THE WEATHER. WASHINGTON, April 21.—For Tennessee and the Ohio Valley, southerly winds, warmer and clear, followed by partly cloudy weather, stationary, followed by falling barometer.

CATECHISING CADETS.

Young Man From Michigan Stands On His Dignity.

National Associated Press to the Star. WEST POINT, N. Y., April 21.—Philip van, of Highland Falls, of whom much has been said, testified that he was a sailor, and successor to Benny Jansen; that no cadets were at his saloon the night in question, and never saw any of them.

J. F. Pierce, of Highland Falls, told of one chatter that prevailed about cadets coming to Highland Falls on the night of the assault, but which could not be traced. Then began a general examination of all the cadets, and the following questions were put to each of them.

First—Were you in your quarters on the night of April 5th continuously from "taps to reveille"?

Second—Was your room-mate in his room on the night of April 5th continuously from taps to reveille?

Third—Do you know or have you been told of any one who was absent from his room that night?

Fourth—Do you suspect any one of having been so absent?

Fifth—Do you know or have you been told of any one who was engaged in an assault upon Cadet Whittaker?

Sixth—Do you know or have you been told who sent the anonymous note, received by Cadet Whittaker?

Seventh—Do you know or have you heard of any threat or intimation that any person would do violence towards or practice an indignity upon Cadet Whittaker?

Those so far called answered all the above questions in the negative. Nothing of importance was revealed.

TO-DAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

WEST POINT, N. Y., April 21.—The investigation of the Whittaker outrage was continued to-day. Joseph Paine, of the firm of A. A. Lew & Brothers, of Burlington, N. Y., was sworn in as an expert in handwriting, and was given the same specimens of the handwriting of the cadets that Superintendent Gaylor of the New York Post-office had examined, with the note of warning received by Whittaker and other specimens of cadet penmanship, and retired to make his examination.

The examination of the second-class cadets was then begun. Frank B. Andrews, a Junior Corporal, a native of Michigan, but sent here from Indiana, recited his troubles concerning Whittaker, stating that he objected to having a negro fall in alongside by him, and to avoid it had thought of making application to be reduced to the ranks.

Mr. Townsend—"Was there any place for this poor boy to fall in?"

Cadet Andrews—"No, sir."

Mr. Townsend—"What did you think the poor boy was going to do? He had to fall in somewhere, hadn't he?"

Cadet Andrews—"Yes, sir."

Notwithstanding the questioning by Mr. Townsend, the cadet adhered to his statements regarding his aversion to Whittaker.

There is much comment here over Frank Jasp, Consul to Basle, Switzerland, taking second-class passage to Europe.

Some commotion is caused here among mining speculators by the collapse of the Little Pittsburg Silver Mine at Leadville, Colorado. Two hundred Clevelanders are badly sailed.

The Henry B. Payne boom grows hourly. His friends are organizing quietly and will show a strong hand at the Democratic State Convention. The Democrats here are assured of Tilden's friendliness for him, and the ticket will be Tilden and Payne or Payne and Potter.

Georgia Republicans.

SPECIAL TO THE STAR. ATLANTA, GA., April 21.—The Republican State Convention now in session here is composed eighty per cent. colored men. These are in reality for Grant, but the Sherman office-holders have them under good control, and the fight promises to be between Blaine and Sherman, with Sherman ahead.

The organization was strong, and a row seemed imminent over the election of Chairman, the contest being between two colored men, but one withdrew and order and quiet were restored. The Convention assembled again at 2 o'clock, with prospects of a stormy session.

ANOTHER MURDER UNVEILED. ST. JOSEPH, MO., April 21.—On the 15th day of October last Mary Monroe, daughter of John Monroe, who resides near New-castle, in the edge of Harrison County, disappeared from her home. She was 20 years of age, and rather prepossessing in appearance.

Pieces of her clothing have now been found in the bushes near that place, and there were blotches of what seemed to be blood on parts of the clothing. Near it were found lying on the ground the greater part of a human skull, and the jawbone of a human being.

The affair is involved in the deepest mystery, but suspicion points to a contractor by the name of Brown, employed by the Wabash, St. Louis & Pacific Railroad, who had been paying attention to the girl against her parents' wishes, and had disappeared two days previous to the girl's disappearance.

AN ACTRESS ON THE SHOOT. DENVER, CO., April 21.—A variety actress from Leadville, who has been playing at the Palace Theater, in this city, for the past week under the name of Ada Mitchell, yesterday made a deliberate attempt to assassinate her lover, Charles Wakefield, a wealthy resident of Leadville, where the two are said to have been on intimate terms. Both were stopping at the Merchants' Hotel.

She entered the room and aimed directly at Wakefield's heart, but the ball missed its mark and simply wounded him in the arm. Her second shot struck an innocent visitor, inflicting a terrible wound. The woman is very handsome, and jealousy was her motive.

HORRIBLE CRIME IN CANADA. CHICAGO, April 21.—A special from Brantford, Ont., states that Benjamin Carrier, an Indian farmer from the Onondaga Reserve, while at work in the woods quarreled with his wife Nancy about a squaw paramour of the former, when he seized his ax and smashed his wife's head.

He also hacked her about the breast and arms, then left her dead. His returning home alone aroused suspicion, and the neighbors going in search, found her as described. When arrested there were marks of blood on his pants. He is only twenty-eight years old.

SUICIDE FOR SORROW.

Grief of a Natchez Priest Over Bishop Elder's Departure.

SPECIAL TO THE STAR. ST. LOUIS, April 21.—A special from Natchez gives an account of the suicide at that place of Father Germain Marty, a highly-respected Catholic priest. He is supposed to have been laboring under a fit of mental aberration at the time of the rash act. His mind was weak, and he had been, some years ago, an inmate of a St. Louis Insane Asylum, from which he was sent as being incurable. After being sent here, after a while he became devotedly attached to the good Bishop Elder, and it is supposed the departure of that gentleman for Cincinnati on Wednesday, completely unhinged poor Marty's mind.

He has been very much depressed for several days, but Thursday was especially so. He went to the dinner-table, but ate sparingly, and paid little or no attention to anything around him. At the close of the repast he accompanied the other priests to the church, as was the usual custom. He returned to the Episcopal residence, lighted a cigar and was smoking in the parlor. A few minutes after he retired to his room, pulled off his shoes, laid down in bed, and with a razor cut his throat from "ear to ear," completely severing his windpipe and carotid artery, and nearly separating his head from his body. His groans attracted attention, but before the door could be forced open, he having taken the precaution to lock it, life was extinct.

ST. LOUIS SPARKS.

BURNED TO DEATH—EDMONIA LEWIS' LAW SUIT—NEW ROLLING MILLS. SPECIAL TO THE STAR.

ST. LOUIS, April 21.—Maggie May, the fourteen-months-old child of Mr. Geo. W. Allen, was accidentally burned at her home yesterday morning, and died at night. She was conscious to the last, and with death upon her looked up and gave her father a parting kiss.

Edmonia Lewis, the colored sculptress, sued James B. Thomas and wife for $900, balance due on a monument for the grave of Mrs. Thomas' mother, the original price $2,000, all of which was paid but the amount sued for.

The Court of Appeals has decided in favor of Miss Lewis, who is now in Rome.

The plans have been drawn up, contracts awarded and the work will begin next month on the new rolling mills of Neid-ringhaus Brothers, Second and Angier-streets. These gentlemen have already expended over $500,000 in improvements in North St. Louis.

NEWARK, O., April 21.—Mr. S. D. King, one of the oldest and wealthiest citizens of this city, died last evening. He was 84 years of age.

After the Convention.

National Associated Press to the Star. NEW YORK, April 21.—The Sun to-day, speaking of yesterday's Conventions, says the Democracy of New York adhere to Mr. Tilden's policy and exclusively because he was elected President of the United States in 1876, and because he and they were cheated out of that election, and they are for his re-nomination now not because they love him personally, but because they believe in the right of self-government, and wish to vindicate that right in 1880 in the most emphatic manner possible.

The Star, John Kelly's paper, says: "The fight is forced upon us, and to the bitter end will it be fought. The Democracy has two objective points in view, the salvation of the nation and the vindication of its own honor, and neither can be achieved but by vigorous, active, continuous war against the insidious faction that would endanger both."

"It can not be too often repeated that the nomination of Tilden would involve the election of Grant. Better that a thousand times than the elevation of T. Iden. The undignified tyranny of a military despot might come to be respected for its boldness; the sneaking selfishness of a coward traitor could never win respect or command approval."

RUNNING DOWN REDS.

Ten Indians Killed in An Attempt To Escape.

National Associated Press to the Star. WASHINGTON, April 21.—The following telegram has been received here last night from Chicago:

Gen. E. D. Townsend, Washington, D. C. Col. Hatch reports from the Missisquoi Agency, 16th Inst., by beginning the disarmament of the Indians to-day of sixty-five warriors some of them chiefs, made a very desperate attempt to escape on foot. So far 10 are reported killed and 30 have escaped. The troops and scouts are on a hot trail and may be able to force more of these Indians in, and the other Indians are now under guard and disarmed, mostly Indian women and children. These Indians have nearly all been under Victoria, and probably Victoria is under the impression that when made prisoners they were to be tried and hung. P. H. SHERIDAN, Lieut. Gen.

The motion was agreed to by a vote of 118 to 49, and then Mr. McMahon submitted the same motion which led to the contest yesterday, to limit general debate to five minutes, and a discussion ensued.

This was rejected, and a motion for two hours was also rejected—yeas 107, nays 114. Then Mr. Conger moved to make it one hour and fifty minutes, and upon this the Republicans again demanded the yeas and nays.

The report of the Committee will hardly be made this session. A Successful Goose Stalker. (Syracuse Courier.)

During the last two weeks a large flock of wild geese have been hovering about Onondaga Lake, near the outlet of Nine Mile Creek. These weird birds have successfully defied the cunning of our most expert hunters until yesterday morning, when the tables were unexpectedly turned upon them. At an early hour Mr. Charles R. Steves discovered the whole flock feeding in the center of a large wheat field. Loading his double-barreled shotgun with five drachms of powder and an ounce of "b. b." shot, he started in pursuit of the rare game accompanied by Mr. Bennett. How to get within range was the question, not a tree, shrub or stump of any kind being within forty rods of the birds, and to add to the difficulties of approach the old sentinel, a bird whose long neck reached full four feet into the air, never ate a mouthful of the tender wheat, but stood erect at his post in the center of the flock perched upon the highest ground in the field. A slight depression in the soil caused by a dead furrow running from the nearest fence to within a few rods of the geese was the only chance of a cover. After a brief council of war it was decided that Mr. Bennett, who is much the lighter man, should make the attempt to reach them, lying flat on his face in the bottom of the furrow, with the gun lashed to his back. Mr. Bennett pushed himself over the slippery, muddy, half-frozen ground with the tips of his toes, so slowly and steadily as not to alarm the game, although he was never entirely out of their sight. In this manner, after nearly an hour's hard labor of the most exciting kind, he reached the end of the furrow, when, suddenly springing to his feet, he leveled his weapon and brought down four geese.

From the Rockport, Ind., Banner. There is no medicine in the world which has gained such fame as St. Jacobs Oil; this is, however, no in the least astonishing, when we consider its truly wonderful curative powers. Mr. F. Rodenberg, of Grandview, called at our office last week and related the following circumstance: I suffered with rheumatism for over six years; consulted many physicians, and tried many remedies, but without avail. Having seen St. Jacobs Oil advertised in your paper, and heard of some most astonishing cures, I sent to Rockport for a bottle of the oil, and used it according to directions. The relief I felt was almost "electric." I got better at once, and now there is not a trace of rheumatism left in my body.
