An Independent Democratio Paper Tells Why Hancock Was Defeated and Garfield Elected.

Tells why Hancock Was Defeated and Garfield Elected.

From the Chicago Times, Nov.7.

The recent Presidential election has shown that their is an invincible reason why the Democratic party can never win a National victory. It is that the youth of this Republic are not Democrats. The sons of Democratic fathers have grown up Republicans. So long as slavery and the war linger within the memory of Americans, the youth of the Republic ans and slavery and the war will be remembered as long as the public school system exists. The public schools shave slain the Democratic party with the tex books. It is vain for statesmen to declare that there were as many Democrate as Republicans in the Union army. It is vain for statesmen to declare that there were as many Democrate as Republicans in the Union army. It is vain to affirm that the war for the preservation of the Union could not have been carried to a successful close without the assistance of the Democratic party. It is idle for philanthropy to suggest that the attitude of that party toward the war in the beginning was a humane one; that it was inspired by the higher and better wish that the cause of the conflict should be peaceably removed, and the spilling of brothers' blood by brothers' hands avoided. The Democratic party has been ideally identified with shavery and slaveholding. The Republican party is ideally identified with shavery and slaveholding. The Republican party is ideally identified with shavery and slaveholding. The Republican party is ideally identified with shavery and slaveholding. The Republican party is ideally identified with shavery and slaveholding. The Republican party is ideally identified with shavery and slaveholding. The Republican party is ideally identified with shavery and slaveholding. The Republican party is ideally identified with shavery and slaveholding. The Republican party is ideally identified with shavery and slaveholding. The Republican party is ideally identified with shavery and slaveholding. The Republican party is ideally i The Republican party is ideally identified with emancipation and the war. Therefore is the youth of the country incapable of being Democratic. Therefore the Democratic party can never win a National victory. Its old men are dy-ing away. The boys who catch the bal-lots that fall from their stiffened hands

This fact can not be denied. It will do no good to quarrel with it. All other causes which have operated to diminish the number of Democrats and increase the number of Republicans are insignificant beside this one tremendous and invincible fact. The curse of slavery has poisoned the blood and rotted the bone of the Democratic party. The malediction of the war has palsied its brain.

The young wife who held the babe up are Republicans.
This fact can not be denied. It will

The young wife who held the babe up to kiss the father as he hurried to the tap of his departing regiment, has not suckled a Democrat. The weary foot of the gray grandmother who watched the children while the wife was busy, has not rocked the cradle of Democrats. The hours that the soldier father never came to be the trips along.

"As silently she trips along." chair that the soldier father never came back to fill, has not been climbed upon the Democrats. The old blue coat that the Democrats. The old blue coat that his comrades carried back was cut up for little jackets, but not one inclosed the heart of a Democrat. The ratted musket that fell from him with his last shot, became the thoughtless toy of his boys; but not a hand that played with it was the hand of a Democrat. The babe he kissed crowed and crowed for his return, and its unwitting and unanswered the properties of the milk maid, and by describing her condition shows turn, and its unwitting and unanswered the properties of the milk maid, and by describing her condition shows there to be a child of the very nature von certifies that he was prostrated.

the mother read and the two controls of their brokers. The girls' sobs, blending with the mother's weeping, did not make Democrats of their brothers. Perhaps the father had been a Democrat all his life!

The children go to school. There is not a Democrat on its benches. The first reader contains the portrait of Abraham Lincoln—that kind and sturdy face never made a Democrat. On its move that the boys clustered at the key the main verse that climate without your Safe Pills and Bitters as a part of my outfit." 6nov3m Bitte raham Lincoln—that kind and sturdy face never made a Democrat. On its simple pages, in words of one or two syllables, is told the story of his birth and death. That story never made a Democrat. In the pranks of the playground the name silences the frolicsome, and makes the jolliest grave. That name never made a Democrat. In the pictures that light up the geography are the firing on Fort Sumter and the death of Ellsworth. Those pictures make no Democrats. The first page of the history contains a representation of the surrender of Lee at Appomattox. No boy gazes on that and ever after avows himself a Democrat.

In the higher grades the same subtle and unresisted influence is at work. The text-books contains extracts from patriots' speeches during the war. Those speeches make no Democrats. The great battles are briefly described; The great battles are briefly described; the narrative has no Democratic listeners. The strain of martial music runs through the readers, and that music makes no Democrats. Sketches of the great generals are given; their brave deeds arouse the enthusiasm of the lads, but there is no Democrat among them. The horrors and sufferings of the slaves are told; the maddened blood that mounts the boys cheeks is not Democratic blood. The curse of slavery has pursued the

"If you please, sir," said the young lady timidly, as the exchange editor handed her a chair, "I have composed a few verses, or partially composed them, and I thought you might help me finish them and then print them. Ma says they are real nice as far as they go, and pa takes the Eagle every dry."

She was a handsome creature, with beautiful blue eyes, and a crowning glory as yellow as golden rods. There was an expectant look on her face, a hopefulness that appealed to the holiest emotions, and the exchange editor made up his mind not so crush the longing of that pure heart if he never struck another lick.

more like this:

"The dove-eyed kine upon the moore
Look tender, meek and sad;
While from the valley comes the roar—"

"Of the matchless liver pad!" roared the exchange editor. "There you get it. That finishes the second so as to match with the first. It combines the fashions with poetry, and carries the idea right home to the fire side. If I only had your ability in starting a verse with my genius in winding it up, I'd quit the shears and open in the poetry business to-morrow."

"Wouldn't that do?"

reason for believing that the Anti-Ma-sonic candidates for the Presidency and Vice Presidency have been defeated. It is true that there are remote districts from which no returns have yet been refrom which no returns have yet been received, but it is hoping against hope to imagine that the returns from these districts, when they do come in, will make any material alteration in what now appears to be the result of the election. Messrs. Phelps and Pomeroy have been beaten, and the banner of Anti-Masonry has again been beaten down, and the country will have to reconcile itself to this painful fact.

Now that the battle is over and lost, we can ealmly examine the reasons for

Are told; the maddened blood that mounts the boys cheeks is not Democratic blood. The curse of slavery has pursued the Democratic party, and has hounded it to its death. Therefore, let it die; and no lip will be found to say a prayer over the grass on its grave.

The late defeat need not be attributed to any other cause. Other causes were at work—but they were only incidental. The tariff was one. Sectionalism was a second. "Let well enough alone," was a third. The October failure in Indiana was a fourth. But all these were trivial, and together could not have accomplished because the youth of the Republic is not Democratic. That party is, therefore, without a future and without a hope. The malediction of the war has palsied its brain. The curse of slavery has poiosned its blood and rotted its bone. Let it die.

A Young Poeters Who Called on the Editor.

From the Brooklyn Eagle.

"If you please, sir," said the young lady timidly, as the exchange editor handed her a chair, "I have composed a few verses, or partially composed them, and I thought you might help me finish we called the samination of this kind is always a more the defeat of the Anti-Masonic ticket; and it might be remarked that the examination of this kind is always a more satisfactory proceeding after a defeat than before it. It is concelled by all that in many districts there have been large Anti-Masonic gains. In Smithtown, Ohio, where the Anti-Masonic vote in 1876 was 1, it is this year 2, a gain of precisely 100 per cent. In Brownville, Md., 3 men voted on Tuesday for Phelps and Pomeroy, whereas last year only 2 men voted the Anti-Masonic local ticket at the annual election for the Superintendency of Prowling Pigs. Here is an other gain of 50 per cent. In Brownville, Hil., Phelps and Pomeroy received 1 vote, which is a clear gain of more per cent. than can well be estimated, inasmuch as the Anti-Masonic ticket in 1876 in that town received only the vote of a young man aged 18, and this vote was afterward thrown out by the reckless and perjured m we can calmly examine the reasons for the defeat of the Anti-Masonic ticket; may fairly be counted as an Anti-Masonic gain of several per cent, in a town where hitherto no Anti-Mason of any well defined sex, has ever been seen.
These figures, taken aimost at random from the returns from four different states, show an enormous Anti-Masonic gain, and cannot but awaken the utmost uneasiness for the future in the minds of Freemasons.

How has it happened that in spite of such tremendous gains the Anti-Masonic candidate had been defeated? As in the case of all defeated candidates, the exthat pure heart if he never struck another lick.

"May I show you the poetry?" continued the ripe, red mouth. "You will see that I couldn't get the last line of the verses, and if you would please be so kind as to help me—"

Help her! Though he had never even read a line of poetry, the exchange editor felt the spirit of the divine art flood his soul as he yielded to the bewildering tase of all defeated candidates, the explanation is, of course, fraud and corruption, though in this instance the malign influence of Freemasonry must also be considered. It can be proved that vast sums of money were expended both by the Republicans and the Democratic politician is a prominent Democratic politician is prominent Democratic politician is the Ridseville.

music. Help her! Well, he should smile.

"The first verse runs like this," she went on, taking courage from his eyes:

"How softly sweet the autumn air The dying woodland filis, And nature turns from restral care——"

"To anti-billions pills!" added the exchange editor, with a jerk. "Just the thing. It rhymes, and it's so. You take anybody now. Half the people you meet are——"

"I suppose yon know best," interrupted the young girl. I hadn't thought of it in that way, but you have a better idea of such things. Now the second verse is more like this:

"The dove-eyed kine upon the moore Look tender, meek and sad: while from the valley comes the roar—"

"Of the matchless liver pad!" roared the exchange editor. "There you get it. That finishes the second so as to match with the first. It combines the fashions with poetry, and carries the idea right of the people against the Anti-Masonic with poetry, and carries the idea right of the people against the Anti-Masonic with poetry, and carries the idea right of the people against the Anti-Masonic with poetry, and carries the idea right of the people against the Anti-Masonic with poetry, and carries the idea right of the people against the Anti-Masonic with poetry, and carries the idea right of the people against the Anti-Masonic with poetry, and carries the idea right of the people against the Anti-Masonic with poetry, and carries the idea right of the people against the Anti-Masonic with poetry, and carries the idea right of the people against the Anti-Masonic ticket. That finishes the second so as to match with the first. It combines the fashions with poetry, and carries the idea right of the people against the Anti-Masonic ticket. The people against the Anti-Masonic t

the basest means to influence the minds of the people against the Anti-Masonic candidates. Not one word or sylable of abuse was hurled at either of them. This studied refusal to extend to them the courtesies to which every candidate is entitled admits of no excuse. It cannot be pretended that either Mr. Phelps or Mr. Pomeroy deserved the brutal neglect. Nothing would have been easier than to have charged Mr. Phelps with congenital lunacy, complicated with subsequent idiocy. To the shame of the Democratic and Republican editors, it must be said that they persistently refused to make any such charge. The past public life of Mr. Pomeroy, who was at one time elected Senator from Kansas, and at another time was not, afforded every opportunity to his opponents for ed every opportunity to his opponents for vigorous and effective cempaign charges; but, nevertheless, he was treated with a systematic and silent contempt which must have made the blood of any earnest Anti-Mason approach the boiling point.
These men could not have been treated differently had they been quiet, respectable citizens, who had never been candidates for office. The utter refusal of their opponents to aid them by making charges against them. charges against them was essentially fraudulent and in direct conflict with the spirit of our institutions. It remains to be seen whether the matter cannot be brought before an Electoral Commission, and the votes of those States which have been unfairly secured by Garfield or Hancock thrown out.

"Well, I'll leave it to you," said the glorious girl with a smile that pinned the exchange editor's heart to his spine. "This is the fourth verse:
"The merry mikmaid's sombre song Re-echoes from the rocks, As silently she trips along."

"Well, I'll leave it to you," said the glorious girl with a smile that pinned the exchange editor. "Somble one of Garfield, Arthur, Hancock and English are all Free-masons, and as such will unquestionably aid one another in the future, as in the past, in every variety of crime. The accursed spirit of Free Masonry must be put down, and the Anti-Masons must never cease to nominate their candidates until they finally triumph at the polls, in spite of the desperate and corpolls, in spite of the desperate and cor-rupt devices of their opponents.
