The steam barge brought 300 tons of hard coal, from Buffalo for McArthur, Smith & Co. and 40 tons for Thompson Smith. She came up from Duncan yesterday afternoon and is discharging her cargo to-day.

—The Canadian schooner Pride of America fell a victim to the squall that passed over Cheboygan Saturday night. She had her canvass about all blown away and her hull strained so that she was leaking considerably. She made out to get up off this port Sunday evening and Monday was towed in by the Pendell. The captain made arrangements with the tug Wood to tow him to Chicago and left Wednesday afternoon.

The Water Works.

If the conceited genius of our cotemporary would not listen to "school children" quite so much, he would not be so liable to make himself the laughing stock of the whole community over his innumerable errors. Our information for our item last week, in regard to the use of water power for the water works, was derived from the Hon. Geo. W. Bell, chairman of the board of water commissioners, who had been authorized by a resolution, adopted by the board, to enter into contract for the completion of the works. The new race and the location for the buildings, pump house etc., had been surveyed and staked out when that item was written. This to any person not possessed of a "two-story addition and mansard roof brain-box" would be considered pretty reliable evidence upon which to make a statement. The village council at a special session, last night, confirmed our statement by voting to use water power, but, notwithstanding all this, we presume our cotemporary will continue to insist that the TRIBUNE "lied" about it.

Indian River Sept. 26 1881.

To the Editor of Northern Tribune.

A gentleman rusticated here, when returning from duck shooting, had a remarkably narrow escape from losing his life. He was standing on the upper part of a steamboat, and while in the act of discharging his fowling piece, it unbreached itself, which caused some slight wounds on some of his fingers. A more terrific gale has never blown within the remembrance of the oldest resident of this locality than was witnessed here on the night of Saturday the 24 inst.

Courageous looking men left the hotel and faced the driving wind and rain, holding on to small trees until it slightly abated, fearing the house would go to pieces. A lighter loaded with bark, in a tolerably well sheltered place, broke her mooring in Crooked lake taking a part of the dock with it. Before this will be in print the iron horse will have been in our midst.

W. F. G.

Big Lockage at the Sault.

The Chippewa County News says that Friday of last week there occurred an opportunity for the vessel men to appreciate the capacity of the new lock. The large tug Niagara with the schooners Montmorency, Montcalm, Montgomery, Montblance, Republic and M. F. Merick arrived in the canal bound down and were all placed in the new lock and locked down at once. These schooners were all of Welland canal size and the tug one of the largest, still had there been another schooner she would have been placed in the new lock, as there was room. It is only when such a fleet of vessels is seen in the lock, that its great capacity can be fully appreciated. The fleet carried down 3,305 tons of iron ore.

It was the largest business day on record. Forty-nine vessels, carrying upwards of twenty-five thousands tons of freight passed through the locks. It so happened that the dredge was at work so the new lock could be used, so that this immense business was done with comparatively little detention. Of the number passed thirty-one went through the new lock and eighteen through the old. The largest number of vessels ever passed before in one day was forty-three. Had the new lock not been in operation there would have been such a jam in the canal as has seldom, if ever, been seen before.

A Valuable Work.

C. B. Southwell is in the village canvassing for a valuable historical work by Charles Bancroft. It is entitled "Footprints of Time," and is a book of over 700 pages. A brief glance at the table of contents shows that it would be a very valuable work for reference, beginning, as it does, with the earliest histories of governments, giving a concise account of their founding, form and duration, and is very full in regard to the history of our own Republic bringing it down to the past summer. Mr. Southwell will call upon our citizens and all will be able to judge for themselves of the character and value of the work.
