NORTHERN TRIBUNE.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 20, 1883.

PROBABLY DROWNED.

A Series of Accidents Reported in Crossing the Straits—Two Men Reported Drowned.

One of our citizens who came down from Mackinaw City this morning reported a rumor that Louis P. Trempe, Jr, the well-known clerk of the propeller Ste. Marie, was lost while crossing the straits yesterday. We get the following particulars by telegraph. Mr. Trempe started across from St. Ignace with a team yesterday morning, and neither have been seen or heard from since, and as the ice was very treacherous, grave fears are entertained that Mr. Trempe and team broke through and are drowned. Although there is a possibility that they may have got bewildered in the storm, and taking a wrong direction have reached shore in some other locality. We hope the latter may be true. Mr. Trempe made many acquaintances during his numerous visits to our port on the steamer Ste. Marie and should it prove that he is drowned, all will regret the sad loss.

The mail carrier's team broke through yesterday, and team and mail were lost. The loss of a man between Mackinac and Ignace is also reported, name not known; also a horse drawing dynamite to release the Algomah was drowned. Teams were crossing in safety this forenoon. The Algomah was still stuck, with no prospect of her crossing to-day.

Differences Among Saints.

The saints of Ignace are considerably torn up as it were over projects of future self government, and if they remain in the end, saints by nature as well as in name, we miss our guess. For some months past they have had a wordy war over there as to the best mode of procedure. The house seems divided against itself. Some are in favor of one village and one supervisor. Some others are in favor of three separate villages with a supervisor "at large" while others are in favor of one big city organization with all the name implies, (except the inhabitants,) three wards, any quantity of aldermen, and three supervisors. There may be some other schemes, but we have not them in mind just now. Public meetings have been held without number, and much eloquence gone to waste, and still the saints are no nearer rest than when they began to agitate. They have therefore hid themselves to Lansing, by delegation, where they hope to get the wise solons of the state to solve their difficulties for them. We hope they will succeed for we are satisfied that these saints can never agree.

A Good Sea Boat.

The sea-going qualities of the A. C. Van Raalte are well known. The following story, while it may be somewhat "fishy," all must concede is to the point as illustrating her good qualities in this respect. On one of her trips up the north shore she encountered a very severe blow but she kept on her way, plowing through the waves, some of which completely drenched her. A gentleman who was on board came down on the lower deck during the storm and there discovered two fine specimens of white fish, and turned to one of the hands and asked: "John, where did these fish come from?" "Well, I don't know, the fireman threw them up out of the fire hole a few minutes ago, and said they came down the smoke stack."

"What's In a Name."

Our cotemporary seems to take exception to the name "Aftermath," adopted by the young people's society of the Congregational church. The name is in very common use by such societies and is interpreted as meaning "gleaning after," and in this sense is very appropriate in connection with such a society, as the efforts are secondary to the regular organization, in aiding and supporting the church. But give it the literal interpretation as they say, "our dictionary makes it stand for a second crop of grass," and wherein it is inappropriate? Does not the bible say: "All flesh is as grass," then certainly the young people cannot be considered the first crop, and hence the "greenness and freshness is all the imagination of the editor.

Saug Harbors for Seamen.

From a special telegram to the Chicago Inter Ocean, from Washington, we learn that Representative McLean, of Missouri, has prepared a bill which he will shortly introduce in the House, providing for the establishment, under the Supervising Surgeon General of the Marine Hospital service, of four national snug harbors for seamen. It is proposed to locate these harbors in the northern, southern, eastern, and western sections of the country, in order to encourage American seamen, and to provide for such as become aged, helpless, and disabled. The expenses for the maintenance of these institutions are to be paid from the marine hospital fund, and a seaman to be eligible to the benefits is to be required to produce evidence of service on a United States vessel not less than five years. The Secretary of the Treasury, by the terms of the bill, is authorized to purchase the sites and cause the necessary buildings to be erected, the plans of which are to be prepared by the Supervising Architect of the Treasury.

We trust the bill will become a law. The occupation of a sailor is a very hazardous one, and as a class they are not very provident, engaged for only a portion of the year, and then often at meager pay, they fall to lay by a store for old age. During the time they are engaged they pay hospital dues and from this source a large sum is derived, much greater than is expected in providing treatment for the sick or disabled, in the marine hospital, and we think in expending this surplus in providing homes for them in their old age, the government will be doing a very wise thing, and no more than is justly due those engaged in the calling.

Two Good Appointments.

Gov. Begole has about completed the dispensing of the official "loaves and fishes" and he may now look forward to a little more peace in life. He has made some good, some bad, and some which may be termed indifferent appointments, but in the main they have been very satisfactory. Among the good may be classed that of E. J. Smith, of Lenawee for State Oil Inspector. Mr. Smith is a Democrat of the most pronounced type, but withal a gentleman whom it is a pleasure to know, and one whose integrity and uprightness is beyond question. That he will make a very zealous and efficient Oil Inspector we have no doubt. It is needless to say that he is an editor having for years been connected with the Adrian Press, and at present with the Daily Record. We also desire to commend another appointment, that of A. P. Swineford as Commissioner of Mineral Statistics, than whom no better man could be found in the state for the place. Mr. Swineford is the editor of the Marquette Mining Journal, and is thoroughly conversant with the practical needs of the mining industries and we can safely say that the state's money expended through Mr. Swineford will be placed where it will do the most good.

The Salt Well.

The work at the salt well continues to progress very satisfactorily, the rock continuing good and the drilling going on with good progress, some days cutting sixteen feet. Wednesday night they were down 935 feet, at which time they shut down to put in the four inch casing. The hole has to be rimmed out down about fifty feet in the rock, from where the four inch tubing enters, to form an offset. This and putting in the casing occupied the rest of the week. The first of the week they struck a stream of mineral water, or some substance that gave the water a brackish taste, which some thought was indications of salt, but since then the water has regained its pure taste. Monday the drilling will be resumed and every indication points to a successful completion of the work. They are bound to have that salt if it is to be found in that hole.

Church Services.

Services will be held at the usual hours at the Independent Church. The subject of Mr. Thompson in the afternoon will be "A Beautiful Pictures" and in the evening, "Blind Leaders." In this connection it may be well to state that to-morrow and the Sunday following, are the last Sundays of Mr. Thompson's six months arrangement with the Independent Church, and unless some arrangement is made to continue him as the pastor, it will be the last opportunity, for some time, of hearing him. In any event he will take a vacation, to make a visit to his old home.

Complimentary Entertainment.

The complimentary entertainment next Wednesday evening for the benefit of Messrs. Fax and Lent promises to be a very interesting and enjoyable affair. The beneficiaries will be assisted by the following well known local talent of our village: Mrs. Geo. G. Wharton, Mrs. James J. Brown, Miss Cassie Summers, and Messrs. W. G. Boggs, Wm. Langmaid and James J. Brown. The following interesting programme has been arranged, from which our citizens can judge of the treat that is in store for those who attend:

What Everybody Wants.

Is a reliable medicine that never does any harm and that prevents and cures disease by keeping the stomach in order, the bowels regular, and the kidney and liver active. Such a medicine is Parker's Ginger Tonic. It relieves every case, and has cured thousands. See other column.—Tribune.

MUSIC.

Mrs. Magoffin is now prepared to receive at her residence any who desire her services as teacher of music. From her experience of years as a successful instructor in the science, she is confident that she can satisfy those who are anxious to learn. Terms made known on application to her at St. James Rectory, south of the Court House.
