

PROFESSIONAL CARDS
H. WILLIAMS, WM. T. WILLIAMS
WILLIAMS & BROTHER,
Attorneys-at-Law,
WOODSTOCK, VA.
Practice in all the Courts of Shenandoah and adjoining counties, in the Supreme Court of Appeals, and in the Circuit and District Courts of the United States.
Special attention given to the collection of claims. May 15, '84-tf.

M. L. WALTON, E. D. NEWMAN,
WALTON & WALTON,
Attorneys-at-Law,
WOODSTOCK, VA.
Practice in all the Courts of Shenandoah and adjoining counties, in the Supreme Court of Appeals, and in the Circuit and District Courts of the United States.
Special attention to collection of claims Oct. 20 '93.

F. S. TAVENNER, J. M. BAUSERMAN
TAVENNER & BAUSERMAN,
Attorneys-at-Law,
WOODSTOCK, VA.
July 21, '93-1y.

JNO. H. DULIN,
Attorney-at-Law,
WOODSTOCK, VIRGINIA.
Will practice in the courts of Shenandoah and adjoining counties, office in rear of the old house, formerly occupied by Col. R. E. Staley.
Will be at Woodstock every day of each week, from 10 a. m. to 12 m., and on Saturdays and Sundays at Woodstock from 11:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. '98-1y-pd.

SOLMES CONRAD, F. W. MAGRUDER,
CONRAD & MAGRUDER,
Attorneys-at-Law,
WOODSTOCK, VA.
Nov. 22, '90-tf.

EMUEL BORDEN
Attorney-at-Law
Began practice in 1874. Owner and Manager of the Shenandoah Valley Collection and Adjustment Agency, established in 1897. Post-office address: Garysburg, Shenandoah Co., Virginia. May 15-19-1y.

W. L. NEWMAN,
Attorney-at-Law
—AND—
NOTARY PUBLIC (with Seal).
Office Room 4 Building and Loan Building.
Jan. 2-tf.

F. H. BRUMBACK,
ATTORNEY AND COUNSELOR AT LAW,
WOODSTOCK, VIRGINIA.
Office, second floor, Merchants and Farmers Bank Building.
3-15-9-9-9.

DR. J. H. SMOOT,
Having located in Woodstock, can be found at his residence on North Main Street, the late residence of Dr. J. L. Campbell, was not professionally engaged.
Aug. 25-19-1y.

DR. D. CARTER, M. D.,
Office and Residence South Main St.
WOODSTOCK, VIRGINIA,
Special attention given to Surgery.
Phone Call 38.
July 20-tf.

DR. J. B. RUSHLI,
Dentist,
WOODSTOCK, VA.
Established in 1855. Office South Main Street. Terms cash.
May 2-1y-tf.

DR. W. S. CLINE,
Resident Physician.
Calls answered day or night.
Office and residence North Main Street.
March 4-tf.

DR. W. O. FOIRD
Has located in Woodstock and will promptly answer all calls.
Office and residence on Mulberry Street.
May 2-1y-tf.

DR. T. F. LOCKE
Resident Dentist,
PETER MAIN ST., WOODSTOCK, VA.
Chloroform, ether and cocaine used for painless extraction of teeth.
Dec. 36-1y.

DR. CHAS. J. SAGER,
Having located at Tom's Brook offers his professional services to the public in the various branches of his profession. He will be found at the Philip's house, Her Apt. 2nd and will give prompt attention to all calls.
Mar. 10, 99-tf.

WOODSTOCK
MARBLE WORKS,
WOODSTOCK, VA.
Monuments, Tombs and all kinds of Cemetery Work!
Lowest prices in the Valley. Give me a call.

E. U. SNYDER.
PATENTS
PROCESSED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo. For papers, forms, trade marks, etc. IN ALL COUNTRIES. Business direct with Washington, secure time, money and often the patent.
Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively.
223 Ninth Street, Wash. D. C.

Laxo

TAKES THE PLACE OF CALOMEL
Laxo is a liquid, purely vegetable, that contains no opiate, mercury or mineral of any kind. It is a prompt and positive cure for biliousness, torpid liver, dyspepsia and constipation. It acts without irritating the bowels; dispels colds and sick headaches.
Price 35 cents per bottle.
THE LAXO CO., Durham, N. C.
For sale by B. SCHMITT.

ROSE TO THE OCCASION.
The Way a Financier's Clerk Exemplified a Cipher.
When Wall Street first caught the fever for "industrial combinations" and began the reorganization of everything in sight, says the Brooklyn Eagle, one of the rotaries of high finance found himself in Chicago in extreme need of communicating with his New York office.

He had almost completed an arrangement for the consolidation of several western enterprises, but in order to get the final authority he needed from New York he must explain all he had done by wire to his partners.
There was no time to write. He had no cipher code. For a long time he tried to think out some way to send the information so that it would be plain to his partners and meaningless to any one else. His secret was a valuable one and once sent over the wire might be sold out to his rivals in Wall Street for a large sum.

At last he decided to take the chances in plain English. Accordingly he wrote the message and gave it to his assistant to send.
Half an hour later, when the assistant came back, he asked him if he had sent it.

"Not just that way," said the clerk. "I reworded it—the first word on a Postal blank, the second on a Western Union, and so on. I sent half by each company, and neither half meant anything. Then I sent a second message by one line, saying, 'Read both messages together, alternating words.'"

The scheme was too simple for the high financier to have evolved, but it worked perfectly.

AN ODD WHIST HAND.
It Looks Like a Sure Winner, but Can Take the Six Tricks.
To any one familiar with whist the following hand is bound to look pretty good:
Hearts—Ace, king, queen, jack, ten and nine.
Diamonds—Ace, king and queen.
Clubs—King and jack.
Spades—Trumps.

It looks like a good thing for eleven tricks sure and possibly for twelve. Should any whist player of experience get such a hand, however, he will be mighty apt to be as suspicious as the popular player who is dealt four kings. It is what is known as a "barber's hand" in whist circles, and this is the denomination: The dealer holds the other seven hearts (trumps) and six small clubs to the ten. The dealer's partner holds the ace and queen of clubs and one small club. Whist, like most other card games, has no difference.

The partner of the person holding the good hand holds the thirteen other cards, and it makes no difference what they are. The "good" hand has the lead, and if any whist player wishes to verify the assertion he may try from now until doomsday. I will not give more than six tricks with the hand. It is impossible by good luck or indifferent play to take a single trick more, provided, of course, the dealer and his partner play their hands properly.—Baltimore Sun.

Annual Whipping Days.
Canterbury school in England had an annual whipping day, when, as Green tells us, an all round whipping was given to the boys not for any definite fault on their part, but with a view to their general improvement. Canterbury was not singular in the belief that a sound birching now and then was in itself a good thing for boys. The idea was commonly held in the old schools of the world and was regularly acted upon by the most famous head masters, from Dean Colet to Dr. Keate. Erasmus says he was flogged on this principle, and Charles Lamb found it to be the practice at Christ's hospital.

A Village Fiasco.
Gifted Amateur (concluding pet card trick)—Now, ladies and gentlemen, you have seen the pack of cards burned before your eyes and the ashes placed inside the box, which mysteriously transformed itself into a rabbit, which in turn disappeared into space. I will now ask this gentleman to name the card he selected, which it will at once appear in his hand. Now, sir, what card did you select from the pack? Giles (who has been following the trick most intently)—Blessed if I recollect!—Punch.

One Exception.
President Luther of Trinity college, at Hartford, Conn., preached one Sunday when he was a professor in college on the story of Esther. He concluded with the words, "So they hanged Haman on the gallows that he had prepared for Mordecai, and every one was pleased." Then as the story appeared to him he added in a lower voice, "Except Haman."

Clever.
"Don't be so lazy. There's plenty of room at the top, and you're clever enough to get there."
"But," replied the lazy genius, "think how clever it is of men to find a place at the bottom where there isn't so much room."—Philadelphia Ledger.

MULLIGAN'S ANTICS.

They Excited Casey's Curiosity and He Got an Explanation.
Casey and Mulligan lived in adjoining tenements. Casey was looking out of his front window one afternoon when he saw Mulligan go through the street door on the run. In a few moments he returned, still running. On the next night Casey saw Mulligan repeat the performance. Casey told his wife there must be sickness in the Mulligan household, but Mrs. Casey said no. On the third day Casey again saw Mulligan dash out of the door and run on the run. On the fourth night Casey saw Mulligan leave the house with a skipping rope and go down the street skipping the rope. When he returned he was still skipping the rope. This was the last straw to Casey's already overburdened curiosity. He went to see Mulligan and when Mulligan was out went to his home.

"Is there anything I can do for you, Mrs. Mulligan?" he asked her. "What for?" asked Mrs. Mulligan. "Surely, and your husband has gone deaf," said Casey. "I seen him run out of the house and run back again three nights and the fourth go out skippin' a rope." "Oh, that's nothing," said Mrs. Mulligan. "The doctor was here last week, Mike been' by way of a'llin', and gave him four pills. 'Take three runnin' and skip the fourth,' see he, 'and that's what Mike has been doin'!"—New York Tribune.

A TEST OF READING.
With How Many of These Authors Are You Acquainted?
Let him who pretends to be a master of English letters say whether he has read the prose works of Milton and of Dryden. Has he first and knowledge of the Elizabethan dramatists other than Shakespeare? Has he really perused all of Edmund Spenser's poetry? What does he know from his own reading of the "Advancement of Learning"? Has he read all of Sir Thomas Browne's prose and John Donne's poetry? And the great English pulpit orators—Jeremy Taylor, Fulke, Southwell and Barrow—has he mastered their sermons?
Can he truthfully testify that he knows all of Swift, Johnson and Burke, all of Bishop Berkeley, Daniel Defoe, the novels of Richardson, Fielding, Smollett and Sterne, the histories of Hume, Robertson and Gibbon and also Hume's philosophical essays, the prose of Coleridge, Woodworth, Maria Edgeworth's and Eliza Follen's works? Does he know the English classics, book which no gentleman's library should be without? And with the contents of which a well read man ought to be acquainted.

One would scarce much regret that the ordinary man who calls him self well read has not read 50 per cent of the classics here enumerated.—San Francisco Bulletin.

JACK TAR'S SPREE.
The Second Section of It Cost Less Than the First.
In the Salles home in Brooklyn the many boxes deposited for safe keeping in dollars. Some time ago one of them after being paid off at the end of his enlistment had $700, which he deposited with the superintendent of the home—all but $50, with which he intended to have a good time. Along toward midnight he returned in a hilarious condition and asked for $50 more. The superintendent handed him two one dollar bills, and the sailor went off apparently satisfied. The following morning he dropped in and requested the superintendent to give him the balance of his money, as he was going home. The superintendent offered him $85.

"$85," said the sailor; "I'm not that kind of a chap. I don't want to cheat you out of a dime. I drew $100 from last night, and you've paid me $48 too much."
"You're mistaken," said the superintendent. "When you came the second time I gave you only $2, and this is the balance due you."
"All right, governor," replied the Jack tar. "But, would you believe it, I had just as much fun on that $2 as if I had been $50!"—New York Press.

NO MONOPLY OF BRAINS.
This is the Age of Opportunity For the Able Man.
One of the many hopeful signs of the times is the apparent decay of the breed of so called great men, those mighty personalities that in former times stood out like a solitary tree in a vast prairie. The reason for it, of course, is the distinction of all those old time measures of brain-ism, which stunted all human beings except a few who by chance rather than by superiority of fiber grew and developed. There are thousands, literally thousands, of men now living who if they had lived a century or so ago and had done a work similar to that which they are doing without any very notorious warfare upon the trumpets of fame would have been the talk of the world and the main topic of history. And how many of the so called great achievements of the so called great statesmen, soldiers and thinkers of former times would be impossible today because those achievements depended chiefly upon the ignorance and incapacity of the overwhelming mass of the men of their day?

Truly this is the age of opportunity.—Saturday Evening Post.

Swimming Elephants.
The elephants of Burma, in India, are used for a variety of purposes. Throughout the day they work steadily as laborers in carrying the great timber from place to place, a single elephant doing the work of an estimated score of men. Their great diversion in hours of rest is bathing, and they take their baths in a curious way. The keeper takes his place on the back of an elephant and thus placed makes a tour of a great lake or river, one huge animal swimming under him at a surprising rate, while he is kept high and dry above water.

An Autograph Hunt.
"Will you oblige me with your autograph?" asked a bore of a busy public man.
"Certainly," replied the public man. "Just make out a check for 10 guineas payable to my order. I will endorse it cheerfully, and in due time, you may be sure, it will come back to you safely through your bank."

Cause For Alarm.
Pennibus—Poor Scribbles is worried. Inkertown—What's the trouble? Pennibus—He's afraid he has lost his cunning as a humorist. The English magazines are beginning to copy his jokes.—Atlanta Constitution.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

One dose of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral at bedtime prevents night coughs of children. No croup. No bronchitis. A doctor's medicine for all affections of the throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs. Sold for over 60 years.
I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my family for many years. There is nothing else so good for coughs and colds, croup, whooping cough, and all other affections of the throat and lungs. W. B. BROWN, Shelburne, Vt., Dec. 31, 1894.
Keep the bowels open with one of Ayer's Pills at bedtime, just one.

LONDON IN 1700.
When Traitors' Heads Adorned London Bridges and Temple Bar.
London in 1700 was a comparatively small city of about 200,000 inhabitants, the rough and ill kept main roads to which had been but slightly improved since Tudor times. The ghastly spectacle of many of the trees on the Southward road bending under their burden of hanged men had indeed been slightly modified, but none the less the decomposing heads of "traitors" still filled the atmosphere about London bridge and Temple bar with myriads of baneful microbes.
Our immediate forbears were evidently not overparticular about sight and smells. They were accustomed to see men sitting in the pillory pelted with rotten eggs and possibly included among their immediate circle not a few who had been deprived of their noses and ears for expressing too freely their opinions, political and religious.
The drains were in an appalling condition. The innumerable churchyards were so full of coffins that they often projected through the turf. Bear and bull baiting, dog fights and boxing matches were attended even by royalty as late as 1820, and five years later all the "dandies" in London were paying high prices to stand in the carts round Tyburn to behold twenty-two of their fellow creatures hanged for misdeeds which in our time would be punished with a few days' imprisonment.—Saturday Review.

Lions Like Lavender Water.
The old theory of animal hating perfumes unless they suggest the presence of their food or prey. But such a reason can hardly be alleged for a lion's liking for lavender water. The writer, wishing to test himself the reported fondness of many animals for perfumes, paid a series of visits to the zoological garden provided with bottles of scent and a packet of cotton wool and there tried some harmless experiments, which apparently gave great satisfaction to many of the inhabitants. Lavender water was the favorite scent, and most of the lions and leopards showed unqualified pleasure when the scent was poured on the wool and put into their cages.—Spectator.

Carriage Dancing.
Among the most picturesque of the carnival festivities of Europe must be classed that of the Gilles, or dancing men, of Brno, in Bohemia. These men, 200 strong, in their remarkable headgear of tall ostrich feathers and their face decked costume fringed with bells, dance from an appointed place to the town hall, bombarding the spectators with oranges as they go. Arrived at the town hall, the public joins in the fun, and soon some 5,000 persons, men, women and children—may be seen joyfully waiting around the Grande place.

Hard to Please.
"The only perfectly beautiful woman," said a well known sculptor, "must have been a goddess. I never saw a perfectly beautiful woman in my life, nor even heard of the existence of one. As for Cleopatra, a learned Englishman has discovered in some ancient gossip written on papyrus that she had the foxy red hair and the freckled skin of all the Ptolemy family and was obliged to resort to hair dye and cosmetics to keep up her reputation for looks. But perhaps the most interesting fact to learn the Mary, queen of Scots, actually stipulated, and that Miss Du Barry wore a set of false teeth."

The Shrewmouse.
The smallest mammal in the British isle is the shrewmouse. This is by no means the smallest British mammal, but with the exception of another of the same genus, the smallest in Europe. The harvest mouse is sometimes thought to be even smaller, but the length of its head and body is only two and one-half inches, while that of the lesser shrew is rarely more than two inches. The tail measures about one and one-third inches, and its teeth are so extremely small that a lens is required to detect them.

Deficient Ideas of Honor.
According to the Korean belief, it is dishonoring to use "thou" or "thee" of God. In speech Korean Christians are often heard to use "Kou yang ban" (that gentleman in order to avoid the objectionable term. Instead of saying "The God says," they say "That gentleman says." Then the Korean language does not possess the article and has not idiom to represent terms like "faith," "love," "grace," "holiness," "justification," "truth" and "eternal life."—St. James' Gazette.

Courtesies of the Street.
A hansom cab driver had just picked up a fare and was driving furiously along a crowded street when the wheel of his cab just managed to graze a horse which a very thin youth was driving.
"Now, then, can't yer see me?" bawled out the latter indignantly.
"No," was the reply, "yer whip's in front of yer."—London Tit-Bits.

How to Help the Dead Lady.
The following note of excuse was received by a New York city teacher an day:
Dear Teacher—Please excuse Emma G. having been absent yesterday, as I had a quarrel with her. She is an old lady who died and had no one to do her work.

Dr. W. A. COYNER
Veterinary Surgeon.
Graduate Ontario Veterinary College, Toronto, Canada.
Calls Promptly Answered both in City, County and State.
Special Attention to Diseases of Cattle.
OFFICE: GEARY'S LIVERY SHENANDOAH CO., PHONE NO. 27. MUTUAL HOTEL HOLZMAN. WOODSTOCK, VIRGINIA. Sept. 23-1y.

The Shenandoah Valley Business College
(INCORPORATED)
HARRISONBURG, VIRGINIA
TEACHES FULL COMMERCIAL COURSE.
ANY PARTIES INTENDING TO TAKE INSTRUCTIONS IN
Bookkeeping, Shorthand and Typewriting
OR ANY OTHER COMMERCIAL BRANCH
Are requested to call on or write us for particulars at once.
TERMS VERY REASONABLE. GRADUATES IN GREAT DEMAND.
P. L. SMITHS, PRS. Prof. F. I. ROGERS, SECTY.
Sept. 16-6mo.

SAVED MY LIFE
—That's what a prominent Druggist said of Scott's Emulsion a short time ago. As a rule we don't use or refer to testimonials in addressing the public, but the above remark and similar expressions are made so often in connection with Scott's Emulsion that they are worthy of occasional note. From infancy to old age Scott's Emulsion offers a reliable means of remedying improper and weak development, restoring lost flesh and vitality, and repairing waste. The action of Scott's Emulsion is no more of a secret than the composition of the Emulsion itself. What it does it does through nourishment—the kind of nourishment that cannot be obtained in ordinary food. No system is too weak or delicate to retain Scott's Emulsion and gather good from it.

We will send you a sample free.
The more than this picture in the form of a label on every bottle of Emulsion you buy.
SCOTT & BOWNE Chemists 409 Pearl St., N. Y. 50c. and $1. all druggists.

When Traitors' Heads Adorned London Bridges and Temple Bar.
London in 1700 was a comparatively small city of about 200,000 inhabitants, the rough and ill kept main roads to which had been but slightly improved since Tudor times. The ghastly spectacle of many of the trees on the Southward road bending under their burden of hanged men had indeed been slightly modified, but none the less the decomposing heads of "traitors" still filled the atmosphere about London bridge and Temple bar with myriads of baneful microbes.
Our immediate forbears were evidently not overparticular about sight and smells. They were accustomed to see men sitting in the pillory pelted with rotten eggs and possibly included among their immediate circle not a few who had been deprived of their noses and ears for expressing too freely their opinions, political and religious.
The drains were in an appalling condition. The innumerable churchyards were so full of coffins that they often projected through the turf. Bear and bull baiting, dog fights and boxing matches were attended even by royalty as late as 1820, and five years later all the "dandies" in London were paying high prices to stand in the carts round Tyburn to behold twenty-two of their fellow creatures hanged for misdeeds which in our time would be punished with a few days' imprisonment.—Saturday Review.

Lions Like Lavender Water.
The old theory of animal hating perfumes unless they suggest the presence of their food or prey. But such a reason can hardly be alleged for a lion's liking for lavender water. The writer, wishing to test himself the reported fondness of many animals for perfumes, paid a series of visits to the zoological garden provided with bottles of scent and a packet of cotton wool and there tried some harmless experiments, which apparently gave great satisfaction to many of the inhabitants. Lavender water was the favorite scent, and most of the lions and leopards showed unqualified pleasure when the scent was poured on the wool and put into their cages.—Spectator.

Carriage Dancing.
Among the most picturesque of the carnival festivities of Europe must be classed that of the Gilles, or dancing men, of Brno, in Bohemia. These men, 200 strong, in their remarkable headgear of tall ostrich feathers and their face decked costume fringed with bells, dance from an appointed place to the town hall, bombarding the spectators with oranges as they go. Arrived at the town hall, the public joins in the fun, and soon some 5,000 persons, men, women and children—may be seen joyfully waiting around the Grande place.

Hard to Please.
"The only perfectly beautiful woman," said a well known sculptor, "must have been a goddess. I never saw a perfectly beautiful woman in my life, nor even heard of the existence of one. As for Cleopatra, a learned Englishman has discovered in some ancient gossip written on papyrus that she had the foxy red hair and the freckled skin of all the Ptolemy family and was obliged to resort to hair dye and cosmetics to keep up her reputation for looks. But perhaps the most interesting fact to learn the Mary, queen of Scots, actually stipulated, and that Miss Du Barry wore a set of false teeth."

The Shrewmouse.
The smallest mammal in the British isle is the shrewmouse. This is by no means the smallest British mammal, but with the exception of another of the same genus, the smallest in Europe. The harvest mouse is sometimes thought to be even smaller, but the length of its head and body is only two and one-half inches, while that of the lesser shrew is rarely more than two inches. The tail measures about one and one-third inches, and its teeth are so extremely small that a lens is required to detect them.

Deficient Ideas of Honor.
According to the Korean belief, it is dishonoring to use "thou" or "thee" of God. In speech Korean Christians are often heard to use "Kou yang ban" (that gentleman in order to avoid the objectionable term. Instead of saying "The God says," they say "That gentleman says." Then the Korean language does not possess the article and has not idiom to represent terms like "faith," "love," "grace," "holiness," "justification," "truth" and "eternal life."—St. James' Gazette.

Courtesies of the Street.
A hansom cab driver had just picked up a fare and was driving furiously along a crowded street when the wheel of his cab just managed to graze a horse which a very thin youth was driving.
"Now, then, can't yer see me?" bawled out the latter indignantly.
"No," was the reply, "yer whip's in front of yer."—London Tit-Bits.

How to Help the Dead Lady.
The following note of excuse was received by a New York city teacher an day:
Dear Teacher—Please excuse Emma G. having been absent yesterday, as I had a quarrel with her. She is an old lady who died and had no one to do her work.

ROYAL Baking Powder

Makes Clean Bread
With Royal Baking Powder there is no mixing with the hands, no sweat of the brow. Perfect cleanliness, greatest facility, sweet, clean, healthful food.
Full instructions in the "Royal Baker and Pastry Cook" book for making all kinds of bread, biscuit and cake with Royal Baking Powder. Gratis to any address.
ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 100 WILLIAM ST., NEW YORK.

Marrying an Acrobat.
Rev. Mr. Williams was the Congregational minister in the village of Winslow, Me., several years ago. One evening, says a correspondent of the Boston Globe, four young people called at the parsonage. Two of them wished to be married.

Sunday Card Playing Laws.
There was a time when people in England were forbidden by law to play at cards, even in their own houses, on Sunday. In the royal proclamation against vice, profanity and immorality, read every session and recited, is the following passage: "And we do hereby strictly enjoin and prohibit all our loving subjects, of what degree or quality soever, from playing on the Lord's day at dice, cards or any other game whatsoever, either in public or private houses or other places whatsoever."

Enlarged Finger Joints.
Enlarged finger joints are the source of annoyance and mortification. Sometimes they are caused by pulling the fingers to make the joints "crack." Sometimes they are the result of hard work, rheumatism or age. They may be relieved by light rotary massage (rubbing around and around and around on the joints with the thumb and fingers and stroking upward, accompanied by the application of oil of wintergreen.

Not Too Much of a Fool.
"Father says that Algonquin hasn't any idea of the value of money," she exclaimed indignantly.
"Your father's wrong," answered Miss Cayenne. "I have observed that Algonquin never proposes to anybody except his horses."

Perfectly Normal.
Old Gentleman—How old are you, my dear? Little Girl—I was eight years old yesterday. Old Gentleman—Indeed! You don't look to be that old. Little Girl—Ah, how you naughty men do flatter us poor, weak women!

A Memory Destroyer.
Brown—I have just discovered what it is that destroys a man's memory completely. Green—What is it? Alcohol or tobacco? Brown—Neither; it's doing him a favor.

Woman's Work, That's Never Done.
First Shopper—Sometimes it is hard to find what you desire. Second Shopper—Yes, especially when you don't know what it is.—Judge.

WINE OF GARDUI
The Quality That Counts.
The great prizes of life do not fall to the most brilliant, to the cleverest, to the shrewdest, to the most long headed or to the best educated, but to the most level headed men, to the men of soundest judgment. When a man is wanted for a responsible position his shrewdness is not considered so important as his sound judgment. Reliability is what he is wanted. Can a man stand without being tripped, and, if he is thrown, can he land upon his feet? Can he be depended upon, relied upon under all circumstances, to do the right thing, the sensible thing? Has the man a level head? Has he good horse sense? Is he liable to fly off on a tangent or to "go off half cocked"? Is he "faddy"? Has he "whobis in his head"? Does he lose his temper easily or can he control himself? If he can keep a level head under all circumstances, if he cannot be thrown off his balance and is honest, he is the man wanted.—Success.

Russian Army Oddities.
Many incidents connected with the Russian army, says a writer in a London journal, for instance, none but giants are allowed in the Preobrazhenski body-guard regiment. To the Ismailovsk regiment none but fair men are admitted, while a turned up nose is the qualifying adornment of the Pawlov guards. The guards chasseurs, on the other hand, are composed exclusively of dark haired men. Then, too, the distinction between officers of the guards and those serving in line regiments is most marked, a guard lieutenant until recently taking precedence over a captain of the line. Furthermore the pay of infantry officers in line regiments is ludicrously small. What the infantry privates get is can better be imagined than described.

Draggins Pains
233 Keeley St., Chicago, Ill., Oct. 2, 1902.
I suffered with falling and congested of the womb, with severe pains through the groins. I suffered terribly at the time of my menstrual periods, had terrible headaches and ringing of blood to the brain. What to try I knew not, but I tried all kinds of medicine, but I had never tried Wine of Gardui, but I found it relieved me of all my troubles, and I feel perfectly well now. Mrs. Bush is now in perfect health because she took Wine of Gardui for menstrual disorders, bearing down pains and bladders, headaches when all other remedies failed to bring her health. My sufferer may secure health by taking Wine of Gardui in her home. The first bottle convinces the patient she is on the road to health. For advice in cases requiring special directions, address the Chattahoochee Medicine Co., Chattahoochee, Tenn.

WINE OF GARDUI
The Quality That Counts.
The great prizes of life do not fall to the most brilliant, to the cleverest, to the shrewdest, to the most long headed or to the best educated, but to the most level headed men, to the men of soundest judgment. When a man is wanted for a responsible position his shrewdness is not considered so important as his sound judgment. Reliability is what he is wanted. Can a man stand without being tripped, and, if he is thrown, can he land upon his feet? Can he be depended upon, relied upon under all circumstances, to do the right thing, the sensible thing? Has the man a level head? Has he good horse sense? Is he liable to fly off on a tangent or to "go off half cocked"? Is he "faddy"? Has he "whobis in his head"? Does he lose his temper easily or can he control himself? If he can keep a level head under all circumstances, if he cannot be thrown off his balance and is honest, he is the man wanted.—Success.

Russian Army Oddities.
Many incidents connected with the Russian army, says a writer in a London journal, for instance, none but giants are allowed in the Preobrazhenski body-guard regiment. To the Ismailovsk regiment none but fair men are admitted, while a turned up nose is the qualifying adornment of the Pawlov guards. The guards chasseurs, on the other hand, are composed exclusively of dark haired men. Then, too, the distinction between officers of the guards and those serving in line regiments is most marked, a guard lieutenant until recently taking precedence over a captain of the line. Furthermore the pay of infantry officers in line regiments is ludicrously small. What the infantry privates get is can better be imagined than described.

Draggins Pains
233 Keeley St., Chicago, Ill., Oct. 2, 1902.
I suffered with falling and congested of the womb, with severe pains through the groins. I suffered terribly at the time of my menstrual periods, had terrible headaches and ringing of blood to the brain. What to try I knew not, but I tried all kinds of medicine, but I had never tried Wine of Gardui, but I found it relieved me of all my troubles, and I feel perfectly well now. Mrs. Bush is now in perfect health because she took Wine of Gardui for menstrual disorders, bearing down pains and bladders, headaches when all other remedies failed to bring her health. My sufferer may secure health by taking Wine of Gardui in her home. The first bottle convinces the patient she is on the road to health. For advice in cases requiring special directions, address the Chattahoochee Medicine Co., Chattahoochee, Tenn.

WINE OF GARDUI
The Quality That Counts.
The great prizes of life do not fall to the most brilliant, to the cleverest, to the shrewdest, to the most long headed or to the best educated, but to the most level headed men, to the men of soundest judgment. When a man is wanted for a responsible position his shrewdness is not considered so important as his sound judgment. Reliability is what he is wanted. Can a man stand without being tripped, and, if he is thrown, can he land upon his feet? Can he be depended upon, relied upon under all circumstances, to do the right thing, the sensible thing? Has the man a level head? Has he good horse sense? Is he liable to fly off on a tangent or to "go off half cocked"? Is he "faddy"? Has he "whobis in his head"? Does he lose his temper easily or can he control himself? If he can keep a level head under all circumstances, if he cannot be thrown off his balance and is honest, he is the man wanted.—Success.

Russian Army Oddities.
Many incidents connected with the Russian army, says a writer in a London journal, for instance, none but giants are allowed in the Preobrazhenski body-guard regiment. To the Ismailovsk regiment none but fair men are admitted, while a turned up nose is the qualifying adornment of the Pawlov guards. The guards chasseurs, on the other hand, are composed exclusively of dark haired men. Then, too, the distinction between officers of the guards and those serving in line regiments is most marked, a guard lieutenant until recently taking precedence over a captain of the line. Furthermore the pay of infantry officers in line regiments is ludicrously small. What the infantry privates get is can better be imagined than described.

Draggins Pains
233 Keeley St., Chicago, Ill., Oct. 2, 1902.
I suffered with falling and congested of the womb, with severe pains through the groins. I suffered terribly at the time of my menstrual periods, had terrible headaches and ringing of blood to the brain. What to try I knew not, but I tried all kinds of medicine, but I had never tried Wine of Gardui, but I found it relieved me of all my troubles, and I feel perfectly well now. Mrs. Bush is now in perfect health because she took Wine of Gardui for menstrual disorders, bearing down pains and bladders, headaches when all other remedies failed to bring her health. My sufferer may secure health by taking Wine of Gardui in her home. The first bottle convinces the patient she is on the road to health. For advice in cases requiring special directions, address the Chattahoochee Medicine Co., Chattahoochee, Tenn.

WINE OF GARDUI
The Quality That Counts.
The great prizes of life do not fall to the most brilliant, to the cleverest, to the shrewdest, to the most long headed or to the best educated, but to the most level headed men, to the men of soundest judgment. When a man is wanted for a responsible position his shrewdness is not considered so important as his sound judgment. Reliability is what he is wanted. Can a man stand without being tripped, and, if he is thrown, can he land upon his feet? Can he be depended upon, relied upon under all circumstances, to do the right thing, the sensible thing? Has the man a level head? Has he good horse sense? Is he liable to fly off on a tangent or to "go off half cocked"? Is he "faddy"? Has he "whobis in his head"? Does he lose his temper easily or can he control himself? If he can keep a level head under all circumstances, if he cannot be thrown off his balance and is honest, he is the man wanted.—Success.

Russian Army Oddities.
Many incidents connected with the Russian army, says a writer in a London journal, for instance, none but giants are allowed in the Preobrazhenski body-guard regiment. To the Ismailovsk regiment none but fair men are admitted, while a turned up nose is the qualifying adornment of the Pawlov guards. The guards chasseurs, on the other hand, are composed exclusively of dark haired men. Then, too, the distinction between officers of the guards and those serving in line regiments is most marked, a guard lieutenant until recently taking precedence over a captain of the line. Furthermore the pay of infantry officers in line regiments is ludicrously small. What the infantry privates get is can better be imagined than described.