ANNUAL REVIEW.

Facts and Figures of Local Interest Gleaned from the Annual Review of the Lumber Interests by the Northwestern Lumberman, Chicago.

We are in receipt of the Northwestern Lumberman's annual review, saw mill edition. It consists of 212 pages, full of matters of interest to those engaged or interested in the great lumber traffic of our country. This mammoth edition of the Lumberman consumed twenty-five tons of paper in the printing, and required the continuous work of four immense presses running night and day for three weeks. It gives a complete list, by states and territories, of the saw mills in the United States and the British provinces. In the United States, Pennsylvania leads the list with 1,291 mills, New York following with 1,069, Indiana third with 1,006, Michigan coming fourth with 933, the territory of Arizona bringing up the rear with 8 mills. The counties in which the mills are located and the number of mills in each county, and the estimated daily capacity of each mill, are given. We find Cheboygan's list as follows:

| | | |
|---|---------|---------|
| Cheboygan Lumber Co. | 100,000 | 120,000 |
| J. B. McArthur | 50,000 | 60,000 |
| McArthur, Smith & Co. | 100,000 | 120,000 |
| Mattson, Ogden & Co. | 25,000 | 30,000 |
| Thompson Smith (2) | 150,000 | 200,000 |
| W. S. Smith | 35,000 | 40,000 |
| Southern Michigan Cedar and Lumber Co. limited. | 25,000 | 30,000 |

Making a total daily capacity of from 485,000 to 600,000 feet. The mill of Young & Co. has been omitted, which would add upon the basis of the estimate given 25,000 to 30,000 feet more.

Those who are familiar with the mills here will observe that the estimated capacity given is rather under the actual capacity of the different mills. They make an error in placing McArthur, Smith & Co.'s mill in as a steam mill.

LUMBER CUT 1882. The lumber cut of the Cheboygan mills in 1882 is given as follows:

| | |
|-----------------------|-------------|
| J. B. McArthur | 75,000,000 |
| Cheboygan Lumber Co. | 15,000,000 |
| Thompson Smith | 25,000,000 |
| McArthur, Smith & Co. | 15,851,788 |
| Mattson, Ogden & Co. | 4,000,000 |
| W. S. Smith | 5,600,000 |
| Total | 144,751,788 |

It will be seen that the cut of Young & Co.'s mill is omitted, which if added would make the total cut of our mills about 80,000,000 feet, in our opinion less than the aggregate amount cut.

NUMBER OF MEN EMPLOYED.

| | |
|---|-----|
| They give the number of men employed by the different mills as follows: | |
| J. B. McArthur | 75 |
| Cheboygan Lumber Co. | 35 |
| Thompson Smith (2 mills) | 250 |
| McArthur, Smith & Co. | 85 |
| Mattson, Ogden & Co. | 25 |
| W. S. Smith | 27 |
| Total | 497 |

To which should be added those employed by Young & Co., omitted in report, say 25, making 520 men employed last season.

The amount of lumber on hand at the Cheboygan and Duncan City mills is estimated at 25,000,000 feet, and the grand total on hand throughout the country is given at 3,368,458,081 feet.

Convention of Probate Judges.

A call has been issued for a convention of Probate Judges, for the state of Michigan, to take place at the rooms of the Pioneer society, at the state capitol, Lansing, on February 8th and 9th, 1883. The invitation is endorsed by thirty-one of the Probate Judges of the state, and the body of the document reads as follows:

The undersigned Probate Judges of the State of Michigan, believing that the public interest would be greatly served by certain amendments to our probate laws, and by simplifying and reducing to uniformity the practice in our probate courts, do unite in earnestly inviting Probate Judges of this state, so far as may be practicable, to meet with them at the rooms of the Pioneer society in the state capitol at Lansing, on Thursday, the 8th day of February next, at 10 o'clock A. M., to confer together concerning the important interests over which they preside. The convention will continue through Thursday and Friday.

It is desired that all shall be present from the beginning, and that every one should prepare a list of topics for consideration. Judges who expect to be present will please send their names to R. E. Phinney, Monroe, on or before February 2d.

Card of Thanks.

To the many friends and neighbors who so sympathizingly and kindly assisted us in our late and sad bereavement, we would tender our most sincere thanks. MRS. H. A. CONRAD AND FAMILY.

Death of Rev. H. A. Conrad.

We regret to announce that, contrary to hopes expressed last week, Rev. H. A. Conrad, pastor of the Baptist church of this village, was called home by death last Sunday morning, dying the death of a Christian, in his last moments singing hymns of praise to his Heavenly Father. The work of the deceased in this community and his well known Christian character, evinced by his daily walk and conversation, leaves no room for eulogiums from us. His death is a loss that will be deeply felt, not only by the church of which he was pastor and which is so greatly indebted to him for the earnest and devoted labors of both hand, heart, and mind, but by the entire community, by whom he was dearly beloved. He was particularly endeared to those in the humbler walks of life, for whom he ever had a kind word, and was never known to withhold a helping hand.

The funeral took place Wednesday afternoon, the services very appropriately being held at the little chapel, which owed its existence to the labors and perseverance of the deceased and which, as long as it lasts, will be a fitting monument to the memory of one so dear to his people. The services were conducted by Dr. Hartley, of the Congregational church, assisted by Rev. J. H. McGoffin of the Episcopal, and Rev. W. M. Campbell, of the Methodist churches, and were very impressive. The large attendance at the last sad rites showed the estimation the deceased was held in by the community at large, and many a warm tear from the weeping eyes of those in attendance showed the sympathy felt for the near relatives so sadly bereaved. The deceased was sixty-one years old the 15th day of last November, and in his diary, on that day, had noted the fact that forty years ago that day he had cut and put up four cords of hard maple wood.

The Senatorial Contest.

Another week has passed without any choice of U. S. Senator, and the ultimate result seems further off than when the first ballot was taken. During the week Ferry lost one or two supporters who went over to the opposition, making thirty-one voting against the majority. The opposition still adhere to their original plan of scattering their votes among many candidates. There is much speculation as to what will be the final outcome. It is said that nearly fifty of the members who participated in the caucus have planted themselves squarely upon the principle that the majority should rule, and purpose to vote it out on that line if it takes all winter.

The caucus committee have established a daily organ, called the Observer, to refute the slanderous charges that have been made so liberally against Mr. Ferry. The TRIBUNE believes that the majority should rule, and that Senator Ferry was the choice of a majority of the Republicans of the state as well as of the members of the Legislature, for his own successor, but it doubts the propriety of those managing his interests in Lansing going into the campaign newspaper business. The members of the Legislature are intelligent men, and have fully made up their minds what their future course will be, and the responsibility must rest with them. Nothing that this campaign paper can say will influence a vote. It seems to us lowering the standard of the election of a United States Senator to that of a ward politician.

The struggle as it now stands is whether the minority or majority shall rule. If the principle that a small minority can dictate the terms of settlement in closely waged political contests is adopted, it is hard to tell just what would be the future organization of political parties.

Straits of Mackinaw.

To the editor of the Bay City Tribune. MACKINAW CITY, Jan. 20—I have been here a week, during the great storm that so effectually blockaded the straits that the Algolah, the railroad transfer boat, has not been able to make her regular trips, which she will no doubt do in a day or two. In the meantime I wish to say to my friends and to the traveling public generally, as there are foolish and exaggerated stories afloat, that I have crossed and re-crossed the straits by the railroad companies' transfers (covered and opened busses), that the companies' transfers are complete and safe for ladies and gentlemen. The connections are all made in good time. The arrangements for the several railroad companies are ample. A. J. Richards, P. E., Superintendent of home missions of M. E. Church.

Circuit Court.

The snow blockade on the railroads prevented Judge Ramsdell from reaching here in time to open court Tuesday. He succeeded in getting here in time to open court Wednesday, continuing until last evening, when, the business on the calendar being disposed of, the court adjourned. The following business was disposed of:

People vs. Fred Keller, larceny. Prisoner plead guilty and was sentenced to State House of Correction, Ionia, for 18 months.

Petition of Florence and Maria J. Thomas, infants, for sale of land. Granted.

Christopher Laing and George McMullen, admitted to citizenship.

James Beatty, et al., vs. Charles H. Nuite, replevin. Verdict for defendant.

Allen Smith vs. John W. Peck, continued, on motion of plaintiff.

Donald Kennedy vs. John D. McDonald. Continued on motion of defendant upon payment of costs.

Charles Haskins vs. Hiram Wixon. Discontinued without costs, on motion of plaintiff's attorney.

Timothy Murphy vs. Charles H. Nuite. Appeal. Plaintiff non-suited.

Louis Sova vs. Gilbert Lafranier, trespass. Verdict for defendant.

Alfred Hudson vs. J. P. Sutton and George Paquette, continued by consent without cost to either party.

Joseph Corrow vs. J. P. Sutton and George Paquette, same disposition as in Hudson case.

Petition of J. L. & S., and G. R. I. railroad companies for vacating certain streets in the village of Mackinaw City, heard and petition granted.

Daniel W. Strohn vs. John Sova, replevin. Discontinued without costs, on motion of plaintiff's counsel.

Chas. Bellant vs. S. A. Mattson, et al. continued on payment of costs on motion of plaintiff's counsel.

Wm. H. Tousey vs. Wm. S. Smith, replevin. Discontinued without costs on motion of plaintiff's counsel.

Richard P. Gustin, et al., vs. Thurlow Weed, judgment for plaintiffs for $800.92.

Elliott and Cyrena Carter vs. George Carter, et al., demurrer to bill sustained.

Personal.

JUDGE BROWN, of St. Ignace was in the village Wednesday.

E. NELSON, Esq., has again left here for Chicago and New York.

REV. R. M. THOMPSON expects to start home Sunday night or Monday morning.

J. D. SMITH, Esq., formerly of this place, but now of Strongsville, Chippewa county, was in the village Monday.

E. H. PHELPS, secretary of Manager Ledyard of the M. C. railroad, arrived up from Detroit Sunday evening and spent several days in our village.

ORISTUS CONRAD, of Plainwell, reached here Sunday, called by the sad errand of attending the funeral of his brother Rev. H. A. Conrad. He left for home Thursday.

BERT CONRAD arrived home Tuesday night, called by the death of his father. He is engaged teaching school ten miles from Ludington, and the failure to reach him in time by a telegram sent Wednesday of last week, prevented his arriving home previous to the death of his father.

Masonic Grand Lodge.

The Masonic Grand Lodge of this state, which closed its annual session at Kalamazoo Wednesday, elected the following officers: C. F. R. Bellows, Ypsilanti, grand master; Arthur M. Clark, deputy; J.
