The following from the the Toledo commercial is of rather more than ordipary interest: "During the boom in wheat to Buffalo a short time ago the in-quiry was frequently made at the -local ustom house as to whether a Canadian essel could take wheat to buffalo on ayment of a tonnage tax as penalty. The opinion of Collector Fuller was that f done, while the vessel would be obliged to pay the tax, the cargo would be confiscated, and the law was cited to maintain this point. The anxious masters, lowever, imbued with the idea that they could do as they thought, and claimed time she appeared in the honest telegraph pole trade. But as warning, word was sent to Buffalo to intercept all intentional scheming in the way of Canadian vessels entering the commerce of the rumors against the China were true. 280,000 feet of pine lumber, shipped at Sault Ste. Marie and consigned to Buffalo parties, Upon arrival of the vessel her master promptly reported at the custom house, and the case was referred to the customs collector of the port. The $179 55. result was that he seized the cargo for the government, and as the prescribed for the same penalty for carrying it subjected the ressel to a fine of 50 cents per ton, the offense being that the China, a Canadian vessel as before stated, had illegally engaged in the carrying trade between American ports. death. She, during a residence of in our midst for several years, made many warm friends. The following notice of her death we take from the Daily Ontario, of Belleville:

Angenora N. Baker, daughter of Sandford Baker, Esq., late of Belleville, was born in Adams, Jefferson county, New York state, Dec. 16th, 1836. Her father moved to Canada in 1849, and in control of the same be allowed, and an order ordered drawn for the amount, $3 60. noved to Canada in 1849, and in con-mection with the late James Morton, of Kingston, purchased the "Baker" island in the Upper Bay. She was married to her now bereft husband in 1856, and entered thoroughly on the solemn respon-sibility of life, and her husband found in her a help meet indeed. She had been carefully nurtured and brought up according to the forms of the Presby-terian faith, but had never been enabled terian faith, but had never been enabled clearly to realize her personal acceptance with God. About fourteen years age, in a gracious revival at Rednerville, under the labors of Rev. F. Coleman, she was enabled to cast herself unreservedly on the infinite merits of the Saviour's death, and was made the conscious partaker of the grace of life. She then cast in her lot with the Lord's people, and, along with her husband, became a member of the Methodist church. Her fidelity to God was manifest in all the relations of life, and especially in her constant and faithful attendance on the means of grace. In the latter years of the means of grace. when the final summons came she was well prepared to go. Seidom has there been witnessed in life's last moments such tranquility of spirit, and such perfect readiness to "arise and depart." With very strong attachments to earth, at an age when she might hope to reap the autumn fruitage of life, leaving behind her a confiding husband and an interesting family that still needed her guardian presence and a mother's tenderest care, it might seem hard to sever the bond; but, by the grace of God, she met the last enemy with the hard to sever the bond; but, by the grace of God, she met the last enemy with the most heroic fortitude. She conversed freely with her family about the future, gave to all words of wise and thoughtful counsel, that will be treasured as precious memories of the dear departed, and then peacefully fell asleep in Jesus on the morning of September 27th. 1879, aged 42.

Her funeral was attended by a large concourse of people, who gathered to pay the last tribute of respect to her memory.
