Later advices state seven hundred Sioux under Rain-in-the-Face, who killed Custer, are a short distance north of the Yellowstone, also anxious to surrender, but do not wish to give up their guns and ponies. They are not in a good humor, and hostility is threatened.

The reports current that whites have been killed by hostiles in Montana this spring are false. Not a white has been killed except where the Indians have been coerced and forced to cut their way through.

ON THE TRACK AGAIN.

Meaning Engelhardt's Boys After Yesterday's Flood. At 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Manager Engelhardt called the pedestrians to a halt and postponed the race until to-day. The time lost will be made up by continuing on with the walk next Monday. At 4 p. m. the scene stood:

Table with columns for Name and Miles. Includes Sullivan (304), Vint (313), Harriman (308), Krohn (358), Hughes (291), O'Brien (357), Clow (220), Fitzgerald (312), McGill (291), Chamberlain (312), Hibbs (291), Pratt (291), Krohn (291), Ryan (291), Callahan (291).

The managerial staff of the pedestrian tournament smiled an extremely large smile when Old Sol came out this morning and gave them the full benefit of his inspiring rays. And this act of courtesy on the part of genial Sol will undoubtedly have the effect of filling Engelhardt's tent with the biggest crowd that has yet witnessed the wonderful performance the competitors are doing.

The contest in this city has thus far been attended with circumstances that would appal a less resolute man than Fred Engelhardt, but with that indomitable will which carries him safely through all his undertakings, he has continued on through the many difficulties which beset him, and will reap his reward by the patronage which will be bestowed on his enterprise to-day, to-morrow and Monday.

The race thus far has been the most remarkable one in the annals of pedestrianism, and the men who are now on the track represent the very flower of American pedestrians, and it is still a matter of uncertainty what positions the several competitors will take.

Hughes has of course the greatest advantage for securing first money, but the rest are well bunched, and the fight that is going on for the secondary position is terrific and creating intense excitement.

Little Vint, the plucky Brooklyn cobbler, is sticking to his work with his characteristic dogged determination, and is making a desperate endeavor to hold third place. He is closely pressed, however, by Chamberlain and Sullivan.

Harriman is in magnificent feather, and avows his determination to take a place in the race or die in his tracks. From this it will be seen the contest has narrowed down to the actual pedestrians, in the true sense of the name, and the progress of the race will now be watched with the utmost interest.

All the "poets" except Harriman answered to the call this morning and started on the weary walk at 11:30 o'clock. Harriman quit yesterday afternoon and is today promenading Fourth street. The track and interior of the tent was in fine order this morning. Hughes still leads Clow by sixteen miles, the latter being second man in the run.

Vint is going on a dog trot, and holds third position, with chances of bettering himself. Chamberlain is one mile behind Vint, and is holding out much better than many supposed he would.

Hibbs, at the last moment, concluded not to go to St. Louis, and will to-night give an exhibition walk of ten miles, square heel and toe walk. He is the champion ten mile square heel and toe walker, and travels beautifully.

Another aspirant for pedestrian honors, in the shape of a slender, ungrainy looking specimen of humanity, is tripping around the track to-day. In response to our question as to who he is, the chief scorer, John Dyer, replied: "I bought a pound of tea this morning and got that thing with it. I wound it up, started it around the track, and it's been going ever since."

NATIONAL ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE STAR. PARIS, May 22.—The strikers at Roubaix decrease in numbers daily. Two Belgians and a Dutchman have been arrested; charged with inciting the men against the masters.

DIED IN SOLITUDE.

An Old Widower Found Dead in Bed. James Kohn, a widower living by himself in a cellar room in the rear of No. 567 Sycamore street, was found dead in bed about 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. The stench was a terrible one, and went to show that the man must have been dead for some days.

When found his face and eyes were filled with clotted blood. He was lying in bed on his back with the bed clothes over him. He was not a drinker and no cause so far can be assigned for his death.

He has several married children living in this city, but as yet they have not been notified of the case. Coroner Carrick will hold an inquest.
