NORTHERN TRIBUNE.

Entered at the Postoffice at Cheboygan Mich., as Second Class Matter.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1884.

THE CITY.

"Shy of Spilloh" Saturday evening at the Opera House. Don't forget it.

A pair of Boots have skipped from Cheboygan leaving a number of creditors to mourn their departure.

George F. Reynolds, cashier of the First National bank, left last Friday morning to visit friends in Ohio.

Fred Lent arrived from the Sault Ste. Marie and is allowing the light of his countenance to shine upon his numerous friends.

The Ladies Aid Society of the M. E. church realized the handsome sum of $45 from their harvest home festival, held on Tuesday night of last week.

Messrs Gero & Smyth will give another masquerade at the skating rink New Years eve. Those who attended their former masquerades will know what to expect.

Lovers of skating are having fine sport every afternoon on the ice inside the breakwater. The boys keep the snow cleaned off and the attendance would indicate that the sport was attractive.

Elsewhere will be found a programme of the themes and exercises for Michigan M. E. churches, arranged by the Ashbury Centenary Association, for celebrating the centennial of the organization of the Methodist Episcopal church in the United States.

Mrs. J. D. Peters, of Los Angeles, Cal., who has been visiting Mrs. R. Rapp, left Saturday morning to visit friends in the southern part of the state. Mrs. Rapp accompanied her as far as Mackinaw City and spent Sunday with friends at that place.

There was a good audience in attendance at the Union Thanksgiving services at the Congregational church last Thursday. Rev Northrup, pastor of the M. E. church, delivered an excellent discourse, showing great care and study in its preparation.

Rindskoff Bros. present a change of advertisement in this issue. These hard times it behooves us all to buy to advantage, especially if it is a present let it be something useful, and we know of no better place than the Star Clothing House to find something useful and within reach.

A re-count of the vote on the autograph quilt at "Harvest Home Festival" by the ladies of the M. E. Church and the highest vote was given to Miss Kate Hamilton. This was a case when they went behind the original returns in order to do justice. Mrs. Northrup got the quilt all the same.

Last Saturday afternoon the school board met to open bids for supplying wood for the school. Several bids were in, running $1.10, $1.20, $1.24 and $1.25 per cord. It was voted to award the contract to Thomas Richardson, who was the lowest bidder, $1.10 per cord. The amount called for was 125 cords.

Mrs. C. J. Rosenblad's eldest daughter, aged 8 or 9 years, died last Sunday morning from congestion of the lungs. She had been ailing two or three weeks, but it was not thought her sickness would terminate in her death. She was a bright, promising child, and her death is a sad loss to mother and family of children.

I. S. Cooper's valuable hound which was stolen from him while hunting deer was returned to him on the Atlantic last Friday, having been found at Rogers City by Mr. Campbell. The latter says the parties having the dog did not want to let him go and credits Dr. J. B. Patterson with interfering in his behalf and securing its return. The animal looked as if it had been badly used, being gaunt and poor.

We trust our citizens will bear in mind the presentation again Saturday evening at the Opera House of the "Spy of Shiloh." The G. A. R. boys are deserving of a crowded house, and ought to have it. The piece is presented in an excellent manner, the parts being sustained in a manner highly creditable to our local talent. Let everybody make an effort to attend, and give Ruddock Post G. A. R., a good financial benefit.

In this issue we give the new time table of the Michigan Central railroad.

Will Ross is moving into the cottage on Huron street recently vacated by Dr. Chas. Perrin.

The M. E. Sunday school scholars are rehearsing a cantata that will be presented about Christmas.

The weather yesterday was very spring like, so much so that local politicians commenced talking spring politics.

It is claimed that C. A. Gallagher has the inside track in the race for the Cheboygan postoffice under Cleveland's administration.

We have received notice that the Auditor General has designated the TRIBUNE as the paper to publish the list of land for sale, for non-payment of taxes, in Cheboygan county.

St. Mary's school will open next Monday. Everything is in good shape in connection with the school building, an efficient corps of teachers will have charge, and the indications are all in favor of a very successful session.

Owing to the departure of Miss Cassie Summers from town, Miss Jennie Garretson has consented to take the character of Stella Stevens in the Spy of Shiloh. Miss Garretson is an accomplished vocalist and will fill the part charmingly.

Fred Siegel, a member of Ruddock Post G. A. R. of Cheboygan writes that he is pleasantly located in the Soldiers' Home at Dayton, Ohio, and speaks in the highest terms of the care and treatment he is receiving. It was through Postmaster Humphrey's efforts that he secured entrance into the home.

Sunday the propeller Van Raalte landed at Smith & Baker's dock 30 bags of silver ore from Garden River, Ontario. It weighed 2,589 pounds, and was reported nearly pure silver, and worth $5,000 or $6,000. It was consigned to the Cascade Mining company, Chicago, and was forwarded from here by rail.

Last Thursday a number of deck hands on the Messenger, who were shipped in Chicago, were paid off and discharged and arrangements made for their passage to Chicago on the Champlain. Having a few hours to spare before the latter would depart, they came up town to celebrate Thanksgiving, and the consequence was they got so full of Thanksgiving that they were a trifle late for the boat, and got left. Two or three of them were gathered in by the police and spent the night in the cooler.

The tug Swain returned this morning from the schooner Chaudler J. Wells, bringing the outfit and everything they could recover from the wreck, the schooner having to be abandoned. One large lighter load of her deck load of lumber was saved and landed on the dock at Beaver harbor. They took off two lighter loads but in the first they did not fasten the hatches of the scow down and the heavy sea washed them off, she filled and dumped the lumber off in the lake. The residents of the islands will be able to get quite a supply of lumber from the beach.

Leap year is drawing near to a close and we are afraid the ladies of Cheboygan are about to let some little one horse town capture one of the most eligible chances that has ever been put within reach of the female portion of this community. Of course our readers will instantly surmise that this refers to the elegant blonde, Dan McLeod, an Apollo in form and a Chesterfield in manners. Two East Saginaw maidens, who have a proper idea of the beautiful, sent flattering offers accompanied by proper recommendations, and the St. Ignace News remarks if he was in that place he would be taken up "too quick." A word to the wise is sufficient.

The masquerade ball given by the base ball club Thanksgiving night was a great success. The attendance in costume was large and the room assigned spectators was completely filled. Much to the disappointment of those in attendance Jerry Hopper did not put in his appearance on stilts. Jerry says he had the rheumatism in one leg so bad that it felt as big as an elephant's and he was afraid to mount his stilts for fear of endangering his neck, or break a limb. Dancing was kept up until the "wee sma' hours" began to lengthen and every person enjoyed themselves to the utmost. The best of order was maintained and the boys are entitled to great credit for the happy affair.

George Gane, of Mackinaw City, goes on the road next week as agent for a Cadillac firm.

The funeral of Charles Hart took place to-day under the auspices of the Knights of Labor, of which the deceased was a member.

The township treasurers are ready to receive taxes. The treasurers of Benton and Beaupre townships have notices in this issue, read them.

Robert Coner returned home Tuesday evening. He left Mrs. Coner visiting friends in Saginaw, and his niece, Maud Tolfree, is visiting in Rochester, New York.

Captain Mosier took advantage of the nice weather the first of the week to bring down the river several lighters of stone, with the tug Cuyler, for filling in cribs to strengthen the dam.

If you are not now a subscriber to the NORTHERN TRIBUNE you should begin the new year by having your name put on the list. Ten pages every week, cut and pasted and only $1.50 per year.

The crew of the wrecked schooner Chaudler J. Wells complain that the captain of the schooner refuses to pay their fare to their respective homes. They claim that it is customary to do so. The captain paid them what was due them.

Remember the last presentation of that fine and thrilling allegorical representation, "The Spy of Shiloh," will be given at the Opera House Saturday evening. It is worthy the patronage of all in itself, to say nothing about the laudable object.

Henry W. Seymour, in a lengthy article in the Soo News, suggests a convention of residents of the upper peninsula and Marquette next June to consult and take some action in favor of the great mining and industrial interests of that portion of the state, and devise ways and means of securing from Congress legislation to promote the interests of that section. The suggestion is a good one.

Before buying your Christmas presents consult the advertising columns of the TRIBUNE. These hard times but few have the wherewith to invest in wholly ornamental articles, but in the advertisement of Cheboygan merchants in the TRIBUNE columns will be found many articles that are among the necessities in every family, and wisdom would suggest that when you are buying a present purchase something that will be of service.

R. L. Polk & Co., proprietors of the Michigan State Gazetteer and Directory, have written to John F. McDonald for corrections for their new directory for the "town of Mullet Lake." The directory of 1883 makes it quite an extensive village and numerous business interests. To do this they take in a town of Inverness, coming from the corporation line of Cheboygan. In the list, as published in their last directory, is "John F. McDonald, general store," and also includes 3 shoemakers, 5 carpenters, 2 wagon makers and 5 justices of the peace.

We regret to learn of the death of the infant child of Mr. and Mrs. James Lynam formerly of Cheboygan, now of San Pedro, Spanish Honduras. The child was born in Cheboygan, and Mr. and Mrs. Lynam have many friends here who will be sad when they hear of the babe's death. The Bay City Tribune published a very affecting letter from a resident of Honduras describing the funeral and the sadness of all over the death. It was the first to be buried in the new cemetery and a member of the mining camp read the beautiful burial service of the Episcopal church. Mr. Lynam was long one of our efficient night-watchmen.

The Ste. Marie, on her last trip to Grand Marais, run on a newly formed bar in the channel, and was stuck fourteen hours before she was released. It was rumored that she had gone to pieces, but Steward Wm. Smith arrived down this morning from the "Soo," coming overland, and he reports her all right, in winter quarters at Sault Ste. Marie. He says the propeller Morley was on rocks about 200 yards from where the Ste. Marie struck, and had not gone to pieces when the Ste. Marie left. The tug Moore had been up and looked her over, but had made no effort to release her when the Ste. Marie left. He reports the steam-barge Erin, Canadian, on near Grand Marais, the crew passing down this morning on their way home. The Canadian steamer City of Owen Sound is on in the same vicinity.
