

Urbana Union Directory.

THE MARKETS. Corrected Weekly by John H. ... Flour, per bush, $5.50 ...

PROVISIONS. Corrected Weekly by J. C. ... Beef, per pound, 10c ...

CINCINNATI. Flour, per bush, $5.50 ...

NEW YORK. Flour, per bush, $5.50 ...

RAILROADS. SANDUSKY, DAYTON & CINCINNATI R. R. ...

COLUMBUS, PIQUA AND INDIANA R. R. ...

CHURCH DIRECTORY. First Presbyterian Church ...

OFFICIAL DIRECTORY. COUNTY. Member of Congress ...

TOWNSHIP. Trustees: Wm. McDonald ...

THE MAILS. BOUTWELL'S MAIL ...

ADVERTISE IN THE URBANA UNION. Prosper in your Business ...

URBANA UNION.

THE QUESTION has been asked, whether the URBANA UNION will be a permanent paper. We answer that it is no temporary thing; it is meant to be permanent.

Has enlarged many a small business; Has revived many a dull business; Has saved many a failing business; Has preserved many a large business; Has created many a new business.

WE are indebted to Hon. S. Shellbarger for a copy of the Diplomatic Correspondence, U. S.

THE weather is supposed to be delightful about this time. Slush, slush, slide, slide; with a rush, rush, on we glide.

MONDAY was the anniversary of the Battle of Mill Springs, Kentucky, in which the lamented Bob McCook was the hero, and who the rebels felt the cold steel of his "bully Dutch".

AN interesting letter will be found in another column from Captain Mast, giving an account of the part taken by the old 13th in the Battle of Stone River.

THE card of James Taylor, Esq., military claim agent, appears in to-day's paper. Mr. Taylor is well known to the people of this county, having been the popular Postmaster of Urbana for many years, and his qualifications for his present business are excellent.

CO. I, 13th Ohio. A letter from John Steiger to John Gump, Esq. (for whom he used to work) gives the following official list of casualties in that company—Capt. Stange:

THE LOSS OF THE 26th OHIO. The following is the official report of losses in Col. E. P. Fyffe's regiment.

THE URBANA UNION is represented by J. M. Pence, Assistant Foreman of Hose Division.

WHY is the only way to get gold now effected by Mr. Chase like the Honorable Secretary? It is, purchase (per Chase).

A Link in the Chain of History of Poor Material.—A Lincoln.

WHY is the only way to get gold now effected by Mr. Chase like the Honorable Secretary? It is, purchase (per Chase).

Poor John Maloney.

A TELEGRAPHIC dispatch brings word to the town that John Maloney was found dead in the street of West Jefferson, which is fourteen miles from the higher side of Columbus, and ten miles from Camp Chase, as the place was aptly called to mean Camp Runaway.

When living he was an example—now dead he is a memorial of our glorious system of volunteer enlistment, by bribes and bounties—that ingenious contrivance of men who sought to wear shoulder straps, and of men who wished to skulk a draft.

As he grew better and able to go back, he persuaded himself that he had never been paid his bounty, and was not bound to serve; and simple as he was, he shrewdly saw, and so said, within a few days, to a lady who had been often kind to him: "it will be a long time before we whip the South; 'kase they are fightin' for their liberties and we are fightin' jist for money; and I don't like fightin' for noyers!"

Thousands like John Maloney will pass quietly away, leaving a single heart to grieve for them. But let the survivors be of good cheer; a grateful people will compensate their forgotten services with a shining glory concentrated upon the head of some prancing fool on horseback.

Do you ever, dear reader, enjoy a railway ride in a snow storm? "The subscribers" has been there and "seen it." Thursday last at 1 o'clock, we started for the city, and my better belief is it was a jolly ride. The train "dragged its slow way along" until within a few miles of Dayton (and although the snow had detained the up-train two hours, our train was nearly on time, thanks to an engine and passenger iron horse) when the stack! The difficulty was the ash pan of the engine full of snow. That was remedied, and a half-mile further, and another halt. Somebody measured the snow here—15 inches; it was about half that deep at Urbana when we left. On we go again, until in Dayton when we "stuck" a third time. And again, when only a half-mile from the station, and after several attempts of our bulky engine (the C. C. Dennis) to run through after backing down (reminding one, of boys playing hop-step-and-jump) we almost gave up the expectancy of reaching the depot in that way and were about to get out and walk. "Jim," the brakeman, came through and said, "Gentlemen, I guess we'll have to take you all back home." "All right, if you board us on the way," said one. "We are here," replied a meek looking individual with a long nose—which was unparliamentary—the goal, not the nose. But John Brannan's face was as rudely and unparliamentary-looking as ever (John, you know, was our train) and he said "keep seats, we'll get there." And we did.

Yes, and the Cincinnati train had gone. Another was to arrive at 7, and leave for the city at 9—that we waited for. At nine we learned by dispatch that it had reached Carthage—a distance of ten miles in four hours. Mr. Wilshire, our only fellow passenger from Urbana, thought that the quickest way to reach the city was to go home and make another start, and accordingly he returned on the other train. But we were patient (almost as Job, for we're a Job printer,—do you see it?) and pleasantly passed away the time till near midnight, when we turned in at the Phillips. Next morning we started "on time," and succeeded in getting there at 1 o'clock. Twenty-five hours in going to Cincinnati, by "direct route" with "close connections" at Hamilton, we found the snow two feet deep; at Cincinnati, thirty inches.

THE LOSS OF THE 26th OHIO. The following is the official report of losses in Col. E. P. Fyffe's regiment.

Company D—First Lieutenant G. D. McClelland, J. Karus, J. Tye, Sergt J. Jennings, Corp F. Singer.

Company E—Sergt Wm D Chamblay, Corp J Allen.

Company A—Second Lieutenant L B Foster, Sergt B Hart, Corp T B Cooley, P Hatfield, P Mea, J Boyer, M Boyer, C W Carson, C Thompson, J Sturtevant, H Shuler, C Kitch, O Mallon, lost mortally.

Company B—First Sergeant Wm E Heiser, Sergt J M Roby, Sergt A Rogers, Corp J B Doyle, Corp Wm H Cook, S Conner, J Castell, C Carman, F Donahue, J Finley, A James, J Marshall, R P Pinkerton, H Kenick, J Timmes, N Tewis, J Van Gundy.

Company C—J Sherwood, C Martin, A T Brown, J Ashburn, A Taylor.

Company H—Sergt M D McKerrin, H McGrath, A G Beer, J Gregg, J Brown, J Roberts.

Company E—Corp L Reed, J Mashey, H Stevenson.

Company F—Sergents A Travier and A Gormer, Corporals A C Fillett and F Scarborough, M Bell, E Thompson, H Thomas.

Letter from Captain Mast.

HOSPITAL OF LEFT WING, ARMY OF THE CUMBERLAND, NEAR MEMPHIS, TENNESSEE, JANUARY 24, 1862. General John H. Fyffe.

DEAR SIR—Since I last wrote you we have had as you are aware, some stirring times here and no dearth of excitement. The general history of the battle in which we were engaged, you have doubtless long ere this learned. I will therefore confine myself to that portion in which we were engaged; and another reason, I know but little else.

Yesterday morning, Mr. Oliver and Mr. Heverly, a teacher in Eden and the affianced lover of the deceased, left Eden Station, on the C. & C. Railroad for Springfield. Stepping off the cars at Delaware, Mr. Oliver saw C. E. Batts, of the 66th Regiment who, he charges, was instrumental in inducing his daughter to leave home, and he instantly put his hand in his pocket for a loaded pistol but was fortunately prevented from using it by his friends.

He and his friend were taken to the corse and recognized it at once. This morning it was brought in from the vault at the cemetery and Mr. Oliver took it on board of the Springfield Branch train, for home.

The young lady was just seventeen years and two days old on the day of her death. Mr. Oliver showed us an ambrotype of her, taken last summer, which shows her to have been a beautiful and apparently quiet intelligent girl. The manner of her escape from home, her design in doing so, and other things connected with the affair, are still unknown to her parents and friends. This ends a chapter of truth stranger than the romances of Bulwer or Wilkie Collins.—Springfield News, 1862.

THE 24th OHIO in the Battle of Stone River. The Cincinnati Commercial publishes the following extract of a letter from Major McCook of the 24th Ohio:

Mr. Fyffe, Jan. 5, 1862. You have doubtless heard of the fight in front of this place, and will soon have all the details. The bloodshed on both sides was terrible—we losing very heavily in officers. Poor Kell fell early in the action—shot through the body with a Minie ball—and lived only ten hours. He died as he lived, pluck and heroism. The command was thrown upon me, and I did my best. In my opinion, Terrell's old battery, commanded by Geuther, with our regiment, saved the center, and (although it is saying a great deal) the day, by giving an Arkansas brigade the first decided repulse of the day, driving them back and capturing, with the skirmishers, a battle-flag of the 30th Arkansas. They massed five divisions—Callabone's, McCowan's, Wither's, Beckrindger's, Chestnut's—on McCook, and pounded him severely, drove Negley in and fell on our division, where they ran against a circumstance. Chambers, of Company F, is dead. Van Horn shot mortally in the neck, Maxwell again wounded, this time in the neck, and Hallett in the hip. We lost 11 killed and 24 wounded.

Business Notices. BOOT AND SHOE STORE—A large stock of Boots and Shoes are now being opened in No. 3, Kaufman and Nelson's Block, which are to be closed out at panic prices. Call in, and see.

AN opportunity which seldom occurs, is now afforded those desiring a good Watch, at a low figure. Read the advertisement of the "Magic Time Observer," of which the Hubbard Bros. of New York, are the sole importers. The "Magic" is receiving the most flattering commendations of the Press.

JEWELERS should read J. A. Salisbury's advertisement in another column.

A GREAT DISCOVERY.—It has been discovered by thousands of house-keepers in different sections of the country that D. B. De Land & Co.'s Chemical Saleratus is the only Saleratus in the country which the smaller works, especially the household, will produce a uniform result and give perfect satisfaction. If once you try it, you will always buy it.

TO READERS AND CORRESPONDENTS: THE RULES OF THIS OFFICE ARE—That no communication will be inserted, unless the name of a responsible person be given to the publisher. Manuscripts sent to this office are to be considered the property of the publisher, and not liable to be returned, except at publisher's option.

CAMP CLEVELAND.—Cannot publish your communication.

A NATIONAL STANDARD BOTH IN ENGLAND AND AMERICA. Worcester's Series of Dictionaries, consisting of Worcester's School Dictionary, Worcester's Elementary Dictionary, Worcester's Comprehensive Dictionary, Worcester's Academic Dictionary, Worcester's Universal and Colloquial Dictionary, Worcester's Concise Dictionary.

TO BUY GOOD GOODS CHEAP, AT NO. 1 MIAMI STREET. (STABLES OLD STAND.)

The Mystery Unraveled.

On Friday morning last, at his residence, about a half-mile from the little village of Eden, Delaware county, Mr. Samuel Oliver, a very respectable farmer, was made acquainted with the tragic death of his daughter, Adeline Ann Oliver, by her own hand, in this city, at the American House, on Thursday morning last. Although she left her home a week ago last Tuesday—two weeks ago today—she had not returned, and her parents had not ascertained any clue to her whereabouts. Her father went to Mr. Gilead, then to Marietta and to Delaware, to seek her among her acquaintances in those villages, but all in vain. All this time the anxious mother and two married sisters were in troubled suspense as to her fate. When the awful fact was finally made known, the mother, always, heretofore, a healthy woman, was smitten down with a great grief, and is now out of her mind. Whether she will ever be restored in a matter which time only can decide.

Yesterday morning, Mr. Oliver and Mr. Heverly, a teacher in Eden and the affianced lover of the deceased, left Eden Station, on the C. & C. Railroad for Springfield. Stepping off the cars at Delaware, Mr. Oliver saw C. E. Batts, of the 66th Regiment who, he charges, was instrumental in inducing his daughter to leave home, and he instantly put his hand in his pocket for a loaded pistol but was fortunately prevented from using it by his friends.

He and his friend were taken to the corse and recognized it at once. This morning it was brought in from the vault at the cemetery and Mr. Oliver took it on board of the Springfield Branch train, for home.

The young lady was just seventeen years and two days old on the day of her death. Mr. Oliver showed us an ambrotype of her, taken last summer, which shows her to have been a beautiful and apparently quiet intelligent girl. The manner of her escape from home, her design in doing so, and other things connected with the affair, are still unknown to her parents and friends. This ends a chapter of truth stranger than the romances of Bulwer or Wilkie Collins.—Springfield News, 1862.

THE 24th OHIO in the Battle of Stone River. The Cincinnati Commercial publishes the following extract of a letter from Major McCook of the 24th Ohio:

Mr. Fyffe, Jan. 5, 1862. You have doubtless heard of the fight in front of this place, and will soon have all the details. The bloodshed on both sides was terrible—we losing very heavily in officers. Poor Kell fell early in the action—shot through the body with a Minie ball—and lived only ten hours. He died as he lived, pluck and heroism. The command was thrown upon me, and I did my best. In my opinion, Terrell's old battery, commanded by Geuther, with our regiment, saved the center, and (although it is saying a great deal) the day, by giving an Arkansas brigade the first decided repulse of the day, driving them back and capturing, with the skirmishers, a battle-flag of the 30th Arkansas. They massed five divisions—Callabone's, McCowan's, Wither's, Beckrindger's, Chestnut's—on McCook, and pounded him severely, drove Negley in and fell on our division, where they ran against a circumstance. Chambers, of Company F, is dead. Van Horn shot mortally in the neck, Maxwell again wounded, this time in the neck, and Hallett in the hip. We lost 11 killed and 24 wounded.

Business Notices. BOOT AND SHOE STORE—A large stock of Boots and Shoes are now being opened in No. 3, Kaufman and Nelson's Block, which are to be closed out at panic prices. Call in, and see.

AN opportunity which seldom occurs, is now afforded those desiring a good Watch, at a low figure. Read the advertisement of the "Magic Time Observer," of which the Hubbard Bros. of New York, are the sole importers. The "Magic" is receiving the most flattering commendations of the Press.

JEWELERS should read J. A. Salisbury's advertisement in another column.

A GREAT DISCOVERY.—It has been discovered by thousands of house-keepers in different sections of the country that D. B. De Land & Co.'s Chemical Saleratus is the only Saleratus in the country which the smaller works, especially the household, will produce a uniform result and give perfect satisfaction. If once you try it, you will always buy it.

TO READERS AND CORRESPONDENTS: THE RULES OF THIS OFFICE ARE—That no communication will be inserted, unless the name of a responsible person be given to the publisher. Manuscripts sent to this office are to be considered the property of the publisher, and not liable to be returned, except at publisher's option.

CAMP CLEVELAND.—Cannot publish your communication.

A NATIONAL STANDARD BOTH IN ENGLAND AND AMERICA. Worcester's Series of Dictionaries, consisting of Worcester's School Dictionary, Worcester's Elementary Dictionary, Worcester's Comprehensive Dictionary, Worcester's Academic Dictionary, Worcester's Universal and Colloquial Dictionary, Worcester's Concise Dictionary.

TO BUY GOOD GOODS CHEAP, AT NO. 1 MIAMI STREET. (STABLES OLD STAND.)

HERMAN FISHER is now prepared to offer his old customers and the public in general a much larger and more attractive stock of Clothing.

IF YOU WANT THE CHEAPEST CLOTHING go to NEWHOUSE & FRIEDMAN, Schloss' old Corner, Weaver's Hotel Building.

FALL & WINTER TRADE, comprising a full and complete assortment of FASHIONABLE & DURABLE GARMENTS,

FIRST CLASS CLOTHING STORES! Also a full lot of GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS

Hats and Caps, Trunks, India Rubber Coats, Carpet Bags, Valises, &c., Gents Cravats and Collars, all styles. Gents Hoosier and Handkerchiefs, Woolen Under-shirts and Drawers.

Cash Buyers at Prices THAT WILL SUIT THEM! DEFY COMPETITION!

NEWHOUSE & FRIEDMAN'S, South west corner of Public Square, URBANA, O.

NEW WINTER CLOTHING—1862 AND 1863. HERMAN FISHER

NEW GOODS AT OLD PRICES! HERMAN FISHER

MEN'S & BOYS' CLOTHING! IN GREAT VARIETY!

HERMAN FISHER is now prepared to offer his old customers and the public in general a much larger and more attractive stock of FINE CLOTHING, MEN, BOYS AND YOUTHS CLOTHING.

FIRST CLASS CLOTHING HOUSE. Also a very large and splendid assortment of GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS, HATS AND CAPS, TRUNKS, CARPET BAGS, SHIRTS—ALL KINDS, WOOLEN SHIRTS, AND DRAWERS, BUCKSKIN GLOVES, MITTS, &c.

DEFY ALL COMPETITION! GARMENTI!

TO BUY GOOD GOODS CHEAP, AT NO. 1 MIAMI STREET. (STABLES OLD STAND.)

HERMAN FISHER

Special Notices.

USE Temple's Compound Syrup of Hops and Boneset. The best remedy known for acute Croup, Whooping Cough, Asthma, and for all other diseases of the Throat in Infants, Children, and Adults.

THE CONSTITUTION AND REPORTS of a Poor Young Man. A preliminary having been cured of the results of early vice and dissipation, his narrative of his experience and the means of his recovery, published by himself.

WAGES PAID $100. To sell goods for the Adams Sewing Machine Company. We will give a commission on all goods sold by our Agents, on pay wages at from $40 to $50 per month, and pay all necessary expenses.

STATE OF SAMUEL BLUE, DECD. Notice is hereby given that the executor has been appointed and qualified as administrator of the estate of Samuel Blue, deceased, and that he has taken the oath of office.

WAREHOUSE OR BREWERY. Situated in Urbana, on the Sandusky, Dayton & Cincinnati Railroad, near the depot, with about 10 acres of land. This property consists of a large and excellent building well situated for a warehouse or brewery.

DEFY COMPETITION! HERMAN FISHER

Professional Cards. TAYLOR & CRETECHER, Physicians and Surgeons, West Liberty, Ohio.

The Great Rebellion. THE BEST WORK FOR CANTABRIGIA AGENTS. HARPER'S PICTORIAL HISTORY OF THE GREAT REBELLION.

THE UNITED STATES. Messrs. Harper & Brothers have commenced the issue of the Pictorial History of the Great Rebellion in the United States.

MODE AND TERMS OF PUBLICATION. The work will be issued in 12 numbers, each containing 64 pages, with 16 illustrations, and will probably be completed in about three or four weeks.

YOUNG MEN AND MEN OF LEARNING. READ THE FOLLOWING. Every Family Should Have a Good Library.

LIBRARY OF THE AMERICAN BOOK CONCERN. The following books will be sent to the subscribers of the American Book Concern, at a special price.

TO BUY GOOD GOODS CHEAP, AT NO. 1 MIAMI STREET. (STABLES OLD STAND.)

HERMAN FISHER

HERMAN FISHER