

THE MAYOR IS ACTIVE.

He Indulges in A Little Game of Human Football.

Last Friday evening C. E. Stinson, a painter, was being taken to the city bastille by Marshall Youst because he was drunk. On the east side of Kansas Avenue between Second and Third streets, Stinson had stopped to light his pipe, when Mayor Miller came up and took the prisoner by the shoulders and yanked him away from the telephone post, took charge of him, and started to take him to jail. After proceeding a few steps the man either fell down or was knocked down. The Mayor then proceeded to pass the bottom of his number 13's over Stinson's face. After he grew tired of this gentle pastime, Miller assisted the man to the jail, where it was necessary to call a doctor to care for him. The respectable citizens of the town were quite indignant, when the news of the cowardly act was told about town, and there was some talk of publicly chastizing Mr. Miller, but nothing was done.

Owing to the fact that the city election will be held in April, it is probable that there will be no ouster proceedings started, but it is a safe bet that Liberal will not stand for another "reign of terror" like the one Miller is attempting to institute now. Stinson still bears the marks of his rough treatment.

E. C. Hartman, wife and little daughter left Saturday for their home near Garden City after a week's visit with Mr. Hartman's sister, Mrs. Hattie Merchant, and his niece, Mrs. Harry Stewart, and family in Liberal.

Uncle Sam's Bank Open

To Guymon belongs the honor of having the First Postal Savings Bank in the state. At 8 o'clock Tuesday morning, Miss Margaret Ryan, the postmistress, "opened the doors of Uncle Sam's bank" and was ready for business and the first depositor was Miss Ryan. During the day, despite the very severe weather, eleven people made deposits of sums ranging from $1.00 to $5.00. A goodly number of these were the parents of children too young to carry deposits in their own name and who are thus early to be taught the lesson of saving. Since the opening day, with the moderation of the weather the number of depositors have increased and there is no doubt but that the end of the month will show very satisfactory business. —Guymon Democrat.

F. lodge here, who have been so kind to them during the recent illness and death of Mrs. W. S. Martin, the wife and mother and Mrs. M. C. Martin, the mother and grandmother. The Martins came here strangers and in trouble and were given the generous aid and sympathy, which is so typical of the west and especially so of Liberal.

The meetings at Obern, Kansas, are progressing nicely. The people are showing an interest. God is hearing and answering prayer. Souls are under conviction for sin, righteousness and judgment by the Holy Spirit. "May they yield themselves to God," is the prayer of the pastor, T. B. PARAMORE.

And now comes Hon. Nation, the state auditor, and claims the state is wasting 1/2 million dollars annually and this during the economical Stubbs administration. Isn't that typical republican consistency?

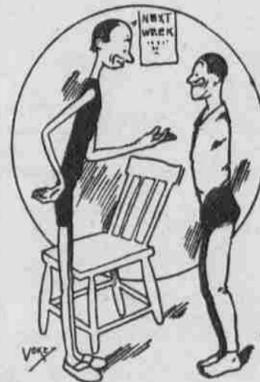

MOST BEAUTIFUL OF WOMEN

Tehuana Beauties Who Might Serve as Types of Physical Perfection.

The woman of Tehuantepec is the wonder of the land. From Rangoon right around to Tiflis I have never seen her like, E. Alexander Powell writes in Everybody's. The Circassian women have more lustrous eyes, it is true, and the Cingalese are a whit more willowy of figure; but Miss Tehuana of Tehuantepec, take her by and large, combines more physical attractions than any other woman that I know. When I have said that these Tehuana women combine the figure of an Annette Kellerman with the face and features of a Ruth St. Denis and the dignity and carriage of a Mary Garden, I have need to say but little further in their praise. Mesdames Garden, Kellerman and St. Denis are, in fact, the ones who may feel complimented by the comparison.

They are olive-skinned, are these Tehuana women, with a soft rose showing through; their eyes are big and dark and sparkling—just such eyes as the Dolores should have who swings in a hammock under the palms; their features are perfect and so are their teeth, which are kept as clean and white as though they were intended for a tooth-powder advertisement. Of statuesque build, but of little more than medium stature, with great masses of blue-black hair, exquisite limbs and smallest feet, they seem made for artists' models. If these women were to mate with Cretan men, we should have a race of demigods again.

MUSEUM MUSES.

The Living Skeleton—I don't say that you took it, but the money passed through your hands.
The Armless Wonder—Yes; but I would be false to my professional ideals had I permitted any of it to stick to my fingers.

KEEP FRESH BEEF TWO YEARS.

That fresh beef may be kept in good condition for two years or longer provided a low and uniform temperature is maintained in the chamber in which it is stored, is announced as the result of experiments carried on by the United States government. The army medical department reported that it had none of the bacteria present in meat poisoning, that the steak, while lacking in aroma, had a good flavor and compared favorably with freshly frozen beef, the slight discolorations and a general loss of water being the only gross evidence of long storage.

A CONGENIAL TASK.

He was a very quiet boy, of a studious turn of mind, and that was probably why his fond parents apprenticed him to a naturalist. In his new sphere he was willing enough but painfully slow. After giving the canary seed, a job that occupied two hours, he said:
"What will I do now?"
"Well," replied his master, reflectively, "I think you may take the tortoise out for a run." —Tit-Bits.

THE MILLENNIUM.

"When will the lion and the lamb lie down together?"
"When the critics and the authors cease fire."

THE UNSUSPECTING ONE.

"That turkey of yours gobbles quite cheerfully."
"Yes. That turkey of mine is a wonderful optimist."

SAME THING.

"Do you believe in basiation?"
"No."
"Do you believe in kissing?"
"Yes."
