NASBY.

Mr Nasby calls a Meeting and attempts to Address It—Joe Bigler forces Himself to the Front, and Makes the Speech Himself.

Confederate X Roads (Which is in the State of Kentucky.) June 22 1884.

I considered it necessary to call a meeting of the Democracy together last night to the end of concerting methods of conducting the next campaign. I was much set the salverash of the corners, as well as the kentry, depends upon the defeat of Blaine. I concluded to act upon the principle that eternal vigilance is the price of liberty.

Therefore I called a meeting that I might set the ball a rollin and commist to address it myself. I opened eloquently ez follows:—

Fellow Citizens:—To begin with I shal hev to explain—

That wuz all uv that speech wich I ever delivered. That audashus wrotch, Joe Bigler, forced his way thro the throng, and assending to the pulpit requested me to set down, wich I did when he requests I alluz do.

"Feller citizens," says Josef, "the word 'explain' wich our subsided friend yooosed, reminds me uv an anecdote. There was a man wich hed a wife, and the wife went away from home to visit her mother to be gone some two weeks. She hed jst got to the depot to take the train when she remembered suthin wich made it necessary for her to return immediately to her peaceful home. She entered the front door and discovered her husband on the stairs kissin her servant gal. This was twenty years ago. The gentleman wich was narratin the effectin incident to his friends recently, and he remarked: 'And j-j-j-ist t-t-t-think uv t-t-the o-n-r-r-reason-b-b-b-lea-o-o-ss uv w-w-o-o-men. It t-t-took me t-f-fifteen years to explain that.'

"My friends, Democracy hez a very similer experience. Originally he wuz wedded to the Goddis uv Liberty, and a very promisin couple they wuz. But in Calhoun's time the Goddess caught him kissin the old karlot Seceshn, and hez bin over 30 odd years explainin that."

"Seasely wuz that fixed up when he went gallivantin off after Slavery, the elder sister uv Seceshn, and made war upon Mexico at her biddin. He hez bin over 30 years explainin that."

"Oact more leavin his lawful bride, he took an excursion into Kansas," and wuz kep mity busy for several years explainin that."

"Then Slavery and Seceshn jined hands in 1861 and attempted to murder his spouse, and he follerd 'em blindly, giving 'em all the help he could. He hez bin explainin that for about 24 years."

"From 1865 to 1878 he made a vigerus effort to save the life uv both the old hags, and he hez hed his hands full ever since to explain that."

"Forgettin his marital vows he afterwards assulted his wife's first cousin, the Nashuel Credit, and insisted upon flat money and killin off speshy payment and he hez been explainin that ever since."

"And jst now he off on an expedition with Free Trade and he'll worry yer souls out uv yoo for the next ten years trying to explain that."

"He prosecuted every unjust war we hev ever waged, and opposed the only just one we hev ever hed, and hez bin explainin both uv em ever sence."

"He rushed off into repoodshashen uv a honest debt and he hez bin explainin that ever sence."

"He howled for speshy, when we ought to hev good paper munny and howled for rag munny when we ought to hev nothin but speshy or its equivalent, and he's bin explainin that ever sence."

"In brief the fust thing a Dimekratic speaker alluz does when he commences his speech is to explain, and that okkopies him till he closes."

"My friends there don't happen to be a single thing that Democracy hez attempted to do that he hez'n't bin compelled to explain. He hez managed with a skill wich is trooly wonderful, to git on the wrong side of every question that hez bin afore the Amerikin people ever since he wuz born. Ef there's a sin wich he hez'n't takon to his buz and fur wish he's now explainin, I don't happen to remember it, if there's a heresy he hez'n't sided with, an error wich he hez'n't embraced, a wrong wich he hez'n't championed, and a piece of d-d foolishness wich he hez'n't endorsed, I hev forgotten it."

"Other parties sometimes make mistakes—the Democracy hez a weeknls for erime. It perpetually wants to commit murder without any reason for it. It wuz the one party that never wuz rite One wud suppose it mite occasionally blunder into doin the proper thing, but it doesn't. It hez the whiskey infloocnes at its back, and it wud court mormonism of Utah hed a electoral vote. Ther ain't any sin wich it doesn't take to with a relish, none wich its adherence won't stumick. The Dimekratic stumick is wuz nor an ostrich—the ostrich can digest simple stones—Democracy waxes strong as atcoal pizen. It can't feed on grass, and sweet corn wud turn its stumick. It wants still slope with striekain into it."

"The Dimekratic party if like a rotlatia army—it alluz hez to lookout for its rear. It's biggest enemy is its past."

It hez to spend its entire time explainin how it hez'n't been really to blame fur bein a d-d fool. It's It wuz high time for this sort uv talk to stop, for the infidde hed really got the attentashun of the people. Ther wuzn't no yoose uv movin an adjernment and the people must be stampoded sumhow. Heroic treatment wuz necessary. Calmly I rose and, interruptin the speaker, remarkt to the awjence:—"Gentlemen, I hev recently hed a legacy left me, and I rekest yoo all to accompany me to Bascom's where I hev several bottles drawd from a fresh barl, wich yoo are welcome to. I want yoo to jine me in a drink!"

The effeek wuz elektrick. There wuz a wild charge fur the door, fur three bottles wud skasey go round in such a crowd, and each wuz determined to be fust. Issaker Gavitt piled over the heds uv the crowd, and wuz out uv the door in a jiffy, with Deekin Pogran hangin to his coat tails. The sagashus old man wuz confascatin a porshua uv the strength uv the younger man, that he might not be eternely too late.

I had to pawn a Waterbury watch wich I hed borrowd uv a travella man for a Louisville whiskey house, to git the bottles, for Bascom is obdooit. But I succeedd in breakin up the meetin. The Aposle Paul coudnt hold a Cross-Roads awjence agin an invitashen to take suthin. I hev hopes that this sacrifice will be remembered by the next Administrashen, ef we elect a Dimekratic President. It is no small matter fur me to put out three bottles uv whiskey for others when I so need em myself. But sacrifices must be made fur the cause."

PETROLEUM V. NASBY, (Worried.)

Fusion Prospects in Michigan.

There are several obstacles in the way of another fusion of the Greenbackers and Democrats in the state this fall, but the principal one is likely to be a satisfactory division of the offices. The candidacy of Gen. Butler tends to complicate matters to a large extent. The Greenbackers naturally feel that the fusion should extend beyond the State ticket—in short, that the Democracy should indorse Butler. There is little disposition on the part of the Democratic leaders to go this far, and there is already a large element in the Greenback ranks in Michigan will feel that they ought not to be called upon to unite with the Democracy upon a State ticket if the Democracy refuses to unite with them on the Presidential ticket. The Hastings Home Journal one of the leading Greenback papers of the State, has become disgusted with the attitude of the Democracy and openly advises its party to cut loose from all alliances. It says:

The recent Democratic State Convention was an earnest of the feeling of the Democratic party toward the independent element of this State. The alliance of '85-3, while carried out in good faith by both parties' has not cemented the opposition to the Republican party, and the sneers and contempt which have been so lavishly bestowed upon the National Greenback Anti-Monopoly element has strengthened the opinion among all true Greenbackers that their is but one way to properly advance our principles—to promptly hold a State Convention, nominate a State and Electoral ticket and go earnestly to work in its behalf. With Gen. B. F. Butler as our standard bearer we can secure second place in this State if not first. The general revolt against Blaine and Bourbonism makes even Michigan debatable ground. We therefore urge our State Committee to take early and decided action toward a vigorous campaign, without the aid or deference to the wishes of any other party: Sicee our candidate for President is not good enough for Democratic leaders, our votes will notice good enough to elect their men.

There has been some talk of a division of the electoral ticket in this State but the Greenbackers understand they have nothing to gain by such a move. With three candidates in the field the Democrats would reap all the benefits of a victory in Michigan. Without a fusion upon the State ticket the Republicans are certain to carry the State by a majority running anywhere from five to forty thousand, but with the present temper of both Democrats and Greenbackers and opposition that has developed against Gov. Begole the prospects of an alliance this fall upon a satisfactory basis are not as encouraging as the opponents of 'Republicanism' have hoped for. The action taken by the Chicago Convention will undoubtedly have much to do with the solution of problem in Michigan. If Butler should be endorsed this State would go on the doubtful list, and the refusal to endorse Butler is quite likely to result in a refusal on the part of the Greenbackers to enter into another coalition.—Detroit Evening Journal.
