that leads to Paradise." Very soon after the same thing happened at Bologna.

The King, on visiting the Duomo, was received by one or two inferior clergy at a side entrance. Great indignation was expressed by the citizens, so much so that the Bishop was somewhat alarmed, and came to apologize to the King, excusing his absence on the plea of illness. The King replied: "You were quite right not to inconvenience yourself, my Lord. I do not go to church to visit priests, but to worship God."

A terror remembered is sometimes more dangerous than the same terror actually experienced. One Sunday, a fortnight ago, as a young woman was crossing the Rue St. Honoré, Paris, she was suddenly knocked down by a high-wheeled cart, known as a spider. Her peril was imminent, but she retained her self-possession, and relieved the anxiety of the spectators by regaining her feet and reaching the sidewalk very little the worse for her mishap. As soon as she reached home she began to relate the incident to her friends, and while doing so was seized with a violent attack of nervous agitation, and sank fainting to the floor. She never spoke again.

In the Coils of a Serpent.

(London Telegraph.)

One of the most intrepid wild beast-tamers in Europe, Karolyi, a Magyar, of colossal stature and extraordinary physical strength, has recently fallen a victim to a dread contingency of his perilous profession. He was performing, before a crowded audience in Madrid the other day, one of his most sensational feats, which consisted in allowing a huge boa constrictor, over twenty feet in length, to enfold his body in its tremendous coils, when suddenly a piercing cry escaped him, which was greeted by the public with a round of applause, under the supposition that its utterance constituted a part of the performance!

It proved, however, to be the outcome of a strong man's death agony. The gigantic snake had tightened its coils, and crushed poor Karolyi's life out of him with one terrific squeeze. As his head fell back and his eyes became fixed in a glassy stare, the plaudits died away, and were succeeded by the stillness of utter consternation. The snake and its lifeless victim swayed for a second or two of inexpressible horror, and then toppled over on the boards of the stage; but the boa did not in the least relax his grip upon the corpse, which remained for more than an hour imprisoned in its hideous thralldom, nobody daring to approach the little monster, of whose powers such appalling proof had been given. At length it occurred to one of Karolyi's attendants to place a bowl of milk in a cage within sight of the mighty serpent, which slowly unbound itself from the dead body and glided into its den, irresistibly tempted thereto by its favorite dainty. A post-mortem examination of the unfortunate athlete's remains discovered no fewer than eighty-seven fractures of his bones, effected by the constriction of the serpent's coils. His death must have been almost instantaneous, as the spine was disarticulated in several places.
